Inquiring great deliberation

I am convinced however, that none of us make as much of our land from the ordinary crops - as some well considered introductions of a more novel nature - similar to ~~the~~ the ~~potatoes~~ potatoes might produce. - In Bedfordshire onions alone have produced 1000 lbs an acre. -

I trust you have not suffered much from the severe winter.

I am better for it I think despite a very bad influenza from which I am slowly recovering

Dear Mrs. Knibworth.

Do you know any thing in Norfolk of a family named "Huntingden" - or of any families near Hylton named "Young" - Poor women in a bad way & I think it likely I may have that from to be - if so I should look out for a sketch beneath from a distant country.
