GOLDEN JUBILEE OCTOBER 14 WILL BRING BACK THOUSANDS OF ALUMNI

Fiftieth Anniversary of the Founding of the University Will Be Celebrated With Parades, Speeches, Burgoo, Football Game and a Royal Good Time.

TO DEDICATE STOLL FIELD FORMALLY

The Golden Jubilee to celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of the establishing of the University will be held Saturday, October 14, and if present plans materialize as those in charge expect them to the largest crowd that ever gathered on the beautiful campus of "Old State" will be on hand to demonstrate their loyalty to their Alma Mater, to consume the old Kentucky burgoo that will be supplied for their delectation, to drink in the flow of oratory, to renew old friendships and to make new ones. Incidentally, they will cheer the Wildcats on to victory over Vanderbilt.

Leading Alumni Coming.
Dean F. Paul Anderson, who is chairman of the committee which is making the arrangements, has written letters to hundreds of former students inviting them to attend, and their replies indicate that practically all of them will return. The alumni chapters at Columbus, O., of which T. F. Hayes, '15, is president; at Philadelphia, of which Frank Daugherty, '01, is president, and George Blessing, Dean of the College of Engineering at Swarthmore, is Secretary, and at Chicago, of which C. A. Johns, '09, is president, have written that they will attend in a body. Paul S. Ward, President of the Cincinnati chapter, and Warner P. Sayers, former president of the same chapter, have announced that they will bring out the largest company of Kentucky graduates that ever came from "over the Rhine," and that they will bring their own band with them.

Deans Invite Graduates.
That nothing may be left undone for the celebration, Professor Anderson and the other members of the committee have been at work this summer making the necessary arrangements. Five hundred beautiful bronze badges have been ordered for the alumni and engraved invitations have been prepared to send to college presidents and prominent men throughout the country. The Deans of the various colleges of the University have written to all their own graduates personal letters urging them to attend.

Celebration Opens Friday.
The celebration will begin Friday evening, October 13, with a smoker at the Phoenix Hotel for men, and a party at Patterson Hall for women. The speakers who will be heard at these meetings have not been announced as yet. The Lexington Alumni Club, at a meeting last Thursday night, made arrangements to entertain the visiting alumni. Philip Blumenthal was elected chairman of a committee to meet the incoming guests and escort them to the exercises at the University Saturday morning. The committee will meet the visitors in automobiles decorated in University colors. Reservations are being made in hotels for visitors who expect to arrive a day or two early.

Parade Prizes Offered.
The main celebration will be held Saturday, however. A great parade of students will begin at University at 9:30 o'clock, and after marching through the city will return to Patterson Hall. That interest among the students may be aroused to a high pitch the committee has offered a prize of $100 to the class making the best showing in the march. It is expected that the winning class will treat itself to a dinner or enjoy some other function with the proceeds. It is rumored that the classes will appear in fancy dress, and at least one of the four has made tentative arrangements to corner the market on fantastic costumes.

Program at Campus.
On the return of the students to Patterson Hall they will be joined by the faculty, alumni and trustees, who will parade to the Administration Building, in front of which, in a large tent, the morning exercises will be held. The tent will be pitched in such manner that the speakers may stand on the front steps and be heard by all present. President-Emeritus James K. Patterson will deliver an address on this occasion, and one other speaker, as yet unannounced, will make a talk. Several honorary degrees will be conferred on prominent men.

Following the speeches in the tent old-fashioned Kentucky burgoo and barbecued meats, without which no real celebration is complete, will be served on the campus. An amount which staggers the imagination when put into terms of soup has been appropriated to buy the "casts," and the faculty intends to warn all students not to indulge too freely, as they may become water-logged and not be able to shout loud enough at the game in the afternoon.

To Dedicate Stoll Field.
Preceding the game in the afternoon Stoll Field will be dedicated to the University. Although the athletic field has been in use for many years, there has been no formal dedication, and this occasion furnishes a suitable time to do honor to Richard C. Stoll, the donor. Major John T. Geary, formerly of Lexington, but

LAFFERTY AUTHOR OF NEW LAW BOOK

Judge W. T. Lafferty, dean of the College of Law, has published the first practice court manual ever printed in Kentucky. The book deals with the methods of court practice and goes thoroughly into all the workings of the court. Judge Lafferty's manual was used as a text-book in one of his classes for the first time at the summer law school. The moot practice court, taught by Judge Lafferty, has for many years been one of the principal features of the Law College. The book is a comprehensive outline of the work undertaken by the college in its moot court practice.

ALLEN IS PROMOTED

L. B. Allen, of the class of 1899, has been appointed general superintendent of the central division of the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad, with which he has been connected since his graduation from the University. His first position was that of an engineer, making the original surveys for the Big Sandy coal mines. His elevation to the general superintendency means that he will maintain his office in Huntington, where he will reside with his family.

now Mine Commander of the Coast Defense at Seattle, will make the dedicatory speech, and Governor A. O. Stanley will respond in behalf of the University. A concrete stand in the most advantageous position to see the game is now under construction and will be used when completed by the President of the University and his visitors. The tablet containing Mr. Stoll's name will be placed on this stand, in full view of the field on which he himself made athletic history in bygone days.

The committee in charge of the Jubilee is composed of Dean Anderson, Chairman; President Barker, H. M. Froman, R. C. Stoll, G. G. Brock, Dr. J. H. Kastle, Dean A. M. Miller, Frank Battelle, H. D. Graham, J. Irvine Lyle, W. L. Bronaugh, J. M. Graves, J. D. Turner, R. M. Allen and L. B. Allen.

"COLLEGE NIGHT" IS DECIDED SUCCESS

400 Students Assembled on Stoll Field Saturday Evening

Approximately 400 students assembled around a brilliant blazing bonfire on Stoll Field Saturday night for an old-time rally, the occasion being college night, given under the auspices of the University Y. M. C. A.

With spirits burning brighter than the bonfire and hopes for a glorious year of activity flying higher than the sparks, the new college year was formally ushered in by the students amid loud cheers.

A long single line file of students formed at the dormitory and marched through the streets. As it passed Patterson Hall on the return trip the girls of the University joined the procession. The line filed down the new asphalt street and into Stoll Field.

The lungs of the "rah-rah" crew had had a summer's rest and they were as strong as mustard. For the first time this term the old Wildcat yell filled the air and "Su-ky" echoed over the campus.

The next thing in order was a smoke dance, after which Cheer Leader Wayne Haffler got his megaphone and led cheers.

Leaders of college activities were called upon to address the students, John Peter Ricketts presiding. The Rev. E. J. Caswell, of the First Baptist Church, welcomed the students in behalf of the churches of Lexington and admonished them not to forget to look after their religious life.

William Shinnick, editor-in-chief of The Kentucky Kernel, delivered an address on the publications. Emery Frazier, representing The Strollers, told of the work planned for this year, after which "Senator" Crum spoke in the interest of the literary societies.

Lawrence A. Cover, the new musical director, spoke in the interest of the musical organizations, and at the conclusion of his talk Presiding Officer Ricketts called upon Messrs. Harney, Gardner, Ervine and Ritchey to demonstrate to Mr. Cover how badly the University needed musical training by their "alleged" singing.

Bart Beak, representing the Y. M. C. A., and Curt Park, representing athletic activities, also made short talks.

EMPLOYMENT BUREAU

The Y. M. C. A. is conducting an employment bureau, and all students desiring work are requested to communicate with the officers.

KERNEL STAFF

The Kentucky Kernel staff will hold an important meeting in the journalism room this afternoon (Friday) at 3:30 o'clock. All members are urged to be present.

FOOTBALL TEAM IN EXCELLENT SHAPE

Thompson Fails to Return— Morris Crutcher Will Lead Wildcats

FIRST GAME SEPT. 30

The Wildcat aggregation, after a week's training at Camp Daniel Boone and steady practice on Stoll Field since the opening of college, is fast rounding into shape and the outlook for a 1916 winning team is promising. "Maury" Crutcher, the veteran end, has been elected captain, to succeed "Fats" Thompson, who failed to return to take up the work at the beginning of the year.

Handicapped by the loss of some of the best men, including Thompson, Shrader and Server, Coach Tiggert and Assistants Tuttle and Boles have entered into the coach work with a spirit and vim and have succeeded in turning out some good material among the scrubs and new men.

Among the old men who have reported for practice are Dempsey, Simpson, Corn, Brittain Crutcher, Kinne, Gumbert, Peak, Grabfelder and Haydon.

Dempsey, the heavy center of last year, has returned to try out for his old position, and is showing up well. Dempsey was a power in the line of the Wildcat team last year, and it is expected he will set even a faster pace this season.

Kinne, the Somerset lad, who won his first real laurels last year when he seized the "pigskin" after a fumble in the State-Purdue game and crossed the goal line for a touchdown, making possible the first defeat ever administered a Western Conference team in the South, is in the race for quarterback to succeed Rodes, the 1915 star. Although light in weight, Kinne is fleet of foot and keeps a clear head in the closest of places.

In the back field Grabfelder and Haydon, both veterans, have returned and are trying out for the respective halves. Regardless of the influx of good recruits, it is expected that this pair will have little trouble in retaining their old positions.

For fullback, Gumbert and McIlvain, the latter of the last year's Fresh team, are rival candidates. Both are showing up well and the outcome of the dual rivalry is doubtful.

Kinne and Crutcher, the newly elected Wildcat captain, are both trying for end, and each is assured a berth on the team. Positions in the line other than end are rather uncertain, and are being sought after by a host of candidates. Simpson will probably be selected as one of the tackles. The other lies between Heck and Hickerson. Heck starred on last year's Freshman team and is pulling strong for the regular position. Hickerson was unable to play football last year on account of illness, but was considered promising during his Freshman year. Brittain and Corn are the leading candidates for the two guards. Both are heavy and will go far toward making up a heavy line.

Among the men who are pushing Kinne for quarter are Bart Peak, Roark and Gay, the former Lexington High School star. The new men seen in the back field are Kelley, Pullen and Baugh. Other new men who look promising and have chances to win berths for themselves on the regular or second team are Lisanby, Ricketts, Davidson, Sloan, Murtree, Propps, Thomas, Thompson, Broaton, Sweatt, Lasley, Shaw and Howard.

While as yet the crew has engaged only in scrimmage work, it is expected that signal practice will soon be taken up in anticipation of the game with Butler College, to be held on Stoll Field, September 30.

The fences surrounding the football field have undergone a coat of whitewash and the goal posts newly painted, so as to add a touch of freshness to the football field on the opening day.

The 1916 Wildcat schedule varies in its degree of hardness. The games with Butler and Centre should be easy. Louisville, Mississippi, A. & M., Cincinnati and Tennessee will prove formidable opponents, while Vanderbilt and Sewanee are generally considered almost unsurmountable.

The game with Butler is only an antecedent to the many hard games which follow, and it is probable that many shifts may be made in the line-up. Coach Tigert and Captain Crutcher being anxious to weed out the slower men and make a more definite decision as to the permanent line-up.

On October 7 the Wildcats will meet their former rival, Centre, and it is expected that much of the old spirit will be revived.

Vanderbilt, 1915 champions of the S. I. A. A., come to Lexington on the following Saturday, and every Wildcat claw will be sharpened to the edge for this meat. Kentucky's record in the S. I. A. A. last year was an enviable one, being beaten only by Mississippi A. & M., and football fans see in the Wildcats a likely rival for the "Commodores" in the race for the 1916 championship.

On October 28, the Blue and White will journey to Cincinnati, and the usual jolly crowd is expected to make the trip with the team.

On November 11 we meet the University of Louisville on Stoll Field and another good game is expected. The game between Kentucky and Mississippi, to be held on Stoll Field November 18, is especially looked forward to because of the defeat administered to the Wildcats on the Mississippi field last year. It was the only defeat of the season and it is claimed by the participants that the hot weather had more to do with the drubbing than the "Dixie" team itself.

The annual Thanksgiving game between Kentucky and Tennessee on Stoll Field is the last of the season. Tennessee, another of the S. I. A. A. teams, is always strong and is also a contender for the championship belt.

A review of the schedule shows that a large part of the games are played in Lexington, thus giving the Wildcat aggregation the decided advantage of having the local fans to cheer them on.

Football is in the very air, and every fellow, boy or girl, is urged to be present at the first game and give the team a good send-off.

MUSIC RECITAL

Per Neilsen, Norwegian baritone, accompanied by Edward Weiss, concert pianist of the faculty of the Lexington College of Music, will give a recital in the auditorium of the college this evening (Friday) at 8:15 o'clock. An excellent program has been arranged and University students are cordially invited. The admission is free.

SEVEN U. K. MEN AT BLUE RIDGE, N. C.

The summer student conference at Blue Ridge, N. C., under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A., was much larger this year than ever before. Every college and university in the South was represented and with one exception every Southern college Y. M. C. A. president was in attendance.

Seven of the fifty delegates representing Kentucky, were from "State." They were: Joe Torrence, Karl Zerfoss, Harry Milward, H. E. Robertson, John P. Ricketts, J. A. Hodges, and Bart N. Peak. The 500 students who were present at this conference met such men as Sherwood Eddy, Fletcher S. Brockman, Dr. O. E. Brown and Dr. Edwin M. Poteak, president of Furman University.

Athletics played an important part in the recreation periods and every afternoon was given over to baseball, basketball, tennis, volleyball and swimming.

MINING NOTES

K. D. White, a member of the '11 graduating class from the College of Mines and Metallurgy, who has been engaged in the development of oil and gas lands in Turkey, Venezuela, Chile and Columbia for the past five years, has accepted a position as geological engineer with the Tropical Oil and Gas Company, in South America, at a salary of $12,000 a year.

William C. Eyl, a senior in the College of Mines and Metallurgy, spent the summer working as mining engineer for the Kenmont Coal Company at Hardin, where he received a great deal of practical experience.

James J. Hume spent the vacation months in the employ of a large coal-washer plant at Borderland, W. Va. He will return to the University October 5.

Professor Ivan P. Tashoff, who recently resigned from the faculty of the College of Mines and Metallurgy, is now engaged in metallurgical patents research work at Washington, D. C. He is succeeded by B. C. Worley, of Chicago, a graduate of the University of Michigan, who will have charge of assaying and metallurgy. Professor Worley has been engaged as assistant chemist for the Griffin Wheel Company, of Chicago, for the past year.

S. J. Caudill, of Cannel City, a member of the '16 graduating class, was employed during the summer by a large oil company and has located a number of wells for his firm. Mr. Caudill is at present at Pennsylvania State College, where he holds a fellowshipship.

MECHANICAL NOTES

Miss Virginia Anderson, who graduated in the class of 1916, with the degree B. S. E., has been appointed to the position of instructor in freehand drawing. Miss Anderson's artistic talent is well known and she has won a number of prizes for original design. She has had a very careful and thorough training in this particular branch of the work and a successful career for her is predicted.

PROFESSOR NOE IMPROVING.

Professor J. T. C. Noe, head of the Department of Education, who has been ill with typhoid fever for two weeks, is improving and is expected to return to the University within a short time. During his absence Professor Baker has been conducting his classes.

BURNAUGH ACHIEVES SUCCESS ON STAGE

Former University Student Has Part in New Hitchcock Comedy

Maurice Burnaugh, a former student at the University, and now a comedian of promise, has been spending the summer in Europe, where he was sent by Charles F. Dillingham, the New York theatrical man, that he might learn the Cockney dialect in order to be better prepared for the part he is to play in Raymond Hitchcock's new comedy which is to be produced the coming season.

Mr. Burnaugh's rise in the theatrical world has been little short of remarkable and the story of his rise reads like a fairy tale.

He entered the University in 1910 and enrolled in the College of Arts and Science. He took journalism under Dr. Mackenzie and progressed so rapidly that at the conclusion of his first year in college he secured the position as sporting editor of the Lexington Leader.

After working with the Leader for a year he was offered a position on a New York newspaper, but after being there a short time his eyes gave him trouble and he was forced to give up his position.

A few days later he met a friend in New York who offered to get him a job with "The Little Red Canary," a musical comedy. Mr. Burnaugh made good from the start and the next season he was given an important role in "Chin Chin," another musical comedy.

Last season Mr. Burnaugh was to have toured Europe with a theatrical company, but the European war interfered with his plans and he entered Keith's vaudeville.

Mr. Burnaugh has also achieved success in motion pictures, having appeared in "The Million Dollar Mystery," "Town Topics" and others.

PROF. P. R. CASSIDY LEAVES UNIVERSITY

Perry R. Cassidy, Professor of Thermodynamics in the College of Mechanical and Electrical Engineering for the past two years, has resigned his position to accept a position as engineer with the Babcock and Wilcox Company at Baberton, O. He is succeeded by Ezra Lyttle Wilhoite, a member of the '08 graduating class of the College of Mechanical and Electrical Engineering. Since graduation Mr. Wilhoite has been associated with the college.

Mr. Cassidy graduated from the University in 1911. At the close of the college term last June he went to New York, but after being there a short time he went to Baberton, where he will probably be located for some time. He is now at work on the construction of a large addition to the plant.

HORACE MANN MEETS FIRST TIME TONIGHT

The Horace Mann Literary Society will open the season Friday evening at 7 o'clock in its usual assembly room on the first floor of the Education Building with a musical program followed by lectures by two of the foremost educators in the State.

Professor George Baker will lecture on "Evidences of Teaching Ability." This is one of the biggest problems confronting the educational profession

PROHIBITION MEETING TO BE HELD HERE

Prohibition Club of University to Welcome I. P. A. Delegates

BRYAN ON PROGRAM

Plans for the meeting of the International Prohibition Association which will be held in Lexington, December 28 to 31, are rapidly being completed and the Prohibition Club of the University is planning to give the promoters of the meeting a hearty welcome. The preparatory work in Lexington is being conducted by Joe M. Robinson, a student of the University and is progressing well, several hundred dollars having already been subscribed.

Eight expert college workers will visit the schools and colleges of the United States to interest the students in the work of this meeting. The men are picked student delegates from various colleges and universities and should have a powerful influence over the students. The secretaries who will go out to the universities will have a conference in Chicago just before they start for their fields.

Plans for the meeting here are being made by the national committee. The Lexington convention will be under the leadership of President Leigh Colvin, of New York, and General Secretary Harry S. Warner, of Chicago. The secretary who will have Kentucky as a field in which to work up interest in the college prohibition movement, will be S. W. Grathwell, a former student of Berea. In addition to his work in Kentucky, Mr. Warner will extend his work over other States.

The program for the four days' convention, December 28 to 31, is being completed. It is expected that W. J. Bryan, Dr. Winfield Scott Hall, Richmond P. Hobson, Daniel J. Poling and other prohibition advocates of international reputation will be among the speakers.

FREE STATIONERY

Stationery has been secured for the Y. M. C. A. reading rooms this year. All students are urged to call the "Y" office and secure stationery, free of charge. The management of the Y. M. C. A. hopes many students will avail themselves of this opportunity. Write home on "Y" paper often. It is yours for the asking.

today and Professor Baker's work along this line has won for him recognition not only in Kentucky but throughout the country. At the present time Professor Baker is preparing an article on this subject for one of the leading magazines of the country.

Professor C. W. Baily, principal of the Maxwell Street School, will lecture on "The Student in Education and the Horace Mann."

CHAPEL EXERCISES ARE WELL ATTENDED

President Barker Delivers Inspiring Address to Students

An overflow audience, excellent music and an inspiring address by President Barker were three of the many features of the first chapel exercises of the year which were held last Wednesday morning.

The address by President Barker was one of the most interesting ever heard in the chapel. In his introductory remarks President Barker assured the student body that the laws of the University would be strictly enforced and that no hazing would be tolerated.

The speaker appealed to the students to make the University of Kentucky the greatest institution of its kind in the country, which he said could be done of the students pledged themselves to live the highest moral life.

He compared student life to life outside of college, emphasizing the fact that the way one conducts himself in college, the same way he will conduct himself after he has gotten out into the world.

Judge Barker said that in order to be a success in life one must be honest, truthful and faithful. While in college one forms habits which he can not change, and for this reason the speaker urged the students to be extremely careful about their habits, and especially to steer clear of cigarette smoking. He concluded by saying that the future of the University rested in the students' hands, into which he committed its reputation.

ILL HEALTH CAUSES STILES TO RESIGN

C. F. Stiles, assistant instructor in entomology and zoology in the College of Agriculture, has resigned on account of ill health and has returned to his home at Starkville, Miss., where he will engage in the raising of fine live stock and will be a contributor to agricultural papers after taking a rest.

Mr. Stiles has just returned from three months spent in New York City and immediately on his return was the recipient of a very handsome offer from the Department of Agriculture of Brazil to take charge of its entomology department. The offer was made in person by A. V. d'Oliveria Castro, who is making an inspection trip in the interest of his government.

CHALKLEY WILL ADDRESS Y. M. C. A.

Judge Lyman Chalkley, of the College of Law, will speak in the Y. M. C. A. rooms Sunday evening at 6:30 o'clock on the subject, "Bible Study." Music will be furnished by the male quartet of Central Christian Church. Every male student in the University is earnestly requested to attend.

Congratulations.

In this, the first issue of The Kentucky Kernel for the current year, we feel that a few words of commendation and congratulation to the student body and to the University itself are in order. The students this year are as fine a body of young men and women as ever trod the greenward of the campus. From the lordliest Senior with his cane and benignant expression to the lowliest and humblest "Fresh," with his brand new hair cut, his wide-awake eye and his earnest desire to find where Professor Smith's room is, they are ready and willing to do their duty to the University and to the world. They face a year of work that will, if nobly performed, be worth all the effort and more. The University gives them opportunity to employ all their talents to best advantage, no matter what those talents may be, and it is our belief that they will make the most of them.

Many improvement have been made around the campus during the summer, and a spick and span appearance is the result. The improvement at the corner of Limestone and Winslow Streets is the most noteworthy, and when the work is completed and the old dump is transformed into a real sunken garden with a direct as-the-crow-flies walk from the old dormitory to Patterson Hall, the general effect will be that of a little bit of Eden without the apple tree. It is such a relief from the tin cans and the old shoes that were once so prominent.

So here we are; a rejuvenated University and a student body of greater proportions than last year; good people to do the work and the equipment to work with. The Kernel congratulates you all.

The Policy.

The Kernel has a policy, and it intends to adhere to that policy. That there may be no mistake, and no misapprehension on the part of the general public, we hereby outline our intentions and determinations:

First of all, this is a student paper, maintained by the subscriptions of the students of the University and dependent on them. The University has not appropriated any moneys for the upkeep of the publication and the faculty exercises no supervision over the weekly issue. Our first duty is to the student body and they may rest assured that at all times the Kernel is their supporter in whatever enterprises they may desire to put through in the customary breezy manner.

The editorial staff intends to give as good a resume of the news of each week as it can, in the six pages to which it is limited by the funds at its command. The editorial policy will be about the same as last year—to smite the wrong, to aid the weak, to hate our enemies and love our friends—these are our ideals. Politically, we are a non-hyphenate sheet, on prohibition we do not seek either the one side or the other, for suffrage we can only say the editor is non-committal, but the rest of the staff is afraid of the ladies.

We insist that the students on their part patronize our advertisers, and promise that if it can be done a larger paper will be issued later in the year.

According to the latest ruling of the Attorney General of the State county appointees are now allowed to enjoy all the privileges accorded to holders of campus tickets.

The best way for the unlucky boob to find the needle in the haystack is to sit on the haystack.

It takes a mean guy to push when a sign on the door reads PULL.

Open season is on for the joke about the Freshman giving a bogus check for a campus ticket and getting back seventy-five cents change in good American money.

There's many a slip 'twixt the cap and the clip.

The recent faculty investigation of alleged hazing resulted in the startling disclosure that many of the Freshmen have been entirely divested of hirsute adornment during the last few days.

E. F. WHITE MEETS WITH SUCCESS

News has been received here of the success of E. Field White, a former student in the College of Mechanical and Electrical Engineering. Mr. White left here several years ago and has been in automobile equipment work, meeting with excellent success. He planned an enameling process now in use on one make of automobile, having his suggestions accepted over a large number of applicants. Since that time he has been connected with another concern. His latest work has been in designing a new equipment plant for his present employers. All the equipment is made and fitted in one big connected process which saves much time, labor and expense.

DR. A. S. MACKENZIE LEAVES UNIVERSITY

Head of Graduate School
Accepts Presidency of Lenox College

WAS HERE 17 YEARS

Dr. Alexander St. Clair Mackenzie, dean of the graduate school, and formerly head of the English department, tendered his resignation to the trustees of the University during the summer and has accepted the presidency of Lenox College, at Hopkinton, Iowa. Dr. Mackenzie's resignation is deeply regretted by his many friends in the faculty and among the students, but all are glad to learn of his success.

Dr. Mackenzie is a Scot by birth and received most of his higher education at the Normal College and the Universities of Glasgow, Edinburgh and Oxford, from which latter he received his master's degree.

His professors were among the most renowned in European universities. He studied English under David Masson, of Edinburgh; philology under Max Muller, of Leipzig and Berlin; Greek under Sir R. C. Jebb, of Cambridge, and Gilbert Murray. Moral philosophy he studied under Edward Caird, who became master of Balliol College, Oxford, and logic under John Veitch.

Came Here in 1899.

Dr. Mackenzie came to Lexington in 1899. His first work at the University of Kentucky was as professor of English hand Logic. Until 1910 he supervised all the English and Philosophy when the English Department required all his attention.

He was chosen Dean of the Graduate School in 1912, and reorganized that school and materially increased the number of graduate students. The thoroughness of his method of teaching is shown by the fact that every Rhodes scholar sent to Oxford from the University of Kentucky has been a major English student under Dr. Mackenzie, and numerous scholarships and fellowships in the great American universities have been won by Dr. Mackenzie's students.

He originated the teaching of journalism at the University of Kentucky and in many ways has shown in his department an executive ability that promises success in his new work.

Dr. Mackenzie has given the most intense study to the problems of education and represented Kentucky in the Southern Conference held at New Orleans. He read a paper suggesting important modifications of high school, college and university curricula. He was placed on the Committee of Language, the purpose of which is to standardize the teaching of the languages in the Southern colleges and schools.

Lecturer and Writer of Note.

Dr. Mackenzie has won considerable renown as a writer and lecturer, and is a member of a number of American and foreign learned societies. He is one of eight Americans who have been named as Fellows of the Royal Society of Literature, the others being Joseph H. Choate, Henry Van Dyke, Charles W. Elliot, William Dean Howells, Ambassador J. J. Jusserand, Professor G. L. Kittredge and Professor G. E. Woodberry.

He is also a member of the Royal Asiatic Society, the Institute of Sociology of Brussels, the American Philological Society, the National Educational Association and other learned societies.

He holds the only degree of Doctor of Laws granted by the Kentucky Wesleyan College, which was conferred on him in 1911 and in 1913 received the degree of Doctor of Letters from Cumberland University.

Dr. Mackenzie was one of the collaborators in the preparation of the Library of Southern Literature, which is a pioneer work of its kind and is in use in many of the large universities. He published in 1914 a history of English literature which has been adopted by the Kentucky high schools and many junior colleges in and out of the State.

Popular With Students.

He has enjoyed a wide popularity with the student body, and has exercised a kindly, helpful and inspiring influence both in and out of the classroom. He was chosen by student votes to be president of the Grand Chapter of the Alpha Delta Sigma fraternity.

Dr. Mackenzie has for many years been one of the leading spirits in the Caledonian Society, has taken an active interest in the work of the Second Presbyterian Church and Sunday-school, and was the originator of the plan successfully put into effect this year for a series of lectures by college men before the Blue Grass Federation of Labor.

His enthusiasm, sincerity and consideration will cause him to be missed at the University and among the people of Lexington, but all his friends here feel confident that he will make the most of his opportunities in the wider field of service.

'DOC' IS WITH US AGAIN

"Doc" Rodes, all-Kentucky quarterback last year, matriculated in the University Wednesday afternoon and will report for football practice Monday. His return means that Kinne will be shifted back to end, giving Dr. Tigert his two veteran ends of last year and bringing three of last year's backfield combination into camp for the fall campaign. Haydon and Grabfelder completing the veteran trio.

CAMPUS NOTES

The repairs on Stoll Field are almost completed, and with the new street running to it, and the clean, white-washed fences around it, it makes a battle ground for the Wildcats to be proud of.

The Delta Chi fraternity has just moved into its new house at 233 East High Street. The Kappa Sigma fraternity has secured the house on East Maxwell, formerly occupied by the Delta Chis.

SENATOR D. H. PEAK NEW BUSINESS AGENT

Board of Trustees Selects Him From Number of Applicants

IS COMPTROLLER, TOO

Senator David H. Peak, of Bedford, bank president and newspaper editor, was elected business agent of the University at a recent meeting of the Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees. Senator Peak was chosen from a large number of applicants and his selection settled a question that has taken up much time at recent meetings.

The office of comptroller of the University, which has heretofore been filled by Judge W. T. Lafferty, Dean of the Law College, has been abolished, and the duties of this place will hereafter be filled by the business agent, who, under the new arrangement, will attend to all the fiscal duties of the University and Experiment Station.

Enoch Grehan, head of the Department of Journalism of the University, was selected as secretary of the Executive Committee to succeed Judge Lafferty, who has been secretary.

Senator Peak will have new quarters for the business office, which has been changed from the old location at the front of the main building to the office formerly occupied by James B. Lyons, cashier of the institution.

All the members of the Executive Committee were present. They were: Charles B. Nichols, of Lexington, chairman; Richard C. Stoll, of Lexington; J. E. Brown, of Shelbyville; Frank McKee, of Versailles; George Green Brock, of London; P. P. Johnston, Jr., of Lexington, and Claude B. Terrell, of Bedford.

Three ballots were cast. The first resulted in McKee, Terrell and Brown voting for Senator Peak, Brock for Richard Johnson, of Richmond, and Johnston and Stoll for W. H. Settle, City Auditor. Mr. Nichols declined to vote.

The second ballot was the same as the first except that Mr. Brock cast his vote for Henry Curtis. The third ballot was the same as the second except that Mr. Nichols, who had formerly declined to vote, cast his vote for Senator Peak, giving him the necessary majority, four votes out of seven.

CUPID PREFERRED TO HIGHER EDUCATION

That Dan Cupid does not approve of college education was conclusively proved last week when Miss Elizabeth Dean, of Owensboro, who was on her way to attend the University, met her fiance, J. R. Laswell, also of Owensboro, and the knot was tied.

The news of the marriage was received by Miss Mabel Daugherty, of Lexington, with whom Miss Dean had made arrangements to stay while attending the University. Her telegram follows: "Can't come to school. Joe and I were married this morning."

The bride's parents did not exactly approve of her marriage, not because of any prejudice against Mr. Laswell, but because of her youth. Her parents decided to send her to the University until the affair blew over. But fate intervened. Miss Dean and Mr. Laswell met in Louisville, the knot was tied, the telegram sent and the old saying, "Love will find a way," was again proven.

PRACTICAL COURSE IN AG. INSTITUTED

One-Year Course in Practical Farming Is Latest

NO ENTRANCE EXAMS

A one year's course in practical agriculture has been inaugurated this year by the College of Agriculture for the benefit of the farmers of the State who desire a further knowledge of farming, but who either do not have the time or the preliminary education required for a four years' course. Two restrictions will be put on those who take this course, namely, they will not be allowed to take part in athletics or to join a Greek letter fraternity.

One hundred and thirteen acres is to be embraced in the school proper. The Van Meter farm adjoining the Experiment Farm, on the Tates Creek pike has been leased for five years. Here practical farming is to be taught from September to September without other vacation than the Yuletide. The initiate from the city will be taught the fore and aft of gearing and which end of the plow is to be hitched. The man from the farm will learn fundamentals and get into the calculus of the science called farming.

In addition to the Van Meter place the students of the new order are to have the two hundred and forty-three acres of the Experiment Farm for range. However, they may not turn and hoe and plant here. This great agricultural mosaic is the work field of science, and lessons written over its experimental acres may be only observed.

The College of Agriculture is to be the school room, supplemented by the hall and laboratories of the Experiment Station.

The beef cattle barns, the dairy, the piggery, the conservatory, the orchards, the serum plant, the animal clinic, the sheep barns, the poultry yards, the greatest insect serum plant in Kentucky and other institutions embraced in the station system, will be available.

W. D. Nichols, professor of Farm Management, will act in the capacity of student advisor, and all matters affecting the disposition of time, and general distribution of the work by months and seasons will be left largely to his supervision and direction, subject to the approval of the Dean.

The entrance examination — time-honored barrier to the University — will be no longer a bar. A knowledge of common school branches is essential to the best work, but no questions even are going to be asked about "credits" of any sort. The one-year course is open to all Kentuckians, young and old, rich and poor alike.

No standards of the University are to be lowered. A degree is just as far off to the graduate of the one-year course in practical agriculture as before the University reached out a hand to help him with his problems. The short course leads to no degree — just individual efficiency and State uplift.

Reasons for putting the ban on fraternities and athletics are in no sense capricious. First, it is figured that the person who avails himself of the opportunity is going to be in dead earnest and will take up the work for the greatest good. He will have no time for either football or smokers.

A reason of greater weight is to prevent abuse of this serious business. In some institutions short courses are made vehicles for ambitions and objectives which reflect discredit. Young men who have wanted to wear a fraternity pin or to play on a college team have been known to matriculate for no better purpose. On the other hand, athletic associations in search of team timber have been known to matriculate a good prospect for no other reason than that he might strengthen a football or baseball squad. With the entrance examination suspended the temptation would be greater.

In this school the students are going to be concerned only about farming. The course is designed to carry information into the lives and homes of those who can never hope to avail themselves of the advantages of university training as resident students.

The course is a perpetual affair and may be taken over and over if one desires. The instruction will be seasonal. In September, among other things, the students will sow inter-crops and harvest the corn and tobacco and orchard products. Each succeeding month will have its activities and its problems. During the shut-in period theoretical matters will be taken up in class room and laboratories.

The subjects embraced in the practical course are animal husbandry, including beef and dairy cattle, dairying, horses, mules and jack stock, sheep, swine and poultry; the common diseases of live stock; soils and crops; botany, horticulture, farm management, farm mechanics, marketing, economic entomology, chemistry, bacteriology and other phases of modern agriculture. Any person of ordinary endowments without regard to age can gain a comprehensive working knowledge of successful, up-to-date farming through this agency. In short, the practical course promises to be the door to a new era in Kentucky.

Y. W. C. A. MEETS

One hundred and fifty girls were present at the first meeting of the Y. W. C. A., which was held at Patterson Hall Sunday evening. The cabinet was introduced to the new girls, after which E. C. Vaughn, of the Experiment Station, spoke on "The Woman Who Went All the Way," and took Ruth from the Scriptures as his example. Special music was furnished by the music committee, of which Miss Helen Burkholder is chairman.

Miss Ina Scherrebeck, traveling secretary for the association, is expected to be here next Sunday and it is hoped that every girl in the University will be present.

McHALE—COTTRELL

The marriage of Miss Veronica McHale, of East St. Louis, Ill., and Robert Cottrell, a member of the '14 graduating class from the College of Mechanical and Electrical Engineering, was solemnized Thursday afternoon, September 7, in the parlors of the Sacred Heart parsonage in East St. Louis. Harry Cottrell, a Junior in the College of Agriculture, is a brother to the bridegroom and was best man at the wedding.

LAUNDRY.

The Georgetown Laundry Co. will do 75 cents worth of first-class laundry work for 40 cents. Two students may go together and send week about thereby getting ALL their work done for 20 cents weekly. Work called for and delivered. See E. M. Johnson, No. 13, N. D.

PATTERSON WILL MEET.

The Patterson Literary Society will meet in its room Saturday evening at 7:30 o'clock.
