Dear Doctor Rankin:

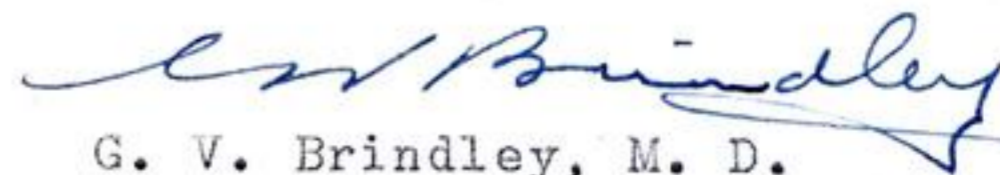

I just want to take this opportunity to tell you that I am indeed glad that you were unanimously elected to be the president of the American Medical Association. I think the Association is fortunate in having a man of your ability and untiring energy as its president, and I certainly believe that your contribution to organize medicine and your contribution to medical literature certainly entitles you to the honor which the presidency carries. I trust that the year as president will be the source of much pleasure and satisfaction and service for you.

Also let me say that I appreciated your coming by and visiting our exhibit in Cleveland. Mr. Phillips told me about it, and I am indeed sorry that I did not have the personal opportunity of a visit with you at that time. I did not happen to see you, or I certainly would have availed myself of this opportunity.

I trust that while you are president of the Association your duties will bring you to Texas, and at that time you can pay us a visit.

With best wishes, I remain

Sincerely yours,

G. V. Brindley, M. D.
