

Ways & Means: Top Committee of the House of Representatives

The most elaborate and imposing committee room on Capitol Hill is in the House Office Building and belongs appropriately to the oldest and most important committee of the House, the Committee on

Ways & Means, which originates all revenue bills. The veteran Congressmen who have worked up to this committee are (left to right): Michigan's Dingell, Oklahoma's Donoy, Arkansas' Fuller, Indiana's Boehne,

Tennessee's Cooper, Kentucky's Vinson, Maryland's Lewis, Massachusetts' McCormack, Texas' Sanders, New York's Cullen, North Carolina's Daughton (chairman), Massachusetts' Treadway, New York's Crowther, Minnesota's Knutson, New York's Reed, Michigan's Woodruff, Ohio's Jenkins, Missouri's Duncan, Illinois' Thompson, Iowa's Wearin. Seated in front are Clerks Price, Baumgardner, Rapp.