147 notes on the debate
whether ^{an uneducated} people shall not as a ^{not} mass should have the right to vote whether he is educated or not because the declaration of independence says
words to that effect.
they have to pay taxes
and abide by the laws
just the same as the educated man.

it would be but one
step to a monarchy.
we owe our freedom
to uneducated people.
and educated people have to abide by the laws
just the same as educated people.

if every body were

142

educates why they would be nothing to be learned by an education many people cannot go to school who have to work boys who did not go to school school did not realize that any bill like this would ever come and did not try to get an education the united states has always stood as a good example for other countries should she bar sake her reputation and not allow hurt her but
at her

that would not be just to all and the law

Prerogatives to have
 that would but one
 step to place the power of legislation
 in the hands of a few
 our jails are mainly filled with uneducated
 men they are punished
 for breaking the law should he not have a hand in making the law
