

My dear Sir

In case we should not find you & Mr Smith at the Inn, I shall leave this note there, once more to apologize for the oversight which I committed yesterday in haste: & to repeat our request that you & Mr Smith will do us the favour of coming to us this evening. We drink tea at seven after six as you may please to come, — & you shall find some of that same mountain-deo which is worthy to set before Poursat himself, if he were alive.

Yrs very truly

Robert Southey.
