Radio Station To Dedicate New Equipment

Studio, Transmitter Will Be Shown At Open House

WBKY, the University's educational FM station, will formally dedicate its new studio and transmitter in a special ceremony Monday night according to announcements from E. G. Sulzer, head of the Department of Radio Arts. The public is invited to the open house, beginning at 6:30 p. m., and to a live broadcast in the new studio at 7:30 p. m.

The open house will include a complete tour of the studios on the third floor of McVey Hall. The station has five studios, including two announcer's booths, three radio control rooms, a master control room, transmitter room, staff room, record room, sound effects room, play room, and a large reception room and office. Jack Fuernberg will play organ music from Studio B during the open house.

The broadcast at 7:30 will originate in the new studio. Approximately 200 guests can be accommodated in the studio. The program, directed by Frank Prindle, is to be featured on the program, Dean Maurice Seay will make the dedication. Martha Neff, soprano, and Dickman, folk singer, will also perform on the program. Those who wish to attend the broadcast must be at the studio by 7:30 p. m.

The new studio is the first of its kind in educational radio. A new broadcast treatment, using poly-cylindrical diffusers has been incorporated. The diffusers are cylindrical to be half-round wood panels, reduce interference effects. This treatment, originally used in motion picture recording, was not used in radio studios until 1940.

The studio measures 45 by 52 feet with a ceiling sloping from 11 to 15 feet. The interior is finished with different shades of green as well as gray and yellow. At one end of the booth contains a desk, three feet into the studio. The walls of the booth contain a desk, three feet into the studio. Electrical Engineers To Present Panel

Seven senior electrical engineering students of the University were members of a panel discussing the development of amateur radio on the weekly University radio round-table program over Station WRAA, Louisville, Sunday morning.

Students Taking Part In Musical Program

Elmer G. Sulzer, director of University radio activities, said the discussion was led by H. A. Romanow, professor of electrical communications in the College of Engineering.

Heidelberg To Be Helped By Kentucky

Donovan Plan Going As Student-Faculty Committee Meets

Plans for the University to dedicate Heidelberg University got under way this week under the direction of a student-faculty committee appointed by President H. L. Donovan.

Dr. Donovan Main Speaker At Banquet

President H. L. Donovan will be the speaker at a dinner here Tuesday night honoring the graduating seniors of the University and the State College ROTC units.

Dr. Donovan will discuss, "Inside Germany" at the dinner which will be held in the SUB.

Col. John Carter addressed the University ROTC chapter Monday night and outlined plans for the University ROTC Convention at Seebach Hotel in Louisville May 23 and 24 at which Louisville Mayor Charles Farabee and Governor Earl Clements will be the principal speakers.

Faculty and student members, students and the University Women's Club have been asked to cooperate and donations will be accepted from interested townpeople. Each donor is asked to leave his name with his contribution to the ROTC office.

Check should be made payable to the Heidelberg Fund. A University truck will be used one day during the drive to pick up clothing from homes of those who cannot deliver their contributions.

Members of the committee are: Mrs. Sarah B. Holmes and A. D. Kirvan, co-chairmen; John Adair, William Ball, Robert Blight, Hilary Bryant, Marie Brinkley, Ann Brown, James Calvin, C. C. Carpenter, John Crockett, Frank Dickey, Charles Dorough, James C. Edleman, Mrs. D. E. Evans, Mrs. J. M. Fack, William S. Ware, J. W. Whitehouse, W. W. Whitehouse, William R. Young and Carl P. Slone.

UK Students Like To Dance, Yet Sub Dances Fall Flat

It looks as though Kentucky's little lads and lassies have turned into social butterflies. Professors don't even have an eye anymore when they come in the classroom on Monday mornings and find thirty or forty pairs of shoes lined neatly against the wall—there are too many aching feet from the weekend formal!

This weekend brings formal for Kappa Sigma, Sigma Phi Epsilon, Alpha Xi Delta, Phi Delta Theta, Psi Kappa Alpha, Zeta Beta Tau, Delta Zeta, and Chi Omega. (Is anybody left?)

Last week a Kernel Reporter said the campus had been "quarantined" out—we have now danced ourselves out. The one purpose of the coming summer vacation is to permit dance-wracked students to smooth out the wrinkles in their feet and the bags under their eyes.

According to figures in the office of Dorothy Evans, University Social Director, last year approximately 75 formal dances were held on the campus. The fraternities, of course, headed the list with 47 dances, exclusive of house dances. In addition, 28 fraternities and 22 chapters of this year's schedule has been just as bad, perhaps even worse.

With all arrangements for dances, including flowers and favors, University students probably spend well over $10,000 per year on dances, exclusive of formal attire. Popular dance spots must be reserved weeks in advance of a dance.

Carnegie Hall Ticket Sales Going Rapidly

Suky Backs Show To Send Reserve Players To Olympics

The Suky sponsored movie at the Kentucky Theater running more than four days if necessary in order to accommodate all persons who purchase advance tickets to send the basketball reserves to the Olympic games.

Tickets continued to sell rapidly Thursday with a committee headed by Clyde Dickerson leading the sales crew. Dickerson's committee is selling to Lexington luncheon clubs and reports more than 800 tickets sold.

The movie, "Carnegie Hall," one of the greatest musicals of all time will begin its first showing in Lexington at the State Theater Sunday and continue through Wednesday.

Yo-Yos Plus Water Pistols At Five Paces Seize Campus

A couple of days ago, as this reporter was sitting, or rather lying down, and perusing the stock market reports (they said Clifton in the Belmont Cap), I accidentally happened to turn to the news section of a local paper.

There starting at me from page 2, and set in large headlines, was "Juvies Delinquency Great Problem Among Children."

The story went on to say that mammals were getting more and more lax, and their blushing offspring were becoming more and more forward.

But why pick on the kids? Why not the adults?

Small Fry
Spring among the small fry is traditionally the season for the younger set to get their knees dirty by kneeling in the dirt and knocking pieces of glass all around the lot. They call this game "marbles."

Seniors Allowed Four Tickets For Graduation

Available In Dean's Office Until June 3, First Come, Served

Seniors will be permitted four tickets for relatives to attend the graduation exercises on Stoll Field June 4.

Dean James Haselden Thursday explained that 4000 seats will be reserved in the south stand of McLean stadium for relatives of the graduating class.

Some confusion had existed concerning the number of tickets for each senior as many thought they would be permitted only two tickets.

Dean Haselden said the rule did not mean four tickets to each member of the class. "We will allow each student four tickets if he has four relatives planning to attend," she explained.

In order to permit relatives of all seniors to attend, she urged seniors claim only as many tickets as will actually be needed.

Tickets are now available in the Dean of Women's office and may be claimed through June 3. On June 4 unclaimed seats will be available to seniors who have more than a first relative attending commencement.

These factors will be available on a first come, first served basis.

In the event of rain, the graduation program will be held in Memorial Hall and only seniors and the faculty will be able to attend, Dean Haselden explained.

She said there will be no tickets for the baccalaureate sermon on Monday night, May 30. Some 200 seats will be available to the first arrivals during Haselden's sermon.

A Parade of Nations' flag procession will be featured in the June convocation, which is to be held on Stoll Field.

Under the supervision of ODK, the senior mens leadership group, a procession will be composed of the fifty eight flags of the United Nations, each with an American flag. They will be carried by 116 men students chosen from individual campuses. The All-Campus party, and the Independent party. Leaders of these parties will be asked to participate in the event and they are asked that it is necessary for the men chosen to take part.

The flags will precede the students and faculty onto the field and there will be a section of seats reserved for those who wish to stay for the program.

Kernel, Kentuckian Will Have Picnic

The combined staffs of the Kentucky Kernel and the Kentuckian, will hold their annual picnic Saturday, June 12, at the University of Kentucky.

Frank Cassidy, advertising manager of the Kernel, is chairman of the refreshment committee. Committee members include Don Clark, chairman of the picnic committee; Helen Dorr, Kentuckian editor; and Martha Evans, Kernel managing editor.

Entertainment is under the direction of Tom Dinkis, Kernel and Kentuckian sports editor; John Saunders, Kernel sports staff; and John Irwin, Kernel advertising staff.

In charge of transportation is George Barker, Kernel business manager; John W. Serrille, Kernel editor, and Ed Swift, Kernel composing staff.

Approximately 100 persons, including the wives and dates of all members of the staffs and of the faculty advisors of the publications are expected to attend.

Yo-Yos Plus Water Pistols At Five Paces Seize Campus

We don't have to go far. Our own beautiful campus is alive with examples of juvenile delinquency.

New Fad
Lately a new fad, or should we say, new fads, have hit the campus. In a couple of words, yo-yos and water pistols.

No one is safe. I was told the story of one of the girls on the staff of the Kernel, who was walking along the street when suddenly a convertible drove up to the curb. The driver, who became a car, and a girl leaned out, took careful aim and fired—water.

New trend
Shoot
Even the war in Palestine has nothing on UK. One of the fraternities (we won't mention any names here for fear of spoiling their well-earned reputations) has been particularly active for attacking one of the sororities. Under intramural rules of warfare, the weapons will be water pistols for long range fighting.

For a preview of what is to come, see the next issue of this magazine.

Adopt Heidelberg

In the spring of 1945, Heidelberg, because of its importance as a rail and supply center, was one of the primary tactical targets for many University of Kentucky students flying missions over Germany.

In the spring of 1948, President Donovan has just returned from a visit to Heidelberg and has asked all University personnel, students, faculty, and staff members alike, to join in the effort to send food and clothing to German professors and students in Heidelberg who are trying to live on a near-starvation diet.

Heidelberg University, which was founded in 1386, is one of the oldest and most famous institutions of learning in the world. It is better known in America than any other foreign university since many Americans attended Heidelberg during the 19th century.

Like all other colleges and universities in Germany, Heidelberg was taken over by the Nazis during the Hitler regime. Professors with democratic leanings were removed and pro-Nazi instructors installed.

If any of the University's teachers at Heidelberg are still present, which is doubtful, we can be certain that none of them is still installing Nazi doctrines into their students since all students and faculty members have been officially de-Nazified by the American Security Division.

German professors and students are said to be living today on a daily ration of 1550 calories, the equivalent of one American meal. The actual fact is that this much food is often unavailable to them and their ration really consists of only 800 to 1200 calories, a starvation diet.

As a result, many professors and students are in a weakened condition and many more will suffer from ill health. The food and clothing situation is worse now than it was during the war.

Contributions in cash and clothing are being taken at the Dean of Men's office, the clothing to be mailed parcel post to Germany. Food is to be sent in $10 "cans" packages but contributions of any amount will be accepted, the small ones to be combined into $10 amounts. The money for food will be sent to Dr. Robert Hiner, the American Military Government's representative in charge of higher education in Germany. He, in turn, will take the money and buy food from the government warehouse in Germany and send it on to Heidelberg, thus saving shipping costs of sending food packages from the United States.

The Dean of Men's office is keeping a card catalog of donors' names so that receiving the food and clothing will know from whom the gifts were sent.

Let's get behind this drive and "Adopt Heidelberg." Let's show the world and the students and educators in Heidelberg that the war and its bitterness are now behind us. Let's prove to them that the peoples of all nations, to the understanding which can come by one means—not by power and hate but by better education in the democratic way, education which is possible only when both educators and students have adequate food and clothing to keep them alive and healthy.

Letters To The Editor

Editor, The Kernel:
In reply to the Donald J. Hahn letter in last week's Kernel, while Mr. Hahn was struggling to keep his mind from "betraying and stagnating" it has wandered into the realm of blind stupidity.

Sir, stop worrying about the "new look." What you need is a "new outlook."
BARBARA JONES

I have no quarrel with the first part of his letter, but the last paragraph gives me a slow burn.
Look, son, it's evident that you're talking about something of which you know nothing. This year my wife has bought not one new dress. The few clothes she does have she made herself in order to save money for such "paltry" things as food and her husband's education.

Editor, The Kernel:
Wouldn't it be nice if we were able to enjoy a meal at our soup cafeterias?
With summer quickly approaching, the need is apparent for some sort of air-conditioning unit—eating in the new building during the few warm days we did have, was like something out of Dante's Inferno.

This is no isolated case by any means. Drop out to Cooperstown any day and you'll see many an example of your wife's "stagnation." Perhaps there are a few wives who are as you say but they constitute a very small part of the total. The majority make sacrifices after sacrifice to help their husbands through school.
No, Mr. Hahn, you're dead wrong and a little investigation would convince you of it. The wives deserve a great deal of credit for the job they're doing rather than condemnation—especially from one so ill-informed.
RICHARD FARMER

Out West, small buildings of about the same construction as our new cafeterias are equipped with small air-conditioning units which cost about 60 dollars each. One or two of these in this eating place would

The Spice Of Life

By Helen Dorr and Pat Quinn

We hear some lucky men are getting fan mail these days. Must be from the Gnom. Those who went had a mighty fine time. Wilma True got the headline rush.

Mac Hughs had his picture taken for a change. At last report he hasn't developed the picture. Maybe he's afraid to.

And then there was the boy who insisted on climbing down the fire escape. His date didn't seem to mind too much.

Question of the Week: Did John L. McLaughlin ever find a date for the Pi Kap Dream Girl dance? He's been bemoaning his fate for weeks now.

But if you want to hear a real hard luck story, ask Fred Nichols about the Sigma Nu formal.

The panning of Glenna Waddell and Roy Cotton came as a shock in some quarters but—

The real shock of the week was the panning of Cotton Wiesner and Jane Turner. Few people expected it.

If something isn't done before summer, I'm afraid most people will be by-passing the establishment for one which is less than 20 degrees hotter than outside temperature.

One more gripe on the cafeteria and I'll be at peace with the world. The noise. Glasses breaking, silverware smashing against metal clearing tables, and all sorts of clatter on the part of the workers make eating alongside a pneumatic hammer as tranquil as a pastoral paradise. I'll admit that a certain amount of noise is necessary in such a busy place, but I feel a gripe is legitimate when the noise gets to the stage where you have to shout at the top of your lungs in order to thank the person across from you for passing the salt.

SECTION 2-B BOUND
CAFETERIA FREQUENTER

To my friends in the History Department of the University of Kentucky and to all history majors I should like to point out a historical development which I have noticed and which, no doubt, many others have observed.

In teaching history, I've noticed that since 1914 the histories of all countries seem to have merged. It can no longer be said that any country has a separate history. Any development of historical importance in one country will have its repercussions in the histories of all countries. Prior to 1789, and to a limited extent since, one can teach French, British, Spanish, Roman, Greek, German or any other history quite apart from each other. Occurrences in Spanish or French history, or any other, seem to have only occasional influences on the histories of other countries. Of course there are exceptions such as Protestantism, Crusades, and the discovery of America. Each country seems to go its own way with only occasional conflicts with another country. Very seldom will the actions of one country change the course of events all over the world.

Since 1914, however, such things as a murder in Sarajevo, a slapped face in Peking, or a speech in Missouri will set a chain of reactions that will affect the world. The most insignificant act will set off a wave of reactions like the ripples on the surface of a pond when someone throws a rock into it. The ripples widen until they disturb the entire world.

There isn't any French, Russian, or American history now. It's all world history. There's no way to untangle it. Since our destinies are so closely linked with other peoples, it is time we made an attempt at world government, not the lousy, feeble United Nations way, but with an attitude of sincerity and determination to do some important things which were created our federal union in 1787.

Mystery of the Week: What mischief are John Irvin and Cliff Miller cooking up? They've been so black around the college since they were in the 2-story frame cottage which stood somewhere near the site of Pence Hall (originally the library). It was the woman's cottage of the Lexington Fair. As you know, our campus of 1882 was the old Lexington Fair Grounds. Another important part of the equipment, which might be classed as one of the buildings, was the boiler house, situated back of the main building and dormitory, both steam heated from this house. In it also was a deep well from which water was pumped to a tank in the top of the dormitory.

Another interesting "remnant" from the fair grounds was the spring, wall with stone and with a roof over it, supported by eight posts.

Some telephone numbers you ought to know

516,500—It takes this number of men and women to operate the twenty-two Bell Telephone Companies. Each operating company is responsible for furnishing telephone service within its own territory.

26,000—The number of people who are employed in the Long Lines Department of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company. It is their function to provide Long Distance and Overseas service.

131,400—This number the employees of the Western Electric Company who manufacture, purchase and distribute equipment and supplies for the entire Bell System.

6,000—That's the number of people in Bell Telephone Laboratories. Through research and development they constantly improve this country's telephone service—already the finest in the world.

2,100—That's the number of people in the American Telephone and Telegraph Company. Through advice and assistance, they coordinate the activities of the entire Bell System.

In all, there are some 682,000 men and women in the Bell System. As this country's communications service is expanded and improved, opportunities will grow still greater. There's a future in telephony.

Ticket sales have been encouraging, Miss Rhoads said. Behind Dickerson's committee is one headed by Lucia Bland who is selling in the Northwest section of Lexington. In addition to sales, this group reported a $50 contribution from the Kaufman clothing store.

"Ticket sales in this drive can make the difference in whether or not the three reserves make the trip," Miss Rhoads said. She said almost enough money had been raised from a number of sources to send Dale Barnstable, Jim Line, and Joe Holland to the Olympics. Kentucky's starting team and Coach Adolph Rupp will join with the Phillips Oilers in making up the United States basketball entry in the Olympics.

Hazel Smith Named Home Ec Club Head

Miss Hazel Jo Smith, Pineville, was installed as president of the Home Economics Club on Monday at a garden party at the home of Dr. Stacie Erickson, 114 Barbary Lane. Miss Smith is a junior in the College of Agriculture and Home Economics.

Other officers installed were Miss Betty Triplett, vice president, Miss Evelyn Hammond, secretary, Miss Clara Newton, treasurer, Miss Sue Dossent, song leader, Miss Patricia Leavelle, publicity, and Miss Jean Williams and Miss Mary Jo Ridley, freshman advisors.

A feature of the evening was the ceremony of inviting and welcoming 20 graduating seniors into membership in the Kentucky and American Home Economics Association conducted by Dr. Erickson, head of the Department of Home Economics, and Miss Elizabeth Helton, faculty advisor.

Miss Smith, innocent president, and Miss Dorothy Doyle, will represent the club at the College Club Division of the American Home Economics Association meeting in Minneapolis, June 21 to 24.

Yo-Yos Plus

(Continued from Page One) ing, and yo-yo's for hand to hand combat. All over the campus, students are preparing for the big all-campus yo-yo contest which is being held in the next few weeks. The Security Council has issued a general plan to all future believers to hold off until after finals.

Amuse Needed The situation, however, looks very grim. Hobby shops downtown are doing a rushing business in the weapons of local war. The mayor is expected any day now, to issue an arms embargo against all persons over seventeen years of age.

Oh, yes, there's some bad news. Our only hope is for combat to be started off until June 3, in hopes that all concerned will be too busy taking finals to carry arms against each other in what promises to be the greatest civil war since the "late unpleasantness."

Veterans Advised To Keep Insurance

University of Kentucky students today were advised by a representative of the Veterans Administration to conserve their National Service Life Insurance policies as the best available protection at the lowest cost. B. F. Adcock, regional insurance officer for the V.A., in a series of conferences at the University Tuesday morning, stressed that the deadline for reinstatement of World War II insurance without physical examination is midnight of July 31, 1948.

Veterans who need and want this at-out protection should not wait until the last minute, as certain health requirements must be met in all term reinstatements," he explained. "Nor should those with responsibilities hesitate to reinstate amounts smaller than $10,000 as policies are granted as low as $1,000."

Lexington veterans can receive full information and service, including receipts for premium payments, at the V.A. office at 508 W. Main Street. UK student veterans may receive information and advice in the office of Robert W. Henderson, assistant director of veterans affairs, Room 304, Administration Building.

All veterans who have been called into the veterans personnel office because they drew duplicate or unauthorized books, must return these books by the end of the current quarter or jeopardize their future registration under the G.I. bill 1948, the Veterans Administration office warned Thursday.

Radio Station

(Continued From Page One) The maintenance department of the University. The new studio was designed and constructed by Egin B. Parris, chief engineer of the maintenance department. The transmitter, which will also be dedicated, was designed by Henry Locklar of WLP and built by James Hise, graduate student in engineering, during a period of more than two years. A 1000-watt transmitter, its four-by turnstile antennae increase its power to 2300 watts.

WBKY will be heard on both the new high-band transmitter and the present low-band one until a Federal Communications Commission's directive abolishes operation of the latter. The new coverage area has not been exactly determined, although it is estimated as between 60 and 90 miles. Sulzer estimates that in greater Lexington there are approximately 4000 FM receivers. No survey has been made in the outlying areas served by WBKY.

WBKY, whose call letters stand for "We Broadcast Kentucky," will be featured in an article in Sunday's Courier-Journal. Extensive publicity has been received all over the state and in various broadcast journals. Several hundred letters of congratulations have been received as well as congratulatory telegrams from other stations. These telegrams will be played following the live broadcast on Monday night.

University personnel and students and listeners with FM sets are especially invited to the ceremonies. Guests should use the south stairs in McVey Hall. A picture of the new studio appears on Page 3 of this week's Kernel.

Pollard To Speak At Sigma Xi Banquet

Dr. William G. Pollard, director of the Oak Ridge Institute for Nuclear Studies will speak at the twenty-seventh annual banquet of Sigma Xi at 6:30 Saturday night in the Student Union Building. He will discuss the origin of elements. At this meeting Dr. W. R. Jillson, professor of Geology at Transylvania College, and Professor E. B. Penrod of the University Mechanical Engineering Department, will be initiated into active membership. The following persons, all graduate students, will be initiated into associate membership: Samuel J. Allen, Dennis A. Ayres, Wm. T. Crane, Miss Helvise G. Gleason, Michael Golben, Julius Goldbers, Saul Gordon, Edward J. Griffith, Thos. J. Gunnell, Robert E. Hargrove, Richard J. Howard, Jess B. Huff, Jr., George S. Hursi, Robert E. DISKINTUCKY • SPORTS ROUNDUP

— Tom Diskin, Sports Editor —

The inadequacy of the University's accommodations for intramural football becomes more apparent with each passing week. This spring the intramural program has been forced to overcome many difficulties.

With the varsity baseball team usually occupying the Stoll Field area, the 200-man softball setup has been using the field behind the Student Union building, which is too small. On top of this, the maintenance department of the school has been exceedingly slow about fixing up the diamond, especially after a heavy rain.

After Sunday night's thunderstorm, water remained around the home plate area (at the south end of the field) through Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday before it finally dried out Thursday.

The digging at the east side of the field hasn't helped the situation out at all. Piles of dirt along the third-base line and a 180-foot right field doesn't make for good softball playing.

When the IM teams are allowed to use Stoll Field (two diamonds) the outfielders in one game find themselves rubbing backs with the pitchers in the other contest. The outfielders of the diamond overlap and this could make for an injury to one or more of the players.

Occasionally the teams are sent over to the University High grounds to play. Here we find enough space, but the playing area, especially in the infield, is bumpy and invites the possibility of a shortstop third baseman and others of going home, after finding a hot grounder, minus about four of his front teeth.

We believe that the intramural directors have done a good job in spite of such adverse conditions. The University definitely needs a bigger space for the all-important intramural program, which furnishes many male students the only physical exercise they get each school year.

Therefore it is hoped that the University will recognize this situation and make plans to ease the cramped conditions that now exist in the intramural softball program.

In the last issue of the Kentucky Kernel, the 1948 football opponents were printed. However, somewhere along the line, the Villanova schedule was left incomplete. The last three games of the Philadelphia schedule were omitted. Therefore, here is the complete card for the Villanova eleven: Sept. 18, Texas A&M at Philadelphia; Sept. 25, Army at West Point; Oct. 2, Duquesne, at Philadelphia; Oct. 8, Miami, Fla., there; Oct. 15, Boston College, there; Oct. 23, Open; Oct. 30, Detroit, there; Nov. 6, Kentucky, at Lexington; there is the previously omitted info: Nov. 13, Georgetown College, Philadelphia; Nov. 20, San Francisco, Philly; and Nov. 27, North Carolina State at Raleigh, Villanova, which won 6, lost 2 and tied 1 in 1947, loses only five players for the coming season via graduation, etc.

The University of Georgia's baseball team won't win the conference crown this season, but they will definitely be an outfit to be reckoned with in 1949.

We had a talk with the Bulldogs' baseball coach, Charley Trippi, when the Red and Black came up here for their two-game series with the Wildcats four weeks ago.

From this chat, we learned that Trippi will have everyone of his players back this season. Only two members are juniors, the rest being freshmen or sophomores. One of the juniors is Chubby Jenkins, hard-hitting first sacker who clouted a 300-foot homer here after blasting out three straight round trippers against the "everything-happens-to-us" baseball team of Tennessee shortly before the UK series.

Coach Trippi also informed us that he has three men on baseball scholarships, which is quite surprising since each SEC is (or shall be) allowed only 20 scholarships for football, basketball and all the rest. Most of the conference schools have been given all 75 to football. Once in a while, one might be handed to a basketball player. Naturally, UK is an exception since 10 scholarships, I believe, have been allowed to Coach Trippi's basketballers in the past. The rest (65) have gone to football.

The three on baseball scholarships at Georgia are Pitcher Bob Callahan, who won that 26-2 verdict over UK, giving up just six hits in that game; Shortstop Paul Eskew; and Mondeman Bob Still.

High on Freshman Trippi also has a "junior varsity" baseball team lambasting their opponents with surprising ease. At last count, the junior outfit had won seven straight without a loss. In a doubleheader last month, the Bulldogs clouted Piedmont College by scores of 12-2 and 17-3.

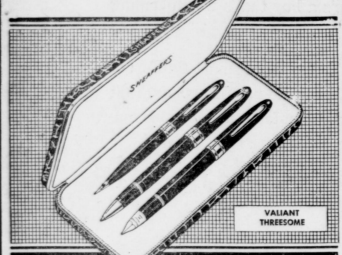

The former All-American grid star is high on a young shortstop of this line. His name is Larry Kellner and according to Trippi is "a dandy player and should be a star next season on our varsity."

Kellner, in the Piedmont games, clouted a homer in the first fray and got five hits for five runs in the second. Georgia plans call for Kellner to take over at shortstop, while the speedy Eskew will be moved over to third base for 1949.

It looks as if Trippi could call draw on the Athens, Ga., High school team in the future, if necessary for baseball material. Recently, the Athens team whupped Roper's High, 67-4. The winners' shortstop got nine hits, including three homers in this fracas. Royston, by the way, is the hometown of the Georgia Peach, Ty Cobb.

Coach Trippi will start football practice for the coming grid season with the Champion Chicago Cardinals about August 1. He will be playing for the Cards when they face the College All-Stars in Chicago late in August. On the All-Star team will be Jay Rhodemyre, now of the Green Bay Packers; and Wash Sertini of the Chicago Bears.

Another sidelight of this contest will be that Georgia's head mentor, Wally Butts, will be assisting Frank Leahy of Notre Dame to coach the College All-Stars for their game against the Chicago Cards and his former star halfback at Georgia, Charley Trippi. This scrum should start off the 1948 football season with quite a bang.

Cats To End 1948 Season With Vols At Knoxville

By Kent Hollingsworth

Kentucky will play the cellar-dwelling Tennessee Volunteers this afternoon and tomorrow at Knoxville which will close the 1948 season for the UK baseball squad. The games will be played in the park of the Knoxville Smokies baseball team of the Southern Association, if the schedules of the two do not conflict.

The Wildcats will be favored to sweep this series against Tennessee since they had little trouble last week here in Lexington clubbing the Vols into submission, winning by scores of 14-1 and 6-1. The Cats outbit the atemic Orange and White swingers in the set, 25 hits to 8. Wash Jones and Ray Mignerey gave up but four safeties apiece and a couple of errors cost each a shutout against U.T.

Tennessee Games
Wash Jones limited the University of Tennessee baseball team to four hits and one unearned run last Friday as his teammates slugged Vol hurrier, Ray Dean, for 15 hits and 14 runs, in chalking up his third victory of the year.

The Volunteer's lone run came in the seventh inning when Bender doubled and came home on Walt Hirsch's muf of Byrd's grounder.

Cat third sacker, John Crossbait, continued his hitting splurge, driving in two runs with a triple and a single in three times at bat to give him five for seven in the last two games.

Cur Barker slammed his fourth home run of the year in the fifth inning with none on base.

Netters Lose To Tennessee, Notre Dame

Notre Dame and Tennessee defeated the Kentucky tennis team on Saturday and Monday respectively. The Irish rode off with a 9-0 victory, but the doubles team of Dickerson and Meadors made Tennessee take a 8-1 score.

The Tennessee battle was hard going all the way with many of the matches going three sets.

On Saturday Danny Dickerson worked up quite a sweat on Downing courts. It was not surprising to the handful of brave Kentucky tennis fans for Danny had just finished his tennis lesson from Notre Dame's

Georgia Wins
Nine Kentucky errors cost Hurler Ray Mignerey his first loss of the season as the Georgia Bulldogs trimmed the Cats Wednesday at Athens, 13-9.

The Red and Black made six miscues in the wild contest.

For Georgia, Hiebovy, a member of the UG grid team, started on the hill but was forced to take cover in the sixth inning as the Wildcat bats were almost 9-8. However, Reflefer Adams cooled the UK hitters off after that, allowing only one run the rest of the contest. The loss gave the Cats a mark of six wins and seven losses for the campaign.

The Red and Black made six miscues in the wild contest.

For Georgia, Hiebovy, a member of the UG grid team, started on the hill but was forced to take cover in the sixth inning as the Wildcat bats were almost 9-8. However, Reflefer Adams cooled the UK hitters off after that, allowing only one run the rest of the contest. The loss gave the Cats a mark of six wins and seven losses for the campaign.

WHY... I smoke Chesterfield

(FROM A SERIES OF STATEMENTS BY PROMINENT TOBACCO FARMERS)

"I think Chesterfield is a good-smoking cigarette and I like them. They have a good, ripe-tobacco taste and they're mild."

"Nobody pays a higher price to get good-smoking tobacco than Chesterfield. They buy sweet, ripe tobacco. Looks like a gold dollar in the barn."
