My dear Fred:

Sarah and I wish to be among the first to congratulate the American Medical Association for the judgment and wisdom they have shown in selecting you as their leader for 1942.

There is nothing further that we can add at this time than to say that we have always been among your greatest admirers and surely among your most loyal and admiring friends. We wish also to express our esteem to Edith who surely has played a wonderful part in assisting your climb to the top of the medical and surgical world.

In closing I wish to say that I consider you one of the most unusually superior personalities it has been my good fortune to know.

Yours,

Buck
