Dear Bob

I am up early for a chance at the salmon, but I fear the morning is not propitious as it is foggy. I hope however by the time I have walked my four miles to Marie's, the sun will have come out. Marie is the most expert fisher with the fly in these parts, and yesterday I encountered him with a 9-pound salmon hanging from his gaff as he walked. He often gets larger ones and I am going to keep under his wing if it takes all the summer and the summer's salary.

I was to have been called at six but this early-morning hostelry isn't quite reliable. But I was waked by three simultaneous noises

1 Nature represented by the cows calling to be milked

2 Religion by the angels in the "far village" of Malbais.

3 Commerce by the whistle of the construction engine of the railway that is passing & spoiling this old town.

Last night there was a Pierrot-Pierrette party here given by Mr.
Toussard of N.Y. for his son on his birthday. This is the fourteenth Consecutive year. There were about 80 boys and girls and with the flag decorations & the favors and the great variety of costumes including many colors it was the prettiest party I have ever seen. The dancing & romping were ~~was~~ of the merriest. Among those present was a son of the Henry D. Sedgwick whom we know ~~with~~ than we are to dine.

You should see the deference everybody pays to Mme. Chamard the genia loci if I may coin a
