Dear Miss White,

We have not been able to lay our hands on the manuscripts of Richard Carvel or The Crisis. They may be in some old boxes or in places. We have only been able to find some manuscripts of The Crossing & A Far Country.

We are going away from the winter in a few days,
and we shall have another look in the spring.

If we find the same script, I will let you know, and in that case
if you elect still
to wish the manuscript
you can let me know.

I am sorry not to have been able to find them for you.

I must have written you this, and perhaps, but I have been very much occupied, and we thought the names Oxyria might turn up
some day
Pomsk's Church.
