The suit filed in October, 1941, by Charles Lamont Eubank, Negro of Louisville in an effort to gain admittance to the University as a civil engineering student, has been dismissed in the United States District court.

Judge H. Church Ford removed the suit from the docket under a provision of court procedure that provides for dismissal of a case which has been on docket for two consecutive terms of court without prosecution. Col. Samuel M. Wilson, member of University council, said Eubank's attorneys had taken no steps in the case in the last two terms of court.

Eubank asked a permanent injunction restraining the University from refusing admittance to qualified Negroes, claiming that he had been denied admission because of his race, color in violation of the constitution.

Tri Delts Lead
Organizations
On Campus

With sales totaling approximately $229,563, the University more than tripled its sales goal in the recent War Fund drive. Frank D. Peterson, while giving these approximate figures, said that the University was pleased with the results of the campaign.

Student Sales
Sarah Dee Rainey, chairman of the student victory committee of the Student Government Association, reported sales of only $7,323 for University students.

The seven members of the University training school led the drive with sales totaling $60,240. The staff of the University was also credited for the remaining sales.

According to fraternities, sororities, and residence halls the sales were led by Delta Delta Delta with $5,250, and Chi Omega with $37,000.

War fund officials reported that they secretly purchased several thousand dollars in bonds down and so received no credit from the University.

Alternative Plans
To Dancing Ban
Offered By SGA

Representing almost 2,000 University students, a committee of six the SGA by John Hopkins. An open discussion was held in this meeting and several solutions to the problem were suggested by the legislators. It was the general opinion of the Assembly that the city ordinance which prohibits dancing in Lexington where food and drink are sold will only result in a general trend on the part of the winter quarter, several other undesirable amusements. The committee is composed of Bill Embury, Betty Ann Glinoch, Betty Tervis, John Hopkins, Marybelle Gayler, and Marjane Wenstrup.

As this was the first SGA meeting since the ban on dancing, several other committees were appointed to investigate projects which have been suggested to the assembly. The discipline problem was discussed and a committee of William Buckler, chairman, John Robbins, Owen Pennington, and Bill Embury was appointed to list the advantages and disadvantages of giving SGA more disciplinary power over the University students.

The proposal of an activities fee to be levied on the University was discussed and a committee composed of Betty Fragare, chairman, Jack Pennington, Bill Embury, Marjane Wenstrup, and Dr. W. S. Ward as faculty advisor is to investigate the matter. The activities fee would consist of a list of activities and would be available for reference. A point system declaring the maximum activities in which a student would be allowed to participate also will be investigated by this committee.

It was suggested that weekly war maps be placed in the Union building and Betty Harris, chairman, Marjane Wenstrup, and Dr. W. S. Ward were appointed to investigate this project.

Men Baker gave a report to the assembly from the committee which has been working with other campus organizations in the problem of men-women relationships. He reported that he and Roy Dickerson of Cincinnati will be on the campus next week and suggested that SGA sponsor his program scheduled for 4 p.m. Monday, January 22, and assist in his efforts.

Reginald Bowen, Arts and Sciences junior from Hillcrest, was elected by the assembly to succeed Fred Hill of Lexington as apparatus manager representative from the Arts and Sciences college.

The next SGA meeting will be held at 4 p.m. Monday, January 29, in the Union building.

Ky. Law Journal
Staff Appointed

Shelby Hurst of Lexington and Durward Weldon of Georgetown, first-year law students, have been appointed apprentice members of the staff of the Kentucky Law Journal.

Publication of the January Kentucky Law Journal has been announced by the office of Dr. Alvin E. Evans, dean of the law college.

The edition contains, in addition to regular features, articles by Dr. Evans, Reynolds C. Setz, Scott Reed, and Dr. A. G. Stephenson.

Dance In Union

Another suggestion offered by a group of students, eager to have the Union taken immediately, was that the Union should be kept open every night except Sunday, and a victoria should be placed in the Card room for all those wishing to dance.

An anxious young man suggested that this be run somewhat like a youth center, with the girls to be kept open at night as it had been in pre-war days.

Some soldiers here on the campus agreed with the idea above and thought that they should receive three nights out during the week, or else that their study hall should be held on Saturday afternoons instead of Sunday nights thereby permitting them to have an extra night of more than 50 cents.

The discussions all seemed to lead to the discussion that the University could in some way provide for recreation where it is now lacking.

One group of freshman students suggested that there should be an extra evening swing held on Monday nights, and held for a longer period of time than from 8 to 7:30.

Musicale
Scheduled
Kuhlman To Sing
Sunday At 4 p.m.

Robert Kuhlman, baritone and voice instructor at the University will present the first Sunday afternoon musicale of the winter quarter Sunday at 4 p.m. in Memorial Hall.

Miss Jean Marie McConnell, a graduate of the University Music Department, will be his accompanist.

Summer In New York
Since his concert last year, Mr. Kuhlman spent the summer in New York City. During the recent holiday season he sang numerous oratorio performances and recitals throughout Ohio and in St. Louis.

Miss McConnell will play two interludes, Opus 118 No. 2 and Opus 119 No. 3, and the Rhapsodic Opus III No. 4, all by Brahms.

For his fourth group, Mr. Kuhlman has chosen the highly dramatic "Lord Randall," arranged by Cyril Scott; "Song of the Palanquin Bearer," by Shostakovich; and the rousing drinking ballad, "Captain Stratton's Fanny," by Deems Taylor.

The final group of songs will open with "My Lady Lark in Loveliness," by Charles M. Kuhlman will manage his custom of including one popular ballad by singing "Strange Music" from the Broadway hit, "Song of Norway." The program will close with "Among the Living," by Maloff, and "High Flight," by Sacco.

German Group
The German group will include "Ich Liebe Dich (I Love Thee)," by Grieg; and "Allerseelen" and "Zuerst" by Richard Strauss.

Dr. Snow, a native of Colorado, received his A.B. degree in 1922 from the University of Colorado, his A.M. and Ph.D. degrees from Harvard University in 1925 and 1928. He came to the University in April 1942 from the archaeological laboratory of the Alabama museum, W.P.A. in Birmingham, Ala., where he was engaged as a physical anthropologist.

Dr. Snow is a member of the American Association of Physical Anthropology, Society of American Archaeologists, A.A.A.S., Kentucky Archaeological society, Sigma Xi, and Phi Kappa Phi.

Mrs. Snow and her four daughters will remain in Lexington at their residence, 215 State street.

Donation Of Pickett Books
Starts Library Collection

The library staff this week is busy arranging and cataloging the 2,000 books of the Pickett collection given the University by Mrs. Elizabeth Pickett Chevalier. Although the job has just begun several interesting rare books have been discovered.

The books in the library range from the early sixteenth to the late nineteenth centuries, comprising one of the largest and most interesting and most valuable gifts that the library has so far received. There is an amazing variety of countries, printers and subject represented in the collection.

Given To Library
The books were given to the University by Mrs. Chevalier honoring her father and her grandfather Joseph D. Pickett, who was the second president of the University. The books came from the library of the Pickett estate near Mayville, Mrs. Chevalier is the author of the best seller "Drivin' Woman."

Books printed by Elzevir, Plantin, Martius, Gryphus and other great names in the printing profession are found in the collection. One of the best of the books is one printed by Daniel Elzevir in Amsterdam in 1667, containing his famous printer's mark.

Printed In Antwerp
There are two books representing the Plantin press in the collection. One is printed in 1585, containing a good example of "Plantin's" composite press mark; the other, printed in 1581, has a title page illustrated by Christopher Plantin. Both of the books were printed in Antwerp.

Paul Mantius, a son of Aldus Manutius, printed one of the books in Venice in 1554. The book contains a perfect example of the "Dolphin and Anchor" device of press marks.

The Mantius family was one of the greatest of printing families. Their printing establishment was in the family for over 100 years.

Moetjens Represented
Moetjens, the famous Paris printer, is represented in the collection with a book containing a good example of his press mark, "Al the Sign of the Fountain." Francis and Sebastianus Gryphus printed one of the books published in 1531.

The books are in surprisingly well preserved condition, considering age. Ranging in size from small pocket-sized editions of approximately two by three inches to huge ledger-like volumes two feet by three feet in size the books are often very beautifully bound. The majority of the books are leather bound, and many designs worked into the leather.

The binding of one of the books is cardboard, block printed in brown and yellow mingled in a stylized floral design. A few of the books have a binding of vellum. Some have stippled leather coverings with tree-like designs; others have a marble process binding.

Many of the books have illustrations, title pages, initials, and head and tail pieces. Some of them are block printed. The end-papers of many contain interesting floral designs. The collection contains many books that are characteristic of certain periods in printing in Germany, France and Italy.

Rare Book Collection
The collection will be used primarily as a basis for a rare-book collection for the library. Because of its wide variety in subject matter (Continued on Page Four)

SO THEY SAV!

By Shirley Meister
Question: Are you in favor of a woman's labor union? Answer: Yes, because they are essential to the war effort and they won't get their money from the volunteer system.

Angusine Deering, ASTR: No, I would take people off the farms and I don't approve of that.

Nancy Ellen Taylor, A&S, junior: I most certainly am because it will shorten the war and thereby save lives. Too many manpower hours are being wasted by people too young to get in the swing of things.

Dale Local, ASTR: No, I don't think it could be handled fairly by the politicians now in office.

Amelia Mason, A&S, junior: Yes, because the labor union helps oppose it.

Emily Frank, A&S, sophomore: Yes, it will give everyone an opportunity to do his part to hasten final victory.

Ralph Crider, A&S, freshman: It would be a good thing because there is so much absenteeism and this would keep workers on the job.

Freeman, A&S, junior: Yes, I'm in favor of anything that would get the war over with sooner.

Marshall Hahn, A&S, senior: Naturally, it will get rid of the 4-F's hanging around.

A. B. Duncan, A&S, senior: Yes, because it would produce more and increase war production.

Green Preter, A&S, sophomore: Yes, because it would produce more and increase war production.

Bob Burnett, A&S, freshman: Yes, it's the only system they have tried in order to get more volunteers, so in order to win the war I suggest they try it.

Bob McGeehe, A&S, freshman: You're too much like a dictator, and if you're not in a job, you're not fit to work under government supervision.

'Scentiments'

By Mary Jane Dewey Long-gone are the days when one sent a lace-edged, linen valentine to the O. and O. The V-mail overseas valentine edition is the new thing, but then so is the idea of "Joe" being overseas instead of right here with the usual flowers and heart-shaped candy box.

A V-mail special is the most ingenious way of telling Him in a different way that you still love him.

For example, one such valentine is a successful completion of a rather gruesome-looking physiology drawing of a human heart, edged with tints that give a lacy effect. Drops of red blood-link ooze from the left ventricle (since we're being technically modern). This X-ray expression is captioned, "Since you went away I'm a busted valentine."

Another of the photographic love notes is a wet by word drawing of my heart pants for you.

This type of valentine isn't found on the card counter. You'll have to do your own. After all, it's the message from YOU that counts.

In World War I, the valentines were much more elaborate and costly. A girl could tell whether he really loved her by the type of valentine he sent. At that time men were helpful (it says here) and a valentine sent to a girl meant he was practically engaged to her.

The type valentine sent under such circumstances was a properly engraved sterling silver heart, often as large as the biggest cardboard hearts now, and these cost from $10 to $20. . . . And to think we hope for a box of candy!

After all though, we're sending this year, not receiving. Perhaps your February 14th greeting will be a bit of Byron on pale blue stationery, or maybe you'll stick to Hallmark, but the point is—if your greeting goes overseas, mail it this week so it will arrive on D-designated Day—not at Easter-time.

'Farewell To Groza' Gala Affair As Kentucky Defeats Spartans 66-35 Saturday On Home Court

Wildcats Overcome Half-Time Defeat To Cinch Victory

The Kentucky Wildcats turned the "Farewell To Groza Night" into a gala affair after the intermission by singing the meeting with 48 points to overcome a 24-18 score at half. Finding the range rank the Michigan State Spartans 66-35 at the Alumni gym Saturday night as an estimated crowd of 3,100 witnessed the game in which Jack Parkinson dropped in 11 field goals and one free throw to total 22 points for the night. In the last half drive to rally the team on victory.

Miss Sibbs Kentucky played a mediocre game in the first part of the contest, missing numerous shots and losing the ball consistently on the rebound, with the Spartans turning the "Cats" mistakes into their growing score. It was not until the second quarter that the Kentucky quintet looked like the team that deserved the rating of No. 1 in the nation as Groza scored 14 points and his cool ball handling slowly turned the tide into a decisive defeat for the visitors.

Tied Three Times The score was tied three times during the first half after Wilbur Schu began the scoring with a free throw and the Spartans immediately moved ahead. Failure to rebound effectively and missing the basket with their shots from far out, whereas the one-handed shots of Robin Roberts and Joe Krakora accounted for the 24-18 score at the half in favor of Coach Van Alstyne's team.

Effective Defense The effective defense system of the Cats held the Spartans to 11 points in the final half with Sam Portino, veteran guard, held scoreless after tallying 6 points in the first part of the game.

Summary: After the intermission the Wildcats took over the lead 38-25 with five minutes gone and 40-33 halfway in the final period.

'The Lowe-Down'

Now that Groza has departed for the army, the team is a little low in spirit and rightfully should be losing a potential All-American. Most of the slack has been taken up by the inspiring play of "Dutch" Campbell who is trying his very best to fill the noticeable gap in the Kentucky lineup. However, more is still needed—the support of every student in the stands. Many local high schools have shown more spirit in their organized cheering sections than the Wildcat rooters have displayed. The nation's number 1 team deserves more support on the road to victory.

Jack Parkinson is suffering from a sprained ankle received in the Michigan State game Saturday night. Although the sprain didn't show signs of swelling until Sunday it is responding to treatment and Parkinson is expected to be in good condition for the Tennessee game.

In checking back over the records LeRoy (Big Boy) Edwards scored 33 points in the Creighton game in 1935 which still stands as the all-time individual record for a Kentucky player in a single game and also holds the record for a single season with 334 points in 21 games played in 1934-35. His average for each game was 15.9 points, whereas Groza totaled 165 points in 10 games for an average of 16.5 points. If he had been able to complete the season he may have been able to set a new record.

If you are wondering why Michigan State lost by an overwhelming score, it may be attributed to the story a friend of Kentucky told the visiting team on the train coming to Lexington. It seems that the Spartans were not too confident of winning in the first place, so this UK supporter decided to help the cause by telling them of the greatness of the Wildcat quintet and how they could play to beat them. Before this friend finished his tall tales the Spartans were thoroughly beaten and proceeded to read comic books, with the coach playing poker in hopes of winning back some of the expenses for the seemingly unnecessary trip.

Kentucky Loves The 'Cats And Coach Rupp Is Sorry

The people of Kentucky have adopted this team as their own, lamented solemn Coach Adolph Rupp. The reason for the usually-gentle Rupp's solemnity was not evident. His team is undefeated, tops in the nation; he himself is called the "hall of fame" coach. And now, he says, Kentuckians have taken their pride in this 1945 outfit as their "very own." So why the long face?

Had you heard the hundreds of disappointed out-of-towners last Saturday night and the Saturday night before that, you would have wondered. Had you seen them turned away from the box office after driving 200 miles to one basketball game you would have known from Corbin and Paducah and West Liberty and Harlan they came to see the "cat" game. And that is why the "100-bad" look on the face of a coach whose team is riding high. He is sorry that the University can't seat the thousands of Kentuckians who want to see the fighting Wildcats.

Argument for our field house: Perhaps—but the figures can argue better. Alumni gym has a total of 2,884 seats. On an average game, like Ohio University vs. Kentucky, the athletic office took in 600 student ticket books, leaving fewer than 2,800 seats for townspeople, soldiers, and the rest of the safe. Usually AST trainees occupy 100 places and the University band takes 165. Sixteen are doled out to the press.

Students fill the east end with its 1,200 places first. Outsiders who pay $1.20 for a reserved seat and $1.50 for a box usually fill the west end's 1,400 seats. Sprinkled liberally among civilians are service people whom the athletic office admits for 65 cents. Kentucky officials never send blocks of tickets to opponent schools before game time; instead they try to fill every place with a Kentucky fan.

Former Student Killed In Action

According to a notice received by his parents and his wife from the War Department, Lieut. Sgt. Clair Walker, former University student, was killed in action in Germany on January 1. His parents, Dr. and Mrs. Allen Walker, live in Lexington and his wife, Mrs. Ellen McConnell Walker, in Anchorage. Lieut. Walker entered the service on March 8, 1942, and was commissioned at Fort Benning, Ga. He attended Millersburg Military academy.

'Dutch,' Rupp's New Kingpin

Campbell is the logical person to take Groza's position on the team, says Coach Rupp, "he is an excellent player, plenty of speed, a good heart and he hates to lose a ball game. I have great confidence in his ability."

Just as the shoes of All-American Bob Braun were filled by Alex Groza, Kenton "Dutch" Campbell will have his chance to prove his ability as a center. Campbell, while not having played a great amount of ball on the Wildcats team, nevertheless has an excellent record behind him. He was center and "kingpin" of the great Newark, Ohio high school team which won the Ohio championship in 1942-43 and played through the 1943-44 season with only one defeat. In winning the state championship Campbell and his team did so only through defeating Alex Groza and the Martin's Ferry, Ohio team.

Campbell is 18 years old. He is six feet, four inches tall and weighs 192 pounds. He should prove very valuable to the team as the season progresses and he recieves more experience.

UK-N.D. Game Arouses Intense Duo-Student Interest

Kentucky fans will have a lot of competition from the Notre Dame cheering section at the Kentucky-Notre Dame basketball game in Louisville January 27.

No student section was reserved for the match and the 101 students who have bought tickets plus the fifty or more who plan to attend the game will find themselves scattered over half of Louisville's large gym.

Maybe Suiky's student pep organization, is paying all expenses for the band and 25 of its own members, there can be little organized cheering from the Kentucky side of the house.

The Notre Dame five will have ample support from its followers, for early last August the Notre Dame alumni association bought a bloc of 835 seats, almost one entire side of the house.

'Joint Is Really Jumpin' Down In Carnegie Room'

Some like it hot, some like it sweet, some like it slow. But regardless of the style, everyone likes some kind of music. That's where the Carnegie room comes in.

In case some of you don't know the Carnegie room is, here's a little dope on it. It is a music library operated and sponsored by the Music department for the benefit of townspeople and students who care to listen to the records on file.

Some of the more popular pieces requested are by Sibelius, Kern, Tschakowsky, and arrangements by the Don Cosack chorus.

The comfortable room on the first floor of the Union is open from 12:30 to 4:30 p.m. every week day and from 6 to 7 p.m. on Thursday nights. Special programs have been requested and presented from time to time by various organizations, and the Music department conducts a music appreciation class for majors in that department who, consequently, use the room for class work.

Of course there are some of you who go in the music room to curl up in a big soft easy chair and absorb a little music along with our American "hit" or French. A good mystery novel is very often with a background of Sibelius or Wagner—or a romance to the tune of "Clair de Lune" or "Concerto in E Flat Minor" by Tschakowsky—(try it some time and see for yourself.)

In the military matter there are plenty of marches and battle hymns to satisfy the desire of the more serious students. The "old-time" Strauss waltzes and semi-classical modern pieces are quite popular too.

But to sum it all up, no matter what your purpose is or how you like your music, here's betting that you'll like it in the Carnegie room.
