

MEET NEXT YEAR'S A. M. A. HEAD—Dr. Frank Lahey, right, of Boston, had only been president of the American Medical Association a day when he met his successor, Dr. Fred W. Rankin, left, of Lexington, Ky. The A. M. A., following custom of picking president a year in advance, elected Rankin just after Lahey was installed at Cleveland convention.