

Dear Sir, I may seem not a little inappetent of a treat by neglecting this night's opportunity of hearing Mr. Fuseli. But the truth is, I am invited to meet John Theobald of democratic fame, which may be my only opportunity of seeing the illustrious ex-demagogue; and for Mr. F. I have, by your indulgence, 3 nights more to come. I hope you will not have come out of your way to join me & that this Letter may be useless: but if you read it, I hope you will admit of its plea.
"Song" (and I suppose Painting too) Milton says "charms the sense, Elog-uence the soul". And John is eloquent. Yours
Monday - (turn over) ~~Chamb~~ in case you should come, which you left in great doubt, or else I should not have taken the liberty of altering my engagements, I hope you will make use of my old woman to get you tea; I have given orders to that effect—9739

Mr. Dawe
