

VOLUME XXI

STATE SOCIETY TO CONVENE FOR ANNUAL MEETING

Horticulture Group Will Hold Seventy-Sixth Program December 3 and 4

GROWERS' PROBLEMS WILL BE DISCUSSED

President W. H. Stites to Speak Friday at Judging Pavilion

The seventy-sixth annual winter meeting of the Kentucky State Horticultural society will be held Thursday and Friday December 3 and 4, at the livestock judging pavilion on the Experiment Station farm and will bring to the university many of the leading horticulturists both in and outside of the state.

The program will open at 9:15 o'clock Friday morning with an address by W. H. Stites, Henderson, president of the society. R. S. Marsh, extension horticulturist, of the University of Illinois, will follow and will speak on "Our Illinois Program in Orchard Management." Other addresses on various phases of horticulture will be made by Robert A. Simpson, Vincennes, Indiana; Marvin Ehlen, Henderson; and W. A. Price, V. D. Valleau, C. O. Eddy, and W. Magill, all from the College of Agriculture. There will be a banquet at 8:15 o'clock at the Phoenix hotel.

Dean Thomas P. Cooper, of the College of Agriculture, and Dr. A. L. Pierson, extension pathologist, of the Ohio university, will be the principal speakers Friday. Other addresses will be made by William C. Johnson, county farm agent, Paducah; Ben E. Niles, Henderson; Harry Wilson, Parksville, E. C. Hoagland, Prospect, and W. W. Magill. Several 10-minute discussions by commercial growers will be given on the subject, "Some Experiences in Marketing the 1931 Fruit Crop."

A business meeting will be held at 10 o'clock in the morning and the general discussion meeting at 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon will conclude the program.

DEAN PRESENTS ENGINEERING PIN

Prof. D. V. Terrell is Awarded Original Emblem of Engineering Society in Recognition of His Services

Prof. D. V. Terrell, head of the civil engineering department of the College of Engineering, received a charter pin of the American Association of Civil Engineers at a meeting of the engineering faculty and students and for a lecture on tunnel design presented at the Ohio State, Wednesday afternoon in Dicker hall.

The emblem, presented to Professor Terrell for outstanding work in his field, was the property of the late Colonel William D. Fickett, who was one of the charter members of the society at its organization in 1853. It is a silver pin with remaining pins issued to original members, and Professor Terrell was named on the list of names to be inscribed on it by Mr. Singstad, who is a member of the executive council of the engineering society.

The presentation was made at the suggestion of Dean P. Paul Anderson, to whom the emblem had been entrusted until a person worthy of the trophy could be determined.

Professor Terrell, who has been head of the civil engineering department since 1918, graduated from the university in 1910 and received his Master of Science degree in 1914. He has been the chief research engineer on road materials for the state highway department for a number of years and was the designing engineer for the stadium when it was erected on Stoll field.

White Mathematics Club to Hold Meeting

Leo Smith will speak at the third meeting of the year of the White Mathematics club of the university which will be held at 8 o'clock Thursday afternoon in room 109, McVey hall. All students interested in mathematics are invited to attend.

At the last meeting of the club, Dr. Harold H. Downing was elected faculty advisor for the year. The type of program will be varied, the speaker for such meetings being allowed to select his, or her, topic. Graduate students are urged to take an active part in the club.

The White Mathematics club is an organization for students of mathematics. Its primary object is to promote a greater interest and appreciation for mathematics.

History of University Reveals Fact That It Was Established in 1862 as Kentucky Agricultural and Mechanical College

Miss Helen King, assistant director of the publicity bureau, has prepared the following article for publication in the national magazine of Sigma Nu social fraternity. Intensive research was conducted by Miss King in gathering data for the article.

The establishment of the University of Kentucky, located at Lexington, was the result of the Morrill Land Grant Act of 1862 which gave each state a tract of land or land scrip, profits from the sale of which were to be used for the establishment of a state Agricultural and mechanical college.

Following a sale of Kentucky land scrip, which was for 330,000 acres and sold for $185,000, a committee was appointed by the Legislature to establish an agricultural and mechanical college. The committee, at the recommendation of John B. Bowman, at that time regent of the old Bacon College in Harrodsburg, suggested to the Legislature the union of Bacon College, Transylvania at Lexington, and his land and other property which had been donated to the university. The consolidation took place in 1862 with Bowman as regent, and was maintained until 1876, when discussions arose and Bowman resigned. It was not until 1878, however, that the Legislature separated the A. & M. College from Kentucky University and established it as the Kentucky Agricultural and Mechanical College of Kentucky. In 1899 the name of the school was changed to the State College of Kentucky and operated under that title until 1918, when the institution was given the present title of University of Kentucky.

The University of Kentucky is built on historic ground. Here that the armed forces of the Confederacy, the Spanish-American War, and the World War, drilled and prepared for conflict. The very ground upon which is now erected the university stadium was the scene of various drills and maneuvers. The town branch, (now a small creek), flows through the campus of the university and was one of the meeting places of early settlers. A spring located in the beautiful ravine back of the stadium in the spring about which Henry Clay is once said to have remarked, "No man can consider himself a gentleman until he has watered his horse at Maxwell spring."

The University of Kentucky campus was at one time known as Maxwell Woods and is the original site of the university. It was well, one of the settlers of Lexington. Upon hearing of the battle of the Wilderness, the regent, Bowman, said to have jumped to his feet from the camp fire and suggested to his companions that the land upon which they stood be called Lexington. The home of the president, Bowman, situated on a rise overlooking the stadium, is still called Maxwell Place.

There is a tablet carved into the foundation of the Alumni museum at the university which indicates that near there Maxwell and his land and other property which had been donated to the university first camped on the site of Lexington.

Many and varied are the student traditions at the University of Kentucky, principal among them being the intervals, known as "Big Tree" which grew opposite the Henry Clay home, and which was cut down a few years ago amid a flurry of protests on the plea that it interfered with traffic. It has been preserved in large, jagged, shaped tables, constructed on wrought iron stands which were placed in the College of Engineering, where the idea of preserving the wood originated, and where the tables are now used by the students for study tables in the large recreation and study room known as Dicker hall.

STUDENT KILLED IN AUTO CRASH

David Watts Fatally Injured in Collision; Latest Reports Indicate Brother Has Improved

David Watts, 20 sophomore in the College of Arts and Sciences, was injured fatally and three other youths were hurt when their automobile in which they were returning to their homes in Winchester after the pep rally Wednesday night, crashed into a street car on East Main street near Bell court. David, who was driving the car, died a child. J. C. Watts, 17, brother of the dead youth, was the most seriously injured of the three remaining occupants. He suffered a fractured skull and laceration about the head. Reports issued late Monday night from the Good Samaritan hospital where he was taken after the crash, indicated that his condition has improved.

Carl Boone, 20, also a university student, was injured, less escaped with slight injuries. None of the injured youths were seriously hurt. The accident happened. Constantine Pusaz, motor man in charge of the street car, reported that he was driving the car, the automobile ran head-on into the trolley.

The body of David Watts was taken to the Kerr Brothers funeral home and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Watts, Winchester, were notified of the accident. Brief memorial rites were held for Watts, who was a member of the university band, between the halves of the University-Tennessee game Thursday afternoon on Stoll field.

UK Philharmonic Orchestra Gives Sunday Musicales

Phi Mu Alpha Holds Pledging Exercises During Intermission

Making its first appearance of the season, the university philharmonic orchestra, under the direction of Prof. Carl Lamport, presented the fifth in the series of musicales at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon in Memorial hall. During the intermission, the Phi Mu Alpha, professional musical fraternity. The orchestra presented a program of six numbers. The Wedding, by Carl Lamport, presented the first. The second, Mendelssohn's Nocturne, was played by Mrs. L. M. Price, J. F. Bryan, E. V. Mickley, Alice McDonald, Mrs. J. R. Nichols, Dorothy Lykins, Elizabeth Durrill. The third, by Albert Smith, Herbert Sanders, Dave Welsh, Mamie Miller, J. E. Marks, Lampert, Wesley Morgan, Lois Robinson, H. D. Ingles, Virginia Ruffner. The fourth, by Charles Greis, Alfred Miller, Thomas Scott. The fifth, by Charles Dickerson. The sixth, by Albert Smith, Howard (Continued on Page Four)

TEAMS ENTERED FRATERNITY SING

Initial Event Will Be Held Thursday Night in Memorial Hall

PUBLIC IS INVITED TO HEAR CHORUSES

Radio Engagement and Loving Cup Will Be Awarded Winning Team

Team entries from 15 fraternities for the inter-fraternity singing contest have already been received for the initial university inter-fraternity singing contest. The contest will be held at 8 o'clock Thursday night, December 3 in Memorial Hall, according to an announcement by Ben LeRoy, vice-chairman of the committee in charge. Prof. Carl Lamport will be assisted in judging the contest by two out-of-town judges to be chosen by him.

STUDENT KILLED IN AUTO CRASH

David Watts Fatally Injured in Collision; Latest Reports Indicate Brother Has Improved

HAD ATTENDED RALLY

David Watts, 20 sophomore in the College of Arts and Sciences, was injured fatally and three other youths were hurt when their automobile in which they were returning to their homes in Winchester after the pep rally Wednesday night, crashed into a street car on East Main street near Bell court. David, who was driving the car, died a child. J. C. Watts, 17, brother of the dead youth, was the most seriously injured of the three remaining occupants. He suffered a fractured skull and laceration about the head. Reports issued late Monday night from the Good Samaritan hospital where he was taken after the crash, indicated that his condition has improved.

DEAN ATTENDS MEETING

Dr. W. D. Funkhouser, dean of the university graduate school at its meeting of deans of graduate schools of various universities of the South held in Atlanta, Georgia, Friday and Saturday. The meeting is held there annually for the discussion of various problems of the attending faculty.

Floor Show Features Annual Stroller Dance

Powell proved to be even more adroit in tap dancing than in the variety show which appeared in a clever specialty with "Wildcat Blues." The presentation of a number featuring the dance "Blue Cow" enacted by Ruby Dunn with Ed Harrison as her skilled accompanist, was a pleasing and slightly whimsical addition to the program. Alice Jane Jones and her orchestra were enthusiastic in their interlude with a professional air before a delighted assembly of students.

DEBATORS!

The regular weekly meeting of the university debating team will be held in room 221 of Memorial hall tonight instead of in the usual meeting place in the library. The team will meet at 8 o'clock, announced Monday night with Susan Jane Turner in charge. Mr. Eugene Thompson gave an account of his stay in Europe.

Staff Meeting

The following notice has been issued: The entire news staff of The Kernel will meet at 7:30 o'clock tonight in the news room. This includes the editors and reporters of the news, sports, and general departments and it is imperative that all members be present. Plans for every department of the paper will be discussed at the meeting, and any member of the staff who is not present is liable to dismissal from the staff. It is the intention of the editors of the publication to hold a general organization conference at the gathering tonight. (Signed) WILLIAM ARDERY, Editor.

Radio Engagement and Loving Cup Will Be Awarded Winning Team

Team entries from 15 fraternities for the inter-fraternity singing contest have already been received for the initial university inter-fraternity singing contest. The contest will be held at 8 o'clock Thursday night, December 3 in Memorial Hall, according to an announcement by Ben LeRoy, vice-chairman of the committee in charge. Prof. Carl Lamport will be assisted in judging the contest by two out-of-town judges to be chosen by him.

STUDENT KILLED IN AUTO CRASH

David Watts Fatally Injured in Collision; Latest Reports Indicate Brother Has Improved

HAD ATTENDED RALLY

David Watts, 20 sophomore in the College of Arts and Sciences, was injured fatally and three other youths were hurt when their automobile in which they were returning to their homes in Winchester after the pep rally Wednesday night, crashed into a street car on East Main street near Bell court. David, who was driving the car, died a child. J. C. Watts, 17, brother of the dead youth, was the most seriously injured of the three remaining occupants. He suffered a fractured skull and laceration about the head. Reports issued late Monday night from the Good Samaritan hospital where he was taken after the crash, indicated that his condition has improved.

DEAN ATTENDS MEETING

Dr. W. D. Funkhouser, dean of the university graduate school at its meeting of deans of graduate schools of various universities of the South held in Atlanta, Georgia, Friday and Saturday. The meeting is held there annually for the discussion of various problems of the attending faculty.

Floor Show Features Annual Stroller Dance

Powell proved to be even more adroit in tap dancing than in the variety show which appeared in a clever specialty with "Wildcat Blues." The presentation of a number featuring the dance "Blue Cow" enacted by Ruby Dunn with Ed Harrison as her skilled accompanist, was a pleasing and slightly whimsical addition to the program. Alice Jane Jones and her orchestra were enthusiastic in their interlude with a professional air before a delighted assembly of students.

DEBATORS!

The regular weekly meeting of the university debating team will be held in room 221 of Memorial hall tonight instead of in the usual meeting place in the library. The team will meet at 8 o'clock, announced Monday night with Susan Jane Turner in charge. Mr. Eugene Thompson gave an account of his stay in Europe.

Y. M. C. A. CAMPAIGN FINANCE DRIVE TO BEGIN TODAY AT UNIVERSITY

The Y. M. C. A. finance drive under the direction of the senior cabinet will open today, when all the male students of the university will be solicited for funds, it was announced yesterday by Fred Haffer, chairman of the drive committee.

ANNUAL FINANCE DRIVE WILL OPEN

The Y. M. C. A. finance drive under the direction of the senior cabinet will open today, when all the male students of the university will be solicited for funds, it was announced yesterday by Fred Haffer, chairman of the drive committee.

STUDENT KILLED IN AUTO CRASH

David Watts Fatally Injured in Collision; Latest Reports Indicate Brother Has Improved

HAD ATTENDED RALLY

David Watts, 20 sophomore in the College of Arts and Sciences, was injured fatally and three other youths were hurt when their automobile in which they were returning to their homes in Winchester after the pep rally Wednesday night, crashed into a street car on East Main street near Bell court. David, who was driving the car, died a child. J. C. Watts, 17, brother of the dead youth, was the most seriously injured of the three remaining occupants. He suffered a fractured skull and laceration about the head. Reports issued late Monday night from the Good Samaritan hospital where he was taken after the crash, indicated that his condition has improved.

DEAN ATTENDS MEETING

Dr. W. D. Funkhouser, dean of the university graduate school at its meeting of deans of graduate schools of various universities of the South held in Atlanta, Georgia, Friday and Saturday. The meeting is held there annually for the discussion of various problems of the attending faculty.

Floor Show Features Annual Stroller Dance

Powell proved to be even more adroit in tap dancing than in the variety show which appeared in a clever specialty with "Wildcat Blues." The presentation of a number featuring the dance "Blue Cow" enacted by Ruby Dunn with Ed Harrison as her skilled accompanist, was a pleasing and slightly whimsical addition to the program. Alice Jane Jones and her orchestra were enthusiastic in their interlude with a professional air before a delighted assembly of students.

DEBATORS!

The regular weekly meeting of the university debating team will be held in room 221 of Memorial hall tonight instead of in the usual meeting place in the library. The team will meet at 8 o'clock, announced Monday night with Susan Jane Turner in charge. Mr. Eugene Thompson gave an account of his stay in Europe.

KENTUCKY TIES TENNESSEE 6-6 IN GRID CLASSIC

Wildcats Lower Vols' Place in Conference for Third Time in Four Years

BIG BLUE HAS BEST OF FIRST THREE QUARTERS

Kelly and Kercheval Lead 'Cats in Attack on Southern Team

For the third time in the last four years, the University of Kentucky Wildcats have risen to great heights in their Annual Thanksgiving Day battle with the University of Tennessee and have lowered the Volunteers from their exalted place at the head of the Southern Conference championship race. Four years ago it was 0-0 in Knoxville; then the Vols battled a 6-6 deadlock as our guests; Bobby Dodd, in his last year as quarterback, dropped the Wildcats 6-6, but as Kentucky's guests this year the Tennesseans fought 60 minutes to a 6-6 tie.

ANNUAL FINANCE DRIVE WILL OPEN

The Y. M. C. A. finance drive under the direction of the senior cabinet will open today, when all the male students of the university will be solicited for funds, it was announced yesterday by Fred Haffer, chairman of the drive committee.

STUDENT KILLED IN AUTO CRASH

David Watts Fatally Injured in Collision; Latest Reports Indicate Brother Has Improved

HAD ATTENDED RALLY

David Watts, 20 sophomore in the College of Arts and Sciences, was injured fatally and three other youths were hurt when their automobile in which they were returning to their homes in Winchester after the pep rally Wednesday night, crashed into a street car on East Main street near Bell court. David, who was driving the car, died a child. J. C. Watts, 17, brother of the dead youth, was the most seriously injured of the three remaining occupants. He suffered a fractured skull and laceration about the head. Reports issued late Monday night from the Good Samaritan hospital where he was taken after the crash, indicated that his condition has improved.

DEAN ATTENDS MEETING

Dr. W. D. Funkhouser, dean of the university graduate school at its meeting of deans of graduate schools of various universities of the South held in Atlanta, Georgia, Friday and Saturday. The meeting is held there annually for the discussion of various problems of the attending faculty.

Floor Show Features Annual Stroller Dance

Powell proved to be even more adroit in tap dancing than in the variety show which appeared in a clever specialty with "Wildcat Blues." The presentation of a number featuring the dance "Blue Cow" enacted by Ruby Dunn with Ed Harrison as her skilled accompanist, was a pleasing and slightly whimsical addition to the program. Alice Jane Jones and her orchestra were enthusiastic in their interlude with a professional air before a delighted assembly of students.

DEBATORS!

The regular weekly meeting of the university debating team will be held in room 221 of Memorial hall tonight instead of in the usual meeting place in the library. The team will meet at 8 o'clock, announced Monday night with Susan Jane Turner in charge. Mr. Eugene Thompson gave an account of his stay in Europe.

Sigma Delta Chi

The local chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic fraternity for men, will hold its 100th anniversary celebration today in the University Commons. Matters of importance to the fraternity will be discussed and all members are requested to be present.

Daniel W. Goodman, President.

The Kentucky Kernel

Published on Tuesdays and Fridays

Member National College Press Association... Member K. I. P. A.

Official Newspaper of the Students of the University of Kentucky, Lexington

Subscription $2.00 a year. Entered at Lexington, Ky., Postoffice as second class mail matter.

HERE SHALL THE KERNEL PRESS ALL STUDENTS RIGHTS MAINTAIN

WILLIAM ARDREY Editor-in-Chief DANIEL W. GOODMAN Managing Editor LOUISE THOMPSON Asst. Mgr. Editor

ASSOCIATE EDITORS Frank Blass, Jacob Hillard, Billy Hubbell, Jacob Royle, Jack West, Martin Twomey

ASSISTANT EDITORS John A. Shaffer, John H. Kane, Martin Wachs

RALPH E. JOHNSON Sports Editor WARREN D. HOOKS Special Sports Writer

WRITERS Norbert Campbell, Douglas Hill, C. T. Adams, Stanley Bach, Red Day, John M. John

JOHNNIE ORADDOCK Art Editor

SOCIETY EDITORS EMILY HARDIN ELEANOR SMITH

ASSISTANT SOCIETY EDITORS Lillian Couch, Elizabeth Hardin

SPECIAL WRITERS Derek Smythfield, James Curtis

A. A. DADHERTY Feature Editor EUGENIE BECK Dramatic Editor

DOROTHY TANNER Literary Editor LAWRENCE HERRON News Editor

ASSISTANT NEWS EDITORS Gilbert Kingsbury, John Watts, Mary Alice Salyers, Robert Bester

REPORTERS Marjorie Hoagland, Robert Kearney, Ray Stark, John Carrigan, Scott O. Osborne, Robert H. McDougall, C. T. Tereff, Betty Watkins, Paul Ardrey, George M. Spencer, Charlton Wallach, Virginia Pitzer, Edith Marie Best, Burnham Pearson, Leonard Rowland, Mary Jo Laferty, Carol Gilley, Jane Hamilton, Ann Coleman, Dorothy Busho, Marjorie West, Carl Hewell, Herman Frank, Earl Carran, Dorothy Smith, Madlyn Shively, Leon Copewell, Betty Hinmcock.

COLLEMAN B. SMITH Business Manager Evelyn Treaslow, Neil Hamilton, John Good

ADVERTISING STAFF JAMES MORGAN Advertising Mgr. H. P. Kirkman, M. S. Hollingsworth, Bill Warren, Mary Edwards

CAMERON COFFMAN Circulation Manager

thoroughly vanquished team has to plod wearily from stall field. Kentucky can. Kentucky did!

SHALL THEFTY CONTINUE?

Stealing, it has been said, is a requisite of southern colleges. Discussions of collegiate morals invariably touch upon this sentiment. Just the other day some speaker, addressing a faculty group, suggested its prevalence. In common comparison of northern and southern colleges he mentioned that drinking was generally considered the moral failing of the North, stealing of the south.

Drinking by students is a problem that has been considered by every college in the country. Its importance as a university issue has been greatly exaggerated by the undue and unfortunate publicity given it by the general public's ferreting out and magnifying of isolated cases. The moral plane of drinking may or may not be debatable; however, the University of Kentucky is rarely required to deal with this exigency.

If students drink and their fellows see fit to condone the offense, all well; the delinquents will be dealt with by university authorities. But stealing is another thing. In the eyes of the law both infractions are looked upon as infringements on the social rights of others, and as such, their perpetrators, criminals. In a moral sense, however, the thief is marked so low on the scale of values that any comparison, is in itself ridiculous. Man, throughout the ages, has cried out against the thief. There is no asylum for him. Everywhere he is belabored with scorn and vilipended. He is pointed out and branded; society abhors him. And all, justly.

From time to time rumors of student thievery run the gamut of campus gossip. Not of self-maiming cheating, but of actual thievery. Clothing mysteriously vanishes, a fountain pen disappears, petty stealing, to be sure, but stealing.

Rumors of such losses are neither frequent nor rampant at the University of Kentucky. Their very nature holds them to within bounds. There is nothing tangible to fix upon, persons do not readily cry "thief."

Again, many of the rumors find an unstable foundation. Students, like all the rest of humankind, are careless. Memories slip or, in a moment's laxity, property is mislaid or lost.

The all inclusive condemnation of southern colleges is absurd. That there is little basis to oft-quoted generalities goes without saying. Nevertheless, slight though the percentage may be, there are some practicing their precarious trade at the University of Kentucky. There are some thieves in every community of this size.

The infrequency of stealing or the pettiness of it should not cause its existence to be overlooked. Rather, it should cause further and more watchful effort on the part of students to aid authorities in tramping down the few stragglers.

Literary

YOU ARE LIKE THE OTHER GIRLS When she was seventeen It was different then; Things have changed, of course, But they won't again.

When she was seventeen Faith and love she knew, And her kisses were as sweet As the morning dew.

When she was seventeen, That was when she tasted Such a blissful bliss; That's when she tasted Love's inaugural kiss.

When she was seventeen, We beyond her age; Said that love would ever thrive, Ever and a day.

She turned to be eighteen When October came; Wheeling herself to believe Things don't change.

But winter's on, and she Grows wiser all the while, And learns that love and kisses are Not real, but style.

And she is eighteen now, Hardly here a day, Seeking kisses, breaking lovers, Living quite risque.

When she was seventeen It was different then; A kiss was love, but eighteen Brings to that an end. —JACQUES.

SO-LONG A cloud is but a parting friend That dots the azure sky. It sails away into the deep. Dissolves, and so, good-bye.

A bird is but a parting friend That takes wing in the blue, And disappears into the blue— Is gone, and so, good-bye.

A river is a parting friend That flows down to the tide; It meets the sea and tenses, We will never, so, good-bye.

TAPS When I got West, if soon or late, In the glow of eventide, Or if my fate should come, At noon of my desire and plan, Or in the morning of my hope— Whenever it be, I want my work well done.

When I go West. When I go West—and West Is only farther East—I pray The change may be As joy with the sun sets world around, And, going East, comes West. Always the joy of daybreak in my face.

When I go West. When I go West—and West Is only farther East—I pray The change may be As joy with the sun sets world around, And, going East, comes West. Always the joy of daybreak in my face.

Sneers Snickers Scandal by Derek Smythfield

Brief Bits on the Big Shots. Idelt Millie Nelson is too decided. It is so with the rest of them. Since they would hate to tell her they have asked us to do it... Affair was credited with the clearest communication of the season by Deltanfromthebottom Derek Smythfield. It is a fair play—just isn't true. The whole thing becomes a matter of maintaining individuality at any cost—or giving it to the system. This is of one who didn't give up of one who did not give up one who tried to ride the wave of change for her own advantage. casting off all considerations that the comfort that comes of money. All three are broken. Kislakof, a student in the Central Museum of Moscow, and a member of the unfortunate intelligentsia, is faced with the prospect of taking a substantial living for himself, his wife, his wife's aunt—and two dogs. In a moment of intellectual genius he finds this practically impossible, so, finding himself adrift, he takes advantage of the friendly relationship and weathers himself in with the members. Arkady, a school-boy friend of Kislakof, comes with his charming wife, to Moscow. Arkady is an idealist, member of the intelligentsia, obsessed with his friendship for Kislakof. His wife, Tamara, comes Kislakof, especially as Elena Viktorovna Kislakof, who is a trades more and more irritating and dictatorial. Arkady insists upon a divorce. What he really wants is in the country the love affair flourishes and Kislakof continues to prosper. Upon Elena Viktorovna's return there is a quarrel—and a divorce. Shortly after Kislakof's return he has been made head of the museum. Against his will there flashed through his mind the thought of a failure. Then Tamara seems to find a change in Kislakof's attitude. Miller, a foreign picture producer, entertains the company at Arkady's house one evening, and the next day Tamara is gone with him. Kislakof finds Arkady alone, reading letters written by her. —letters which disclose all her love affairs but the one with Kislakof. Arkady tells her that he has sent her to Miller, that of all my friends you alone were not her lover. It is enough to send one mad. —my one!

Nice Idea. After that class we return to introduce the Alfagrams, who tell you what they think about everything in general and themselves in particular. But why not advertise it is free.

Mugs and Muggettes of the University of Kentucky campus—lend me three ears (and anything else you can get) from Chicago this week-end... Deltanfromthebottom Derek Smythfield just heard that repulsive sounding...

Of course there are subtle complications in the plot, which cannot be traced here. But on the whole, the plot is good, and the author's tendency toward analysis, as exemplified here, is superb. Only, have or twice does Romanov slip, and then it really isn't so bad.

"Once a woman becomes passive in her excesses and only submits to them, it certainly means there is something wrong with this is an axiom. But in the matter of technique he makes two glaring errors. Kislakof is always shown worrying about a lack of money. Then, in a fight with Elena Viktorovna, in his piece-nice—find him to be a few days later (and no "pay-day" intervenes) we find him, with the utmost nonchalance, "taking off his piece-nice." The other is of the same nature: Kislakof wonders how he shall tell Tamara that he is married. For days this worries him. One fore-seeable solution is that he should suddenly Kislakof, quite casually, mentions to her that his wife is returning. Kislakof, however, does not happen. It all passes off as a matter of course. Other mistakes seem due to poor translation and typography.

In his preface to the book Stephen Graham says that he is a shrewd and capable communist writer really think of the state of affairs he is mercilessly denouncing. The answer, it seems to me, lies in the question: One doesn't, somehow, deal with the state of things either mercifully or mercilessly; the wholly fortunate are beyond the mercy of Romanov, though he cannot say he considers the state of affairs a bad one, must think it quite unfortunate. Whatever good might come of it, all, it is still unfortunate that this generation in Russia must be broken up. Arkady says, "The future belongs to another race. Understand."

BOOK REVIEWS

RUSSIA!

Three Pairs of Silk Stockings or Comrade Kislakof, a novel of the life of the educated class under the Reds, translated by Leonide Zartine from the Russian of Panteleimon Romanov. Edited by Stephen Graham. Chicago, Scribner's Sons, New York, 1931. $2.50.

Romanov here places himself in the tradition with Dostoevsky by writing of the suppression of a lower class by the rulers going to his face with a paradox much bigger than any that faced Dostoevsky in all his questioning of the sociologic lay-out of Russia, for here is the educated class suffering from the tyranny of the proletariat. They are forced to work where and when the party-members say but suffer most from the tyranny which is their lot to do, no matter how passive they might be, their opinions count for nothing, and they are just slightly more degrading than their forced living with—just anyone. (The alternative: Turn about is fair play—just isn't true.)

The whole thing becomes a matter of maintaining individuality at any cost—or giving it to the system. This is of one who didn't give up of one who did not give up one who tried to ride the wave of change for her own advantage. casting off all considerations that the comfort that comes of money. All three are broken.

Kislakof, a student in the Central Museum of Moscow, and a member of the unfortunate intelligentsia, is faced with the prospect of taking a substantial living for himself, his wife, his wife's aunt—and two dogs. In a moment of intellectual genius he finds this practically impossible, so, finding himself adrift, he takes advantage of the friendly relationship and weathers himself in with the members.

Upon Elena Viktorovna's return there is a quarrel—and a divorce. Shortly after Kislakof's return he has been made head of the museum. Against his will there flashed through his mind the thought of a failure. Then Tamara seems to find a change in Kislakof's attitude. Miller, a foreign picture producer, entertains the company at Arkady's house one evening, and the next day Tamara is gone with him. Kislakof finds Arkady alone, reading letters written by her.

Of course there are subtle complications in the plot, which cannot be traced here. But on the whole, the plot is good, and the author's tendency toward analysis, as exemplified here, is superb. Only, have or twice does Romanov slip, and then it really isn't so bad.

"Once a woman becomes passive in her excesses and only submits to them, it certainly means there is something wrong with this is an axiom. But in the matter of technique he makes two glaring errors. Kislakof is always shown worrying about a lack of money. Then, in a fight with Elena Viktorovna, in his piece-nice—find him to be a few days later (and no "pay-day" intervenes) we find him, with the utmost nonchalance, "taking off his piece-nice."

The other is of the same nature: Kislakof wonders how he shall tell Tamara that he is married. For days this worries him. One fore-seeable solution is that he should suddenly Kislakof, quite casually, mentions to her that his wife is returning. Kislakof, however, does not happen. It all passes off as a matter of course. Other mistakes seem due to poor translation and typography.

In his preface to the book Stephen Graham says that he is a shrewd and capable communist writer really think of the state of affairs he is mercilessly denouncing. The answer, it seems to me, lies in the question: One doesn't, somehow, deal with the state of things either mercifully or mercilessly; the wholly fortunate are beyond the mercy of Romanov, though he cannot say he considers the state of affairs a bad one, must think it quite unfortunate. Whatever good might come of it, all, it is still unfortunate that this generation in Russia must be broken up. Arkady says, "The future belongs to another race. Understand."

another race. The workmen are another race... a race having nothing in common with us. It is another faith and nothing can be done about it. But I can rejuvenate, but a class in which the mainpring is twisted cannot be rejuvenated. It is impossible. Someone one feels that Romanov speaks more directly through Arkady.

Finally, it is rather interesting to find the same things in a communist novel that one finds in the work of a political thinker such as Kautsky (Holbeism at a Deadlock)—Kautsky, who is opposed to the system on principle, who points to its failure, who calls it counter-revolutionary. The idea, for the supporters of the Russian system, seems to be as Romanov puts it ironically: "Justice for all, without distinction of class—with the corollary that is never added: "Justice for all who agree with us." But the execution of this idea seems to result inevitably in a pulling down of the upper class to the lower class level, not the lifting of the lower class. One sees here (in Kautsky's book and in this one) that the whole system resembles a rug hanging at the middle, on a pulley of the upper class to the lower class level, not the lifting of the lower class. One sees here (in Kautsky's book and in this one) that the whole system resembles a rug hanging at the middle, on a pulley of the upper class to the lower class level, not the lifting of the lower class.

In fairness to myself, to my friends and to the Russian system, and to the actions of censors in the United States, it would, likewise, be subject to the action of "our censors."

WESLEY LITTLEFIELD

College Women Called Brazen

The modern college girl deliberately cultivates the reputation of being a "red hot baby" and, according to Dr. William Moulton Marston, visiting professor of psychology at Long Island university, "No college girl is safe from the attacks of co-eds."

Women in taking this so-called "brazen" attitude, Prof. Marston said today, have merely abandoned an age old pose of "Victorian Timidity."

He believes the sexes changed their professional status; that the United States, which books, likewise, are subject to the action of "our censors."

Hazing Is Abolished At Michigan State

Hazing has been abolished at Michigan State. A meeting of the student council of the university in the office of President R. S. Shaw, resulted in an ultimatum to the effect that all hazing and interclass struggles would cease on the pain of drastic disciplinary measures of university officials.

College Credit Given For 'Bull Sessions'

According to the Daily Californian, "College credit for 'bull sessions' is being given to students of the University of Wisconsin experimental college."

The psychological "bull sessions" are explained as informal dormitory or fraternity house discussions with the subject ranging from "the red-headed girl friend to the question of the Farm Relief Board."

Bridge is taught as a regular course at the College of the City of New York.

ROAMIN' THE RIALTO with ROAMIN' RENA

We should say that by far the most clever thing we had the pleasure to witness this week-end was the floor show presented by the Struller organization at their very enjoyable dance Saturday night. It the ability demonstrated on that occasion by Director Ardrey is a true measure of his skill may we predict a very successful season for the Struller organization on the campus this year?

We welcomed with joy the return of a short story in true form in "The Phantom of Paris" at the Strand. Gilbert, an actor of the old school, possessed a real dramatic sense and a fascinating finesse. When cast in carefully chosen situations he gave a decidedly enjoyable performance and though it appeared some time ago that he had been completely broken by producers who insisted that he play the great love, he runs far from that theme and proved to be a "musical wit" who has two hours of pleasant entertainment.

"Touchdown," at the Kentucky has been advertised at that theatre for some time as "the football picture that dares to be different." Well, sure enough we did find some differences from the usual run of movies with that sport as their theme. The hero, instead of being the football genius player of the team proved to be a "musical wit" who has two hours of pleasant entertainment.

The Ben All presented as its week-end attraction Charlotte Greenwood, who reminds us so strongly of an elm tree minus its leaves, in a musical comedy, "Flying High." We regret to inform you that this production which considering its cast and possibilities, was a decided bore. The misapprehension of choral interludes made the exceedingly poor method of presentation of said interludes made the production all the more tiresome. Originally attached to the story, a few spiritually funny gags enabled us to keep our seats throughout.

Indiana Wins In Suit For Legacy

The University of Indiana was awarded $56,514.95 in check and bonds last Friday when the Wabash circuit court overruled a previous decision. The money, in the form of a legacy from the late Mahlon Powell, was awarded to the university.

Here, MEN, smoke a man's smoke

A PIPEFUL of good tobacco is distinctly a man's smoke. The women (long may they wave!) have taken over most of our masculine privileges. But pipe smoking still belongs to us.

In every walk of life you'll find that the men at the top are pipe smokers. And most college men agree that the pipe offers the rarest pleasures a man could ask of his smoking.

When you smoke a pipe, be sure you choose the tobacco that will give you the greatest enjoyment. In 42 out of 54 colleges Edgeworth is the favorite. You can buy Edgeworth wherever good tobacco is sold. Or for a special, write to Larus & Bro. Co., 105 S. 22d St., Richmond, Va. Sample is free.

Good Luck Letter Fetches Bad Luck To Staff of Kernel

Misfortune Due To Visit Paper After Chain Letter Is Disregarded

By A. DARTY. Ill fortune stalks The Kernel, ready to strike at any time now. For The Kernel has broken a fortune letter chain, defying the gods. The letter, referred to The Kernel by Jim Salyers, who believes in chain gangs but not in chain letters, purports to have been started in Flanders by an American general of artillery. According to the 50th circuit warning inscribed therein, the letter must go around the world three times.

The recipient is counseled to make nine copies and forward them to nine persons of greatest intelligence within 24 hours of the receipt thereof. Health and happiness will ensue within nine days thereafter if the letter is carried out.

In proof of the good luck brought by continuing the chain, the highly interesting instances are cited of a Mr. Sarres, of Victoria, who on the ninth day won a big lottery prize of $200,000, or Mr. May and Mr. Bucke, who won $250,000,000, and Pola Negri who... owes her fortune to having carried out these instructions in a most conscientious way.

The "actress' name, however, is inadvertently omitted from the list of 52 persons who have thus far aided in the circulation of the letter.

But evil portends for the recipient who flaunts the chain, warns letter. To illustrate, there is detailed the case of Mr. Hain, of Bilson, who lost his only son three days after receiving the chain without forwarding the copies. And the unfortunate Mr. Walker's home was destroyed by fire on the ninth day, owing to his not having taken serious notice of the receipt thereof. Kernel has only one hope, therefore. It has no soul!

Indiana Wins In Suit For Legacy

The University of Indiana was awarded $56,514.95 in check and bonds last Friday when the Wabash circuit court overruled a previous decision. The money, in the form of a legacy from the late Mahlon Powell, was awarded to the university.

Here, MEN, smoke a man's smoke

A PIPEFUL of good tobacco is distinctly a man's smoke. The women (long may they wave!) have taken over most of our masculine privileges. But pipe smoking still belongs to us.

In every walk of life you'll find that the men at the top are pipe smokers. And most college men agree that the pipe offers the rarest pleasures a man could ask of his smoking.

When you smoke a pipe, be sure you choose the tobacco that will give you the greatest enjoyment. In 42 out of 54 colleges Edgeworth is the favorite. You can buy Edgeworth wherever good tobacco is sold. Or for a special, write to Larus & Bro. Co., 105 S. 22d St., Richmond, Va. Sample is free.

BLUE & WHITE BARBER SHOP Moved Under the Western Union SPECIAL TO STUDENTS Haircuts 35c

YOUR NAME is one of the most important things in the world. IN THE OLD WOOD BLOCK STYLE $1 per box 60 SHEETS OF PAPER 50 ENVELOPES THIS WILL MAKE AN IDEAL CHRISTMAS GIFT

Campus Book Store

Kercheval Nation's Finest Punter, Says Dayton Scribe

The following comment on the punting of Ralph Kercheval, University of Kentucky sophomore footballer, was written by Dan Dwyer, football analyst of the Dayton (Ohio) Herald, who was in Lexington to cover the Kentucky-Tennessee game for his paper.

To a visitor's eyes, the most remarkable feature of the Kentucky-Tennessee game Thanksgiving was the complacency with which the Kentucky stands regarded the superb kicking of Ralph Kercheval. The Wildcats followers were evidently so accustomed to see his kicks soar unbelievable distances that it was just another punt to them.

To the writer, however, the kicking of this lad was a revelation. It has been our privilege to see this season many of the outstanding teams of the country in action, including Yale, Dartmouth, Michigan, Pittsburgh, Notre Dame, Northwestern, Southern California, Purdue, Ohio State, Vanderbilt, Indiana and Navy. Of this group, Olson, of Northwestern, was by far the outstanding kicker. Schwartz of Notre Dame and Motler of Southern California, were close seconds. We are sincere in this statement that the best efforts of these boys have not equalled the booting of your Kentucky sophomore, Ralph Kercheval.

We sat beside the New York University scout who represented Chick Mehan at the Tennessee game, and his words of praise and admiration for Kercheval's kicking grew more superlative as the game progressed. As we left the press stand he said that he had never witnessed a finer exhibition of kicking since Sam Felton, of Harvard, kept the Crimson opponents on the defensive yards ago.

A lot of water has gone under the bridge since Sam Felton played fullback for Harvard. I think it is fair to assume that the N. Y. U. scout has seen a few football games in the intervening years, and we mention this fact in corroboration of what we have said here.

Kercheval's kicking in the Tennessee game was by a long margin the most excellent exhibition of propelling the oval we have ever seen in twelve years of watching the Eastern and Big Ten teams perform. That boy is in a class by himself. His form is original and his results of his peripatetic flight of dozens of top-notch coaches who would give their eye for his recipe for booting that ball.

The kick itself is a classic to watch from the stands. Personally, we believe an opposing safety man would employ a different vocabulary to describe it, for there must be more pleasant things in football than camping under those twisting spirals. We take off our hats to your Kercheval kicker. We don't see how he could be better, but we will bet that if you come to Lexington to hit him again next year, he will be better. So here's luck to you, with the hope that your sophomore's talented toe will next year in a measure compensate for the loss of your great ball totter—Shipwreck.

Ed Danforth, former Kentuckian and the South's leading sports writer, makes this comment about the ability of Kercheval: "The Vols were sorely outkicked by this big Kercheval, who looks like one of the best punters of the year. Time and again his kicks went beyond 60 yards. Once he kicked out of bounds on the forty-yard line. And one of his punts went 70 yards, all carry."

For 38 Years

Year-Ky.	Year-Tenn.	Year-Ky.	Year-Tenn.
1893	56	6	1916	0	0
1894	0	12	1917	13	0
1901	0	5	1920	7	14
1906	21	0	1921	0	0
1907	0	0	1922	7	14
1908	0	5	1923	0	18
1909	17	0	1924	27	6
1910	10	0	1925	23	20
1911	12	0	1926	0	6
1912	12	6	1927	0	20
1913	7	13	1928	0	0
1914	6	23	1929	6	6
1915	6	0	1930	0	6
			1931	6	6

Total number of games, 27; won by Kentucky, 10; won by Tennessee, 11; ties, 6. Points: Kentucky, 237; Tennessee, 162. Difference in points in favor of Kentucky, 55.

Kentucky Ties Tennessee 6-6

(Continued from page one) from nowhere and plowheaded Kelly into the air with a terrifically hard, low tackle. The first down that Kelly made on the play made it six for Kentucky and three for the Tennessees.

Kelly and Kercheval opened up the third quarter with Kelly running the ball, and Kercheval punting. After an exchange of punts Kercheval booted the ball out of bounds on Tennessee's 15-yard line. McEver made 14 yards in two trips. Then Kercheval held for downs and Brackett punted to Yates on the 22-yard line. From there, punts were exchanged out of necessity, Kentucky gained considerable ground in the duel with the assistance of a 15-yard penalty on the Vols. A first down resulted from a Kelly thrust at the line by Kelly. He and Kercheval netted another first down in four tries, and after Yates had made four yards in two downs, and Kelly had failed twice in two more, the ball went to McEver made seven yards around end. His next attempt was called back and Tennessee received a five-yard penalty for being off sides. Here with the ball deep in enemy territory, Kentucky grew careless. Feathers took the ball and started for his goal. Twice he reversed his field as he sped along. Nearly every Blue clad tackler was laid low by the perfect interference of the Orange clad warriors, and Feathers crossed the line standing up with his interference right in his wake.

Myker kicked off to Davidson. Kelly failed to gain, and Kercheval punted to Brackett, who stood on his own 33-yard line where he was nailed instantly. McEver was stopped at the line for no gain. Feathers lost four yards at end, and on the next play he dropped back to kick. A great Kentucky line rose up, crushed the mightiest Vols, and Captain "Babe" Wright, leading the onslaught, batted the punt from the air into Kreuter's ready hands. Kreuter frisked across the goal line to kick the count, 6-6. Wright failed to make a placement good, and the score stood.

Immediately after Kentucky kicked off to Marks, Kentucky was placed in a scoring position when Tennessee lost the ball on downs after Feathers fumbled on the fourth down and McEver recovered. Fate returned a trick here and on the next play the 'Cats fumbled and Mark recovered for Tennessee.

Feathers, with a 20-yard end run, started off the last concerted drive of the Vols, who fought furiously for a touchdown to regain their Southern Conference supremacy.

It took just 10 downs to place them on the 15-yard line. Four more downs advanced them to the five-yard marker, and left them with four downs to make the goal. Feathers failed to pierce the Blue line; McEver made two yards. Feathers tried the end without an inch, and McEver drove at the center of the line for a yard and a half. There remained inches to go, but Kercheval had stopped the Vols.

From behind his own goal line Kercheval punted the ball out to the 35-yard line. Robinson took it there and returned it to the 15-yard line. Few seconds remained for the Vols to turn a tie into victory. In desperation Robinson flipped a pass to Feathers who let it slip from his fingers. Mayer, Vols' center captain and center, on a center play took the ball for no gain. On the third down Robinson used another pass, but Jack Phelps intercepted the attempt, and the run ended the game. Darkness fell like a blanket as the roar of the gun was silenced. It seemed as though the God of light held on for those few waning moments of a desperate game.

Pan-Hellenic Council Makes Dance Plans

Plans for the annual Pan-Hellenic formal dance, which will be held from 9 to 1 o'clock Thursday, December 17, in the Alumni gymnasium are nearing completion. Jimmie Raschel and his New Orleans Ramblers will furnish the music. The Pan-Hellenic association will hold a dinner-meeting at 6 o'clock tonight at the Kappa Alpha chapter house. The dance committee will make its report and final plans will be formulated at the meeting. Those on the committee are George Whitlow, Phi Sigma Kappa, chairman; Jess Herndon, Alpha Tau Omega, and Billie Phelps, Kappa Alpha.

It is planned also to radiocast a half hour's music from the dance through the university extension studios of WLAS, Louisville. Admission to the dance will be $2.50.

GRIFFIN IS QUOTED

The current issue of the Literary Digest, in commenting upon the Harlan county mine situation, referred to the manner in which the stories were handled for the Louisville Courier-Journal by Gerald Griffin, head of the Lexington bureau of the newspaper and instructor in journalism at the university. The magazine carried several quotations from Mr. Griffin, and complimented him upon his work.

VESPERS

The weekly Y. W. C. A. vesper services, which will be held at 7 o'clock tonight in the recreation room of Patterson hall, will be conducted by Delta Delta, Delta sorority, with Christine Johnson as leader. Alice Lang will make a talk on "The Law of Love." Flora Knight will play a piano prelude and there will be a piano solo by Virginia Moody. Mortar Board had charge of the services last Tuesday with Edythe Reynolds as leader. Nancy Duke Lewis talked to the group on "Being Grateful for Spiritual Things."

LOST—In gym, Thanksgiving night, silver ring with three bands of brilliants. Return to Kernel business office or call Ash, 6613.—Adv.

FOUND—Alpha Sigma Alpha pin, (pearls surround) on E. High St., near Tea Cup Inn. May have same by identifying. Call at Clothes Shop, E. High St.—Adv.

LOST—Phi Delta Theta fraternity pin. Return to Sam Woodruff, 281 S. Limestone or call Ashland 4234.

ALL MAKES
TYPEWRITERS
SALE OR RENT
Special Rates to Students
Dealer: L. C. Smith and Corona Typewriters
STANDARD TYPEWRITER COMPANY
Opp. Courthouse WEST SHORT ST. Ash. 1792

Manning Is Elected President of Political Science Association

Dr. J. W. Manning, political science department, was elected vice-president of the Southern political science association at its annual meeting in Atlanta, Georgia, Saturday, November 28. This regional association, which is composed of teachers of political science from colleges and universities of the South is recognized by the American Political Science Association, and is one of the oldest regional groups of its kind in the country. Doctor Manning conducted a round table discussion and read a paper on "The Development of Municipal and County Government in the South" at the recent meeting of the association. There were approximately 100 delegates in attendance at the convention. The association was represented officially by its president, Prof. E. S. Corwin, Princeton University. Professor Corwin presided at a dinner given by the Southern association Friday, November 27, when he delivered an address on "The Anti-Trust Act and the Constitution." It was observed at the meeting that the interest in the teaching and study of political science in the South is increasing.

Conference Will Be Friday, Saturday

Dr. Esther McGinnis, field worker in child care with the American Home Economics Association, will be the chief speaker at the conference on child development and parental education which will be held at the university Friday and Saturday, December 4 and 5. The conference, which is under the leadership of Miss Ina Leo, state supervisor of home economics education, will be comprised of delegates from Eastern Kentucky, Lexington Home Economics club, a luncheon Saturday which will be given by the department of home economics and economic teaching in the new dining room of the department, and a breakfast at the Green Tree, Sunday, December 6 as the guests of Phi Upsilon Omicron, honorary home economics sorority.

There will be sessions in the morning and afternoon of each day during the conference, and discussions concerning various phases of child economics will be held. Doctor McGinnis will also be the principal speaker at the general convocation of the College of Agriculture which will be held Friday morning, December 4, in Memorial Hall. In addition, she will be honored by a reception given the following evening at the university Faculty club by the Lexington Home Economics club; a luncheon Saturday which will be given by the department of home economics and economic teaching in the new dining room of the department, and a breakfast at the Green Tree, Sunday, December 6 as the guests of Phi Upsilon Omicron, honorary home economics sorority.

Forensic Team to Debate in Fullerton

Coordination of intercollegiate debate with interscholastic debate will result in the appearance of four members of the university debating team at 7 o'clock tonight at the McKill High school, Fullerton. The question for debate is "Resolved: That the Several States Should Enact Laws Providing For Compulsory Unemployment Insurance." H. Clyde Reeves and Elmer Lambert composed the affirmative team, and A. E. Benjamin and H. C. Cramer will defend the negative side of the question. Debating groups and citizens of northeastern Kentucky will hear the debate, which is designed not only to be beneficial to high school debate teams, but also to give the university debaters experience in extemporaneous speaking.

Philharmonic Group Gives Music Program

(Continued from page one) Matson, Mary Layman, Esther Green. Oboes: Mrs. E. W. Delcamp, Anthony Giurgovich. Basson: J. E. School. Trumpets: Edgar Bagshaw, Chas. Struble. Horns: John Lewis, R. A. Palmore, John Griffey, John Moore. Trombones: William Hatcher, Harry Fairbanks. Tympani: William McClure. Harp: Anne O'Brien. Brook Lee is librarian of the orchestra. The men pledged by Phi Mu Alpha were: John Griffin, Albany; Hume Harrington, Louisville; William Bushong, Tompkinsville; Elmer Newman, Louisville; John Lewis, Winchester; Charles Hatcher, Grayson; Prof. Howard Matson of the College of Agriculture faculty; and James School, Utsa, New York. Eidon Durand, president of the fraternity, presided at the pledging exercises. Winders Cravens, Robert Trigg, John Carter, Howard Thies, James Powell, William Sprague and Ed Hughes Stewart acted as ushers at the musicale. The musicale next Sunday afternoon will be presented by Mary Ann Kaufman Brown, soprano; Chas. Thome, Thome Prewitt Williams will play the piano accompaniment.

FIVE BOOKS ARE ADDED The following books have been added to the collection in the browsing room of the library: "Sir Walter Raleigh's 'Culdrey,'" Powell; "Fausangren," "Her Son's Wife," by Fisher; "Ljantey," by Maurois; and "Scientific Outlook," by Russell.

Kentucky
Last Times Today
Richard Arlen
Jack Oakie
Peggy Shannon
in Touchdown
WED.—FRI.
Mary Astor
ROBERT AMES
Edward Everett Horton
in
"Smart Woman"

Jimmy Gatewood and his Kentucky Kernels
— AT —
ROSE STREET CONFECTIONERY
Starting A Limited Engagement
WEDNESDAY, DEC. 2, 8:30—10:30 P. M.

You needn't tell me
— I know Camel is the fresh cigarette!

FRESHNESS

that's the thing!
CAMELS are never parched or toasted

HAVE you noticed the new trend in cigarettes?— freshness is the popular thing.

That's because a fresh cigarette, as demonstrated by Camels, is something smokers have discovered as better than anything they ever tried before.

Camels are fresh in the Camel Humidor Pack because they're made fresh to start with — blended of choice, delicately mild, sun-ripened tobaccos in which the natural moisture and fragrant flavors are vigilantly safeguarded.

The tobaccos in Camels are never parched or toasted — the Reynolds method of scientifically applying heat guarantees against that.

That's why we say with so much assurance that Camels are truly fresh. They're made fresh — not parched or toasted — and then they're kept fresh in the Camel Humidor Pack.

Try Camels' freshness for a change. Switch over for just one day, then change back — if you can.

R. J. REYNOLDS TOBACCO COMPANY, Winston-Salem, N. C.

R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company's Coast-to-Coast Radio Programs
CAMEL QUARTER HOUR, Morton Downey, Tony Woods, and Camel Orchestra, direction Charles Renard, every night except Sunday, Columbia Broadcasting System
PRINCE ALBERT QUARTER HOUR, Alice Joy, "Old Hunch," and Prince Albert Orchestra, direction Paul Van Loan, every night except Sunday, N. B. C. Red Network
See radio page of local newspaper for time

CAMELS
Made FRESH—Kept FRESH

Don't remove the moisture-proof wrapping from your package of Camels after you open it. The Camel Humidor Pack is protection against perfume and powder odors, dust and germs. In offices and homes, even in the dry atmosphere of artificial heat, the Camel Humidor Pack delivers fresh Camels and keeps them right until the last one has been smoked

Smoke a fresh cigarette

© 1931, R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company