

Paul Goebbel's highly organized Nazi propaganda machine last week turned over its customary campaign against the allies to a direct attack against America.

William C. Bullitt, our ambassador to France was quoted as saying, "We certainly won't participate in the '45, at the beginning, but in the end we will."

Secretary of State Cordell Hull, affirmed the accusation of the Polish ambassador, Jan Smolcinski, that the German government had removed from the capital before it fell.

One observer wondered why the Nazi didn't reveal the discovery of the papers when they captured Warsaw back in September. It is believed, however, that Goebbel's true statements, if they were true, until the time was ripe for an attack on the United States.

When the Nazi's trouble came to a head, it was not seen, for the probable destroyer of the Sumner Welles was not published, leaving the German propaganda machine to itself.

INQUEST SHOWS SMITHER DIED DUE TO ACCIDENT

Funeral To Be Held Today For Student Killed By Auto

A coroner's jury returned a verdict of "unavoidable accident" late yesterday in the case of Kelly Smither, 19 Frankfort, freshman in the commerce college, who was struck and killed by an automobile early Friday morning.

Funeral services for Smither, a pledge of Kappa Alpha social fraternity, will be held at 2 p. m. today at the Rogers funeral home in Frankfort.

Smither, who was an aviation enthusiast, served aviation operation and son of the Franklin County Circuit Court clerk, was killed about 2 p. m. on U. S. highway 7 miles from Versailles and Frankfort.

Both Smithers and Rosentzweig attended the Junior Prom on Saturday night and were returning to their homes at Frankfort in different taxis. As the taxi in which Smither was riding with Billy Howard, commerce sophomore, and Frank Wood, sophomore, was approaching the intersection of U. S. highway 7 and Versailles, Wood was driving.

WILSON OFFERS PRIZES FOR GOOD BOOKS

Best Library To Win $30; Contest Ends May 1

Registration for the annual student library contest, conducted each year by Judge Samuel M. Wilson of Lexington, will be open from this date to May 1. Prizes totaling $300 for first and $30 for second, will be awarded winners in the competition to amass the best group of books on some particular subject.

The prizes will be granted on the basis of individual choice of books and their relation to the particular subject, rather than the number or piece of the volumes. Books must be the personal property of the contestant. Only juniors and seniors may enter.

The following regulations govern the award of the prizes: 1. Contestants must have attended the University for at least 90 days. The semester prior to graduation will be counted as a part of the two years.

Get The Facts... Think Them Through

Forty-nine percent of the University's students oppose compulsory ROTC training...

Name-calling and soul-searching are not the solution to a problem which demands sound reasoning backed by factual evidence...

A brief summary of the 71-page report gives an idea of its scope and nature:

- (1) No federal legislation requires ROTC enrollment. (2) The University of California would suffer no financial loss...

Basic ROTC students are not potential Reserve Officers and would not be commissioned in wartime.

These contentions are developed with quotations from War Department officials and educational authorities and other indisputable evidence.

Advocates of voluntary ROTC will have to work along the lines of the California peace committee and forget the senseless sound and fury...

Students, The World, Johnston, and Manners

Elsewhere on today's editorial page is printed a summary of an article by a Mr. Meredith A. Johnston. Mr. Johnston expends himself to tell us what's wrong with us in the way of manners...

It is quite evident that Mr. Johnston has been out of school for some time. Although, in our more idealistic moments (becoming less frequent daily), we are prone to agree with the theory that good manners are desirable...

Mr. Johnston erroneously speaks of the ego-inflated snob. Perhaps there is not a group in the world that today is as completely disillusioned and coldly practical as the college seniors...

It sounds like propaganda, we admit, but they are saying of the University rifle team that in recent practice, the shooting had been going on for some time and the targets were still undamaged...

vague stirring within our biceps as we knock out the cad and with true Southern courtesy beg pardon for using such violence and that "damn" in the presence of a lady.

But, Mr. Johnston, in the spotlight of day, that lady's stained cigarette finger curts the past. Mr. Johnston, we are finding it increasingly difficult to tip our hats to the lady as she takes our job. And you can't blame her either.

We know, too, from recent experience, that culture doesn't greatly dent the armor of an employer who barely looks up from his desk with a "Well?!" (There are too many of these, Mr. Johnston). And, of course, most of our instructors do not tolerate rudeness in the classroom.

When we consider these facts, is it surprising that some of us advance with rather unbiased logic reasons for boosing at sporting events? It is not one of our few means for expression of an individualistic spirit which you and your fellows have praised so often as being truly American!

Now, we know, Mr. Johnston, that you will consider these as "trumped up" excuses that you will say the business world values good manners, and that society depends for its existence upon certain civilities and well-established standards of conduct. We agree with you, too, that boosing is bad, and that good manners are desirable.

Behind The Eckdahl

John Samara, guest columnist

Jeff could never quite understand afterwards how he'd done it. The clock said there were just a few minutes to go, when Charlie turned to him and whispered, "We're rootin' for you, Jeff, here you go, boy."

Chatter Bits

Wasn't Eckdahl. Wasn't Cullum. Wasn't Sarcastic.

Nobody danced with anybody... somebody danced with everybody... couldn't find anybody... ran into everybody... bodies... bodies... legs... bodies... shoot the body to me John boy.

SIMILE OF THE WEEK

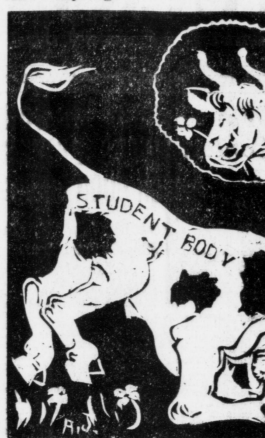

I sit me down in class to sleep. I pray my chums my notes to keep. And if I'm called before I wake.

According to official reports (which all start off that way, don't they?) the British War Office blushing admitted recently, that one army command was so tangled in official verbiage that it issued an order regarding colored pass cards reading: "Members of the Women's Auxiliary Service will show their pink forms when ever called upon to do so."

Incidentally I am studying architecture.

In justice to Eckdahl and guest columnist Samara, the paragraph of the column, but was contributed—Ed.

Ah... Spring!

Regarding These Boos

In a University Features syndicated article, printed in a large number of county papers throughout Kentucky, Meredith A. Johnston has been panned by the University and other schools of higher learning for boosing at basketball games and other forms of marked "rudeness."

Writer Defends Negro Attendance Statistic

It is felt that I should have an opportunity to defend a statement that I thought Negroes should be allowed to attend the University...

The Fraternity Whose Formal Wasn't There

This letter is written neither with the thought of complaining nor of offering constructive criticism, but merely to call the attention of the campus to an incident that involves the office of the Dean of Men.

ternity brothers in a chop house was indistinct tuckered last week, and she is being squirmed around now by his brother ATO, Charlie Smith. Betty'll still tell the world that she's going to take Bugie's pin if he'll get to work and make a starting job as he can have one at Miami U.

COLD STORAGE DEPT.: Today we have on ice the pins of silver and Frank Phillips, placed there by Mary Ann Herli, Tri Dell, and Dinmore Davis, Chio, respectively.

Harry Denham has asked a claim on John Elliot one of "their majesties." He's calling her "my girl" these days. Are you sure of your ground, Harry?

Ask "Dutty" Nickerson, Chio, what he thinks of the "ODK" Club is. Here's a hint if he won't tell you—the "K" stands for "Kiss!"

Came the sixth no-break at the Engineer's ball, Gerald Schaffer did up to a fraternity brother and murmured "Come on, big boy," said neatly into his arm and danced the number with him to some one else's plea. That's one way of filling out the blanks when you get to a dance late!

Johnny Meredith has his own idea about the correct invitation for the Delta dinner dance come up Saturday night. He wrote one for the Delta and had it delivered by a Western Union boy. Ruth had to give up the idea of the insanity because a boy from Duke will be here for the weekend.

Ted Mox, Kappa Sig, had a Mary Jane from Randolph Macon over at the house for dinner one night. To the surprise of his brother, he introduced her all around as "Miss Wait." One of his broom brothers took her to the "T" and "F" of that name was there to watch the boy no-breaks with "Ted's Tragedy."

Betty Gregory lost her sorority pin and asked a certain professor to ask his class if they had seen Kappa key. The obliging prof, trying to be nice, told her that "What kind of a key is that—a door key?" Why professor! the Kappas will town at you!

Reader Offers Suggestions On Parking

To the Editor: We have a lot of complaints to make about the campus parking situation but we are going to make some suggestions instead.

- 1. For the 25 cents fee, why not let a student be permitted to park anywhere on the campus after 6:00. 2. For the morning hours, let students have their choice between reserving special space or taking a chance on getting one where he wants it.

SONS YOU ELECT AND WHOM YOU DON'T EXPECT TO DO ANYTHING AFTER ELECTION

Maybe this is pretty raw for you to digest, but it is the truth and you cannot deny it. This is why I say (and I am sure quite a number of persons will back me up) that every one who is concerned with the welfare of the University and the University's less fortunate students must put up your petti- cliques and will get down to some real, conscientious GOVERNMENT.
