My dear Ernest:

Thank you for your note about the books. Isn't it funny how I've blossomed out as an author of a best seller. I never would have believed it; probably my own friends less so. But there's no telling - they write me that "A man from Maine" is going off better than did the "Americanization"!

Of course Mr Curtis & I will inscribe your copy. <sup>Send</sup> it along to Merion - Better send it soon for Mr Curtis is sailing soon!

I have heard a lot, too, about the baseball incident in the book - funny how folks will lift out a paragraph of that sort & remember it - Well, it's a strange world, but a damned interesting one! I want to stay in it a bit; that's why I'm here for a day or two bathing, no, not in the water but in the sun!

Good luck to you & believe me as always

Sincerely yours

E. W. B.
