

the audience would know how Talma was - they said a little better He is almost in raptures I believe - How fortunate that I saw him when I did The theater is quite smart & clean & I think you will not be displeas'd - at the end of the play (printed copy we had) is the list of names de bourgeoisie the Philosopher Sen, Darnis de - so after it was finished we showed it to the D. & said that different office. V.C. had to perform. He laughed quite heartily - Coming in to have a fit of gout (or did) that he may stay long in Paris till quite the end of the month. He gave us both French bottles from your humble servant Darnis - and as the French papers say, he is inclined to listen than to speak. It is quite pleasant the King for us, he is done with him - All the worst things have been searched for pictures

1/2 Duke Reichardt (young Napoleon) who is a great favourite. I have written the Duke of Austria - Berghaupten you see in shape - but point that little figure in ivory or bronze - to the little of Comman meets at 2 we go to bed 3, I send in the Plaster or some sight - I am only look out for a little present. I think I shall get a very nice card case & one that you will admire. I shall order one for the British Consul at Orléans esp. and I will write him & shall get a similar one for M. de - I am only look out for M. de's ribbon - and a memento of affection for Dom Papa - I shall do my best - But the memento must desire to produce to you in myself and to heart warming at the idea that we shall actually be W. de's at present I think be To read that you all were well or that dear Papa & were so and to read even in M. de's own hand "I am quite well & with an appetite like a farmer's" did indeed gratify and rejoice my heart - but to receive your very kind letters in order - and first the 2^d of October - the anecdote about little Jane did indeed please as evincing that her sense equalled her sweetness - and her affection for me gratified me not a little - that you & M. de's do to well must be a great comfort - On the 5th of October - the news of the marriage of M^{rs} de & M^{rs} de did indeed interest me & surprise me that you go to Shawton at the half quarter down I am glad of - as the business it is done as it is to be done I am sure the better - the wisdom therefore of the plan of her being with you till very near the return and the absence of Aunt H. from being too fully appreciate - I am sorry that M^{rs} de's spirit has been so depressed as you say & from such a cause - I acknowledge the secret you mention appears to me a great job - I think it would have been a great thing particularly as things now are - but I hope the Birmingham Company will substantially work the matter up till they something offers that will be accepted I don't but but that I shall think dear little Jane greatly improved - tell her I see nothing up for her and that I actually passed thro' a place famous for making them shall recollect the little wish; try to fit his finger. The epitaph "mountainous" is certainly a singular one; - Suppose it means high & low - a letter from you would be useful to improve them - as they - I felt flattish went to the office & found your next kind & excellent letter my dear Parent & Brother - And first let me thank my beloved father for his most affectionate & wise letter - Spa did interest me - and I am glad you have rarely if ever seen a place so good to me natural attractions & one that I should sooner recommend to you if on our (England's) side of the water - your kindness about the Episcopate greatly relieves me - as I see you kindly feel how I am situated - from what we did today I hope I think we shall finish on Monday or Tuesday at furthest - I then home - but the firm which as you just observe cannot be out of the and consequently it will be impossible for us to be in Spain on that day, & my much intended I should I did wish to be there & I know you will believe me when I say I did - I think the cause of my absence will sound well, personally - your letter & it kindness made me happy - and "belly heart shall be & is warmed with the thought that my father loves me fondly" - My dear brother's statement as to his health did indeed charm me - I deeply regret that this is about the B.S. - what it means, when it is read - I own I cannot opine - My worth friend Brooks' bank was & is quite well & we are broken - And how my worthy brother Jacob - thanks for visit to Laon as by Ghent - Atto' share the Rhine (in this journey) a character distinct from my former one, yet found some resemblance in my recollection of my place & the surprises are your interest & communications about alterations on the premises - the most just & highly desirable & important step that has been taken as to pay the work of carrying the channel had all so interested me in them several ways & degrees - but allow for tonight I shall hope to finish in the morning

I am very glad that you saw Mr. Weston's statue not only as they probably interested you - but as a proof of his attachment to you - yesterday I walked before breakfast to the place where 15 they are now making preparations to erect in the middle of that square on the very spot where Louis 16 suffered a statue to the memory of that monarch - Had benevolence the square is to bear his name - The Corp d'art you will recollect is my fine the Thulerin; & the Ave d' Etoile - the Palais Legislatif & Mama's old friend the garde Meuble; they said some it is before breakfast to the Lord Officer - then to the Louvre & where we spent 2 or 3 hours - but my feet were the same as 5 years ago. The building is a greater wonder than any of its content - splendid and beautiful as they are - You will not imagine I dare to hope that I forget those in whose company I visited it before but you will also easily imagine also that the sight of a visit there & of the day did not tend to diminish the power of recollection - The other side of the Louvre is hardly a possible station - We then proceeded to the top finished a witness and returned - Now I saw of the day that had to pass the great comic act of France was to perform at the Theatre Francaise in the evening - After at which, Louis were going to see the play - I thought I might thence we went & into the pit; the custom that prevailed in 1824 with respect of not allowing any foreigners to be there - The House was very full. soon after the play the Philosophes saw savors by a lot of claims had begun to move round I saw in a box close to us the House the Vice Chancellor told B. L. & at a pause which we were quite close & nearest bowed to him as I did - which he very politely returned - afterwards a good deal of chat passed between the first & 2 pieces - He said he was very indifferent that he had been to Italy & had overtaken himself - but was better - He spoke of Paris that he suffered all times & almost overwhelming - He did not fail to tell us that he was in France rather & and box - (he was not there) - The box for the day I have forgotten to tell you my opinion of her is certainly a very clear act - she is 56 I am told - Before the play began
