My dear W. Spielmann

You have been much upon my conscience
for the last few weeks, but it was almost impossible for me to keep up with my ordinary correspondence, the Keats Memorial involved so much that was extra.

You are my kind, as ever, to want

WESTBOURNE SQUARE, W.
29, DELAWARE TERRACE,

me to write for you next year. I should like to do so. But I believe I am quite filled up with engagements until next February.
What do you propose
to pay, per 1000 words?
I am obliged to ask
this vulgar question.

We shall be here for 10 days more,

so perhaps I may have another note from you.

Ever faithfully
Yours

Edmund Gosse
