GREEN SCREEN 2/15/93

In order to save everyone from news overkill, the editor has decided to send out the GREEN SCREEN fortnightly instead of weekly this semester. (That is every 2 weeks, for non-english speakers.) It will be sent on Monday afternoons, barring sickness, if you want to include items in the Calendar.

Miko Pattie and Mike Lach have recently had published their SPEC KIT #185, SYSTEM MIGRATION IN ARL LIBRARIES, put out by the Office of Management Services of the Association of Research Libraries. The topic covers changing and evolving technology in libraries. The Office receives numerous requests for information in this area, for which there is very little available, so this Spec Kit will be in demand.

WHAT ARE YOU READING B.J.GOODCH?

GEEK LOVE by Katherine Dunn

This is the story of a carnival family, the Binewskis, who, in order to save their travelling act from bankruptcy, decide to breed their own "acts" by having mother Lil ingest drugs, insecticides, arsenic - anything to make her babies more "special". The children are taught from the beginning that the more unique they are the greater worth they have. Olympia, who narrates, explains that she feels inferior to her brothers and sisters because she is only a bald albino hunchback.

While the subject of this novel seems offensive at first,

While the subject of this novel seems offensive at first, the author's tremendous imagination, vivid prose and riveting narrative skill create a mesmerizing tale of love and human struggle. She evokes a world filled with both horror and humor and creates a cast of characters who are exotically unique - and, not surprisingly, just like us. Geek Love though shockingly bizarre, addresses most of all what it means to be human. It was nominated for the National Book Award in 1988.

The idea for a What Are You Reading section was suggested by Sarah Vaughn.
