My dear Sir

It was your own gentlemanly interest to go to Cambridge (I think) that has not served for many years in October, if it shall prove possible - But it may be necessary for me to take my wife to the Continent in October as she has been & is very ill, & I shall not have any chance of taking her should tell her & if possible his mother all my plans for a summer very uncertain

I hardly think of taking it I can visit Cambridge this autumn. It will be for a briefest pleasure to make your acquaintance as I have long been an admirer of your writing.

Believe me very dear Sir with kindest regards Yours truly

Richard H. Stoddard
