

I think God Norton
was most happy in the manner of his death: not many men are permitted to quit this life so quietly, + I am glad that he was spared
from a long + weary
illness, and instead of that was at work
right up to the end.

I remain
Yrs sincerely
J. Martin Lowry.

March 13, 1921.

My dear Basire.

I hope to attend
the Memorial Service at the Temple Church as a representative of the Kingswood Old Boys Union (of which I am President during the year now current), +

with Sir Wm Pope as a representative of Cambridge University.

I think you know
that Lord Moulton
was a friend at Cambridge of my father, who died at Aldershot exactly a fortnight before; two other members of the group still survive, James Neal of Cambridge (who has just been helping me in buying a house in Cambridge) + Carpenter of Bishop's Iginton, whose daughter married Walford Green. During my last visit to Aldershot I annexed a volume

of University Sermons, preached by Dr Bonney
in '68, which Lord Moulton gave to my father, with the inscription E. L. from J. F. M.
