

January the first 1834.

I have it not in my power, nor is it within my Means, to offer any thing fit to be called New Years' Gift; but ~~that~~ that Sarah Noe will accept the enclosed trifle, as an acknowledgement of her ^{late} dutiful and affectionate attentions to ~~her~~ ^{Mr Gillman during his illness;} ~~the~~ ^{and no less to} her dear Mistress, the best of Good Women, Mrs Gillman - from her Friend & House-mate J. T. Coleridge.
