

A model of the 11-unit student housing complex proposed for UK is shown here. Three 16-story dormitories form the center of the complex with eight additional dormitories, three stories each surrounding it. The eight three-story dorms are connected by porticoes, presenting the appearance of one continuous building. Edward Durrell Stone is the architect for the complex.

Proposed Dorm Complex Will Cost $12,000,000

A combination of three 16-story skyscrapers and eight three-story housing units are proposed for the University in the near future.

The dormitory complex will cost an approximate $12,000,000 and will house about 2,500 students, both men and women.

University officials said a preliminary estimate of cost cannot be made until plans become final. This, in turn, must await a further study of possible financing arrangements.

Scale models of the complex were unveiled last week. They are the result of collaboration between a University planner, Detroit consultant and Edward Durrell Stone, a New York architect.

The model and the perspective drawings were shipped to President Frank G. Dickey from Stone's New York Office. They are being discussed in detail with members of the faculty and administration, before the designs are finally fixed.

The U-shaped complex and units are to be built on an 18-acre site at the southeast edge of the campus, between Cooper town and the extension of Cooper Drive. This location is about 3,600 feet from the Student Union Building and is considered the center point for future dormitories.

Tentative schedules call for the first group to be under construction by the spring of 1964. The availability of financing will probably require construction in three stages.

A minimum of $3,500,000 has been approved by the Board of Trustees for the current fiscal year.

Once Stone was chosen for the job, a collaboration began. At the heart of the planning is Lawrence Coleman, the University planner, who is now developing the long-range development plan for the campus, which is to be completed by June 1.

Coleman brought in Gerald Crane and Norbert Gerwal, to architect-planners from Detroit as consultants to the University.

The three, with the administration, worked out a program of requirements as a guide to Stone.

President Dickey said the Stone model is "a very exciting piece of work. We are well pleased. The architecture is very good; functionally it is very satisfactory, and we are happy with the working arrangement which made it possible."

Stone's plans call for the three skyscraper structures to house 420 students each. The eight three-story buildings would house approximately 154 students each.

All of the dormitories would have brick exteriors supported by columns of reinforced concrete.

The complex would be served by a central cafeteria seating 1,300 persons.

Each room of the complex is designed for two students. Most of the furniture, including bookshelves, dressers and desks, would be built in.

The new dormitories will have several new features other than height. The three-story buildings will have no traditional student bunnies.

Instead, the corridors will widen out in places to a width of 23 feet. Thus the lounge areas will be somewhat apart from, but still close to the stream of student traffic.

All student rooms will be double rooms; each individually heated and air-conditioned.

All rooms and halls will be carpeted.

Most of the University officials directly concerned with the dormitory structure will have gone over the plans before Stone's next visit to Lexington, expected in the near future.

Stone was recently termed by Time Magazine as the man "most likely to disrupt the peace of the late Frank Lloyd Wright in American architecture."

Stone has designed many buildings, some of which are the Museum of Modern Art in New York, the American Pavilion at the Brussels World's Fair, and the United States Embassy building in New Delhi, India.

Hawpe, Jones Win Editorial Awards

Two Kernel staffers have won fellowship awards for editorial writing in the William Randolph Hearst Journalism Awards Program.

David V. Hawpe and Peter M. Jones were notified Friday that they had placed third and tied for fourth respectively in the contest. Hawpe's award was for $400; Jones' for $200.

Hawpe, a sophomore journalism major from Louisville, doubles as an associate daily editor and editorial writer. Jones, a senior from Morris Plains, N.J., is a daily editor as well as a member of the editorial staff.

Hawpe's winning entry, which appeared in the Jan. 18 issue of the Kernel, was entitled "A Question Unanswered" and dealt with the necessity of the University Board of Trustees to clarify their stand on the controversial Marlatt-Morin handbill case.

"UK and Integrated Athletics: A Proposal," was the title of Jones' editorial. It suggested UK begin to recruit Negro athletes or leave the Southeastern Conference.

The two editorial grants were the third and fourth Hearst awards received by Kernel staff members during the 1962-63 school year.

Ben Fitzpatrick, Kernel sports editor placed second in the sportswriting competition and Richard Wilson, managing editor, was a seventh place winner in the general newswriting sequence.

SC Nominates Pitts, Burchett For President

By BEV PEDIGO, Kernel Assistant Managing Editor

The slate of Student Congress officers was nominated last week at a meeting with less than 50 members present. Running for president in the April 30 election will be James Pitts and Keith Burchett.

The constitution states that a quorum, which is 55 members in this year's assembly, must be present in order to nominate officers. However, Raleigh Lane, president, said that nominations could still proceed without that exact number unless someone demands an official count. As a quorum was not challenged, it was possible to have the nominations without legal difficulties.

With no exceptions, only two people were put up for each office. Burchett, who was nominated by Luis Camargo, is a sophomore in the College of Arts and Sciences from Olive Hill. He has been a member of the congress this past year and is the president of the Interfaith Council. He is also a member of the Christian Student Fellowship.

Pitts, the other candidate for the office, was nominated by Gene Sayre. He is a junior physics major from Louisville and a member of the congress. He has served as president of Keys and Lances, and is a new initiate of Lamp and Cross.

Pitts is also participating in the University honors program.

Running for vice president are Dave W. Clarke, a sophomore commerce major from Maysville, and Ted Gum, a junior in engineering from Lexington.

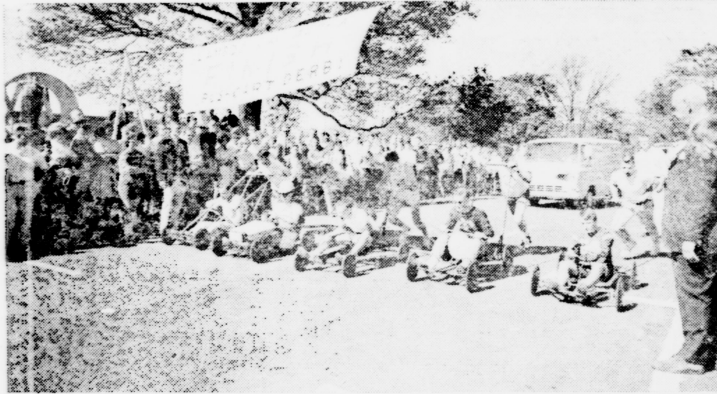

For treasurer, Jim Childers and Frank Dickey Jr. were nominated. Childers is a junior commerce major from Frankfort. Dickey is a sophomore commerce major from Lexington.

The two women up for the position of treasurer are Gail Hewitt, an Arts and Sciences sophomore from San Pedro, Cal., and Nancy Weber, an Arts and Sciences junior from Russellville.

The chairman of the elections committee, Jackie Robinson, told the congress that this spring, Mortar Board and Omicron Delta Kappa will not be available to supervise the election as in the past. Jerry Westerfield and Ed Monroe were elected to serve as election commissioners which entails overseeing the two voting stations.

As in the past, voting booths will be set up in the Student Union Building and in the Journalism Building.

In preparing for the campaign, the candidates were reminded by Robinson of the procedures and restrictions connected with the election. He especially stressed that no campaigning will be allowed within the SUB or the Journalism Building on the day of election. Any campaign posters or other material pertinent to the campaign of any candidate found in those buildings will be removed by the election officials.

Five fraternities "take off" in competition for Saturday. Triangle won their fourth straight first place in the Lambda Chi Alpha Derby held Derby with Phi Gamma Delta placing second.

"Candy" Queen

Candy Johnson, freshman education major from Lexington, was crowned Queen of the Lambda Chi Alpha Pushcart Derby Saturday. She was sponsored by Kappa Alpha Theta sorority.

Debate Team Ends Season With Win

The University debate team finished the season Saturday by winning first place in the University of Illinois debate tournament.

Topic of the session, held at the University of Illinois, was "The Non-Communist Nations Should Establish an Economic Community." Positive debaters were Stanley Craig and John Patton, while Steve Beshar and Richard Ford argued the negative.

Besides the 1st place team trophy, the individual team members took 4 of the 6 single awards. Craig and Beshar were judged excellent, with superior ratings going to Patton and Ford.

Dr. Clifford Blyton, of the UK English Department, is the debate coach.

LKD Scholarships

Applications for the Little Kentucky Derby Scholarships are available in the LKD offices, 211 Harrison Ave.

To qualify for the scholarships, a student must have worked 10 hours the previous semester and must work 10 hours when the scholarship is awarded, carry 11 credit hours, and have at least a 2.0 average.

Triangle, ZTA Win Lambda Chi Derby

Triangle fraternity and Zeta Tau Alpha sorority Saturday won the 11th annual Lambda Chi Alpha Pushcart Derby race.

Winning the derby in 1943 was Triangles fraternity which did not manage to break its previous record of 1:41 set last year.

Zeta Tau Alpha, which set a record last year of 1:01 in the sorority races, did not succeed this year in breaking their record. Both Triangle and Zeta Tau Alpha won the derby last year.

Kappa Sigma won the derby this year until they were disqualified for committing a foul at an exchange point.

Taking second place in the derby were Phi Gamma Delta and Delta Zeta.

Candy Johnson, a member of Kappa Alpha Theta was crowned the 1963 Pushcart Derby Queen. Miss Johnson was sponsored by her sorority.

First attendant in the queen's court was Debbie Long, sponsored by Triangle; second attendant, Betty Estes, co-sponsored by Pi Beta Phi and Sigma Chi; third attendant, Linda Tobin, sponsored by Kappa Alpha; fourth attendant, Amanda Mansfield, sponsored by Alpha Gamma Rho.

Winner of the Ugly Man Contest was Joe Bohn, sponsored by Delta Zeta. Second place was won by Gene Saxe, sponsored by Alpha Gamma Delta.

Proceeds from the Ugly Man Contest totaling $280 were presented to Mrs. Paul DeLotte, general co-chairman of the Lexington Easter Seal Campaign.

Phi Kappa Tau won first place in the float contest with Kappa Sigma taking second place in the fraternity division.

Zeta Tau Alpha won first place in the sorority float division with Alpha Xi Delta placing second.

Judges for the float contest were Miss Ann Green of the Uni-

State Colleges Share Funds

The University and five other state colleges have agreed on a fair-share formula for apportioning funds from the State Legislature.

The colleges would be guaranteed adequate money for their operations if the formula, based on enrollment, is enacted into law.

In addition to UK, the formula would cover budget requests from Eastern Kentucky, Western Kentucky, Morehead, Murray, and Kentucky State colleges.

The formula was approved by the Council on Public Higher Education, which is made up of members from UK, the other State colleges, the State Board of Education, and the Kentucky Association of Colleges, Secondary, and Elementary Schools.

A tentative projection by the council showed that more than $80,000,000 would be needed for the two years beginning in the fall of 1964, as compared with $61,500,000 appropriated by the 1962 General Assembly for the current two-year period.

This increase will be necessary because enrollments are expected to increase by 46 percent by the fall of 1965.

An important part of the formula is a plan to bring faculty salaries in Kentucky close to the national average and equalize the number of faculty members in each of the four teaching ranks—professor, associate professor, assistant professor, and instructor.

At UK the average salary last year for professor was $9,073, while the national average was $11,824. Kentucky salaries were among the lowest in the country.

Under the new formula, teaching costs would total 63.5 percent of the total appropriation with the remainder going to libraries, maintenance and operation, general expenses, administration, laboratories, research, and public services.

NORWALK, Calif. (AP) - Numerically controlled machine tools operated by punched tapes are among the radical changes in the machine tool industry which has caused a "second industrial revolution," according to Paul Henry, chairman of the metals division at Cerritos College.

"Now many machine operations are programmed on a punched tape somewhat similar to a piano player roll," Henry explained. "A tape reader supplies commands to the machine."

SC Elections Off To A Poor Start

We hope Student Congress' presidential nominees will be able to generate more interest in their race than has been shown by their fellow Congress members.

If the congressional enthusiasm shown at last Thursday's nominating session was indicative of the over-all interest to be shown in the campaign, the elections might as well be postponed at this point rather than allowing it to become the gross waste of time for both the candidates involved and the student body.

Thursday's meeting was the second one called for the express purpose of nominating candidates for next year's SC offices. As with the first meeting, held April 4, not enough members were present to comprise a quorum.

This, in view of the wide publicity given to the gathering and its purpose only makes us wonder as to the motives for SC membership of the absent members. Many of those absent from this session were also missing from the earlier meeting.

We realize it is getting toward the end of the school year and the present Student Congress members are practically finished with their tenure of office. But, we are somewhat prone to say "hurrah" and admit that we will not be found weeping upon their departure from office.

We have always felt that for many SC members, their election to the student representative body has been motivated by desire to have membership in another organization tacked to their names in the University annual. We do not level this charge at the majority of SC members, although perhaps there is justification for such. Failure of such a large number of members to attend not only the two aforementioned meetings, but many others during the year, only leads us to believe that student representation is not taken any too seriously by the present SC members.

What can be done? This is a question posed at the end of each year when another lethargic SC vacates office. In our opinion, the place to begin is by electing members who will represent the students by whom they are elected. This begins by their presence at meetings.

Keith Burchett or Jim Pitts, whichever may be elected as next year's SC president, is going to find himself confronted with a difficult task unless he is able to work with a more energetic and less apathetic group than has the present Congress president, Raleigh Lane.

Neverson

In the slow but steady improvement of relations between the races in this country, it has often been the athlete who has paved the road for other individuals to follow. By creating a hero image and giving the people someone to identify with, the Negro athlete has helped to gradually wear down prejudice against himself and, eventually, the other members of his race.

It was an encouraging sign when the University dropped its racial bars, vigorously denied but existing in fact, and signed its first Negro scholarship athlete last week. Norman Neverson, a senior at Roosevelt High School, will be playing in the Southern Conference, which has only one other Negro player, Roger Alford, signed by West Virginia last year.

Another barrier was cracked when Mississippi State ignored a court order and played against an integrated team for the first time, against Loyola in the NCAA Tournament. And Maryland University recently joined the ranks of schools with integrated teams when it gave a scholarship to Darryl Hill, a transfer from the Naval Academy.

We don't know what kind of reception Neverson will get when he travels to Charleston to play the Citadel, or whether Mississippi State will be so demoralized by their defeat that they go back to playing all-white teams, or if Hill will really improve the quality of football at Maryland. It's a fairly safe bet though, that racial tolerance on all three teams, and in their respective leagues, will improve.

Cool Reception To Proposal

WASHINGTON (CPS) — The Kennedy administration's proposal to establish a foreign service academy has run into a cool reception in Capitol Hill.

Top-ranking members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee have raised objections that a post-graduate school for foreign service officers could become a political football.

Such objections have been raised by committee chairman J. William Fulbright (D-Ark.) and ranking GOP committee member Burke Hickenlooper (R-Iowa). During hearings, the two powerful senators expressed fears that such an academy could be handled about by changes in political climates and in administrations.

Specifically, they questioned the ability of such an academy's governing body to remain free from political pressures. The academy administrators, according to the proposal, would be members of a 10-man board of regents requiring presidential appointment and Senate confirmation.

Director Edward R. Murrow of the U. S. Information Agency, and Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, have urged the committee to recommend passage of the enabling legislation. They asserted that such an academy is badly needed to coordinate high-level foreign affairs training for all branches of the government.

Murrow assured Hickenlooper that the academy itself would not make foreign policy—a task of the President. Taylor, called out of retirement by the president, supported the idea that the academy should offer training in paramilitary warfare, better known as guerilla warfare.

As envisioned by Dr. James A. Perkins, Vice President of the Carnegie Corp., the academy would be a combination of high-level academic research and study of foreign affairs combined with the practical day-to-day training a foreign service officer needs to be effective.

It is hoped that the academy graduate, like the hero in the best seller "The Ugly American" would be a man of reflective, thoughtful action. It is no secret that the U. S. has suffered if critical areas of international relations because unskilled and unqualified diplomats have been appointed to high and important posts for political rather than pragmatic reasons.

Selected for academy training would be career foreign service officers on their way up. Very few would go direct from college to the school. However, the academy staff would include regular academic lecturers from graduate foreign service schools.

In expressing support of the proposal, the American Council on Education noted that merely increasing the size and scope of present graduate level foreign service schools could not fulfill the role of the proposed academy. ACE President Logan Wilson told the Senate committee "the answer seems to lie in the necessity for advanced foreign affairs training within the context of responsible operations." Wilson added "In no other way are we as likely to educate our high-level officers with relevance in world politics. In no other way can we as easily assure the competence needed to decide between the 'live options' which exist in the daily operations of government."

Wilson also stressed that if the academy is to be successful it must be protected from outside political pressure. "Free inquiry, research, and teaching must be guaranteed," he said.

Until Congress can be convinced that the academy will work, and that it can operate free of political pressure, its chances of passage appear slim.

The reluctant support of some Congressmen for the present bill was voiced by Senator Stewart Symington (D-Mo.), who introduced it for the Administration. "It's not the bill that I thought would be best," said Symington, "but I'm backing it to the hilt because I think half a loaf is better than none."

Caribbean Enigma

Under the Treaty of Paris of 1763, the island of Cuba, after having been overrun the preceding year by the British, was restored to its previous Spanish authority in return for which the English assumed administration of East and West Florida.

Today, two hundred years later, the world is again faced with the question of this island country.

No one will question the fact that the present government of Cuba has, since its formation in 1959, followed a policy directly parallel to that of Communist governments throughout the world. However, we may question the methods considered for the removal of this menace from the Western Hemisphere.

In considering this situation, we might be inclined to adopt a rather complacent attitude and allow this intruder to remain undeterred within our hemispheric boundaries. The real question is not one simply of our own national security, although that is certainly an important issue, but it also involves our relations with other Latin American republics.

Do we intend to continue to allow a foreign power to maintain a permanent foothold in such a strategic area of the world? I believe we do not. It is my contention that our government, in keeping with the provisions of our Constitution, and the Monroe Doctrine, will, and certainly must, declare once again the independence of this Hemisphere from outside intervention. With the support of each Latin American government, our efforts cannot fail.

Despite our encounter with the Soviets last fall, we continue to receive reports and counter-reports of missile activity in Cuba. Is this not the very problem which we set out to eliminate? The action which the United States takes or fails to take is directly related to the future freedoms of all the peoples of Latin America.

The fundamental weakness in the present situation lies in the failure of the United States government to adopt a decisive policy toward the Communist invasion of this part of the world. If our administration today, will attack this problem with the same vigor and determination with which it attacks our domestic perplexities, there can be no doubt as to the outcome.

The motto of the Theodore Roosevelt administration was: "Speak softly and carry a big stick." This we must adopt again in our relations with Latin America. Not in the sense of completely unlimited freedom or in the undue suppression of it, but rather in the freedom of the individual as a whole do we achieve the true worth of a democracy.

Medical Center Librarian Resigns To Take Position At Johns Hopkins

By CAROL KELLER
Kernel Staff Writer

The resignation of Alfred N. Brandon, head librarian of the University's Medical Center Library, who will become the director of the Welch Medical Library at Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, has been recently announced by President Frank G. Dickey.

ALFRED N. BRANDON

Mr. Brandon, who was the seventh member of the Medical Center hired in 1957, has traveled around the country building the Medical Center Library collection of books.

Purchase, gift and exchange from other medical school libraries in the country, and personal gift are the methods of collection, Mr. Brandon said.

"Close work with an agent in Amsterdam (Holland) is being done for foreign and old medical journals," Mr. Brandon said.

"Our most rewarding experience is the other medical libraries in the country borrow journals from us which shows that we have journals that are not easily available elsewhere."

The Medical Center Library has 75,000 volumes of which 15,000 were collected the first year.

Mr. Brandon has compiled and edited a "Checklist of Periodical Titles Currently Received in Medical Libraries in the Southern Region."

Published in 1960, this is a directory of journals of participating medical libraries in this region. It was sent to medical libraries in the Southern region as a gift from UK's Medical Center.

Mr. Brandon will be the third Welch Medical Library director at Johns Hopkins since 1928. In this position, he will be responsible for continued research, reorganizing the library for more modern methods of library retrieval, and a staff of 25.

The Welch Medical Library is the fourth largest and rich in rare volumes, Mr. Brandon added.

Dr. William R. Willard, vice president for the UK Medical Center said, "The University of Kentucky Medical Center has been most fortunate in having Mr. Brandon's services during the library's initial six years. He has completed a major developmental task by creating the basic collection and staffing pattern."

"We are pleased and proud that Mr. Brandon has been chosen for this position of distinction and responsibility," he added.

Library Association, the South-eastern Library Association, and the Kentucky Library Association. Mr. Brandon has served as consultant on building plans for Temple University School of Medicine, University of Rochester Medical Center, and Vanderbilt University School of Medicine.

His resignation from UK will be effective June, 1963.

Fund Drive Is Scheduled By 4-H Club

A fund-raising drive for new 4-H Club camp facilities in this region will be conducted from 6 to 7:30 p.m. today.

The camp will include 14 buildings designed for annual use and 23 cottages will serve the 27 counties in the district with 18,000 4-H members.

The total cost of the project will be $295,000. Fayette County's share will amount to $39,000.

Facilities will be used for 12 weeks of summer camp activities serving about 2,400 4-H members, district programs for training and recognition of about 5,000 members and leaders annually, and year-around leadership development meetings.

In addition, the facilities will be available to other youth organizations and meetings.

Alpha Gamma Rho is serving in supervisory capacity for the drive. About 2,000 boys and girls will be involved in the drive in this area.

Vanderbilt Outduels Kentucky Trackmen

Vanderbilt's track team used a clean sweep in three events Saturday to turn Kentucky's first dual meet into a 99-64 defeat.

The Commodores showed balanced strength in almost every event and picked up all the points in the high jump, the hop, step and jump, and the javelin.

Track Coach Bob Johnson anticipated a tough meet with Vandy since the visitors out-manned the Cats three to one. It was also Kentucky's first meet of the current season while the Commodores had already seen action in two previous meets.

Keith Locke was the leading point producer for Kentucky. Locke picked up eight in winning the two-mile run in the time of 10:09.9 seconds and placed second in the mile run.

Broad jump—Cox, Kentucky, 22 feet, 2 1/2 inches.
Discus—Schrecker, Kentucky, 128-3.

440-yard relay—Vanderbilt, 4:06 seconds.

Pole vault—Herd, Vanderbilt, 11-6.
Mile run—McDaniel, Vanderbilt, 4:29.8.

440-yard dash—Hodges, Kentucky, 1:50.3.
Shot put—Coster, Kentucky, 43.2.
High jump—Herd, Vanderbilt, 5-8.

100-yard dash—Porter, Vanderbilt, 9.7.
120-yard high hurdles—Dyeon, Vanderbilt, 1:04.

800-yard run—Kraup, Kentucky, 1:57.1.

Three UK Frosh Excel In Tough Ohio Relays

Three University of Kentucky freshmen made a good showing in the Ohio relays at Columbus by coming in the top four of each of their events.

Bill Arthur, Ashland, led the UK entrants as he finished second in the 880-yard run with 1:55.7 clocking. Arthur placed first in his heat, but Don Mellady of the Chicago Track Club ran the distance in 1:55.4 in the second heat to take the over-all win. Arthur's run established a new UK outdoor record for the 880-yard run.

The Wildcat's Jim Gallagher, a Lexington Catholic product, was second to Arthur in the first heat of the 880 and placed fourth over-all in the 29-man field.

John Sears of Kentucky took a fourth place finish in the mile run which drew 31 entries. Sears ran his fastest mile of the year at 4:20.8. It was also the fastest mile ever run by a UK freshman in the Relays. Andy Schramm of Miami of Ohio won the event in 4:14.8.

The Relays, one of the largest outdoor meets in the United States, had 950 entrants from 35 colleges this year. Central State from Wilberforce, Ohio, dominated team entries by winning five of 13 races.

Held Switch Helps Indians

CLEVELAND (AP)—Manager Birdie Tebbetts of the Cleveland Indians says the last two National League pennant winners were successful with "very ordinary second basemen" and that's why he plans to play former shortstop-outfielder Woodie Held at that position.

Tebbetts, in his efforts to revamp the fallen Indians, believes that Held will furnish more power than Jerry Kindall, the fancy fielding second baseman who took part in on 114 double plays in 154 games in 1962.

All Held did in the opening game was hit a two-run homer to beat Minnesota, 5-3.

"Held can play second base well, the same as he does a lot of other positions," says Tebbetts, the pilot who succeeded Mel McGaha, now a Kansas City coach.

"The Giants last year and the Reds the year before won pennants with very ordinary second basemen."

Chuck Hiller played second for the an Francisco Giants last year while in 1961 Cincinnati finished the campaign with Don Blasingame and Elio Chacon at the position.

Wildcats Beat Vols In Twin Bill; Capture Season Series 3-2

Kentucky's baseball Wildcats bounced back in the final two games of a three game series to knock off the Tennessee Vols and win the season's series at three games to two in the SEC.

Kentucky, after losing six straight road games in the South, came home only to find themselves still on the short end of the score as they dropped a 7-5 decision to the Vols Friday.

Tennessee pushed across three runs in the fifth inning on a double by Steve Longley and a two-run throwing error by Cotton Nash.

The Vols came back in the seventh inning and scored the clinchers on successive hits by swept both ends of a doubleheader from their neighboring the starting job for the first time and went the route in capturing his first victory of the season. He also turned in a fine relief performance against the Florida Gators. Kentucky pushed across four runs in the second inning of the nightcap to build a safe margin. The victories left Kentucky 8-7 on the year and 5-6 in the SEC. Tennessee is now 9-9 and 6-4.

COTTON NASH

George Shufford, Bobby Sammons, and Jerry Wells.

Glen Ford was credited with the victory while the Cat's Bob Grudinski was charged with the loss.

The Cats then managed to turn the tables on Tennessee as they rivals 5-3, and 10-2.

Saturday's win snapped a seven game losing streak for Kentucky with six of the losses on the string coming in the SEC.

After giving up four runs in the opening frame, Cotton Nash scattered four hits effectively in the seven inning contest to post his second win of the year.

Kentucky's pitching hopes were lifted by the fine performance turned in by Duane Schwartz in the nightcap. Schwartz who is normally a relief pitcher took

Cat Footballers Prep For Blue-White Game

Sophomores Are Expected To Provide Offensive Punch

By WALLY PAGAN
Kernel Daily Sports Editor

Kentucky's football Wildcats have encountered many dog-eat-dog battles on the gridiron with its SEC opponents, but Saturday's clash will be a Cat versus Cat affair as Charlie Bradshaw's forces are squared for the annual Blue-White football game Saturday night.

The line of demarcation has not yet been drawn by coach Bradshaw and his staff as yet to determine the members of the two teams, but from indications of the spring practice the starting lineups for both the Blues and Whites will be studied with sophomores.

Every indication, mostly coming from the impression of the three game-type scrimmages, points to one of the greatest offensive shows in the history of the spring tussle. The big offensive thrust should come mostly from sophomore quarterback Rick Norton who has to fill the shoes of graduating Jerry Woolum.

Norton along with sophomore halfbacks Roger Bird, Mike McGraw and ends Rick Kestner and John Andrighetti form a young and powerful offensive punch.

Norton is also backed in the quarterback slot by two sophomores, Talbott Todd and Gordon Thompson. Flanking these hard running backs will be a rugged bunch of sophomore linemen in tackles

RICK NORTON

Sam Ball, Rich Tucci, and centers Jim Miles and Jim Blubaugh.

Add the names of these sophomores to those of Herschell Turner, Darrell Cox, Bob Jenkins, Denny Cardwell, Bob Brown, Vince Semary and Ken Bocard and you have the nucleus of the 1963 Wildcats.

If the scrimmages are any indication of what is to come, the fans crying for the wide open type football game should be well pleased.

The Wildcats have gone through scrimmages with a daring type of play and have run up scores of as much as 62 points in less than the regulation time.

These huge scores have not come by means of only a grinding ground series or an avalanche aerial attack, but a prolific combination of both under the direction of Norton and Todd.

Coch Bradshaw admits that much hope for Kentucky's success in the forthcoming season rests squarely on the shoulders of the outstanding but untested crop of sophomores. At times this spring, he had as many as seven second year men working on the number one unit.

Pending the actual split of the team into rival units, there is little to go on in pinpointing the probable winner. However, history of the series lies with the Blues. The blue shirts have won nine of the contests since 1946 and are undefeated since 1954, although ties occurred in 1953 and 1959 and no game was played last year.

YES, VIRGINIA, THERE ARE LOTS OF THINGS NED BREATHITT HASN'T DONE

Ned Breathitt's opponent says Ned hasn't had his experience. In a way this is true. Ned is only 38 years old. He has served six years in the state legislature, where, among other things, he supported the Minimum Foundation program and championed bills that brought an additional $56,000,000 in building and operating funds to Kentucky's state colleges. But the fact remains that he hasn't done a lot of things his opponent has. For example:

- He has never promised, as his opponent did in 1955, that he would not ask for new taxes and then, 90 days later, turned right around and asked for $20,000,000 worth.
- He has never, while holding public office, accepted a $32,000 fee from a whisky firm, and then refused to tell the public what he did to earn this fee.
- He has never run farmers out of his office and told them to go back home and mind their own business.
- He has never said, "East Kentucky ain't nothing and never will be."
- He has never resigned an elective office to serve himself rather than his state.
- He has never shut his eyes to the fact that syndicated vice and gambling existed in northern Kentucky.
- He has never allowed political cronies to exploit and despoil our state parks.
- He has never promised to remove $36,000,000 from the tax program that is the main support of our schools and colleges.
- He has never promised to scrap the long-range road program that will enable Kentucky for the first time to compete on even terms with other states for new industry and more tourist trade.
- He has never said that he was "a one-room-schoolhouse man" or implied that such schools were good enough for Kentucky students.

NED BREATHITT'S OPPONENT HAS DONE ALL OF THESE THINGS. NED NEVER HAS AND NEVER WILL. HIS RECORD PROVES THAT HE WILL SERVE KENTUCKY... NOT HIMSELF, NOT A FACTION.

Kittens Win First Match

The University of Tennessee tennis squad defeated UK's netmen 7-2, and Kentucky's frosh dominated the Vol yearlings 2-1 in action on Memorial Coliseum Courts.

Wesley McGraw salvaged the only Cat victory in the singles department while John Hipsher and Roger Huston picked up a Kentucky win in doubles play.

Kentucky now stands 3-5 and will be seeking to close the 509 mark today when they entertain Villa Madonna. Kentucky previously beat Villa 9-0 in Covington.

The Kittens are now 1-2 on the season as Greg McConnell notched a win in singles play and then teamed with Lee Preston for doubles victory.

HATTIESBURG, Miss. (UPI)—Eibert (Sonny) Holmes, a varsity quarterback from Forrest City, Ark., has been suspended from the University of Southern Mississippi. It was disclosed Saturday.

The USM dean of men's office said Holmes was suspended March 20 for disciplinary reasons not involving athletics.

Last season, Holmes played behind No. 1 signal caller Billy Coleman on the national small college championship team.

Head football coach Thad (Pie) Vann said Holmes' absence would leave Southern with only one letterman, junior Jim Berry, at quarterback.

Freak Windstorm Damages Houses, Autos

By TERRY TROVATO
Kernel Staff Writer

Lexington became the scene of a freak windstorm Sunday night, with gusts coming within four miles per hour of Hurricane proportions.

The U.S. Weather Bureau at Bluegrass Field reported that the wind blew a sustained 45 miles an hour for four minutes. Gusts produced by these winds were as strong as 71 miles an hour, and did a considerable amount of damage to houses and automobiles.

One car parked on Rose Street near Maxwell had its windshield shattered by a large knob dislodged by the wind, and at the corner of Grossvenor and Arlington, a tree four feet in diameter had been uprooted, dislodging a sidewalk to a height of three feet above the ground.

The wind hit the Southern part of the city around midnight and was accompanied by rain and lightning.

It moved from a Southwest to Northeast direction, uprooting trees, bringing down awnings, and clattering streets with loose branches and limbs.

Two Lexington Police officers, Lloyd Johnson and Frank Howard, were at the corner of Northeastern and Corral Streets in Patrol Wagon 117 when they came in contact with the wind.

"A loud humming sound preceded the gusts, and when the wind finally came into contact with us, we thought that our wagon was going to turn over," said officer Johnson.

"Vision was only good for about five feet, and a powerline which had been blown down touched the top of our vehicle and began shooting sparks."

Johnson added.

The main campus was not damaged to any extent, but at the construction site of the new agriculture building, steel forms were blown down which were to be used to shape concrete.

Streets reported heavily littered with debris and trees were

East Maxwell Street, South Spring Street, Northeastern Avenue, Lalton Avenue, Lafayette Parkway, Kalmia Avenue, Old Frankfort Pike, Mentelle Park, North Hanover Street, South Limestone Street, Preston Avenue, East High Street, Ashland Avenue, and Bullock Place.
