STROLLERS SELECT SPRING PRESENTATION

"FIFTY-FIFTY" TO BE PRESENTED BY DRAMATIC CLUB

Strollers Give Frederick Johnson Farce in Spring

HISTORY IS GIVEN

Sixteenth Annual Production Since the Year 1910

"Fifty-Fifty," a three act farce of Love, Luck, and Laughter, by Frederick G. Johnson, has been chosen by the Strollers for their spring production. Although it is a comedy, with bits of brilliant wit, "Fifty-Fifty" has more of a sober vein running through it than "Seventeen," last year's production.

The play has a cast of ten people, and the new Stroller material, combined with that already tested in the past years will furnish ample dramatic talent for a superior production. "Fifty-Fifty," which bids fair to excel all previous Stroller productions.

The play will be the sixteenth production of the dramatic club, the first having been given in 1910 when the Strollers presented "Richieu;" "Brown of Harvard" was given in 1911; "The Virginian" in 1912; "The Lost Paradise" in 1913; "The College Widow" in 1914; "Charley's Aunt" in 1915; "Father and the Boys" in 1916; "The Lion and the Mouse" in 1917; "Mice and Men" in 1918; "Under Cover" in 1919; "The Climbers" in 1920; "The Admirable Crichton" in 1921; "The Thirteenth Chair" in 1922; "Lady Wendemere's Fan" in 1923; and "Seventeen" in 1924.

That, in short, is the history of the Strollers. But there is a far greater history, beneath the titles of the finished productions presented above—a much deeper, more profound history, with a touch of human appeal if we take a look into the archives of the Stroller dramatic club of the university.

In a manuscript left to the organization by the never-to-be-forgotten member, who had every interest of the club at heart, Leo Sandman, we find an accurate account of the beginning of a dramatic club on the

LECTURE SERIES FOR ENGINEERS

Plan to Have Students Acquainted With Professors

A series of special lectures are to be given this year for the benefit of students of the college of Engineering. The first lecture was given November 19 by Dean F. Paul Anderson and these lectures will continue through to April 15.

Students who do not always come in contact with many of the professors of the campus will have an opportunity to become acquainted with them. These lectures will be given every Wednesday at the fourth hour. Professor D. V. Terrell gave the second lecture of the series December 3.

Heretofore, many of the non-resident lecturers had come to the college of Engineering, a large percentage of them speaking to the senior class in engineering. It is thought that this new plan will prove to be quite successful in bringing about a better understanding between the professors and the students. The schedule which has been arranged is as follows:

- December 17—Prof. C. J. Norwood
- January 4—Prof. C. S. Crouse
- February 14—Prof. E. A. Bureau
- February 18—Prof. T. J. Barr
- March 4—Prof. W. E. Freeman
- March 18—Prof. C. H. Anderson
- April 1—Prof. J. R. Johnson
- April 15—Prof. L. E. Nollau

W. S. G. A. ANNUAL MEETING AT BEREA

Elizabeth Galloway is Chosen as Local President

The annual conference of the Kentucky W. S. G. A. societies was held November 29 at Berea. The schools represented were K. C. W., Science Hill, University of Kentucky, Georgetown, Logan, Russellville, Asbury, Louisville Normal and Berea College. The morning session was devoted to a business meeting and round table discussions. A buffet luncheon was served by the Home Economics department of the College in their new dining room. The afternoon session was devoted to talks. Miss Elizabeth Galloway, of the university, made a talk on "Individual Responsibility," and President Hutchins, of Berea College, spoke on "What President Expects of College Women." At 4 o'clock tea was served at the home of President Hutchins.

The officers elected for next year are: Elizabeth Galloway, president of the conference. Miss Snider, of Georgetown is secretary, and Ruth Woods, of Berea, is treasurer.

RULES OF TRAFFIC TO BE ENFORCED ON U. K. CAMPUS

McVey Urges Cooperation of Students and the Faculty

PUNISH VIOLATORS

Measure is Relief For Congestion of Vehicles

After consideration for many weeks the university council has taken action in an attempt to regulate traffic on the campus for the safety of the students going from one building to another. The action was a result of the increased number of motor vehicles upon the campus and the consequent increase in danger to both faculty and students.

Students who drive cars from neighboring towns and distant parts of the city will be given a permit to drive to school, provided they comply with the regulations. The license numbers and the names of the persons who drive the machines will be recorded and the driver will be held responsible for any violation of the traffic rules.

A traffic officer will be placed upon the campus and will direct the students in finding a place to park their cars and in enforcing the observance of the speed limit of less than fifteen miles an hour. If an accident occurs and the speed limit is not exceeded, the accident will not be excused on that ground. The ruling states that lights must be on all cars driving on the campus after dark and cut-outs will not be allowed at any time. Students will not be allowed to ride on the running board of cars.

If any of the rules are violated, the automobile traffic committee has the privilege of withdrawing parking permits on the campus.

Doctor McVey urges the cooperation of both students and faculty members in observing these regulations in order that the campus may be made a safe place for all. The university will assume no responsibility for any damage done to cars or their contents while parked on the campus.

When copies of the rules are issued, the student body will be given ample time to familiarize themselves with them and to comply with the regulations.

FORMER STUDENT HURT DURING FOOTBALL GAME

Clovis Wallace, 18 years of age, a student of the university last year, is reported to be in a serious condition at Murray, as a result of injuries received in a football game last Saturday. He is suffering from paralysis of organs in the abdominal cavity.

ANNUAL Y. M. C. A. CONFERENCE NOW IN SESSION HERE

150 Delegates From 14 Colleges in Attendance

IS STATE MEETING

Well Known Speakers Address the Convention

One hundred and fifty delegates from fourteen colleges of the state will attend the annual state student conference of the Y. M. C. A. at the University of Kentucky, which begins this afternoon and will continue through Saturday and Sunday. The subject of the conference will be "Christian Standards and Life's Great Issues," and addresses and discussions will be based on this topic. Business sessions will be held in the university "Y" rooms every morning and afternoon beginning Friday afternoon. George Kavanaugh, president of the university association, will make a welcome address to the delegates at the meeting Friday afternoon. At this meeting the delegates will elect a chairman of the conference. Evening services will be held as follows: Friday night at the Maxwell Presbyterian Church, Saturday night at the Calvary Baptist Church, and Sunday night at the First Methodist Church. All students of the university are invited to attend these evening services.

The place of holding the conference rotates among the six major colleges of the state and is held at the university but once every six years. Last year the meeting was held at Georgetown College and J. C. Brown, member of the class of '24 of the university, was chairman of the conference.

An imposing array of well-known speakers have been secured to address the sessions. Among these are Hon. T. B. McGregor, former Attorney General of Kentucky, who will speak on "Law Enforcement, a Fundamental Need;" Dr. Henry Meier of Centre College, whose subject has been announced as "Christ and Life's Great Issues;" Mrs. Stoiber, a representative of A. Nash & Co., the "Golden Rule Firm," of Cincinnati, who will speak on "The Golden Rule in Business;" Prof. George W. Carver, (colored) of Tuskegee Institute, W. A. Stauffer, representative of the Student Volunteer Movement of New York, E. E. Rall, president of Northwestern College of Chicago, J. W. Berghold, of Atlanta, Ga., Southern Student Secretary of Y. M. ### STATE CONTESTS HELD IN MARCH

Debating Contest Will Have More Than 100 Entrants

The department of University Extension has received more than one hundred applications for participation in the state high school debating and oratorical contest to be held here in March.

The subject for the debating contest will be "Resolved: That the United States Should Enter the League of Nations." A debate handbook has been prepared by Professor W. R. Sutherland. It contains the rules of the contest and has been mailed to the high schools in Kentucky.

Definite plans have not been made as to district divisions, but will probably be the same as that used last year. Committees, judges and chairmen will be named later. Professor Charles E. Skinner, of the Lexington Senior High School, has been named chairman of this district.

WILDCATS CLOSE FOOTBALL YEAR WITH VOL GAME

Summary Shows Season Neither Failure Nor Success

NEW SYSTEM SEEN

Kentucky Scores Four Wins; Suffers Four Defeats

Last Thursday marked the close of another football season for the Wildcats.

To say the 1924 season was successful would be untrue and to say that it was a failure would not do the Blue and White justice. The veterans of Coach Murphy played some good and some bad games and the good games took us most of their time, namely the Centre, V. M. I., Washington & Lee and Tennessee contests. Of this quartet, the Wildcats were victors once. They held Centre to a 7 to 0 score, were beaten by V. M. I., 10 to 3, were defeated by the W. & L. Generals 10 to 7 in a thrilling game, and defeated Tennessee 27 to 6. Sewanee fell before the onslaught of the 'Cats, 7 to 0, as did Georgetown and the University of Louisville early in the season.

New Coaching System
Kentucky fans saw a new coach at the head of varsity football when the 1924 season opened—Fred J. Murphy, former star backfield man of Yale—and hope that Kentucky would have an aggregation was entertained by Wildcat supporters. However, an old coach had gone the year before with his system and a new coach had appeared with a different system—a system that was far different from the one which had been in effect the year before and a system which requires more than a year to master.

UNIVERSITY BAND ADDS LUSTRE TO THE TRIUMPHANT FOOTBALL FINISH

Gans And "Famed Forty" Stage Celebration of 27 to 6 Victory in Knoxville on Turkey Day

By Gene Moore
ONCE MORE Kentucky's famed band invaded the valley of the sluggish Tennessee River. Again the narrow confines of Gay street resounded to the soul-stirring strains of "My Old Kentucky Home," as forty-odd khaki-clad youths blared forth the praises of eleven blue-clad gridders who had swamped the Volunteers of Tennessee under an avalanche of markers on Shield Watkins Field in the annual Turkey Day scrap between Tennessee and the lads from the Dark and Bloody Hunting Grounds.

Never did Sousa and his musicians acquit themselves as did Ed Gans and his cohorts on that triumphant march from the field of battle to the Farragut Hotel, where Murphy's charges were dressing after staging one of the greatest come-backs in Wildcat history.

Atlanta thrilled to the shrill piccolo of Ed Anglin and the booming of Bill Foynt's bass drum last fall. Tech heard the ever-sweetest strains of "My Old Kentucky Home" and saw Dell Ramsey and his 'Cats forge up on even terms and knot the contest 3 to 3. Knoxville two years ago, witnessed the spectacle of fifty well-trained youths, led by the strutting Ed, marching triumphant from the field even after the Volunteers had defeated Kentucky 14-7. But none of these can compare to the march-de-triomphe that Abe Kennedy, Gans and the "famed forty" staged in celebration of the 27-6 victory that Kentucky obtained at the expense of Roe Campbell and Co. on Turkey Day.

Then, a couple of hours later, while the 'Cats were dining at the expense of a score of exuberant "hoots" in the Farragut dining room, Abe gathered his boys together on the mezzanine and pulled the athletes through their second conquest of the day, this time over King Turkey and his army of followers. It was a concert in the truest sense of the word, the romantic strains of "La Paloma" intermingling with the martial notes of the "Star Spangled Banner," and "The March of the Mighty," with a delving into the mellow and long-to-be-remembered "Let Me Call You Sweetheart"—an hour's program which impressed those who listened so much that there should have been no ending.

The University of Kentucky has, without doubt, a band far above the average collegiate group. It has won a name for itself repeatedly—wherever it has gone. As an advertising

INDIANA TAKES C. C. RUN; SETS RECORD

Kentucky Finishes Fourth in Thanksgiving Chase

The Wildcat harriers took fourth place in the cross-country meet held under the auspices of the Y. M. H. A. of Louisville on Thanksgiving Day. The University of Indiana won first place, followed by Butler College, the University of Louisville, University of Kentucky, Y. M. C. A. and Y. M. H. A.

Doolittle, of Butler College, and a member of the American Olympic team, finished first. He broke the record held by Ray Hall of the university, by 34 seconds. Wallace, of Indiana, finished second. He was also a member of the Olympic team.

The order in which the Kentucky men finished was: Davidson, Dowden, Dean, Woodard and Boswell. These men ran against some of the best long distance runners in the country and made a good showing under the circumstances.

The team was not as successful as the team of last year, as only one man on the team has had any previous experience in cross-country work, while last year every man was a seasoned veteran before coming out.

Wins Championship in Grade Weather Exhibition

The University of Kentucky was awarded a championship for grade wethers exhibited at the International Live Stock Show at Chicago on Monday, according to a telegram received by Dean Thomas P. Cooper from Prof. E. S. Good, who attended the exhibit.

This is the third year that the Kentucky Experiment Station has won championships at the International sheep exhibit. In the past two years it has won two championships and three reserve championships. Harold Barber has selected the stock for the exhibition for the past two years.

Prizes awarded in the other classes have not as yet been announced and it is hoped that the university will take prizes in the other branches of exhibit.

A KENTUCKY GO-FORWARD MEETING

Mr. Arthur D. Allen, president of the Kentucky Good Roads Association and the Greater Kentucky Committee thereof, called a meeting in the Board of Trade Building, Louisville, Kentucky, Saturday which was attended by representatives of all interests concerned in the $75,000,000 Bond Issue.

In making this call, Mr. Allen said, "There seems to be a wide-spread feeling that the impetus given to the road, education and water and the institutions should not be lost through discouragement over the outcome of the bond election. This feeling has been expressed not only by those who favored the bonds but by those who were opposed."

At present we are unable to give the results of this meeting, but we believe that it will accept the opportunities offered and so weld the various factions now existing in the state that all will present a united front in the fight for better roads and institutions.

We tire of hearing what other states have done; then why should we continue to slumber? One real good has come from the recent campaign and that is the people understand Kentucky's needs as they never have before. Every voter must know the part that it is his duty to play in the game of government and do it. How much longer will the alumni of the University of Kentucky permit their Alma Mater to suffer for the lack of funds to run the institution as it should be? The university, through its public service laboratories and various departments, touches almost every home in the state. Think what seed, fertilizer, food, milk and water tests done by the experiment station mean to our citizens. It is not possible to estimate in dollars and cents the value of the university to the people of this commonwealth. Do you tell the men who represent your district in the legislature that these things? They should know them and you are the one to tell them; for many of them have not had the advantages of a college education that you have and they do not know the value of the university to the state as you do.

It is only a few months until representatives and many of the senators will be up for election, and while men are candidates is the time to get them committed to our program of advancement. Make it your business to see that they know the financial needs of the university and will support it when they go to Frankfort.

WOULD IT HELP NOW?

Below is published an editorial from the Boone County Recorder, of Burlington, Ky. This paper is owned and edited by Mr. Robert E. Berkshire class of 1915, college of Law, University of Kentucky. He is Circuit Court Clerk and Master Commissioner of Boone County. He is an active alumnus and returns annually for one of the football contests, making his visit to the V. M. I. game this year. His editorial shows a Get-Together spirit that all Kentuckians should have.

We may disagree among ourselves but let no outsider profit by our differences. The day is near when our state will move forward if we will only heed such advice as follows:

"In the first place the opinion of the Cincinnati motorists is very much at variance with that of a majority of the motorists of Covington, who seem to think, judging from the way they voted, that the defeat of the bonds was a benefit instead of a 'blow' to them.

"As to the movement on foot with our fellow Kentuckians at Harlan to divert their trade to other centers, we will say that we have something of the same nature to contend with in Boone county, as the prevailing sentiment with our farmers, since the election, is to trade in Cincinnati hereafter instead of Covington.

"We will say in this connection that we wish to discourage this attitude which a majority of our farmers are assuming. We suggest to them that a number of Covington's leading business men supported the bonds, and we do not think it advisable to fall out with our neighboring city as a whole, on account of what we consider the ill-advised and unwarranted action of that portion of her citizenship which opposed the measure.

"As to Harlan's action toward Lexington and Louisville, the same principle prevails, in our opinion, and we would further suggest to the city of Harlan that the city of Lexington itself returned a majority for the bonds, contrary to the impression that seems to prevail in Harlan. And this majority was largely due to the efforts of the Lexington Herald, a paper of the opposite political faith to most mountain people, while the Lexington Leader, which is of the same political faith, opposed the bonds very strenuously. Do the Harlan folks intend to cease their party affiliations on this account? Certainly not, but there would be just as much logic in the political cessation as there is in the termination of business relations.

"It is our judgment that the Recorder is in a position to make these suggestions to our mountain neighbors, since it is the only newspaper in Boone county to support the bonds, and we point with pride to her vote on the issue.

"Boone county stands out like a beacon light in the Sixth district, being the only county in the district to cast a majority vote, and, what is more impressive, that majority was better than two-to-one. This was the largest proportionate vote cast in the state, outside of the mountain districts, and though the vote of the state at large would seem to indicate that our judgment was unsound, nevertheless we are still firm in our convictions, and are convinced that when prejudices are cast aside, that the electorate of Kentucky will then vindicate our judgment."

REAL SPORTING SPIRIT

The Colonels by inviting the Wildcats to be their guests in Danville during the Centre-Georgia game, showed a fine sporting spirit. Captain Curtis Sanders, leader of the 'Cats, was especially honored by being given a seat on the bench with the Colonel team.

Centre College during the past five or six years has had one of the best teams in the country and has shown as high a class of sportsmanship as has ever been seen. The supporters of the Wildcats should boast the Colonels in all of their out-of-state contests and wish for them every possible success. Good teams at Centre means much to the Athletic Council of the University of Kentucky in a financial way. Close contests draw larger crowds and make satisfied spectators who have no particular interest in either team.

We congratulate the Colonels on the fine record they have made this year, and wish them success in the future.

THE SPEAKERS' BUREAU

The student speakers' bureau has been in existence at the university for about two years, during which time the institution has been very ably represented before many of the civic and luncheon clubs of the state by these young men. Some of these men are graduates of the university and are pursuing work in the college of Law; all are well trained in public speaking and are able to furnish an interesting and instructive program whenever given a chance. They are glad to go to any part of Kentucky and if they are a member of a club that desires the services of a real speaker, get in touch with this bureau. At present it is composed of C. M. G. Porter, James S. Darnell, Henry C. Johnson, Hohart H. Grooms and Kenneth H. Tuggle. Tryouts are being held this week and others will be added to this list.

YEA, CENTRE!

Centre college, for the second time in four years, has won the football championship of the South. Upsetting "dope" in the most startling fashion, the eleven-man machine of our neighbor defeated the best teams of the South and outplayed them, man for man. Probably the greatest victory of Centre this year was her defeat of Alabama, who had threatened defeated all comers. The Gold and White, entering the game already conceded to Alabama by many writers, played a wonderful game and took the long end of a 17-0 score. Alabama had only the week before submerged Kentucky in a free for all race to the goal line. Last Saturday Centre clinched the title by brilliantly outplaying the University of Georgia, winning handily. The Kernel, speaking in behalf of the students of the University of Kentucky, heartily congratulates our fellow-Kentuckians in thus attaining honor for themselves and for the state. The sportsmanship displayed by the Colonels is an outstanding feature of the football season, and no little credit is due them, for clean sportsmanship goes far indeed in attaining victory. Aside from the traditional "bitter" rivalry existing between the two institutions, the university is proud indeed to know that the championship comes to Centre and to the state of Kentucky.

JUST A WORD

Consternation, surprise, incredibility and utter amazement are generally registered on the face of the fair young thing when "broken" at a dance. She knows she is going to be broken, has been looking for it all evening and realizes that the more breaks she gets the more popular she appears, and yet, when she is broken she gives one a look of unbelief which the bashful can hardly endure and which the bold construe to be a cordial invitation to relief. But such is the strategy of the co-ed, and we all love her for it.

They call them tea-dances and give you fruit juice; they say, "You are invited to attend," and never know whether you are there or not; as favors they give you little horns and they won't blow; they—oh, what's the use? We love 'em anyhow.

One of our engineers informs us that he had English on the third floor of the Administration building and was dropped from it—its murder, Farquhar, nothing less.

The student body of the university should hang its head and blush in shame. Never have we seen such a poor exhibition of school spirit as that manifested throughout the football season.

When we watched the Tennessee supporters sit in the stands when they knew their team was hopelessly defeated—when we saw them line up behind their band after a bitter defeat had been handed to them, and when we heard them yell even after the last echoes of the timekeeper's whistle had died away—we hung our heads and pictured what would have happened among our own "alleged" supporters under similar conditions.

When the tide began to turn, our supporters would have become restless and when the score was such that our team had no chance to overcome the lead, the crowd would have ceased to yell; when the third quarter arrived and our team was still hopelessly behind, as was Tennessee's on Thanksgiving Day, our supporters would not have stayed in the stands as did Tennessee's, but they would have slunk away like the traitors they were.

The basketball season is upon us, for the sake of the Alma Mater, if not for your own personal pride, of which there seems to be little, students, show your spirit and your love for the university or quit saying that you are a student in the university.

Artificial lightning was first publicly demonstrated on June 5, 1923, in the laboratory of the General Electric Company at Pittsfield, Mass., when a two-million-volt spark crashed into this miniature village.

What's the use of artificial lightning?

Experiments like these are particularly thrilling and important to young men and women, who will live in an age when electricity will perform most of life's hardest tasks. Know what the research laboratories of the General Electric Company are doing; they are a telescope through which you can see the future!

If you are interested to learn more about what electricity is doing, write for Reprint No. AR391 containing a complete set of these advertisements.

It is mainly experimental, aiding General Electric scientists to solve high power transmission problems. Many such experiments yield no immediate return.

But in the long run this work is practical and important. It is part of the study which must go on unceasingly if this powerful force, Electricity, is to be fully tamed and enlisted in your service.

WHY NOT A LITERARY JOURNAL?

The last editorial I wrote for a student publication appeared in a college literary journal. I have often turned the pages of that magazine and read again the first literary effort of students who have since become more or less known to fame—Terhune, whose dog stories never lose charm, Curry, who can write a prize poem as well as a learned dissertation on Chaucer—and others. They may never have discovered their talent, had they not found opportunity to write and publish while college students. Opportunity invites endeavor. One who enjoys writing will write, of course, but the greatest encouragement to the literary artist is the hope that he is writing something for others to read.

Why not a literary journal at the University of Kentucky? It would not infringe upon the field of any of the present publications; should the Kernel wish to print literary articles, it would be compelled to refuse them for lack of space.

There is ample talent among the student body. Instructors are consistently receiving written work that would grace any college magazine—thoughtful essays, charming verses. If they are printed, they must appear elsewhere, as they often do.

If we had a literary journal, we should have the refreshing pleasure of seeing what students are doing and should give encouragement to others.

GREEK LETTER CONFERENCE

The sixteenth annual conference of Greek-letter bodies met for a three-day session last week in New York City. The conference was composed of the national officers of the leading fraternities of the United States. In attendance also were many prominent educators from colleges and universities throughout the country.

The conference is the product of a movement begun in 1908 by James Duane Livingston, designed to foster a more cordial spirit between the various fraternal bodies and to provide a common forum wherein each could discuss the problems that are so typical to secret college organizations. Prior to the inception of the Inter-Fraternity Conference there had been little or no attempt to cooperate for the furtherance of aims and ideals of undergraduate fraternities. But immediately after the movement was launched, a cordial and cooperative spirit among the societies constituting the conference began to manifest itself.

The problems that affect fraternities are intrinsically the problems of higher education as found on every campus. Scholarship, individual and group morality, and all other educational problems are essentially the same in every school.

The organization of the Greek-letter orders into a composite body is in keeping with the trend of the times. In every phase of human endeavor, in business, in politics, in society, and education, a strictly group life is being created. From the cradle to the tomb mankind moves in companionship with his fellows. This gregarious tendency gave birth to fraternities for the development of high attributes that enable life and all its relationships.

It augurs well for the increase of college secret societies as a power for good that they have let their interests converge in a meeting where there can be evolved a program that will, in part, solve critical problems that pertain to the undergraduate and his university.

DO WE NEED AN HONOR SYSTEM?

We are handicapped at the university by poor buildings; our hands are tied because of economic pressure within our very gates; we are in actual need of certain facilities. But with all these deterrent factors, the university is making steady progress. Hardships and privations produced that sturdy race of frontiersmen celebrated in song and story; therefore we need not fear that these factors will touch the adamant foundations of our school.

There is another agency gnawing at the heart of this institution. It is a nameless spirit that displays itself in such remarks as these: "Why should I worry? It's not my business if anybody cheats." "I'll cheat if I can get by. If I can't get by, I'll take my medicine. That's fair enough."

The university is not unique in displaying this spirit. It is as old as the Grecian Sophistry and as new as Yankee commercialism. It is widespread as the four points of the compass. But there is no reason that the University of Kentucky should not be among the minority who have already taken a firm stand against this evil. On the contrary, there is every reason that we should be listed among the colleges who have adopted the honor system.

Pride of race runs high among Kentuckians. The annals of the Commonwealth are filled with the names of wilderness scouts, orators, poets, statesmen. We are proud, and justly proud, of our glorious heritage. But we must hang our heads in everlasting shame if the descendants of these men are incultured with that pernicious idea of "getting by."

We have talked about this affair and have discussed and harangued over it for years. The time is at hand for action. If Kentuckians cannot trust and be trusted, something is vitally wrong. A move cannot come from the officials or from the student body alone. It must come from both. The outlook may not seem bright at times, but there is only one answer to the arguments against it. That was made by that incurable optimist, Robert Louis Stevenson:

"I believe in the ultimate decency of things; aye, and if I woke in Hell should believe it still."

THE PENDULUM SWINGS BACK

For the two months of the football season, that quality known as "pep" has been at low tide in the university. The football team has won amid cheers; it has lost in the midst of silence. It has fought its battles before crowds that started homeward during the middle of the last quarter. It has fought a good fight, it has kept the faith, at least. The student body of a school should be an army of reserves to strengthen the team. Our student body has not been such an army. It has broken the faith.

But the pendulum swings backward—for it can swing no further in the other direction.

The basketball season begins at the university Saturday, December 13. During this season there will be pep—real pep—bushels of it. Win, lose or draw, the Wildcats will get the support of the student body. We do not say that of our own authority; we say it because that is what the shamed faces of the whole bloomin' student body have said to us.

Don't say anything about this, but just before the Wildcats went into the University of Tennessee game at Knoxville on Thanksgiving Day, Coach Murphy started to make them a little talk. We do not know what he said—such things are more or less sacred—but we do know he never finished that talk. He couldn't. Tears filled his eyes and his voice failed. The players went onto the field with tears in their eyes—real, honest tears. And they played the best game they had ever played. The Wildcats defeated Tennessee 27 to 6. And they came off the field proud.

If this student body had someone to talk to them just a little, and to

WILDCATS CLOSE

The results of Coach Murphy's first try at coaching at Kentucky came to light on October 4, when the Wildcats defeated the University of Louisville Cardinals, 29 to 0. In this game "Turkey" Hughes made a thrilling 35 yard run for a touchdown in the first quarter. The team appeared formidable in this game, but as the Cardinals do not rank high, the contest was not rated as a criterion of the strength of the Murphy system.

The annual game with Georgetown College was played on October 11, and again the 'Cats were returned the winners. In this game Kentucky ran up 42 points and were held for downs twice by the Tigers on their one-yard line. Georgetown was reputed to have a passing team, but it failed miserably in this game. Tracy was the outstanding star, tearing off five, ten and twenty yards at will. Kentucky's passing attack worked fairly well.

'Cats Lose to W. & L.
The first acid test of the season for the Wildcats came on October 18 with the Washington & Lee Generals furnishing the opposition. The Murphysmen should have won this game, but they didn't. The final score was 10 to 7. Captain Sanders was the individual star, making more than half of the tackles and playing a sterling offensive game. In the last quarter, a General kick was blocked by Kirwan and King fell on the ball behind the goal line for a touch-down.

Some 6,500 people viewed the contest. The Sewanee Tiger invaded the fair of the Wildcats on the following Saturday and went down to a 7 to 0 defeat. Sewanee tried enough passes for half a dozen games and completed enough to gain 67 yards. Kentucky tried passes but failed. Again Sanders stood out as a player. He played with a broken hand and tackled with his good arm, making seemingly impossible tackles. The Blue and White griders were alert on the defense and would not allow Sewanee to score when they had the oval. The game was Kentucky's first conference win.

Centre Game Well Attended
The Wildcat claved at the Centre Colonel before 15,000 frenzied fans who filled Kentucky's new stadium on November 1, but the Colonel would not budge an inch and Centre College defeated the University of Kentucky 7 to 0 for their eighth consecutive win over the 'Cats. Captain Covington, of the Gold and White, was the bright star of the afternoon's frolic. Playing his last game against the Wildcats, he smote the line hard and skirted ends for long gains. Gordy plucky plunging fullback, carried the ball over Kentucky's goal line in the second quarter for a marker and Lemon kicked goal. This game was probably the best the Felines played during the season, as Centre defeated Alabama 17 to 0 and won the Southern Championship of 1924.

Bama Wins

The Wildcats were swept in the deluge of the Crimson Tide of Alabama November 8, 12 to 7. The only bright spot in the defeat for Kentucky was Hughes' sensational 97-yard run for a touchdown in the third quarter. Rosenfield, 'Bama halfback, was the terror of the Wildcats, making gains almost at will and throwing and receiving passes for long gains. Kentucky had the ball on the Crimson's one-foot line in the first quarter but did not have the necessary impetus to carry it over.

The Flying Cadets of the Virginia Military Institute furnished opposition for Kentucky in the final home game and the V. M. I. team carried off the spoils of victory. The score at the end of the contest was 10 to 3, but the Wildcats stood out as the better team of the two. Breaks decided the game in favor of the Cadets. White, V. M. I. fullback, was the whole show, punting, passing, tackling, dropkicking, and doing anything he was called on to do. He garnered the ten points for his team by a touchdown, a place kick for point after touchdown, and a field goal from placement.

Tennessee Taken Into Camp
Amid cheers of university students, which echoed from the Southern station to Main street, the Wildcats, Coach Murphy and Manager McLean entrained for Knoxville on Tuesday before Thanksgiving. Amid cheers of these same students the Wildcats returned to their own, victors over the Tennessee Volunteers by the score of 27 to 6, in their annual Thanksgiving Day scrap. The game was a triumph for Murphy. The team showed the effects of good coaching and Turner Gregg ran the eleven as a unit. There was no dissent, and only one substitution was made. The spirit of victory prevailed during the four quarters of the game. To say one man starred would be absurd, for each man stood out. The Volunteer line was torn into shreds and the 'Cats turned the tide in the second quarter, after Tennessee had made the score 6 to 6 in the first period. From then on the Felines were truly wild and piled up 21 points in rapid succession. This game marked the close of the regular schedule for Murphy's men and the last regular game for Captain Sanders, Turner Gregg and W. A. Rice.

Win Four, Lose Four

During the season, Kentucky won four contests and lost four, scoring 122 points to 75 for her opponents. Sanders was the outstanding ground gainer, with Hughes, Smith, Tracy and Gregg coming next.

Although the season did not bring the results hoped for, it was not without its bright spots. The fighting spirit of the players, their gameness, under fire, and their willingness to give their best, despite injuries, is to be commended. The material this year was not as plentiful as in former years, but Murphy has made the most of it and developed embryonic stars which he hopes to see blossom next year.

Good Prospects for '25

The 1925 season appears bright. There is an abundance of material in the freshman ranks and the mettle of next year's candidates will be superior to that of the men who answered the first call this year. The season is over. The varsity men coming up next year—eight on the first eleven—will have had a year and a half of the "Murphy system" in their heads and bodies and the Kentucky banner should float victoriously over the Centre stadium in 1925.

This has caused the great change in the appearance of men's hair

YOU cannot go into a classroom, or a club, or a fraternity house, without noticing it—

Somehow, college men have found a way to make the hair, the most conspicuous part of the appearance, look just as they want it to look at all times.

It was not always so. Before Stacomb was introduced, they tried countless methods to make their hair lie smoothly and stay that way—from old-fashioned pomades, which only matted the hair and made it greasy, to plain water, which kept it in place an hour at the most and then left it drier and more brittle than ever. Small wonder that they greeted Stacomb with such instant enthusiasm! Here at last was something that would make the hair stay in place without harming it or making it sticky and unnatural-looking.

Today the great change which Stacomb has brought about is noticed everywhere. Men whose hair used to be out of place an hour after being brushed, men whose otherwise correct appearance used to be spoiled by hair that was hopelessly unkempt—today they keep their hair constantly in perfect order.

Use Stacomb tomorrow morning—and look your best all day. A delicate, invisible cream. Non-staining and non-greasy. In jars and tubes, at all drug and department stores.

4 CATS NAMED FOR MYTHICAL ALL-KENTUCKY TEAM

KIRWAN, HUGHES, RICE AND SANDY HONORED IN PICK

Two Are Chosen For Mythical All-Southern Team

ALL PICK KUBALE

Six Colonels Selected on All-State; 4 for All-Southern

A piercing flurry of snow blew Kentucky's 1924 football season into the annals of the year last Saturday afternoon and the campaign was put down by chroniclers as a colorful and successful one for Kentucky.

Centre, the eleven mighty demons, who hung Starward in 1921, emerged victorious over all football teams of the south and won their second undisputed championship in four years.

As is the custom each year after the football season has ended, sports writers over the United States pick their mythical eleven, nationally and sectionally. The year following this precedent, has selected two teams—one All-State and one All-Southern.

All-Kentucky Kirwan and Lamon—a Wildcat and a Colone—have been worked to death by sports writers of late, but these two men deserve their laurels.

When one mentions "center" one thinks of Kubale. No man in the south could hold down his position any better than he has held it down on Centre's wonder teams for these four years, and his school probably loses her most valuable man when he is graduated.

Picking the backfield is no easy job. But in our opinion Covington gets the job at quarter, Hughes and Thompson at halves and Mr. Sanders at fullback.

Tryouts for the Student Speakers' Bureau will be held in the Little Theatre Tuesday night, December 9, at 7:00 o'clock.

Table with 2 columns: Name, Position. Includes Kirwan, Skidmore, Kubale, Young, Sewanee, Compton, Lamon, Lemmon, Centre, White, W. M. I., Wycoff, Georgia Tech, Sanders, Kentucky.

W. VA. WESLEYAN PLAYS WILDCATS

Gridders Play Conquerors of Syracuse Tomorrow

The football team of the University of Kentucky will face the powerful eleven of West Virginia Wesleyan at Charleston Saturday in a game which will dedicate the new municipal stadium of that city.

The West Virginia aggregation will be the most formidable team which the Wildcats will have faced this year, as they have to their credit a win over the Navy early in the season, and also a victory over Syracuse—one of the best teams of the east this year.

Local followers, knowing the fatal weaknesses that Murphy has had to contend with in developing his team, are content with the showing made this season, although it is their hope that next season will find no games chalked up on the wrong side of the ledger.

All-Southern On our All-Southern eleven we have made no change in the flank positions and but one in the tackle positions.

In the backfield two changes have been made. In our eyes, Covington at quarter, White, of V. M. I., and Wycoff, of Georgia Tech, at halves, and Sanders of Kentucky, at fullback, would make a backfield which could win against the best in the land.

ANNOUNCEMENT Tryouts for the Student Speakers' Bureau will be held in the Little Theatre Tuesday night, December 9, at 7:00 o'clock.

Relating How The Wildcat Did Go To Do Battle With The Volunteers In Knoxville

And it came to pass in the season of the autumn, the Blue and White journeyed to a far country which is called Knoxville, to do battle with the inhabitants of that land who are called "Volunteers," from the gallantry with which they glorify themselves.

For many days before, the high priest of the tribe, who is called "Fred," abode with the army and gave them to eat only of raw meat, so that they might be ferocious in battle, for verily they were Wildcats.

And a certain of the Blue and White, with a surname "Gregg," the same who wrought slaughter and desolation among the tribe of Virginians, ran swiftly to the end for a thirty-five yard gain.

And many fell prostrate And certain of the Tennessee linemen were smitten on the bean and fell prostrate to the turf.

AS SEEN FROM THE PRESS BOX

School spirit is not a thing which can be forced upon a school. It manifests itself spontaneously within the student body in the degree that a student body feels the worth-while qualities of a thing undertaken in which they are interested.

Our football team will be playing West Virginia Wesleyan tomorrow and we must support it while it is playing. Go to see the gridgraph of the game and talk about the Wildcats.

thine hands and carry them from the fray, for they are all in." And Sanders, and Hughes, and Smith, the same who the people do glorify, calling them "Sandy" and "Turkey" and "Frank," ran far into the north and into the south, bringing a great fear into the hearts of the Orange warriors and spreading consternation among the tribe of Tennessee. Let us call upon Campbell.

But as night drew near, the mighty Kentucky warriors did smite the bulwark before them, and did send the Magellans through the air for fifteen and twenty cubit lengths. And the Tennessee warriors were terrified and were stricken low.

But the Tennesseans returned unto their camps, hid their football jerseys and trousers under a bushel and covered themselves with stack cloth and ashes until the next season.

KENTUCKY FROSH ARE CHAMPIONS

Mohney Kicks Points To Win Over Centre

The University of Kentucky Kittens won the freshman football championship of the state Thanksgiving Day when they defeated the Centre Lieutenants 9 to 6 in a game played in the Centre Stadium.

Faurest, Centre safety man, fumbled a punt on his own 23-yard line and Pence, Kentucky center, pounced on the ball. This was the turning point of the game, for Mohney, fresh and ready, in three plays gave Kentucky a first down with slashing off-tackle thrusts.

The first touchdown of the afternoon was scored by Ellis in the second quarter. Van Arsdale missed a try for goal. The Kittens took the ball on Centre's 45-yard line in the last five minutes of play in the first half.

The Lieutenants came back in the third quarter and fought the Kittens off their feet. They took the ball on their own 28-yard line and marched down the field for a touchdown on straight line plays.

Mohney was the star of the contest, as he showed himself to be unstoppable during the few minutes that he played. Edwards started his first game for Kentucky. Ellis, Jenkins and Arnold played excellent football.

U. K. BAND PRAISED 'Cats Run Wild In Latter Part of the Contest

The Orange of the Volunteers of the University of Tennessee faded into black in the presence of Kentucky's Wildcats in their annual Thanksgiving Day clash which was staged at Knoxville this year.

The good ship "Tennessee" went down with colors flying, however, and spectators viewed the best football sportsmanship that was ever shown by two teams. The Blue and White guns were matched to the end, and every man was at his post and doing his duty when the chilling waters crept up on them in the first quarter.

It was a game in which there were no individual stars. The mighty little Roe Campbell, the best bet of the Tennesseans, was knocked out early in the game and the Tennessee tide receded. The entire Kentucky team played almost perfect football, with Hughes and Sanders bearing the brunt of the offensive work.

A 33-yard sneak by Gregg at the beginning of the game took the oval Tennessee's three-yard line, and Hughes was the star of the game. Tennessee tied the score early in the second quarter, but Sanders untied it late in the period and made it 13 to 6.

KY. REPRESENTED AT CONFERENCE

Four University Heads Attend Meet at Memphis

President Frank L. McVey, Dean P. P. Boyd, Professor M. E. Ligon, and Mr. Ezra L. Gillis have been attending the Association of Colleges and Southern Schools, held at the Chiles hotel in Memphis, Tennessee, December 2 to 5.

Each southern state had a representative at the Association who gave a report of its schools. Following the presentation of these reports, roundtable discussions were held. The requirements for membership in the Association are very rigid. At least 75 percent of the teachers in the school making application must hold college degrees.

Professor Ligon, chairman of the accredited committee of secondary schools in Kentucky, gave the report for this state, which included sixty-four Kentucky schools.

Professor Crooks, of Centre college,

Walter D. Skidmore, of Harlan, tackle on the Centre College eleven for the past two years, was elected captain of the 1925 football team at the annual banquet of the Danville Chamber of Commerce, given in honor of Centre's Southern Championship team, last Monday night.

Skidmore is a member of the junior class of Centre, and is a member of the Phi Kappa Tau fraternity. His playing has won for him much praise from sports writers of the South.

Before going to Centre, Skidmore attended prep school at Holderness Academy, at Plymouth, N. H. Skid was elected to succeed Herbert Covington, of Mayfield, retiring grid captain.

ENGINEERS FORM "PUZZLE CLASS"

Dean Anderson Staunch Believer in Cross-Words

Cross-word puzzle solving, the latest fad of the American public, has made its debut on the university campus as one of the courses of study required of all senior engineering students. The university claims the distinction of being the first and only college in the country to have such a class as a part of the regular curriculum. Simon and Schuster, publishers of the cross-word puzzle book used in the class, are taking a great deal of interest in the experiment and have had extensive correspondence with the Engineering college relative thereto.

The class is held every Wednesday at the fourth hour and all seniors of the college are required to attend. The students solve the puzzles in their leisure time and the period is devoted mainly to a discussion of certain peculiarities in the puzzles and of the appropriateness of particular words used, and in a consideration of new words discovered in working the brain stimulators. All of the students are taking an unusual interest in this class and they vie with one another in solving the most puzzles.

F. Paul Anderson, dean of the Engineering college, is a staunch believer in the worth of cross-word puzzles for the technical student. According to Dean Anderson, the solving of these puzzles benefits the student by increasing his vocabulary, aiding in spelling, furnishing intellectual stimulus and worth-while amusement, and by broadening his outlook, so that he may appreciate the value of liberal as well as technical studies.

K. A. TITANS BEAT PHI DELT ELEVEN

Huge Crowd of Thirty-Odd Maniacs on Sidelines

By Gordon Davis

Before a shivering crowd which ran well up into the thirties in number, the strong grid team of the Kappa Alpha fraternity vanquished the fighting and heroic athletes representing the Phi Delta Theta lodge on the snow-covered field in the massive new stadium at the University of Kentucky Monday afternoon.

Playing with all the vigor and power at their command, the two powerful teams battled as only teams of their caliber could battle. Spurred on by the fact that the Championship of the north south, east and west, team championship of the world was at stake, the husky gridiron heroes of many a hard fought game, played as never before.

Not until late in the second quarter did either team draw blood, and then this proved to be the only points of the trying afternoon's social tete. After brilliant off-tackle smashes and sweeping end runs by the flashy Dewhurst of the Blue and White had taken the mail to the 2-yard marker, the Covington-like Dew slipped around left end for a touchdown and victory. The try for point was blocked by an alert Phi Delt nose.

The game was thrilling beyond description and fully ten people remained in the stands when the final whistle sounded. The line plunging of the Dewhurst and his ability to skirt the ends will probably gain for him All-American team consideration. The playing of Cecil French, Phi Delt sub-lineman in the last few minutes was heroic. Twice he spat upon the field and said, "Teck!" Bill Minter, flashy Phi Delt end was on the sidelines from over-exertion, forced by changing shoes in the locker room.

HISTORY CLUB HAS MONTHLY MEETING

Hold Discussion on "Noble Women of History"

The History Club of the university held its regular monthly meeting in Room 203 of the Administration building at 8:45 o'clock Monday afternoon.

The subject for the meeting was "Noble Women of History, and papers read were "Catherine de Medici," by Martha Wheeler, and "Maria Teresa," by Clarice Day. J. C. Arnold read a paper on "The Results of the Recent Presidential Campaign," dealing mainly with the outlook for the coming four years, as connected with the recent election.

The History Club is an organization composed of History majors and minors, sponsored by Dr. Edward Tushill, head of the department of History of the university. This club meets on the first Monday of each month. Its officers are Roscoe Cross, president; M. R. Sullivan, vice president; and Margaret Lyle, secretary and treasurer.
