KING SWOPE SPEAKS TO REPUBLICAN CLUB

World League Fled by University of Kentucky Graduate.

Hon. King Swope, representative of the eighth congressional district of Kentucky, and the youngest member of the last Congress, addressed the Republican Club of the University in the chapel Thursday, September 30, at 8:00 o'clock.

He was graduated from the College of Law of the University of Kentucky in 1916.

The main topic of congressman Swope's address was the League of Nations and its probable dangers to our government if we accept it without reservation. He also spoke of the work done by the last Congress in an effort to reduce alleged reckless expenditures of the administration. He said the reason that there was no outstanding bill in the last Congress was because there were so many that no single one could be especially prominent. There were two hundred and eighty bills in the last congress which became laws.

The following were elected to guide the club through the year:

Robert J. Rabble, president; H. J. Well, vice president and Adele Slade, secretary-treasurer.

The speaker was introduced with a short talk by Adele Slade, in which she besought women voters to realize the important part they should play in their first presidential election and prepare themselves to vote intelligently.

G. K. GRAVES SAYS STUDENTS ARE BIG ASSET TO A CITY

The student bodies of the Universities and colleges are a great asset to Lexington business, according to a prominent merchant. There are approximately 2,000 students in the several colleges of the city. Each student spends in Lexington, on an average, $500 in the course of the college year, approximately $1,250,000 in the aggregate. This is a conservative estimate of both the number of students and of the amount each one spends.

Speaking of the student as a business asset, George K. Graves, of Graves, Cox and Company, said, "business picks up as soon as the students come in. I can tell a difference immediately." Mr. Graves says that the students buy suits, shoes and all sorts of furnishings. "We miss them greatly during the summer," he continued.

"I fear that the business men of Lexington do not appreciate the students as they ought to. If they had to do without them for a year they would see just what the students mean to Lexington's business."

SOCIAL GIVEN FOR STUDENTS.

Students of the University of Kentucky are cordially invited to attend a social at the Second Presbyterian Church Friday evening at 7:30 in the assembly rooms over the Ben All Theatre.

ART EDITOR NEEDS AN ASSISTANT FOR 1921 KENTUCKIAN

The Kentucky staff, at its first meeting of the year, last Monday decided that above all things the 1921 Kentuckian must come out on time. Work in some of the departments is under way and a dummy of the 1921 year book is very nearly completed.

Ed. Gregg, art editor, is in need of several assistants and would like to meet any of the students who are artistically inclined, who would help in this work. There are perhaps among the men and women of the Freshman class, those who have done work of this type in high school. The job of art editor is handed down each year to the one who has had the most experience on the staff in this department and Gregg is very anxious to train some one for the position next year.

If those interested will meet in the Kentuckian room in the basement of the Library Saturday the fifth hour the art editor and other members of the Staff will be there to outline the plan of the 1921 Kentuckian and assign the work.

This is very important, so be sure to be there or leave your name and address so that we will be able to find you.

Cincinnati Symphony Opened Concert Series

The Artist Concert Organization of Lexington opened its season at Woodland Auditorium Wednesday, October 6 with the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra as its first attraction. The orchestra was conducted by Eugene Ysae, and gave two concerts, one in the afternoon and the other in the evening. Miss Jessie Christian and Mr. Robert Millard Russel were the soloists.

Miss Christian is well known in music circles, both here and abroad and has been soloist with the New York and Minneapolis Symphony Orchestras. She was also a member of the Chicago Opera Company at one time. During the past few months she has been touring Canada and the larger eastern cities.

The artist series is under the personal direction of Miss Anna Chandler Goff, of the Lexington College of Music.

MISS McLAUGHLIN WRITES FEATURE

An entire page in the Courier-Journal Magazine section of Sunday is devoted to an article entitled "Kentucky's Experiment Farm and How It is Run," by Miss Marguerite McLaughlin.

The article is illustrated with three pictures, characteristic scenes of thrift at the farm, and is of great interest and value. It gives one a fine idea of how important this department is to the University.

Miss McLaughlin is a newspaper writer of note and an instructor in the Department of Journalism of the University. During the summer she was engaged in publicity work for the University.

ONLY CADETS MAY ATTEND HOPS

Arrangements are being made for a series of cadet hops. The first one will be held before Thanksgiving. Only members of the battalion and a few invited guests will attend this year's hops.

PRESIDENT McVEY SPEAKS AT UPPER CLASSMAN CHAPEL

The address of the morning was given by President McVey. In a few words he impressed upon the seniors and juniors their responsibility in upholding the standards and traditions of their Alma Mater. He particularly stressed raising the standard of dancing and ceasing to deface the college buildings by the painting of class numerals. He also urged that students and faculty become personal friends. Such friendships would be extremely valuable to both, he said.

The annual battle for supremacy staged by the freshman and sophomore classes will be held at Clifton Heights pond Friday afternoon. The time was decided Monday afternoon at a meeting of representatives of the senior and junior classes with members of the faculty.

Fair play will be insured by the presence of upper classmen. Each class will be given an equal amount of cable and the tug o' war will last until one of the classes has been pulled entirely through the pond.

Rough tactics introduced in the past such as hooking an automobile to one of the cables and greasing the freshman end of the rope, will not be tolerated by the committee in charge.

The committee in charge of arrangements is composed of:

George Zerfass, Herndon Evans, Clyde O. Burton, Dillard Turner and Melvin Eblen, A. E. Hukle, J. Truitt, W. Morris, Courtland Short and A. V. Wheat.

ELIGIBILITY RULE TO BE DECIDED MONDAY

The Athletic Scholarship Standard Will Be Set By Senate.

New Faculty Members Introduced.

At the regular monthly meeting of the faculty of the College of Arts and Science held in the Little Theatre, Monday at 3:45 o'clock the main subject discussed was the propriety of changing the rules affecting probation.

At present unless a student has a standing of one, he is not permitted to take part in extra curricula activities. According to the S. I. A. A., under whose rules the University of Kentucky Athletic Association operates, any student who has a passing grade may take part in athletics. Thus our system of eligibility puts University of Kentucky students on an apparently higher standard of scholarship.

In the point system here A stands for three points, B two points, C one point and D no points. When a student receives D in a subject he does not have to repeat the course but in order to graduate he must have a general standing of one. The question thus arose whether D should be considered a passing grade within the limitations of S. I. A. A. requirements. It was suggested that either the eligibility rules or the value of D should be changed. At the monthly meeting of the Senate which will be held in the Little Theatre, Monday, October 11, the standing required of students to take part in athletics will be definitely decided.

Dean Boyd introduced the new members of the faculty in the department of Arts and Science. They are: Dr. P. K. Holmes, head of the Department of Hygiene and Public Health; Professor E. D. Hull, assistant professor of Botany; Mr. W. J. Juneau, assistant Physical Director; Miss Vella B. Kurrick, teacher of English in Model High School; Dr. Flora E. Lee Sturgeon, assistant professor of Mathematics; Professor W. H. Mikesell, assistant professor of Public Speaking; Mr. W. E. Payne, instructor of Mathematics; Professor M. H. Pollitt, assistant professor of Ancient Languages; Miss Margaret Horsefield, professor of Romance Languages; Miss Mollie R. Hays, professor of History; Miss Ethel L. Anderson instructor of Zoology; Mr. H. N. Patterson, instructor in Physics; Mr. E. A. Warren, instructor in English; Dr. A. G. Ireland, associate professor of Hygiene and Public Health; Mr. Casey Smith, professor of Science in Model High School; Mr. Carol M. Sax, head of the Department of Arts and Design; Lieutenant Colonel G. D. Freeman, head of the Department of Military Science; Miss Tillie B. Greathouse, Resident House Nurse; Miss Gladys M. Lowe, instructor in Philosophy; Idie Lee Turner, secretary to Dean Boyd; Dr. Charles Barkenbus, assistant professor of Organic Chemistry; Mr. N. M. Williams, professor of Chemistry; Dr. Eva M. Locke, assistant professor of Hygiene and Public Health; Dr. J. Garrett Kemp, associate professor of Physics; G. A. Knight, first sergeant; I. J. Kennedy, first sergeant; W. L. POWER OF THE RURAL PRESS.

Owing to the lack of space and the rush of the Herald's prize contest several births and deaths will be postponed until next week, or until a later date—(Lusk Herald.)

THE DRAMA By Fred K. Augsborg

Do You Know That—

John Golden's production, "Lightning," starring Frank Bacon, holds the record of the longest run on Broadway? The play has entered its third year, having had its premier in August, 1918, at the Gaitey.

Maurice Bronaugh, former Lexington journalist and student at the University, later in the cast of Ned Wayburn's "Town Topics," and also with Trixie Friganzi, is now doing reportorial work in New York, being connected with the staff of the Sun and New York Herald.

The jeweled pins of the Strollers have arrived, and members of former casts may be seen wearing them conspicuously.

The Stagecrafters of Transylvania College have elected the following officers to lead them through the year: Violet Young, president; Howard Stevenson, vice president; Ann Vandlingham, secretary and treasurer; Newland Roy, business manager; Ida Button, assistant business manager, and Elizabeth McLeod, press agent.

"The Bat," mystery play, now at the Morocco theatre, broke all records at that house for one week recently, and according to assurances of the press agent has set a new mark for dramatic shows in New York this season. The receipts for the week were more than $20,000 and represent absolute capacity at the prevailing scale of prices.

Grover Creech, member of the casts of three plays and stage manager for the production of "Under Cover," was on the campus last week renewing acquaintances with old Strollers.

Helen Hayes, last seen here in "Pollyanna," is being starred this season in George C. Tyler's comedy of Youth, "Bab."

Emery Frazier, erstwhile Stroller and star of five productions is now established in business in New York City. For a time this summer Frazier was a member of the cast of the merry musical comedy, "Buddies."

Mamie Miller Woods, who was starred in the 1917 Stroller production, "The Lion and the Mouse," is again matriculated and will add material strength to the work of the Strollers this year.

Mr. Carol M. Sax, who coached the Strollers in their production of "Under Cover," is back at the University as the head of the Department of Art and Design. Mr. Sax was until recently connected with the Vagabond Theatre, Baltimore's Community Playhouse.

For all interested in dramatic production, a course is being offered by the Department of English this year. Practical work will be given in the Little Theatre. The course is under the direction of Professor Mikesell.

Briefs From Broadway.

The biggest production of the current season in New York opened at the Century theatre last Monday night. The piece is called "Mecca," and has been in course of preparation for more than two years.

According to reports, the cost of "Mecca" will closely approximate $400,000, about double what it cost to produce "Chu Chin Chow" three years ago.

"Mecca" is in fourteen scenes, and six of them are played on a smaller stage on rollers, which is completely equipped with miniature footlights, wings, flies, grids and border lights.

SCHOLARSHIPS FOR EX-SERVICE MEN.

There has been much discussion on the campus of the provisions of Senate Bill Number 26, enacted last winter by the State Assembly for the purpose of granting scholarships in the University of Kentucky to residents of the State who served in the war with Germany and her allies. In fact, so much confused discussion, aimless argument and wild speculation arises from the little groups of "they-sayers" that there is a real danger of the issues involved becoming suffocated by the excess of language in the air.

It is difficult to understand why there should be any doubt as to the meaning of the act or any hesitancy on the part of the University officials in carrying out its provisions. Its wording is simple. Its meaning is clear. Its provisions are precise; its instructions explicit.

The first smoke-screen was laid by the State Attorney-General's office when a ruling excluding S. A. T. C. men was issued. Why this was done no one knows. It was revoked later and President McVey more than made up the damage it had done when he agreed a few days ago to accept applications for scholarships from S. A. T. C. men although the act provides that application must be made thirty days before the beginning of the school year in which it is to operate. The President's act was no more than fair, since many men who served in the S. A. T. C. came to school under the impression that they were barred from the benefits of the bill, and had, therefore, made no application.

This, however, was only the beginning. The act provides that to the men to whom the scholarships are granted "tuition, matriculation, and other fees" shall be remitted. Much surprise was evinced by service men on entering when the University collected from them $4.50. Tuition was remitted, in accordance with the act, but the "other fees" were collected. It has been explained that this $4.50 is not a fee, since it goes to the support of the athletic fund and the Kernel. We believe that a fee, in law and in common usage, is a "payment," regardless of what use the recipient makes of it. Shall we say that if a lawyer collect a fee of $5.00 and spend it for gasoline it shall remain a fee but that if he spend it for a beefsteak it shall not be a fee?

An examination of the receipt issued by the Business Office strengthens this belief. The card is headed, "Payment of Fees," and stipulates that John Doe "must pay to the Business Office, University of Kentucky, fees as follows: $4.50." This amount is rec'd for by the "University of Kentucky Business Office."

We are further informed that the bulletin issued by the University on the subject of the scholarships stated that owing to the fact that there are no dormitories for men at the University room rent would not be provided. Viewed in the light of the wording of the act, lack of dormitories is not a reason or even an excuse for the University's failure in this regard. In fact, the subject of dormitories is rather irrelevant. We quote the act: "Said scholarship shall include free tuition, matriculation and other fees, room rent, fuel and light, and all the advantages and privileges of the University....but same is not to include free board." Certainly there is nothing here about dormitories.

By the terms of the act, we would place the fair money value of the scholarship at $135 a year, itemized as follows: transportation to and from Lexington, (average) $10; matriculation and other fees, in the College of Arts and Science, $35, in other colleges more; room rent $90. The money value of the act as interpreted by the University authorities is $35 per year. To those service men who are required by circumstances to figure expenses carefully and closely, and we believe there are few among them who are not, this difference of $100 is most serious. It is doubtful that there is a single man in the University who can cut $100 off his expected income during the next eight months and remain in school.

To the committee of ex-service men which called on President McVey recently it was pointed out that compliance with the rent clause of the scholarship act would entail a heavy drain on the funds of the University. The expenditure required by this clause is estimated at $14,400. As the matter stands, this amount must come from some where, either the State or ex-service men. We agree with the President that the University needs the money. But would President McVey ask the ex-service men of the University to contribute from their own resources $14,400 to the support of the University? We do not believe so. Other students contribute nothing. There is no reason to expect the ex-service men to do more.

There are rumors abroad on the campus that the ex-service men are planning to take the matter into the courts. We would advise against this. The Kernel urges the ex-service men to exercise every quality of patience and to exhaust every less expensive and more pleasant method of settlement before resorting to law. Surely in a matter in which the rights of the men are so plainly stated and the duties of the authorities so clearly defined litigation is unnecessary.

PARTISAN CLUBS

Noticing the growing activities of the two political clubs on the campus, The Kernel wishes to commend their work and urge all students of voting age to affiliate themselves with these clubs, and to attend their meetings, so as to familiarize themselves with the campaign issues as prerequisite to the intelligent casting of ballots.

HERALD COMES TO THE RESCUE

Owing to congestion in the shop of its regular printer The Kernel was unable to publish its first edition in regular form. The Lexington Herald, however, kindly aided us to keep up our serial number by publishing a four page issue last week. Because of the exigencies of the situation a few typographical errors appeared in the issue which both The Kernel and The Herald regret.

In the name of the student body of the University of Kentucky, The Kernel takes this means of thanking The Herald for the courtesy granted to it.

YOUR SHOULDER TO THE WHEEL.

An association of alive and energetic alumni, is one of the greatest assets a university can have. By its own activity and the resultant benefit to the Alma Mater membership in the association will come to have a bigger meaning and a greater attraction.

We face the beginning of such an era at the University of Kentucky now. Accomplishments of the institution itself and the success of hundreds of its alumni have served recently to arouse an appreciation of its worth. Men and women now in all parts of the world have come to realize that "State" can truly mean something to them after they have left the confines of its campus. Undergraduates learning now of what has been the institution's history feel a real love for it. Their interest is the basis of a great future program.

There are things scholastic, things athletic and things financial, relative to the University wherein alumni want a part. Some of this work has never been attempted by us before. In some instances it has. It may be now we would do it differently. Fix clearly in your mind what you want to do and what you would have accomplished. Then put your shoulder to the wheel and see it through.

MEMBERSHIP REQUIREMENTS MAY BE CHANGED

A proposal has been made to the Alumni Association that the membership requirements be changed so as to admit former students who have done two years work at the University. Such membership requirement has been adopted by the associations of other institutions.

A committee has been appointed to re-draft the constitution of the University of Kentucky Alumni Association. There are 2,000 alumni. The former students number 18,000, of which number probably one-third spent two years or longer in the University.

The Secretary of the Association has asked for an expression of opinion from the alumni as to the advisability of this change. Many favorable replies have been received already.

Western Paper Wants Journalistic Graduate

The Department of Journalism has received a telegram asking it to send at once to the Evening Gazette of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, one of its graduates, offering an attractive salary to start.

As all its graduates are already in service and under graduates are pursuing their courses, the request could not be granted, but this notice is given publication for the purpose of calling the matter to the attention of any former journalistic graduate who might desire to consider a proposition to go West and enter the profession.

MELANGE DE GENRE By Troy Perkins. FREE ADVICE TO FRESHMEN:

(Note—The information herein, contained is not given out under the direction of the University).

Freshmen should keep in mind the fact that they must let the world know they are freshmen; every act should tend toward informing others of this condition.

First—after leaving the train, go to the Phoenix Hotel and ask for a fifty cent room. This will aid materially in establishing your identity.

Spend two hours out on the sidewalk in front talking with northern race horse men; run down Lexington at every opportunity.

Get a haircut; get your hair singed and a few waves added. This may seem odd at first, but it will seem funny later on.

Go to the races. Play the heavy favorites, which always show; and—remember, Opportunity comes around only once in a lifetime.

Next—get a room. Be particular in your selection; a northwest room is especially desirable, as the west is known to be warm in winter, while the north is notoriously cool in the summer. Select a house about half way between school and town, not over a block from the car line; specify that the door be left unlocked all night.

A boarding place is entirely a matter of taste. Some have beans, Irish potatoes, stale bread, and zip every day; others have zip, stale bread, Irish potatoes and beans every day. There are two types of beaneries: the Slow-and-Easy and the Catch-As-Catch-Can; consult your temperament.

Now for a new outfit. This should consist of: (a) An egg hat of blue and white; (b) a blue and white cravat; (c) the jersey you won at high school last year in home town colors (the old men like this particularly well); (d) a pair of wide, peg top trousers of any colors your aesthetic taste may suggest, with the cuffs at least four inches above your shoe tops; (e) pair of blue and white Sox, striped horizontally; (f) a pair of heavy, tan, box toed button shoes; (g) one pipe with a long, bent stem to be smoked profusely on the streets.

Fling about carelessly and copiously such fresh, 14-carat, twentieth-century, "open sesame," idioms as: "I'll say so," "Yea bo," "You know what I mean," "I'm crazy about it," "Swell jane," "Keen," "A dope," "Where d'ye get that stuff," "Old stuff," "Small-town stuff."

Register, using green ink. Buy a campus ticket. Buy a chapel ticket. Buy any other tickets that the local Ponzis may propose to sell you.

Having done all this, call up someone at Hamilton College for a date. If you haven't been apprehended as a freshman already, this will reveal the fact beyond question.

You're Welcome.

We have now had: "I'm Always Chasing Rainbows," "I'm Forever Blowing Bubbles," "My Castles in the Air are Tumbling Down," "I'm Always Building Castles in the Air," "I'm Just Like a Wheel That is Turning," "I'm Like a Ship Without a Sail," etc. Just to keep the good work going, we suggest the following to song writers: "I'm Perpetually Pursuing Will-o'-the-Wisps," "I'm Continually Catching Ignis Fatuus," "I'm Hotly Hounded by Hallucinations," "My Dates are Never Worth a Fig."

De Profundis.

KENTUCKY TEAM GOES TO CHICAGO

Colleges of Agriculture Sends Judges To National Dairy Show.

The fact that it took a whole day and the greater part of another to judge Jersey cattle, alone at the State Fair this year, presents to us strong evidence that the dairy interest in Kentucky is coming to the front. Of course all of these animals were not from this State, but many of them were. Some of them made up herds of just average farm dairies, not dairies of the large commercial type, and such dairies as these will make our State take a place along side such states as Wisconsin. There were many other breeds entered, but the Jerseys were most numerous.

Results of the hard work done since last Spring on the part of students who took up the judging work with a view of making the Dairy Team which will appear at the National Dairy Show held in Chicago this week, are now being realized by those who worked hard through all kinds of weather last Spring. Professor Hooper has announced the following new members of the team: Harry W. Farmer, Standford; Frank Wedekemper, Louisville; D. Y. Dunn, Dexter; and J. H. Taylor, Henderson.

The Team left Tuesday night. The itinerary announced is: Wednesday morning, a visit to the Gossard breeding establishment, Martinsville, Indiana, where an Ayrshire herd was judged. That afternoon the herd at the Botteman Holstein Farm near Indianapolis was judged. From there a trip to judge the Purdue University herd the same afternoon. Thursday a work-out at the Babson Farm, Hinsdale, Illinois, with Guernseys and from there the team left for Chicago for a rest until Saturday when judging at the National takes place. The team will be at the Palmer House while in Chicago.

If any of you ever get "blue" or become homesick, just make a trip out to the Dairy Experiment Station Farm, and call on Mr. Nutter, the affable manager. You won't have the "blues" when you leave and you will also have learned something.

"Hub" Bennett, '20, was seen at the football game Saturday.

Ed Parker, '20, was also at Saturday's game, as well as "Romey" Clark, '16, now principal of high school at Frankfort.

"There is an imperative need for a better system of distribution of farm products"

James W. Gerard, Former Ambassador to Germany.

The outdoor life and fresh air have the same effect every where but Mr. Gerard says, "There is no place like the farm for health. I have never seen finer specimens of young men and young women than I saw while traveling in the agricultural states of the middle west."

Short courses similar to the Movable Schools which under the direction of Leader of Specialists, N. R. Elliott of the Experiment Station, were held at intervals last year in several counties of the State, are to be encouraged more throughout South Dakota this year than ever before according to bulletins from that Station, located at Brookings.

J. H. Taylor, '21, Henderson, has had charge of cow testing work near Hopkinsville in Christian county all summer. He is back at the University to resume his work this year.

Harry W. Farmer, '21, Standford, has returned from Shelby county where he went to do cow testing work.

ALPHA ZETA GIVES PARTY IN PAVILION

Dean Cooper Welcomes New Students In College of Agriculture.

Thursday night the Scovell chapter of Alpha Zeta fraternity gave its annual party at the Stock Judging Pavilion. Freshmen and the new professors and their wives, were the special guests.

Dean Cooper, in his cordial manner, welcomed the new students and said he anticipated the finest year in the history of the College. Following him Professor George Roberts spoke. Professor L. J. Horiacher explained the aims of Alpha Zeta. A very interesting program was given by Perkins in the form of impersonations of a farmer.

This is the second party to be given at the Pavilion. The first was last November when the "Little International," the first of its kind in the history of the College, was given.

In the crowd were many students of other colleges as guests of the "Ags."

After the speeches refreshments were served and a dance was held. Active members of Alpha Zeta are: H. G. Sellards, E. M. Johnson, C. U. Jett, Oakley Brown, J. H. Atkinson, Herschel Well.

Work is going on daily among those who are trying-out for places on the Fat Stock Judging team which annually goes to the International Stock Show in Chicago. Last year seven men made the trip.

The work is in charge of Professor L. J. Horiacher, assistant professor in Animal Husbandry, who has had much experience in this kind of work prior to his coming to the University. He is very anxious for at least twelve men to tryout for the team. At present those who are out are: Garnett McKenney and Robert Ford, Winchester; H. G. Sellards, Prestonburg; H. J. Wehl, Lexington; John W. Holland, Whitesville and W. B. Howell, Greensburg.

Practice is held every afternoon, and Saturday morning, and consists of trips to surrounding farms where some of the best stock in the Blue Grass is used as material for the class. Last Saturday a trip was made to former Senator Camden's place, Versailles pike, and his Hampshire sheep judged.

Recently several animals have been added to the herds owned by the College. One of the best purchases was a Cheviot ram from Turner Collins, Cynthiana. Professor Horiacher said, "he is the best young ram in the country, and if he doesn't take 'First'

at the International, that he'll be greatly surprised."

AG-HOME EC. CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS

The Agriculture and Home Economic Society held the first meeting last Monday night in the Agriculture Building. Business matters were disposed of and officers were elected for the coming year. Those chosen were: president, J. H. Taylor, Henderson; vice president, Mrs. D. Y. Dunn, Dexter; secretary, Angie Hill, McCracken county; treasurer, J. W. Holland, Whitesville.

The pith of such plants as the sunflower, rush or elder is recommended by a scientific writer as an excellent material for cleaning the lenses of scientific instruments.

Quoting E. M. Prewitt, dairy specialist, Department of Dairying, who has acted as judge of dairy cattle at several fairs throughout the State: "The exhibits of dairy cattle at all the fairs I have attended, without a single exception, have shown a marked improvement over last year. The day when Kentucky will take her place with the great dairy states of the Union is not far distant."

Stoll Will Represent University of Kentucky

Richard C. Stoll will represent the board of trustees of the University of Kentucky at the inauguration of Dr. M. L. Burton as president of the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor October 15. Representatives from boards of education and boards of trustees from all state institutions will attend the inauguration and will hold a meeting to discuss various problems of the institutions.

The Kernel announces a contest with a prize of $5.00 for a drawing of a name plate, or title, to be used at the top of the first page of the paper. The purpose of the contest is to provide a drawing from which a plate can be made.

While the contest is primarily for students in the Department of Art and Design, drawings will be welcomed from anyone.

The drawings should be the width of a regular issue of the Kernel, the height arbitrary.

All drawings should be left in the Kernel postoffice box by October 20. The winner will be announced as soon as possible.

In Selecting a University----

For a college education, there are five things to be taken into consideration:

1. The men at the head of the Institution.
2. The scholastic standing and ability of the Teaching Staff.
3. The location and advantages of environment.
4. Equipment, buildings, laboratories and libraries.
5. Cost.

In all these respects the University of Kentucky commends itself to those seeking a higher institution in which to carry on their education.

All Departments, including Liberal Arts, Sciences, Agriculture, Law, Education, Mining, Civil, Electrical and Mechanical Engineering.

The Government needs trained men and women; college training will bring the result.

FOOTBALL ATHLETICS TRACK

By Gerald Griffin and Garry Rooms

Kentucky Easily Wins From S. P. U.

Wildcats Win Initial Game On Stoll Field by 60 to 0 Score.

The Blue and White pigskin warriors of Old Kentucky lifted the cover of the fall gridiron schedule in an impressive fashion Saturday afternoon, when they compelled the Southwestern Presbyterian University eleven to dance to the tune of 60 to 0. Coach Juneau's "debutantes" were right there when it came to cleaning up and their tiger like attack and consistent playing will make them important considerations in college football settlements.

School spirit and temperament was at the highest pitch—fully 2,500 spectators witnessed the contest and the cheering and attitude displayed evidenced real enthusiasm such as has not been shown at Kentucky for some time. The crowd was of the hot-footed type and it needed only a little spark from the cheer leaders, Ringo, Huckle and Sturges to set them off.

The home team kicked off and scored only a few minutes later when the visitors fumbled, half-back Fuller carrying the ball across the line. From then it was only a matter of how large a score the Blue and White defenders would be suited with and gains were made at will.

Lavin was especially prominent in broken field running and off-end plays. Fuller starred in end runs. Pribble and Shanklin were most effective in line-plugging and did their share in making long gains through the open field.

The line with Captain Murphree in his old position at right tackle along with Rice, Colpitts, Fest, Ramsey, Server and Zerfoss was impenetrable and held like a stone wall on the offensive, in addition to opening holes for the backfield. On the defensive they were unchecked and time after time broke through opponents in back the line.

Shanklin was the chief scorer with three touchdown and one goal. Lavin was next with one touchdown and three goals. Fuller, Rice, Pribble, Thornton and Whaley each made a touchdown and Wilhelm kicked a goal.

All the subs gave a fine account of themselves and scored as easily as the regulars. A dependable crew of scrubs is an all important factor in the moulding of a championship team; they furnish the opposition that the first team must overcome in order to contend with strong rivals.

There is no doubt that the Wildcat bunch with the fellows fighting and scrapping for places in practice, and for Kentucky in the game, and with Juneau filling them with good sound football knowledge and ginger, will "Wildcat" a harvest of victories and be recognized as a strong contender in College pigskin circles.

The line-up:

Harry Harper Injured in Scrimmage.

Class football is rapidly attaining prominence on the campus. The Freshmen are already hustling, whipping themselves into shape to take the measure of their "friendly enemies," the sophs. About twenty-five first year men are out every day scrapping and fighting to mould themselves into a machine capable of trouncing the hair-cutters. That is their one ultimate aim, so far as football is concerned, and they may also have a little to say about the tug of war later on.

The "Freshs" have divided themselves into two sections on the field—one group working against the other in an attempt to draw the best players to "finish" the second year wizards who are expected to be on the field soon.

Monday afternoon during a scrimmage of the two freshman crews, Harry Harper, Carlisle, a fast backfield man was rendered unconscious, and had to be treated by a physician. He was carried to the Gymnasium Building and there regained consciousness. His condition was considered serious, and he was taken to the hospital.

The following men are the defenders of the freshmen class, and are working hard for the defeat of the sophs: Rouse, Sanders, Bentley, Harper, Hardesty, Cammack, Cassidy, Anderson, True, Field, Loftus, Perryman, Moore, Insko, Stitch, Rollow, Smith, Russell, Tritt, Blair, Brower, Wiesbrod, Miller and Arsdall.

COOPER PITCHES FOR DYERSBURG

Paul P. Cooper, hurling ace of last years varsity, with his four Kentucky victories as a start, annexed fifteen arguments before he was stopped. Cooper was a member of the fast Dyersburg, Tennessee, team which won the semi-professional championship of the South and defeated the Memphis Southern Association team three games in five. Cooper beat the Chicks 6 to 3 and whiffed twelve men. This phenomenal southpaw ended the season with twenty-two victories, including eight shut-outs, six three-hit games, and two defeats. Scout Joe Engel of the Washington Nationals made him an attractive offer which he rejected.

"Injun Bill" Juneau shouldnt have many baseball worries next spring with Cooper, Burham, and Brow as a nucleus.

RINGO ELECTED CHEER LEADER

Ryan Ringo, sophomore in the College of Arts and Science, was elected cheer leader for the 1920 Wildcat team at a football rally held in chapel last Friday morning. Albert Hukle and Alfred Sturges were elected assistant cheer leaders.

Enthusiasm ran high, and Wildcat songs were sung and rousing cheers were given with good old Kentucky pep. The freshmen displayed real Wildcat spirit and gave very convincing evidence to the upper classesmen that they were the coming feature of college activities.

Coach Juneau was received with welcoming cheers.

Hendon Evans and Fred Houston-Shaw, seniors, presided at the rally.

NUTTY NOTES FROM SATURDAY'S GAME

Track practice started last Saturday at 3 p. m.

The Wildcat's jerseys were not the only blues on the field when Southwestern realized what she was up against.

The golden October sun sank in a glorious haze behind the Administration Building as the hopes of S. P. U. sank behind the efforts of a real football team.

Between halves the band worked in competition with the leather lunged snake dancers.

Many Freshmen were surprised at seeing no feathers in Juneau's hair.

The editor of Squirrel Food was in the game. The question is, was he a hard nut to crack?

It is generally understood that he is a nut.

Kentucky plays Centre on November 13. Somebody is going to have an unlucky day.

The Freshmen set a good example to the upperclassmen by appearing with the colors of the school much in evidence.

DONALD DINNING WRITES ATHLETICS

J. Donald Dinning, Junior in the college of Arts and Science, has been appointed athletic publicity man for the year 1920-21 by the Athletic Council of the University. He has already entered upon his work. His write-ups are being published in various newspapers of the State. Dinning is an associate editor of the Kernel.

PROFESSOR MIKESELL ADDRESSES CHAPEL

Professor Mikesell of the Department of English of the University, spoke to an appreciative audience of instructors and students at the regular chapel hour Tuesday. He is a new member of the faculty and is in charge of the public speaking and Little Theatre work.

The subject of the address was "Duty, Plus." Its purpose was to show how few of the real, worthwhile things of life would be realized, and how little progress would be made if no one did more than his duty.

In his address Professor Mikesell defined duty as the "Backbone of Civilization." "Much is necessary, said he, but the plus, or more than duty is, the great need of the world." He also said that time spent in gaining an education is the time for formation of ideals. He urged that it should not be spent selfishly, or in doing our duty or just enough to "get through, but to go on and do duty, plus more." Do not live in a house at the side of the road, go out and mingle with those who pass, said Professor Mikesell.

Later in his address he urged all to meet the world ready to press on and ready to do more than their plain duty.

UNIVERSITY TO SURVEY CLARK

Department of Extension to Examine Public Schools of Neighboring Counties.

The Department of Extension, University of Kentucky, at a recent meeting of its Executive Committee accepted the request of educational authorities of Clark county to make a survey of the public schools of that county. The work has been turned over for completion to the Department of Education, of the University of Kentucky, of which Professor J. T. C. Noe is the head. This is the first request of the kind that has come to the new Extension Division, whose influence on popular education in Kentucky is becoming so marked, even at the end of its first year's work.

The survey will be made by the Department of Education forces as soon as the necessary permission can be obtained from President W. A. Ganfield of Centre College, chairman of the State Survey Committee and Dr. Abraham Flexner, head of the General Educational Board of New York, who has the survey of Kentucky in charge.

DEAN PAUL ANDERSON WELCOMES FRESHMEN

Offers New Assembly Room For Use of Campus Organizations.

Dean F. Paul Anderson, of the College of Engineering, made the following address of welcome to the freshmen at the first chapel exercise:

On this beautiful September morning it is a distinct honor to say a word of welcome to the young women and men who have become members of the student ranks of the University of Kentucky for this academic session. I believe that the most valuable privilege accorded youth is that one involving the opportunity to secure a university training.

Life is so many sided. The University is the place to put in the filler and do some preliminary polishing on all sides. Happiness and, therefore, success comes to the individual in proportion to his breadth of mind and heart. We might comment on the fact that you are living in the golden age of everything, but you have heard this many times; we do know that you are living in the golden age of youth and that is a blessing beyond price.

For thirty years I have witnessed just such an occasion as this: scores of young Kentuckian bubbling over with health, hope and happiness, anxious to act all the parts of the college drama. These former students have found success, and as you learn more about them you will be proud of the distinguished alumni of the University of Kentucky.

We want to make you a present this morning: There has been evolved in one of the buildings an assembly and study hall. Under normal conditions the room, 40'x80', filled with tables and chairs, is a study room; but the room has a dual purpose; an excellent place for receptions, dances, and meetings of all kinds. We extend to any society, class, fraternity, or University coterie the use of this room. We hope this place will contribute to your good cheer and peace of mind.

A few days ago, in the shadow of the University of Chicago, on the Midway Plaisance of the Columbian Exposition of 1893, a preliminary study of the most pretentious piece of sculpture ever attempted by an American artist, was unveiled. This work has not been named but it represents a massive cloaked figure of Time in a huge fountain, observing the passing of Man in a long procession of human beings coming out of the unknown and disappearing into the infinite. Lorado Taft is the artist, and his inspiration was the classic:

"You say Time flies, ah no, Alas: Time staye, we go."
It would be for character building if every student in American universities could pass by this work of art each day to be influenced by its admonition.

We hope this year will bring to each one of you all the joys of achievement and fulfillment of every sacred hope of friends and kin.

NEW APPARATUS IN LABORATORY

A new electric welding machine has been installed in the electric laboratories at a cost of about one thousand dollars. The machine was bought from the General Electric Company. It has been installed here by the demonstrator who was one of the instructors at Hogge Island where the Government during the war used the electric welding machines to weld the steel decks, instead of riveting them. The machine is an addition to the electrical equipment of the Engineering College and courses will be given to familiarize every upperclassman with the fundamentals of its operation.

WIRELESS TELEPHONE RECEIVES MESSAGE

E. L. Baulch Hears Message From General Electric Company.

The first wireless telephone message ever received in Lexington and probably in Kentucky was taken at the University of Kentucky wireless station late Sunday night. The message was sent broadcast from the General Electric Company plant near New York and conveyed a greeting.

Every word of the greeting was distinctly heard by E. L. Baulch, of Fulton, a student, one of the three radio operators who are on duty every night in rotation at the University.

The wireless telephone receiving outfit was installed last week and the operators had been on watch for three nights before a call was heard.

Established by Students.

The wireless station was established at the University in February, 1919, by several students, who were experienced radio operators. The station has a sending range of 500 miles and a receiving range of from 3,000 to 5,000 miles. The telephone receiving equipment has a range of about 400 miles. The sending equipment for the latter has not been installed, but will have a range of about 250 miles.

The station frequently receives flashes from the station at Nauen, Germany. All are in code. No attempt has been made to decode the messages, which amateur operators are forbidden to do. Colon, Panama, Key West, New Orleans and the Naval Wireless station at Arlington, Va., are heard almost daily as well as ships at sea.

The station always has accurate time as Arlington flashes the hour, minutes and seconds frequently during the day and night. This is for the benefit of ships at sea, whose clocks frequently are slightly affected by the atmosphere over the ocean.

Three Experienced Operators.

The three operators who stand watches at the local station are E. L. Baulch, H. D. Brallsford and A. Cammack.

While a chief petty officer in the Navy, Brallsford installed the wireless telephone equipment on the U. S. Submarine C-2, the sister ship of which was accidentally sunk in the Atlantic ocean recently. Cammack was an operator on an ocean vessel during the summer vacation.

A wireless club has been organized at the University and instruction will be given students interested in the subjects. The first meeting of the club this term will be held Thursday afternoon in the station.

OPPORTUNITY.

"There is too little idea of personal responsibility; too much of 'the world owes me a living,' forgetting that if the world does owe you a living you yourself must be your own collector."

"Opportunities never were more plenty than now, but one must have the training and development not only to recognize opportunity but take advantage of it when recognized."

—Theodore N. Vail in System Magazine, November, 1919.

Mr. Vail, who died recently in Baltimore, was President of the American Telegraph and Telephone Company, and Chairman of the Board of Directors. He was recognized as the most important man in the world of communication.

DEPARTMENTAL CLUBS
By Arthur L. Hodges

Club Presidents Note!

The work done by Departmental Clubs is important and in recognition of this fact The Kernel prints each week reports of their meetings, attempting to give the programs, plans and activities of the clubs.

But it is impossible for reporters to visit each meeting of each society in person, so a box has been placed in the Kernel room in the basement of the Science Building. The president of each club is requested to appoint a reporter or have the secretary drop a report of each meeting into this box at the earliest opportunity after each meeting. A typewritten report is preferred but any kind will be accepted, and reports left will appear in the next issue of The Kernel.

Democratic Club.

The Democratic Club of the University met last Thursday night in the chapel and reorganized for the year. The meeting was called to order by M. K. Ehlen, vice president of the club last year, who presided until the election of regular officers.

The following officers were elected: F. P. Bell, president; M. K. Ehlen, vice president; C. A. Loudermilk, secretary; G. H. Peel, treasurer. Following the election of officers a committee was appointed to attend to the posting of announcements of meetings and other information to voters enrolled in the University. It is composed of B. B. Baxter, George Gregory and James W. Frazier.

Cox buttons were distributed to all present and a supply handed out for distribution among the many other students. The meeting was concluded by a number of speeches by students from the different parts of the State who were all decidedly optimistic over the conditions in their parts of the State.

Henry Clay Law Society.

Henry Clay Law Society held its opening meeting for the year last Thursday evening. There were very few present, but those who were displayed their intentions of making this the best year that the society has ever had. Plans were laid before the men by which the society could be made more interesting and beneficial than ever before to the future lawyers of the State.

It was decided that one meeting each month should be taken up by a debate of some strictly legal question. The debaters are to be selected from the senior lawyers and their assistants from the two lower classes, thus in the course of time giving all the members a chance to take part in one of these meetings.

The following officers were elected for the year: president, Thomas Burchett; vice president, Berl Boyd; secretary, H. W. Sullivan; treasurer, G. W. Smith; attorney-general, M. K. Ehlen; sergeant-at-arms, W. R. Berryman.

Horace Mann.

The program of the Horace Mann Literary Society for the coming week is called: "An Evening With the American Botanists." The following will speak: Martha Randall, "Rafinesque;" Hubbard, "Gray;" Lucile Hendrix, "Coulter."

Everyone interested in education is invited to attend the meetings which are held every Thursday at 7:30 p. m. in the Education Building.
