

5 Dec 1717
Lord Ellenborough states that he is satisfied with the correctness of the Almanack for 1717 in respect to the time for Easter

James's Square
My dear Lord Dec 5. 1717.
I have ^{again} referred to the Table, in the Star 2182, & have had a letter from the Attorney General containing calculations founded on those Tables, & now think that the paschal full moon is on Saturday the 21 March the day before Sunday the 22 March, as designated by the dominical letter D., & therefore that the 22^d March is the proper Easter day for the year 1718. I remain, my dear Lord, most faithfully Yrs. Ellenborough
