

Kentucky Triumphs 24-14 In Great Lakes Bowl Game

By Tom Dickinson

Playing one of their best games of the season, Kentucky faced a big and rugged Villanova eleven, 24-14, in Cleveland's massive Municipal Stadium last Saturday in the initial Great Lakes Bowl game.

A disappointing crowd of only 14,866 watched the UK Wildcats capture their eighth win of the year against three losses—which is the best record a Blue and White gridiron team has had since 1939, when the Cats won nine and lost only to North Carolina A & M, 14-6.

The line play in the bowl game hovered on vicariousness, especially by the smaller, but very rough Kentucky forward wall. Outstanding in the first line of defense for the Big Blue were Wash Sertini, Frank Smotherman, Charlie Brownlee, Leo Zaraska, Jay Rhoademore, Harry Ulinski, Charlie Bentley and Ven Zarakas.

In the UK backfield, George Blanda's passing and kicking was excellent. He hit 11 receivers in 21 attempts. Two sophomore halfbacks—James Howe and Bill Bolter—played their best games of the season. Bolter, who scored two touchdowns on brilliant runs, also completed three passes in four tries. Howe tallied the other UK touchdown on a spirited 20-yard sprint.

Wildcat Cagers Headed East For Two Holiday Contests

While UK students are enjoying the Christmas vacation, the Wildcats basketball team will be kept busy trying to keep their season slate clean. Starting next Wednesday night, Kentucky will play six games over the vacation and only one of them can be called a "bracket"—the Western Ontario contest.

On Dec. 17, UK meets Xavier University here; Dec. 20, the Cats go to Philadelphia to play Temple; Dec. 23, a game with St. John's in Madison Square Garden; Jan. 2, Creighton comes to Louisville; Jan. 3, Western Ontario invades Alumni gym; then on Jan. 5, Miami (Ohio) University will be host of the busy Kentuckians.

Taking the games in the order they are to be played, we list Xavier first. The Musketeers are much stronger than last year.

The Queen City institution defeated Franklin College, 79-53, in their opener and then sprang an upset by routing out Purdue, 44-43, on the Big Blue's home court last week end. X is led by Horie Schueler, who dipped in 23 markers in the initial game; and two former UK cagers—Malcolm McMullen and Dick Rowell. The latter, who was on the Kentucky "B" team for a while last year, tossed in the deciding basket in the Purdue game in the final seconds of the skirmish. McMullen, X's first-string center, saw action in a few games early last season before leaving Lexington for Xavier. He scored 10 tallies against Purdue; Rowell hit for 11 to take high scoring honors that night. Both of these Wagners will play their heart out next Wednesday against their former teammates—that you can count on Temple and St. John's come next and they both are generally two of the East's outstanding quintets. St. John's lost their opening game to Denver by two points recently, 54-52, but will improve in future games.

UK may be "up" when UK invades the Big Town. Creighton, like DePaul and Xavier, is a Catholic school that takes its basketball very seriously. The last meeting between UK and Creighton (in 1940) found the Omaha, Neb., netters upsetting the Ruppian, 43-54. Coach Rupp hasn't forgot that game and will be very glad to get past this team without a loss.

Western Ontario played here twice in Alumni gym to start the 1946-47 cage season and were trounced in the usual Kentucky style. The Canadians lost the initial game, 51-42, and the next night were taken, 71-29. UK really found the range. This coming contest on Jan. 3 will be another lopsided event, barring any miracles.

—Glen Smotherman, Ferrell, Leon McDermott, quarter-back, Preston, Brown, Bentley, Jones, Ulinski, center, Odessa; Klen, Villanova, Blue, Philadelphia; tackle—Ellenial, Blue; guard—Scarlett, Lemm, Linhart; end—Kearney, Smith, Wilch, back—Romanik, Gordon, Pasquariello, Zeiler, Schweitzer, Tully, McCarthy, Rogers, Fulford.

Kenny Rollins Named To Captain Cagers

Kenny Rollins, hailed for his steady influence over the team when under fire, this week became the second Wildcat cager in history, and the first during the Rupp reign to captain the Kentucky cagers through two consecutive seasons.

An All-SEC cager last year, the 24-year-old Wickliffe, Kentucky, senior, was the third highest scorer for the season with 310 points. His magnificently consistent play was overshadowed last year for the most part, but on a team boasting four All-Americans and a roster of All-Conference players, he is expected to definitely come in for his share of attention, and truly be a "man among men."

When you go home for the holidays say "Merry Christmas" the Arrow way!

1. An Arrow shirt. White or striped. A perfect gift!
2. An Arrow Sports Shirt. Handsome, warm, rugged.
3. A few selected Arrow ties. Stripes, florals or knits. Don't forget yourself!

The U.S. Air Force offers you $336 a month one year after graduation

That's what you can earn after completing one year of pilot training and winning your wings in the Air Force.

It is a good deal from the start. While you're an Aviation Cadet you draw $75 per month, plus food, quarters, uniforms, medical and dental care. After successfully finishing the course, you are commissioned a Second Lieutenant, Air Force Reserve, and assigned to active duty with the Air Force at $336 a month (including flight pay), with excellent chances for further increases as promotions come through.

In addition, you get an extra $500 for each year of active duty, and will be given a chance to compete for a commission in the Regular Air Force if you are interested in a service career.

This opportunity, which cannot be duplicated anywhere else at any price, equips men for well-paid, responsible positions throughout the aviation industry, at high pay from the beginning. It

University Choristers To Present Program Of Carols Sunday

The annual Christmas carol program featuring the University Choristers under the direction of Miss Mildred Lewis, will be presented by the Music Department Sunday afternoon and evening at 4 and 8 o'clock in Memorial Hall, it was announced by Dr. Alexander Capurso, head of the music department.

Open to the public as a cultural service of the University to the community, the pre-holiday recitals are the fourth in a series of Sunday afternoon musicals being presented by the music department during the Fall and Winter seasons. The next musical will be on Jan. 25 with Miss Frances Reed, soprano, as guest artist.

Carols of a sacred and secular nature from various countries will be sung as a part of the program, which will be highlighted by mass singing of traditional Christmas hymns by the audience. John Jacob Niles' Scotchman song "I Wonder As I Wander," is to be featured by the women's group.

The University Choristers has in its personnel a mixed group of students, faculty, and staff members, and several townspeople.

Lela Cullis, organist, of the Music Department, will serve as accompanist and soloist. Miss Lewis, assistant professor of music, will direct the colorful presentation.

The complete program will be broadcast by Radio Station WKIX.

Mary Jo says she hasn't decided on a career, but here's a tip for the boys. She can cook and sew. And she doesn't believe in long skirts to "extreme."

Truth of the matter is, Mary Jo doesn't need the "new look" to get ahead. She's pretty enough for the cover of any boy's magazine.

"When asked what they did with their spare time, Bert demanded, 'What spare time? If you mean the weekends, I go home.'

"I just lay in the sack," Hal yawned lastly.

"Never, never do they discuss girls when they're off duty—at east they claim they don't."

"Shock?" By this time Pat Hall inmates are used to seeing Bert and Hal around. At their first appearance Phyllis Cliver, a typical Pat Hall resident, gasped. "It was a terrible shock to go tearing down to Chat 'N' Nibble for a candy bar and find men. Golly!"

"Patterson Hall has everything," Mary Osborne added.

Except for Bert's complaint that the Oxford for the dishes gives him dishpan hands, Bert and Hal figure that they're holding down the best job at UK.

They'll probably be at Pat a long time, girls, and if you just keep trying maybe you, too, will stumble on their room by mistake.

"George Washington."

"But the last time I was here, you were Abraham Lincoln."

"Sure. But that was by my first wife."

ALUMNI NEWS

THEN and NOW PERSONALITIES

Mrs. Richard Wellington (Minerva Collins), 11, formerly of Hindman, who is now living in Burnsville, Geneva, N. Y., was a visitor on the campus last week.

President H. L. Donovan. A detailed story of the Cleveland alumni meeting will be carried in the February issue of the Kentucky Alumnus.

Alumni glimpsed at the Bowl game in Cleveland were: Tom Reynolds, Augustus; Bob Sherman, Layman Mays, Wayman Thomason, Gaston McKeel, Pat Morris, Bob McDowell, Jerry Mercer, all of Cleveland; Red Simpson, Wierton, W. Va.; Rogers Clay, now of Cleveland; Mrs. Joshua Barnes, Jr. (Alice Coddell), Winchester; Ray Bryant, Cleveland; Gene Bryant, Lexington; to name just a few.

Kyle Whitehead, 26, and Melvin Norworthy, former student, both of Harlan, were on the campus this week, conferring with President H. L. Donovan, and making plans for the reorganization of the alumni of Harlan county.

Cleveland alumni really got their fill of thrills on Saturday, Dec. 6, when Kentucky defeated Villanova 24 to 14 in the Willett's first bowl appearance in the Cleveland stadium.

More than 100 Kentuckians from Cleveland and followers of the team from home, gathered in the Hotel Hollidays, following the game, for an open house and dinner, at which time representatives of the Cleveland chapter of the Knights of Columbus, sponsors of the game, presented the handsome trophy to Marshall Barnes, 24, and Mrs. Barnes, Beaver Dam; Herndon Evans, 21, and Mrs. Evans (Mary Elizabeth Downing), Pineville; and Lee McClain, 19, Bardonia, were in Lexington Monday, en route to Frankfort to attend the inauguration of Earle C. Clements, 29, as Governor of Kentucky.

The Louisville alumni of the University are planning a dance in the Terrace room of the Kentucky hotel, Jan. 2, following the Kentucky-Creighton University basketball game which will be played that night at the Louisville armory. Admission will be $2.50 per person, and all students, alumni and friends of the University are cordially invited.

Letters To The Editor

Editor, The Kernel:

I am a person with many axes, and I intend to grind a few in this letter.

In a recent issue of the Kernel, in two of the letters to the editor, I noticed a plethora of exclamation marks. Roger Donaldson reports that 25% of the students have never heard of SGA, and "that most of the others have only a vague idea of what SGA is!" New Reader, in inserting a parenthesis says, "No typographical error!" Now in both of these instances, either a simple exclamation point would have been sufficient, or else the writer could have used a period.

James Thurber, in the "Saturday Review of Literature" for January 20, 1947, has this to say in reviewing Dale Carnegie's "How to Win Friends and Influence People": "He relates that, in addressing an audience one night, he told them of how he had once, out of sheer kindness, said to a postman, 'I certainly wish I had your head of hair.' One of Mr. Carnegie's listeners, who had apparently come to learn about how to influence people, how to get what you're after, asked, naturally enough, it seems to me, 'What was I trying to get out of him?' Great God almighty, Steady on, Mr. Carnegie. Remember 'Smile' and some of your other rules, and also some of your exclamation points, even three in a row, do not succeed in conveying depth of sincerity or intensity of feeling. I have often come across instances of words and phrases becoming meaningless because of wrong usage just because I can't sense in perceiving our economical punctuation marks.

Because of the general dispute in which the humanity courses are held at this University, it would be wise to note the following excerpts, and I transcribe first from the cover of the "Saturday Review of Literature," for June 9, 1945:

"A university is a place; it is a spirit; it is a man; it is a collection of books; it is the sum of the teaching of the best of literature and the best of science; it reflects the traditions, honors the new and tests its value. It believes in truth, protest, and freedom, and leads men by reason rather than by force.—Frank L. McMane, in the non-Arts and Sciences statement that they are here to learn something which will be of practical value to them, and I append the following from the "New Yorker" magazine for Nov. 22, 1947:

"You read the Kernel," I said. "But of course," he replied, slightly surprised at my amazement. And so I heard, partly from him and partly from Miss Dulac, that he reads the Kernel to Miss Maja every night for an hour or so, even if he has had a very tiring day. Empedocles, Socrates, Archylus, and Thucydides receive the tribute of the most advanced and abstract scientist every night, in the calm affection of the affectionate brother who keeps his sister company.

"You know," I said, "that is great news. Young Americans, who have ideas of the pure scientist worthy of the sciences, should be told that Einstein reads the Kernel. All those who relish the idiotic and dangerous myth of the scientist as a kind of superman, free from all bonds of responsibility, should know this and draw their conclusions from it. Many people in our day so lack chids to the book store crew for its efforts to meet over-crowded conditions at the opening of the fall quarter. It doesn't seem to add up, does it, when the veteran stands in line to receive his little white eligibility card sometimes for as long as three hours, but waits only fifteen minutes for his book business, involving ten times the work of the former line, cleared up? Here's hoping that somebody gets together with somebody, and decides that a school the size of UK just cannot register its student body using the tactics of the small-time junior college.

Anyone who has read the series of articles in the "Atlantic Monthly" by Dr. Einstein should realize the truth of his last statement: "It has been said very often of late that it will be the scientists who will reshape the world. I would amend this to include the engineers, our masters of technique." To the materialists who say that they are not interested in helping the world, but rather would like to get ahead in the world, I need only say that an absorption of the humanities would be a detour from this leads any pragmatic reader to a study of the humanities, they may lose that "Me only" — I'm number one attitude that is so very wrong in our world today.

Remember — we are all here in this world together. There is simply no sense in adopting an attitude of greed. Help the other fellow. Be kind to your animals. Woodman spare that tree. And all the other aphorisms that pass on ability since Woodman. Of course I don't mean you, but perhaps you might help that fellow looking over your shoulder to see the light. . . .

E. McDONNELL

Makes Suggestion
Editor, The Kernel:

As campus representative for two years, I am a regular advertiser in the Kernel. I must agree with others who are bemoaning the poor circulation of the Kernel.

People that gripe without any idea of alleviating the prevailing situation have been numerous.

May I suggest that a stack of Kernels be made available at the information desk in the hall at the Student Union. I also believe at least a dozen copies of the Kernel should be sent to each fraternity house, sorority house, and a generous proportion to other residence halls.

Unless every advantage possible is made to circulate the paper among students, why should local and national advertisers continue their active support of the paper?

JOHN G. IRVIN
Editor's Note: Miss Beale, of the Postoffice declares there is plenty of space for those who want boxes in which to get Kernels.

Implores, Mercy!
Editor, The Kernel:

Rumor has it that this week's Kernel is to be the last issue for the current quarter. I feel moved, therefore, to make the last imploring cry of 'Mercy!' to those in whose hands lies our registration day fate for the coming quarter.

I have not long been on the UK campus, but I feel that I will not be long for this world if I have to go through all that rignamarole many more times. It just seems to me, and I know that I am not entirely alone in my sentiments, that something less tedious should and could be worked out.

Take the veterans' line, for instance. Wouldn't it be possible for those little white cards to be mailed out a week or so in advance of registration day? If that line could be eliminated or at least alleviated, approximately two hours of the sweating out procedure could be put aside.

Another bottleneck arises from those cards upon which we set down our life history and signature two or three million times—the ones for the various deans' offices, public relations, registrar, etc. A terrific majority of us fill out the same old stuff, quarter after quarter, year after year. Isn't there a possibility of making a new simple form which we may fill out, enabling the various offices to insert the necessary changes to the cards already on file? It's give a whole bouquet of or-

"I have received the following letter from my representative, Frank Cheif, and feel that the student body would like to be familiar with the material contained herein:

"I have received a number of letters concerning H.R. 4212, a bill providing for an increase in subsistence allowances for World War II veterans pursuing institutional training to $75 per month, if without a dependent, or $105 per month if he has one dependent, or $130 per month if he has more than one dependent.

"I am writing you concerning this bill so that you may inform the Veterans Organizations there on the campus of the University of Kentucky regarding its status. This bill is now on the House calendar and it is certainly hoped that some action will be obtained in the near future.

"With the rise in living costs, the purchasing power of the dollar has been so curtailed that I can readily understand how difficult it has become for many veterans to remain in school. You may count upon my full and complete support in getting H.R. 4212 passed and enacted into law.

"With kind regards I am
Frank L. Cheif, 4th District Ky.
House of Representatives
Congress of the United States
I would appreciate the Kernel's running Mr. Cheif's statement."

EASY MONEY DEPT.

Are you dough-busy? Get us! We give the stuff away. Folding money, too. Yes sir, Pepsi-Cola Co. pays from $1 to $15 for gags you send in and we print. Why worry about an honest living? This is easier. Just send your stuff, along with your name, address, school and class, to Easy Money Department, Box B, Pepsi-Cola Co., Long Island City, N. Y. All contributions become the property of Pepsi-Cola Co. We pay only for those we print.

There's nothing to it—as you can see from the samples below. If, by coincidence, the words "Pepsi-Cola" turn up somewhere in your gag, don't worry about it. We don't mind. (Matter of fact, we kind of like it.) So start your stuff in now—for Easy Money.

GOOD DEAL ANNEX
Sharpen up those gags, gagsters! At the end of the year (if we haven't learned ourselves to death) we're going to pick the one best item we've bought and award it a fat extra $100.00

LITTLE MORON CORNER
Our well-known moron-about-campus, Murgatroyd—now a student in the school of agriculture—has developed a new theory on sheep-feeding. He makes a daily ration of Pepsi-Cola an important part of their diet. "Dum-dum-dum, of course," said Murgatroyd recently, when questioned as to his reasoning, "everybody knows that Pepsi-Cola is the drink for ewe!"

$2 apiece, believe it or not, for any of these we buy!

HE-SHE GAGS

If you're a He, and know a She—or vice versa—this should be your meat. Here's your chance to strike a blow for the home team in the battle between the sexes—and maybe win three bucks besides!

He: Why do you call my date "Pepsi," when her name is Betty?
She: Oh, we all call her "Pepsi" because she goes with anything!

He: I never knew what real happiness was until I married you.
She: Darling!
He: Yes, and by then it was too late.

Three bucks apiece for each of these we print. Let your conscience be your guide.

Daffy Definitions

Here's a column that must have some deep underlying significance. Darned if we know what, though. All we know is that these rate a buck each—and the daffier, the better.

Frustration—having a Pepsi-Cola and no bottle-opener.
Stuck—hit with a big bill.
Professor—textbook wired for sound.

Thirst—obsolete term; dates back to pre-Pepsi-Cola era.
Cooperation—one bottle of Pepsi with two straws.
Paying $1 apiece for these is like giving you a license to commit burglary. But—$1 apiece for these we buy.

Auf Wiedersehen

The time has come. Today will be the last day of undergraduate college days for many of us, the editor included.

Other than the customary congratulations the Kernel extends to those who are to be graduated and thanks extended by those leaving to those who will follow them shortly, there is little to say. Sentimentality in a place such as this is superfluous. We all know what we mean.

But rather than devote space to weeping and wishful smile, there are other things we want to say.

First of all, we reiterate the importance of academic scholarship. That doesn't mean a 3 every quarter. Your grades are only a partial scale by which your knowledge is tentatively judged. You only know what you know. You'll be responsible for it, and you shouldn't let yourself down.

Activities are important in their place, too. Everyone should have some activity, some interest. Pure academic schooling and experience is valuable, but one must look at more than one facet of a prism to divine the true beauty and value of the whole.

Petty politics and narrow nationalism should be combated on a campus level, too. Some of us for that reason strongly recommend a second and very long look at National Student Association before consideration of defecating it.

Although it's hard (we never said that it wasn't) we feel that part-time work in a field related to one's major is a great help. Education wouldn't be complete without it, and Lexington offers many possibilities.

An activity or so, a part-time job, and a schedule of classes will keep you busy all right. But the values that emerge from such a balance are more than worth the sacrifices.

Well, we've expounded enough. Thanks for everything, and auf widerschien!

The Unmentionable

It usually happens in isolated cases, but lately we've seen a lot of anonymous mud-slinging letters come dribbling in to University publications. You who write those "dares" and "revealing" letters condemning heaven knows what all, puzzle us. Nothing seems to be sacred to you. If you are so disturbed about such occurrences or behaviors WHY don't you sign your names? If you request that the paper not use your name in print, we will observe your wish; however, the letters to the editor must be signed—WITH YOUR OWN NAMES.

The Kernel has received too many of these well-meaning dars lately to take it sitting down. One letter, jammed to the gunwales with libel, was signed very obviously with a false name and no address. Such cowards betray their intentions. These will be the first to say that the Kernel suppresses the news, distorts it, or refuses to publish the sensational "truths."

We say, of course, we don't print such blasphemy. Those letters are an insult to the intelligence of the staff. Do such persons think they will swallow such rumor and libel? Hadn't it occurred to them that a newspaperman must be trained to verify—never to accept rumor as fact?

If your letter does not appear in the Kernel, and we have your name, it is because there is something contained in it which would be considered by the courts as libelous. We will tell you why if we have your name. But the Kernel and all other papers will reject the unsigned who want to hide behind the petticoats of anonymity. What do you want to hide?

Students in the ninth and tenth hour classes on Tuesday and Thursday have cause to rejoice. Because of an error in making the exam schedule, it is impossible for anyone who has classes at both of those hours to take one of the exams. Pretty shrewd, no?

Spice Of Life

By Any Price and Helen Dorr
There are in me, two kinds of guys
The only two that I despise;
The first I'd really like to slam—
The one who copies my exam;
The other is the dirty stunk
Who covers his and lets me flunk.

Now that the much-heralded Bowl game in Cleveland is over and the team returned victorious, those students who went are back, ready to knock down to term papers that are due and the exams in the office. The Stinky special is said to have been much fun.

The main topic of conversation overheard the other night was Winston (So Fascinating) Fennell. Constant Twosomes: Joan Lindstrom and Jack Guterthuth; Alice Peole and Tony Walker; Barbara Akers and Marvin Talbott; Betty Bark and Charley Hesser.

We actually saw two boys flip a coin the other night for the privilege of calling E. slyn Ewing to ask her for a date. Lucky girl—both boys were cute.

It's in the cards and the stars that Mary Fribble and Herman Kessler will be joined by the start of winter quarter. It's wedding bells during Christmas for Naomi Daness and Ben Sullivan. A Merry Christmas to you. Congratulations to: The winning football team; the new editor, managing editor, and news editor of the Kernel; the new Governor of Kentucky.

The latest fad in pinnings is to see how many times you can get pinned over a short period of time. So not to be outdone, one co-ed on campus was pinned to a Phi Delta in the spring quarter and to a Beta this summer. A classmate noticed the new pin the other day and cursed up with the remark: "Where's last year's pin?"

And they tell the story about the KA who has been pinned to a dozen different girls — two of them this quarter.

What do you know—no preclassification this time. Maybe the faculty has decided that it's one sure way of getting the students back from the Christmas holidays on time.

Janice Burks waited three whole weeks to see her man, Bill Mordica, who's not in school now.

Question: I would like to change the beneficiary on my G.I. insurance policy without letting the old beneficiary know about it. Can I do this?
Answer: A veteran may change the beneficiary or beneficiaries of his G.I. insurance at any time without their knowledge or consent.
Question: I am an ex-WAC with an honorable discharge and contemplating marriage to a non-veteran. Will the marriage cause me to lose any of my rights to benefits under the G.I. bill?
Answer: No.
