Psychology 12. Guidance. The course introduces the problems of guidance as they have been developed nationally centering attention on the child and youth who are constantly face to face with the adjustments to home, school, occupations, and life. It relates the problems of individual differences to these practical situations and offers suggestions as to methods of guidance which do not require extended technical knowledge. Open to students who have had a beginning course in psychology. Three credits.

Sociology 114a,b. Independent Work in Sociology. One credit each semester.

College of Agriculture

Agronomy 114. Specific Crops. Three credits. Offered in summer school. This course is not to replace Agronomy 114a,b, but its approval will make it possible to give a three-credit course in Specific Crops instead of either two or four credits.

Professors H. H. Downing and Dana Card were elected Senate representatives on the University Council, to succeed Professors J. W. Martin and Amry Vandenbosch, whose terms had expired.

President McVey announced that he had sent a letter to the local chapter of the American Association of University Professors, requesting that the individual members write him any questions they might wish to ask concerning University policies.
