Kewick. 11 May. 1890

Dear Sir

It would be very convenient to me at this time to receive payment both for the article in the Foreign Review, & the poem in the Magazine.

That Magazine & the subsequent one, have not been forwarded to me.

The Editor ought not to have made use of my name, without my knowledge, or consent. I might probably not have objected to it, had my consent been asked: - but I did not affix it in the manuscript, & so consequently was a little surprised at seeing it in Mr. Frazer's advertisement.

Believe me Dear Sir

Yrs very truly

Robert Southey
