SOUTHEASTERN CONFERENCE

"COACH OF THE YEAR"

Kentucky's Blanton Collier, in his initial season as a collegiate mentor last year, won the accolade of fellow coaches as "Southeastern Conference Coach of the Year." The mild-mannered tactician, who made the unique jump from high school tutoring directly to the pro ranks, thus gained the distinction of becoming the first coach in the 19-year history of the Nashville Banner poll to be chosen for the honor in his first season among the collegians. Collier also shattered other precedents by becoming the first Kentucky football chief ever accorded the title and only the second "freshman" head mentor in SEC history to join the exclusive company. He also finished high in the balloting for national "Coach of the Year" honors on the basis of the outstanding job he accomplished in guiding the '54 Wildcats to a remarkable 7-3 season and a third-place conference finish after being picked for a lower bracket spot in pre-season estimates.

TO THE PRESS AND RADIO:

Here is your copy of the Kentucky Wildcats football facts booklet for 1955 which we sincerely hope will aid you in covering U. of K. this season. If you desire additional information or art, please feel free to contact the Sports Publicity Office.

Applications for working press and radio tickets should be directed to the Sports Publicity Office as far in advance as possible. Tickets will be mailed or you will be notified to pick them up at the Information Window in Memorial Coliseum, directly across the street from the stadium. Admission to the press box is limited to male personnel.

If you intend to file from the press box, please so advise when requesting passes in order that you may be assigned a seat adjacent to your Western Union operator. It is advisable also to make advance reservations with the Lexington office of Western Union.

Radio stations desiring to broadcast from Stoll Field must first secure a permit from the University Radio Director outlining sponsors, fees paid, and any network arrangement. Booth assignment and tickets will be issued by the Sports Publicity Office upon approval of the application by the Radio Director. Spotters are available if requested in advance. Stations should order lines installed by contacting the Lexington Telephone Company.

Televising of games is restricted as follows: Simultaneous telecasting is prohibited except in the event the contest has been selected for showing to the NCAA-approved network and express permission has been granted by the University Radio Director and Athletic Director. Filmed highlights of the game not exceeding 10 minutes in length may be televised immediately following the game and, upon official approval, a complete game film may be shown after 12 noon on the Sunday immediately following the contest.

Your press-radio-photo pass entitles you to enter any stadium gate on your way to the press box. When leaving the box late after the game, you will find gate number one open. This gate, under Section A at the left end of the stands on the opposite side of the field from the press box, is an exit to Avenue of Champions in front of Memorial Coliseum.

ATHLETICS AT KENTUCKY

Kentucky's athletics program is organized under the Department of Athletics and a corporation known as the University of Kentucky Athletic Association.

A firm believer in sports and sportsmanship, Dr. Leo M. Chamberlain, Vice-President of the University, has general supervision over the Department and also serves as vice chairman of the Board of Directors of the Association.

Former UK football player and one-time Wildcat coach, Dr. A. D. Kirwan, acts as secretary to the Association. He also is the school's faculty representative to the Southeastern Conference.

Bernie A. Shively heads the Department as Director of Athletics.

Maintaining over-all control of U.K. athletics affairs is the Board of Directors of the Athletics Association, composed of the President of the University and 10 other directors appointed by him, including five members of the faculty of the University, the president of the Student Government Association, an alumnus of the school, a member of the U.K. Board of Trustees, and two others. Frank D. Peterson, University Vice President of Business Administration, serves the board as treasurer.

The current Board of Directors consists of the following members:

Dr. H. L. Donovan, Chairman	Dr. Leo M. Chamberlain, Vice Chairman
Dr. A. D. Kirwan, Secretary	Robert Hobson
Thomas H. Ballantine	M. E. Ligon
George K. Brady	Paul Oberst
Aubrey J. Brown	Don Whitehouse (Student)
Thomas Clark	H. D. Palmore
Lyman Ginger	D. V. Terrell
	William A. Tolman

DIRECTOR OF ATHLETICS

BERNIE A. SHIVELY

Supervising the steady growth and balanced development of one of the nation's top athletic programs is the Herculean task being carried out successfully by Bernie A. Shively.

Few who have observed the untiring efforts of the tall, silver-haired former All-America footballer in the service of the University of Kentucky as Director of Athletics since 1938 will argue his fitness as an athletic Hercules. Not only has Shively guided the development of Kentucky as a nationally-respected power in major sports, but he has also gained personal prestige through a fair-minded approach to many problems.

During his tenure as Athletic Director, Shively has directly supervised major expansions in Kentucky's athletic plant resulting from the progression of the school's football and basketball teams to greater national prominence and increased patronage by the sports-minded public.

The seating capacity of Kentucky's football stadium, McLean Stadium on Stoll Field, has been doubled to bring the current number of seats to approximately 36,000 and on par with most other schools located in heavier-populated areas. Powerful lighting equipment also was installed during the 1948-49 construction to bring night football into new popularity. Partly to satisfy the overwhelming number of basketball devotees, who could not squeeze into the 2,800-seat Alumni Gymnasium, a long-planned Memorial Coliseum was completed in 1950. Seating 12,000 persons for cage contests, the four-million dollar Coliseum also houses the Athletic Department and provides the first permanent home for the school's many minor sports teams. More recently, within the past year, the Athletics Association has completed other facilities to make the life of its athletes more comfortable. Members of the football team last March moved into two modern ranch-style living units known as "Kentucky Manor" and "Kitten Lodge." The new dormitories house both the varsity and freshman teams and replace three frame houses which the gridgers had occupied since 1946. And this fall, a large new dressing room building was completed on property located adjacent to the new practice field and a short distance from the football houses.

A native of Paris, Ill., Shively attended the University of Illinois where he was an All-America guard in 1926 on the same grid team made famous by Red Grange. Demonstrating a claim to being one of the finest all-around athletes in Illinois history, "Shive" also laid claim to the Big 10 heavyweight wrestling championship and annexed letters in track before graduating in 1927.

Shively came to Kentucky in 1927 as line coach of football under Harry Gammage. A shift in the coaching ranks in 1933 resulted in Shively's promotion to head of the UK Physical Education Department, a position he retained until he succeeded Chet Wynne as Athletic Director in 1938. During this period and the years following, he also served as track and baseball coach for several seasons and continued to assist the football staff as line coach until 1944. The next year, 1945, he assumed full charge of the grid squad for one season before turning the job over to mentor Paul (Bear) Bryant in 1946.

The Kentucky Athletic Director served as chairman of the Southeastern Conference basketball committee for a number of years and is the current president of the SEC Coaches and Athletic Directors Association. In 1951, he took over the added task of establishing a booking office for football and basketball officials for the Ohio Valley Conference and heads the office as Supervisor of Officials. Familiarly known to his many friends as "Shive," he also has been active in numerous other civic and state organizations and projects.

VICTORY KICKS

A game unique in University of Kentucky football history occurred in 1900. Kentucky beat the Louisville YMCA, 12-6, without running a single offensive play during the entire game. Kicking on first down every time they gained possession of the ball, Kentucky made its scores through the recovery of opponent fumbles in the end zone.

STOLL FIELD — McLEAN STADIUM

Much confusion among the general public and the sports-writing fraternity apparently exists over a seeming duplication of titles in referring to the University of Kentucky's football setup along "Avenue of Champions."

Officially, by action of the University Board of Trustees, the general area encompassing the playing field is known as "Stoll Field." Likewise, by authority of the same body, the stadium proper is known as "McLean Stadium."

Kentucky's first football field, occupying the general site of what is now the practice field west of the stadium, was first given a name when it was dedicated on October 14, 1916, as Stoll Field in honor of the late Judge Richard C. Stoll, prominent alumnus, trustee and benefactor of the University of Kentucky. Soon after the first sections of the present concrete stadium were completed on September 4, 1924, the new field site and stadium were likewise officially known as Stoll Field.

The first attraction to be held on the new Stoll Field was a football game with the University of Louisville on October 4, 1924. A gridiron clash between Kentucky and the then-powerful Centre College team was the first game played in the fully-completed stadium on November 1, 1924.

The later reference to the concrete stands as "McLean Stadium" has existed since November 1, 1924, when the stadium was officially dedicated in memory of Price Innes McLean and a bronze plaque placed in the south stands by the Class of 1925. McLean, regular center on the 1923 Kentucky football squad, died November 7, 1923, as the result of injuries sustained in the U.K.-Cincinnati game played in the Queen City the afternoon before.

Major expansions of McLean Stadium in 1948 and 1949 have resulted in a current over-all seating capacity of approximately 36,000.

"Avenue of Champions" came into being in the spring of 1950 as an honorary title for that stretch of Euclid Avenue running between the University's $4,000,000 Memorial Coliseum and McLean Stadium. The street was officially re-named by the City of Lexington in recognition of the UK athletic teams' unprecedented success of 1950 in annexing the Southeastern Conference titles in both football and basketball and their national championships in the Sugar Bowl grid game and the NCAA cage tournament.

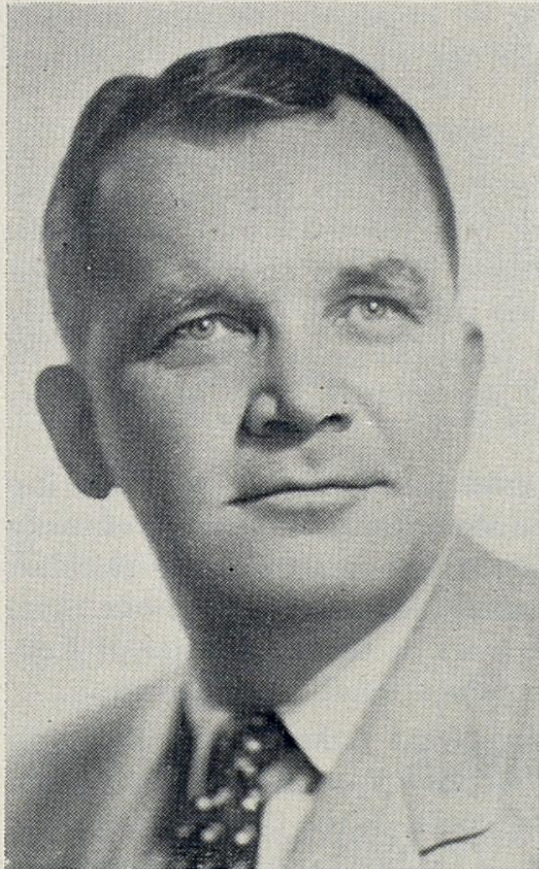

BLANTON L. COLLIER

Head Football Coach

(One Year — Won 7, Lost 3)

The story of the career of Blanton Long Collier essentially is a simple-yet-spectacular success tale best symbolized by the age-old adage of "home town boy makes good in the big time."

A quiet-mannered native Kentuckian, who fulfilled a life-long ambition when he took over the coaching reins at his home state university last season, Collier starts his second year as a collegiate mentor with the added laurels of Southeastern Conference "Coach of the Year" for 1954 tagged to his already illustrious record.

Fellow coaches of the SEC named him almost unanimously for the accolade in a poll by the Nashville Banner following his spectacular feat of guiding the '54 Wildcats to a surprisingly successful, 7-3 record and third-place finish in the conference race despite pre-season estimates that the club would land in the lower bracket.

In gaining the honor, Collier became the first coach in the 19-year history of the poll to be recognized in his initial season in the collegiate ranks and only the second "freshman" head coach to be cited. Additionally, he was the first Kentucky chief ever to be voted the award and finished high in the running for national "Coach of the Year" honors.

All of this personal tribute is taken in stride by Collier, a man who is the epitome of humbleness and who sincerely attributes the responsibility for success as resting equally on the shoulders of "the best staff of assistants you could ask for."

The 48-year-old former backfield coach of the professional champion Cleveland Browns, one of the few men who made the unique jump from high school coaching directly into the pro ranks before taking over collegiate tutoring, succeeded to the Kentucky position early in 1954 following the departure of Coach Paul Bryant to Texas A & M. Collier thus became the Wildcats' 27th head mentor in 64 years of UK grid history and brought with him one of the finest reputations in modern-day football.

New Contract Runs Through 1961

He was awarded a three-year contract, which was extended five years by grateful school authorities following his spectacular success of last season. The extension, with an undisclosed adjustment in salary included, makes the current pact good through 1961 and University President H. L. Donovan has stated that he hopes the popular mentor "will stay at Kentucky until he reaches the age when he prefers a lighter assignment."

Born in Millersburg, Ky., on July 2, 1906, and brought up in Paris, Ky., only 17 miles from the University, Collier began his athletic career at Paris High School by playing both football and basketball. Later, at Georgetown College, he lettered in both sports. Although not an outstanding gridder because of his lack of size (he weighed only 125 pounds then), he was nevertheless regarded as a close student of the game and upon graduation in 1927 was named coach of all sports at Paris High.

He held this position until he entered the Navy in 1943. During his 16 years at Paris, his teams won or shared two Central Kentucky Conference football titles and six basketball championships. His last high school grid team (1943) ranked as unofficial state champions. Also during this period he took postgraduate work at the University of Kentucky and received a master's degree in educational administration.

It was while he was stationed at the Great Lakes Naval Training Station during his Navy tour that Collier and Paul Brown discovered each other. Brown, a lieutenant and head coach of the Great Lakes football team, became impressed with Yoeman Collier's football knowledge and added him to the staff as an assistant coach. The following year (1946) when the Cleveland Browns were organized with Brown as head coach, Collier made the unique jump from high school ranks to the pros by going along as backfield coach.

During eight seasons with the Browns, Collier made a reputation that stamped him as a great teacher of football—determined but quietly patient. He was considered solid in gridiron fundamentals, meticulous in technique and perfection in play execution was his constant goal. His special function as a Cleveland aide was pass defense and the Browns consistently rated tops in the league in this department. However, rival coaches also regarded Collier as one of the most brilliant offensive tacticians in football and he became known as a daring and original, yet thoroughly sound gridiron mentor. One of his major contributions while No. 1 assistant to the fabulously successful Brown was a player-rating system developed through a studious, scientific approach to grading game films and he has put the system to good use at Kentucky.

Formerly Coached Single Wing

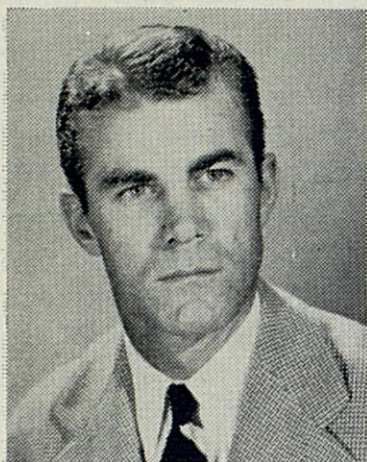

Collier's football philosophy has varied little during more than 25 years of coaching experience. During his high school days at Paris, he taught the Single Wing system and didn't change over to the T formation until he was coaching the quarterbacks at Great Lakes during the war. He first gained experience with the "T" as a spectator during his boot camp training at Bainbridge, Md., and later while observing the pro Philadelphia Eagles of Greasy Neale. At Kentucky, he chose to utilize the Split T and plans to stick with the system, with minor variations, this season. He considers himself basically a running coach and attempts to keep a 60-40 balance in favor of the ground attack.

Collier married Miss Mary Forman Varden of Paris in 1931 and they have three teen-age daughters. Carolyn, 19, attends University of Kentucky, while Kay, 15, is a student at Lexington Henry Clay and June, 14, goes to Morton Junior. The Colliers now make their home in Lexington.

ALUMNUS COACH

Although new Head Coach Blanton Collier did not receive his initial college degree from University of Kentucky, he nevertheless might rightfully be called the Wildcats' third alumnus coach. He was awarded a master's degree in educational administration by the University. Only other graduates of U.K. later to take up head football coaching duties at their alma mater were J. White Guyn (1906-08) and A. D. Kirwan (1938-44).

THE COACHING STAFF

ERMAL ALLEN

(Kentucky '42)

Backfield Coach

One of Kentucky's most famous athlete graduates, Allen at 34 has had a full career as a collegiate star, pro-football player and successful college grid coach. He starred at quarterback for the Wildcat forces from 1939 to 1941 and entered military service following graduation. Returning as a graduate student after his discharge, Allen became the center of one of the Southeastern Conference's most controversial cases when he attempted to play a fourth year of football in 1946 and was declared ineligible after two games. Allen joined the UK coaching staff of Paul Bryant for the remainder of the '46 season, spent the '47 campaign as a T-quarterback with the professional Cleveland Browns, whose backfield coach at this time was Blanton Collier, and then re-joined the Wildcat staff in 1948. He became Kentucky's head freshman mentor in 1950 and was promoted at season's end to backfield coach. The youthful Allen was retained in this capacity when Collier became head man of the Wildcats. In the off season, he plays a lot of golf and last summer won the state amateur championship. Hometown: Morristown, Tenn.

CLARENCE UNDERWOOD

(Marshall '38)

Line Coach

Underwood joined the Kentucky staff in 1948 following a highly-successful career as a high school grid mentor at Beckley, W. Va., and three years of service in World War II as a Navy lieutenant. A 1938 graduate of Marshall College, where he was a varsity guard for three years, Underwood was given full responsibility for Kentucky's line play in 1952. He is widely recognized as due the bulk of credit for developing the Wildcats' topnotch forward walls of the past few seasons and holds the highest respect of coaches and players, alike. In addition to usual coaching duties, "Buckshot" has the sometimes difficult task of keeping gridders eligible by prodding them to tackle the daily classroom grind with the same forcefulness demanded of them on the football field. He chose to remain on at Kentucky last year as a chief assistant to Blanton Collier following the departure of Paul Bryant. Hometown: Beckley, W. Va.

BILL ARNSPARGER

(Miami (O.) '50)

Line Coach

One of Coach Collier's former grid pupils at Paris (Ky.) High School and a native Kentuckian, Arnsparger joined the UK staff last year as an assistant in charge of offensive line play. The 27-year-old former Marine brings to the staff an excellent background of coaching experience which began at Miami (Ohio) U. following his graduation from that school in '50.

In 1951, he moved with boss Woody Hayes to Ohio State where he was tackle coach in charge of offensive line play for three seasons. Arnsparger played at tackle and guard on Collier's teams at Paris High from 1941-43 and entered UK as a freshman in '44. His tour of duty in the Marines began shortly thereafter and he transferred to Miami U. after his discharge to play under Sid Gillman and later Hayes. Hometown: Paris, Ky.

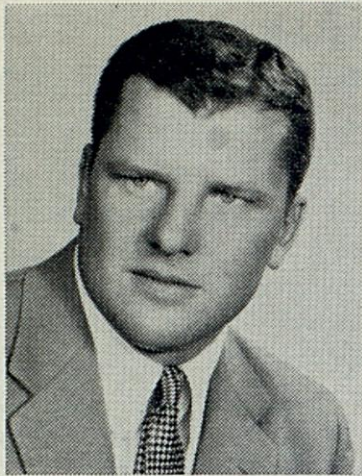

BILL MOSELEY

(Kentucky '48)

Backfield Coach

Moseley returned to his alma mater last year following five years as a highly-successful head coach and athletic director at his hometown high school of Sidney Lanier in Montgomery, Ala. His grid teams consistently ranked among the best schoolboy outfits in the south and went undefeated in nine games in 1951. The 32-year-old Alabaman played two years of football at Kentucky in 1941-42 before going into the service in World War II. After spending four years in the Air Force, he returned to UK in '46 for his final two seasons of competition. Moseley saw all of his action at fullback, lettering three times and serving as captain of the 1947 Wildcats. Following graduation in 1948, he stayed on to obtain a master's degree and served as an aide to Coach Paul Bryant that season. Two of Moseley's assistants at Lanier are now fellow aides on the Collier staff. They are Charley Bradshaw and Matt Lair. Hometown: Montgomery, Ala.

(Kentucky '48)

Line Coach

A tough competitor who looks the part of the former top-notch football guard that he was during his days at University of Kentucky, Lair is another product of Blanton Collier's coaching. He was born in nearby Paris, Ky., and played three years of the grid sport under Collier when the latter was coach at Paris High. Entering UK in 1941, Lair was a blocking back for two seasons before going in the service. Upon his return in '46, he played out his final two years' eligibility as a guard regular and then began a career in high school coaching. He was line coach at Sidney Lanier High in Montgomery, Ala., for three years, served one year as an assistant at Louisville Manual and in 1953 was head coach at Parrish High in Selma, Ala. Hometown: North Middletown, Ky.

CHARLEY BRADSHAW
(Kentucky '50)

Line Coach

An outstanding flankman during his playing days at University of Kentucky, Bradshaw is a serious-minded student of the game who brings to the coaching staff experience as a gridder of great native ability and as a successful high school coaching assistant. He played center and earned his first letter as a freshman with the Wildcats in 1946 and was the team's regular right end for the two and a quarter seasons following until he was ruled ineligible early in the '49 campaign by Commissioner Moore on grounds that he had played out his eligibility. Bradshaw finished out the season as an assistant freshman coach at UK and then moved to Sidney Lanier High in Montgomery, Ala., as an assistant football coach and co-ordinator of a junior high program. He became an aide on the Collier staff last season and like his fellow coaches, holds an M.A. degree to supplement his football knowledge. Hometown; Montgomery, Ala.

THE OUTLOOK FOR 1955

Although not a pessimist by nature or intent, Kentucky football chief Blanton Collier is given to taking a perfectionist's realistic view of any situation before pronouncing his judgment. And, when he carefully weighs all angles of the U.K. grid picture for 1955, he is prone to caution in all honesty that his second edition of Wildcats will be extremely fortunate to post as good a record as the 7-3 mark forged by the surprising club of last year.

That's about as close as you'll get to an outright guess from the 1954 Southeastern Conference "Coach of the Year" as to Kentucky's probable record in '55, but he unhesitatingly points out his reasoning.

"The way I feel," Collier explains, "is that our success last year was the result of the greatest effort I ever saw by a football team anywhere. This season, it looks to me like it is going to take an even greater effort to wind up with anywhere near as good a record as we had in 1954."

In the first place, the Kentucky mentor points out, the team will be missing ten very valuable lettermen. Five of them were starters on last season's squad lost via the graduation route while a sixth man, veteran guard Duke Curnutte, would have been the regular right guard this season if he had not been lost after spring practice due to scholastic difficulties. Another severe blow came during the early summer when former star fullback, Allen (Bull) Felch, suffered a broken neck in a swimming accident just a few days before he was due to be discharged from the Army. The Wildcats' leading ground gainer as a sophomore in '53, Felch had two years of eligibility left and was being counted upon for a Herculean share of duty at the weak fullback spot this season.

Twenty-two Lettermen Return

The squad likely will have slightly better depth this season than last, but the fact remains that inexperienced men—either untested sophs or a number two man of last year—will be operating at several different spots in the opening lineup and in front-line reserve roles. Twenty-two lettermen return for duty, but their general inexperience is reflected by the fact that more than half of them saw only 14 percent or less of a possible 600-minutes' action during 1954.

On the brighter side in the picture is the presence of one of the greatest aerial combines in Dixie grid history in the persons of quarterback Bob Hardy and his favorite target, Howie Schnellenberger. This stellar duo, who will serve as co-captains of the '55 Wildcats and who were unanimous choices on the pre-season All-Conference eleven, already is being compared to the dangerous team of Dixie Howell to Don Hutson which catapulted to national fame at Alabama in the early thirties.

Hardy Returns For Final Year

Hardy, the "Duke of Paducah" who came out of nowhere two seasons ago to lead the Wildcats undefeated through their last eight starts, had a sensational year in '54 as he guided Kentucky's Split T forces to a third-place tie in the league standings despite the absence of a good running attack to keep the opposition honest. Relying on his passing ability when the ground game bogged down, he salvaged many a victory for the team and captured personal honors as the leading passer in the conference, became the first back in the league to gain 1,000 yards last season and was named to the All-SEC unit. Helping Hardy in his assault on the passing records of All-America predecessor Babe Parilli will be an improved Schnellenberger. The six-foot, 205-pound senior flankman finished a close third in the conference pass receiving department last year and, in the absence of the two men who finished ahead of him, looms as the heir apparent to the league title this season.

Offsetting the obvious advantage of this great combination is the big gap in the forward wall left by the departure of both of last year's starting guards and a key reserve who was being counted on to plug one of the holes. And just who will take over at the right tackle spot vacated by graduated Co-Captain Pete Kirk remains a big question mark in pre-season planning. The top candidate seems to be promising but untested sophomore Lou Michaels. One of the most solid spots in the line will be the other tackle post, manned by standout Bill Wheeler—a prime candidate for All-Conference honors.

In the backfield, several shifts have been made in experiments designed to take up the slack caused by the graduation of the starting left half and first-string fullback. The forecast is for average speed, not too much size and questionable potential at fullback, the position classed as last year's biggest problem. The leading candidate for the middle back duties is Bob Dougherty, a promising 220 pounder. However, the sobering fact remains that he has not seen a minute of intercollegiate action for three years since he left the University of Cincinnati due to two years in the Marines and a season of inactivity necessitated by transfer rules. Unless Dougherty or some other prospect comes through to provide help in the running department, the outlook is for very little improvement (if any) in the Wildcats' attack operations. The aerial game apparently will have to carry the burden again in '55.

Turning from personnel to the difficulties imposed by one of the most imposing schedules ever arranged for a Wildcat eleven, the Kentucky chieftan hardly can choose which phase of his problem is the toughest.

There does not seem much to choose between the many tough opponents either. The card opens with an engagement against "dark-horse" Louisiana State in their home lair at Baton Rouge. The Tigers, under the direction of new head coach Paul Dietzel (former UK assistant under Bryant) and lowly-rated in pre-season polls, are in almost the exact same psychological position as the one that the Wildcats capitalized on last season. LSU was regarded by last year's UK gridders as the toughest physical team they faced and all reports indicate the Bayou Bengals will be even tougher this season.

Ole Miss To Visit Lexington

Defending SEC champion and Sugar Bowl participant Ole Miss provides Kentucky with its first home grounds' test the next weekend and the word is out that the Rebels will be primed to take this one as the key to a potentially perfect season. After a tussle with upcoming Villanova at Lexington, Kentucky moves to Birmingham for a stiff test at the hands of revenge-minded Auburn. Collier rates the Tigers as one of the best teams in the league and points out that they have been picked in pre-season polls as the club most likely to give Georgia Tech a serious battle for the championship. Possibly even more dangerous, from a psychological standpoint, are the the pair of league tilts coming next—Mississippi State and Florida. The two supposedly second-division elevens will have to be reckoned with carefully for signs of growing pains and this may be difficult, sandwiched in between crucial contests with Auburn and powerful Southwest Conference visitor Rice. The Owls provide Kentucky's homecoming opposition on Oct. 29 and they too will have a revenge motive since the Wildcats took their measure in an upset during the last meeting, at Houston in 1953. Rounding out the difficult card will be engagements with Vanderbilt, Memphis State and arch-enemy Tennessee. The Vols, smarting from two straight defeats at the hands of Kentucky, are under new management—Bowden Wyatt and Company—and by late season likely will be setting a stiff pace.

Aside from the obvious difficulties imposed by a schedule as imposing as the one that must be tackled in 1955, the one thing that worries Coach Collier most is the sobering fact that apparently the opposition—especially league foes—will be mentally ready for a top effort against Kentucky this season. While this might not seem a solid premise for excessive worry, Collier sees the mental attitude of a team as one of the most important ingredients of success, and when coupled with the Wildcats' many weaknesses, could easily spell trouble.

With Kentucky under the direction of a new coach and pegged as a second-division ball club in last season's advance ratings, the opposition tended to regard them lightly. The resulting "darkhorse" success seems to have created a sentiment of wariness regarding the Wildcats which, combined with an early spring outlook of slightly greater strength, caused U.K. to be rated fourth in the poll on probable conference finish—a sure tipoff that SEC teams don't intend to be caught napping again by the Collier men and that victory will not come as easy this fall.

BOB HARDY

All-America Candidate

Not so long ago, University of Kentucky grid fans and the Wildcat coaching staff were musing over the question of whether there would ever be another great quarterback come on the local scene to match the fabulous All-America passing genius, Vito (Babe) Parilli, who slaughtered innumerable national and sectional aerial records in guiding the Bluegrass eleven in its climb to national football prominence.

Today, there's little doubt in the minds of the fans and very little reservation in the more-carefully weighed, professional opinion of the coaches but what Bob Hardy fills that bill.

Actually there is no hard and fast method of comparison that will support such a claim. The two Wildcats played in different eras, under different conditions and circumstances and with Kentucky teams of different calibre.

But the feeling exists nevertheless that the "Duke of Paducah" has proved himself as one of the school's football greats and worthy of comparison, in so far as possible, in the same light as the great Parilli. And many believe that Hardy this season will climax an almost unprecedented career by making a sizeable dent in the records on which the "Kentucky Babe" built his claim to fame.

The senior co-captain of the '55 Wildcats, who won All-Conference honors and honorable mention on many All-America units last season while leading the Southeastern in passing, boasts a career story that reads like something out of Horatio Alger.

The "darkhorse" sensation of the South two seasons ago, Hardy came out of virtual obscurity in the third week of the season to break the Wildcats out of a slump and lead them undefeated through their last eight encounters. For his success in that first game he picked up the accolade of "SEC Player of the Week," an honor rarely bestowed on an unknown soph making his varsity debut, and won the title a couple of more times before the season was out.

Although he could not lay claim to any personal "darkhorse" role last year after his amazing success, the Paducah youth came through under pressure to direct Kentucky to a surprisingly-successful record of seven wins against only three defeats. In pre-season estimates, the Wildcats had been picked for a finish in the lower bracket of the conference and their feat of ending up in a tie for third and ranking as a bowl contender added new lustre to Hardy's record.

Two things of which the Paducah youth can boast in the comparison with Parilli are his running ability and defensive play, both of which he excels at. Hardy picked up enough ground yardage to go with his aerial gain last year to rank third in total offense among Southeastern Conference players. His final total of 1,009 yards fails to reflect the fact that he was the first back in the league to gain the coveted 1,000-yard mark in '54 and only the 35th SEC player to join the exclusive group. Operating in a straight T offense, Parilli rarely carried except on short sneaks or when trapped on pass attempts. And he never was called upon to tire himself with defensive play in the two-platoon days.

The only statistical comparison possible is on passing, although it is not a fair one due to different conditions (two-platoon vs. one-platoon, T vs. Split T, etc.) and different strength of supporting teams and opposition. However, it is interesting to note and serves to strengthen Hardy's bid for All-America recognition in 1955.

The comparison:

LETTERMEN LOST — 10

(Including Six Starters)

ENDS—LARRY HENNESSEY, a very valuable relief man as attested by the fact that he won four varsity letters during his grid career.

JACK HANLEY, another reserve who picked up three letters in four years for contributions in pinch-hitting at fullback and end.

TACKLES—HARRY (Pete) KIRK, four-letter veteran and co-captain who was the team's regular right tackle until an injury sidelined him late last season.

GUARDS—NEIL LOWRY, dependable starter at left guard who won his third letter last season while playing the second highest number of minutes in the Wildcats' 10 games.

DUKE CURNUTTE, three-letter veteran of tackle and guard duty who was to have been the team's starting right guard this season before he was lost for scholastic reasons.

JOE KOCH, diminutive but tough co-captain of the '54 Wildcats and regular right guard until injured in late season . . . Won three letters.

JOE STUART, former star halfback in six-man football who lettered as number two left guard last season.

CENTERS and QUARTERBACKS—None.

HALFBACKS—DICK MITCHELL, "pony-size" speedster who won three letters during career . . . Second leading ground gainer among Wildcats in '54 as regular left half and fifth in SEC on punt return yardage.

FULLBACKS—DICK RUSHING, three-letter veteran of fullback and quarterback duty who led the team in rushing last season with 4.9 average while serving as number one fullback.

KEN WILLIAMS, reserve fullback and one-time center who quit with a year remaining.

POSITION SUMMARY

ENDS—Above Average . . . The flanks shape up about the same as last season due to the absence of experienced depth . . . Howie Schnellenberger, third leading receiver in SEC during '54 and pre-season All-Conference choice, should have great year at left side as favorite target of QB Bob Hardy . . . Dependable Bradley Mills expected to hold down right side . . . Two lettermen missing.

TACKLES—Slightly Stronger . . . The right side starter, Co-Capt. Harry Kirk, was lost via graduation, but the other regular, senior Bill Wheeler, returns to bid strongly for recognition as one of the South's best . . . Top-flight soph Lou Michaels could break into lineup at Kirk's vacated spot, but will get competition from massive J. T. Frankenberger . . . Only other letterman, 215-pound Jack Butler.

GUARDS—Very Weak . . . Both '54 starters lost via graduation along with big Duke Curnutte, who was being shifted to right side from tackle duty . . . Not much experience among candidates and position rates as one of biggest problems . . . Senior Ray Callahan seems likely choice at left and either O. E. Philpot or Bob Bennett should open at right side.

CENTERS—Fairly Strong . . . The position lines up exactly the same as in '54 with Dave Kuhn getting the nod as top man, followed by fast-developing Steve Kiefer and veteran Leo Strange.

QUARTERBACKS—Strong . . . The two "H Boys" (Bob Hardy and Delmar Hughes) again should provide expert direction of Split T machinery with Hardy making a final assault on the career records of All-America predecessor Babe Parilli after ranking as SEC's leading hurler of '54 . . . Understudy Hughes and outstanding soph Kenny Robertson should lend needed help in relief roles.

HALFBACKS—Below Average . . . The departure of starting left half Dick Mitchell created a big gap . . . Don Netoskie, number two on right side last year, likely will get first call as the replacement . . . Operating at right half will be veteran Dick Moloney . . . Two other lettermen probably will fill in along with sophs.

FULLBACKS—Weak . . . This spot was the big problem of '54 and outlook is for more headaches this year . . . Leading ground gainer Dick Rushing has departed and bulldozing Allen Felch, expected back from the service to lend a big hand, is laid up in a Washington hospital after a swimming accident . . . The top prospect for starting duty, Bob Dougherty, has not seen a minute of action in three years due to military service and transfer ineligibility . . . Junior Bobby Walker could be the "darkhorse."

KENTUCKY'S COLORS

The blue and white of the University of Kentucky are known to sports fans everywhere. Officially the colors are Yale blue and white, but in the beginning, when the Lexington institution was still known as the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Kentucky, the colors were "Stoll Blue" and white. One day back in the 1890's a group of Kentucky football stalwarts met to choose their school colors. Someone suggested blue and white—"blue like Dick Stoll's necktie"—and those colors were immediately adopted. "Dick" Stoll was to become Judge Richard C. Stoll, distinguished public servant and, for more than fifty years before his death, a member of the U.K. board of trustees.

STOLL FIELD 'COW PASTURE' BIRTHPLACE OF DIXIE GRID SPORT

University of Kentucky's campus boasts the distinction of serving as the birth-place of Dixie football. Ironically, however, the forerunners of the present day Wildcats were not involved in the early grid contest.

The first inter-collegiate football game ever played in the South, and probably the first to take place west of the Alleghanies, came about April 9, 1880, on old Stoll Field. This gridiron, located adjacent to the present U.K. stadium and now used as a practice lot, was the site of the early tilt that saw Kentucky University (now known as Transylvania College) take the measure of Centre College, 13¾ to 0. The match, which was said to resemble a combination of soccer and rugby, followed by only six years the introduction of the game of football to the United States.

University of Kentucky (then called A & M College of Kentucky) did not play its first game until a year later on the same field, which once served as the private pasture for University President James Patterson's bovine herd.

HONORS COME LATELY

From its football beginnings in 1881 through 1942, Kentucky had only one player named to a recognized All-America team. In the short span of years since, no less than five have earned first team mention on the national honor rolls and three of the stars were repeaters. Thirteen Wildcats have received All-Conference recognition since the loop was organized in 1933.

ENDS

BEATTY, Jerry—Senior—Paintsville, Ky.

Served as the number two right end and saw extensive relief duty last season . . . At 6-1 and 186, he's rugged to deal with on defense and fast enough to rate as elusive pass catcher . . . Jerry served notice of his dangerous capabilities by turning his first pass reception into a 25-yard touch-down play two years ago and developed very fast last season while seeing 177 minutes of action . . . The 23-year-old Paintsville standout caught only four passes last season, but managed to reach pay dirt on one . . . He was team captain and All-State while at Paintsville and came to Kentucky by way of Augusta Military Academy . . . Expected to stand high in the end picture this season and likely will see considerably more duty on the basis of his outstanding showing in spring practice . . . Could break into the lineup as a starter on the right side.

CARLIG, Clyde—Junior—Chicago, Ill.

A returnee from military service who could lend very material help to the flank situation once he gets in shape and makes up lost ground . . . Clyde, who was an All-City fullback at Fenger High in Chicago, saw duty with the Wildcats as a reserve in his freshman year back in 1951 and ranked as the team's number one offensive end in the last year of the two-platoon (1952) . . . He caught only five passes that season, but picked up 140 vital yards and a pair of TD's to rate second in the pass receiving department . . . Carlilig was lost to the service after the '52 campaign . . . Since he missed spring practice, he likely will be a late comer this season.

CORNELIUS, John—Sophomore—Bethesda, Md.

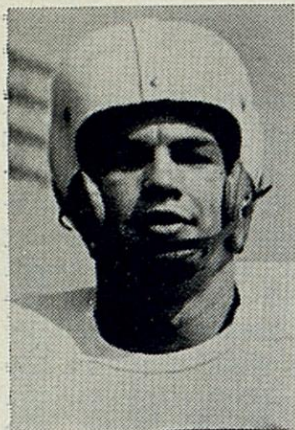

Biggest wingman on the squad at 6-4 and 195, Cornelius should make his presence felt in many an opponent's territory this season for more reason than size alone . . . He looked good as a freshman last year, starting at right end in the Kittens' final game against the Vandy frosh and was on the receiving end of a key, 39-yard pass play . . . John, who is called "Corney" by teammates, has good speed, showed up well in spring training and may be called upon to bolster either flank this fall if he proves himself ready . . . He was All-State in both football and basketball in his senior year at Chevy Chase High in Bethesda . . . Studying business administration.

LEWIS, Rick—Sophomore—Greenwich, Conn.

Saw only minor action as a freshman in '53 and last season failed to get into any games . . . He has been moved from halfback to end in an effort to make use of his potentialities and looked a little better this spring . . . While playing four years as a halfback at Greenwich High, Lewis was named All-City twice and in his senior campaign was an honorable mention on the All-Metropolitan (New York City) team . . . A high school track standout, as well as a grid star, Rick can really ramble once he gets his 5-11, 172-pound frame moving.

MILLS, Bradley—Senior—Lynch, Ky.

An all-around "spot player" who won his first letter as the team's regular safetyman as a freshman in '52, Mills was shifted to end at the start of his sophomore year and later was assigned as a relief right halfback . . . Moving back to the wing position last year following the departure of regular Al Zampino for Army service, Mills seemed to find himself and had a great season as the right side starter . . . In addition to his recognized defensive capabilities, the former All-State end from Lynch blossomed into an excellent pass receiver and was the team's top punter. The statistics show he booted the ball an even 1,000 yards in 29 tries, but do not reflect the one kick that fans and his coaches will never forget . . . That was an "impossible," desperation, left-footed punt out of his own end zone in last season's Tennessee game which averted a possible safety that could have won the game for the Vols . . . Mills also was the fifth leading receiver in the Southeastern Conference last year with his record of 305 yards on 18 catches, second only to Schnellenberger among the Wildcats . . . One of his best performances was turned in against Georgia Tech in '54, catching one 26-yard TD pass and setting up the winning marker with another 14-yarder . . . The 6-1, 192 pound Mills is the son of a mine foreman in Kentucky's coal-producing region of Lynch and is studying to be a dentist.

PACK, Roger—Junior—Jenkins, Ky.

Inexperience held him back last season, but Pack is considered a very good prospect by the coaching staff and is due for much more important action this season . . . Relegated to the third string at left end while picking up grid savvy as a soph in '54, he played only about 25 minutes all season but earned his varsity letter . . . Caught one pass for 15 yards . . . He impressed enough in spring practice to move up to the number two left end spot . . . Pack has the size, at 6-2 and 202, and pass-catching ability to stand him in good stead as a fundamentally sound flankman . . . He was an honorable mention All-State end selection at Jenkins High in 1952.

SCOTT, Bob—Sophomore—Ludlow, Ky.

One of the pleasant surprises of last season while cavorting with the Kittens, Scott has served notice that he will have to be reckoned with seriously for a top flight reserve role this year . . . He has good size at 6-1 and 186 plus a fine pair of hands and is a good blocker . . . Operated on the right side as a freshman and probably will hold down the number two or three spot there with the varsity this season . . . Attended Dixie Heights High in northern Kentucky where he starred in football under Rice Mountjoy . . . Studying Agriculture.

SCHNELLENBERGER, Howard—Senior—Louisville, Ky. (CO-CAPTAIN)

One of the South's top flankmen, Co-Captain Schnellenberger was named to the pre-season All-Southeastern Conference team and is being touted by the experts as the probable pass receiver leader in the league this season . . . He finished third among SEC receivers last year and topped the Wildcats with a record of 19 catches for 254 yards and three touchdowns . . . The two men who finished ahead of him in the loop statistics a year ago are gone . . . As the favorite target of ace quarterback Bob Hardy, the duo make up Dixie's best aerial combine since the days of Alabama's Dixie Howell to Don Hutson . . . Unspectacular and lacking the knack of being colorful in action, Howie gets a good job done in business-like fashion . . . He's not exceptionally fast and relies on out-thinking his opponent plus a glue-fingered pair of hands . . . The headline writer's dilemma earned his first varsity "K" as the team's regular defensive end in his freshman campaign (1952) and has added two more since then for consistently outstanding performance . . . One of his best games was turned in against arch-rival Tennessee last season as he capped an A-1 job by catching the rain-soaked ball in the final minutes for the winning touchdown . . . Relegated to the third team in All-State selections while playing his final year at Louisville Flaget High in '51, he has blossomed into a mature and dependable performer in collegiate competition . . . Schnellenberger captained both the grid and cage squads in his final year of high school and was named on the All-National Catholic schoolboy football team . . . Majoring in Commerce.

campaign (1952) and has added two more since then for consistently outstanding performance . . . One of his best games was turned in against arch-rival Tennessee last season as he capped an A-1 job by catching the rain-soaked ball in the final minutes for the winning touchdown . . . Relegated to the third team in All-State selections while playing his final year at Louisville Flaget High in '51, he has blossomed into a mature and dependable performer in collegiate competition . . . Schnellenberger captained both the grid and cage squads in his final year of high school and was named on the All-National Catholic schoolboy football team . . . Majoring in Commerce.

Showed up well as a regular with the yearling unit last season and was considered one of the best prospects among the Kittens . . . Only lack of experience is expected to hold him back this year . . . He's expected to see action on the left side, but the seeming wealth of available candidates may either cut his playing time down or encourage him to greater effort in an attempt to beat out the competition . . . Won't lack size at 6-1 and 197 to get the job done . . . Studying Commerce.

URBANIAC, Jim—Sophomore—Fairmont, W. Va.

Hailing from the same hometown as former UK fullback Bill Leskovar (1948-51), Urbaniak stood out as one of the best of the freshmen last season . . . Switched from end to halfback this spring, but will be put back at the flank location this fall . . . Appears likely to get into action before the season is over . . . Played three seasons as an end and halfback at Fairmont Senior High, winning All-West Virginia second team mention in his senior year . . . He has good size (6-0, 188) and fair speed for a big man . . . Studying a pre-medical course and is an A student.

TACKLES

BUTLER, Jack—Junior—Tompkinsville, Ky.

A willing competitor who came into his own last season to provide backstopping strength when the injury bug bit into the tackle corps . . . Started three games in late season, making his initial debut against Villanova in place of Co-Captain Pete Kirk . . . The road to regular duty was a long one since Butler did not play as a freshman in '52 and was held out in 1953 to gain added experience and size . . . His improvement in both departments was noted last season and in spring drills this year . . . Jack now tips the scales at 215 and stands 6-4 . . . Picked up his first letter in '54 and should be in the thick of the three-way duel for starting duty at right tackle this season . . . He comes from a farming family of 10 in Tompkinsville . . . Played approximately 140 minutes last fall and should see considerably more action in 1955.

FRANKENBERGER, J. T.—Junior—Louisville, Ky.

A six-foot-four inch, 220-pound young giant, Frankenger came into his own last season and played a lot of tackle . . . Although a reserve most of the year, except for a couple of games he started in mid-season when regular Pete Kirk was injured, he totaled approximately 220 minutes of action . . . J. T. (standing for Jerome Thomas, which is never used) started off the 1953 campaign as an end, the position he played at Louisville Flaget High for four years, but was shifted to tackle before the season reached the halfway point . . . He is in the thick of the fight for a starting berth at right tackle this year and should be a top performer if he beats out stiff competition . . . Enrolled in a pre-law course of study . . . In the off season, he tosses the shot for the track team—better than 45 feet on the average.

HAPPE, Joe—Sophomore—Philadelphia, Pa.

Although he was not among 29 frosh officially certified to the conference last year, Happe stuck it out and practiced hard to improve himself . . . He has been tried at both tackles, but likely will end up on the right side if he makes the grade for varsity duty this year . . . Joe stands 6-2, weighs 215 and is 20 years old . . . Attended Penn Charter high school in Philadelphia and was high on the area honor teams.

LINDON, Bob—Sophomore—Hazard, Ky.

The husky Lindon will be given every opportunity to fit himself into the tackle picture this year as the coaching staff is definitely counting on him in '56 . . . Probably will rate about number three on the right side and see considerable relief duty during this season . . . He was a certified freshman last year and played a lot of ball at tackle . . . Also was tried at guard . . . Bob is a cousin of Luke Lindon, who played his college football at UK in the late 30's and later was with the pro Philadelphia Eagles and Detroit Lions . . . 6-0 and 230 . . . Studying a pre-dental course.

LUTZ, Ken—Senior—Louisville, Ky.

Despite the fact that his size stamps him as a natural collegiate football tackle, regular varsity duty just hasn't been in the cards so far for Lutz . . . The 6-4, 224-pound former Louisville Manual High star has rendered valuable service in relief capacities both during his sophomore and junior years . . . He has shown up exceptionally well at times, but there was always someone ahead of him just a little more talented or experienced . . . The coaching staff feels he has the determination to succeed and are expecting a major contribution from him this season . . . Probably will play on the left side as relief man for Bill Wheeler . . . Lutz is the biggest man on the Wildcat squad.

MICHAELS, Lou—Sophomore—Swoyerville, Pa.

One of the outstanding sophomore prospects in the Southeastern Conference, Michaels brought a terrific reputation with him when he came to the Wildcats last year from Staunton (Va.) Military Academy and proceeded to live up to every inch of it . . . The two-time All-State star, who is a brother to the Cleveland Browns' guard Walt Michaels, showed himself a mature young giant with born ability plus speed and agility . . . Turned in sparkling performances both offensively and defensively in the Kitten's three engagements, handling the point after touchdown kicking chores as well as playing left tackle . . . Lou operates with a seeming reckless abandon that reminds many UK fans of Bob Gain, Wildcat All-America tackle in 1949-50 . . . Although he must prove himself in varsity competition, many people are predicting he will be another Gain before his career is completed . . . He was one of only two sophs to be named on the honorable mention list of the pre-season All-Conference team . . . Has the size at 6-1 and 221 to get the job done . . . In a bow to experience on the part of other candidates, Lou may not pick up a starting assignment at the start of the season but will certainly be used very extensively . . . The name is taken from the Polish Majka and he's one of a family of six brothers and one sister.

MOORE, Don—Sophomore—Owensboro, Ky.

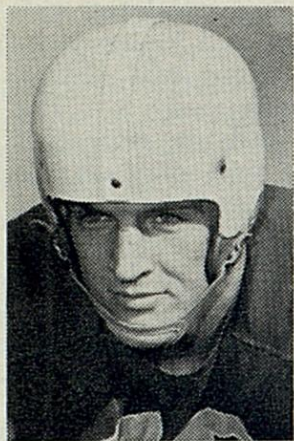

A willing competitor who showed up well as a freshman last season . . . Saw duty as the regular right tackle in the three tilts played by the Kittens in 1954 . . . He has convinced the coaching staff that ability is there and if he can fire himself up with as much determination he could see a lot of action in relief this year . . . The 6-1, 201-pound Moore was honorable mention on the All-State team in his senior year at Owensboro High . . . Studying Agriculture.

WARNDORF, Jim—Sophomore—Louisville, Ky.

Could develop into a good prospect with experience under his belt . . . He was not certified as a freshman last year in a move designed to give him a chance for additional seasoning . . . Showed improvement in spring practice and could see action on the left side . . . The 6-2, 201-pound Warndorf attended St. Xavier High in Louisville where he played four years under former UK back Johnny Meihaus

WHEELER, Bill—Senior—Pikeville, Ky.

Probably the most underrated tackle in the country . . . Bill is the unspectacular type who does things right and does them well, without being flashy . . . The husky lad from Pikeville, who tips the scales at 210 and stands 6-4, first captured attention as a rawboned freshman defensive end back in the two-platoon days of 1952 and was one of the first yearlings promoted to the varsity . . . After seeing limited action, he was picked for a starting assignment against Cincinnati and appeared headed for a great season . . . Hard luck intervened, however, and he suffered a broken wrist after the first four minutes of the game . . . Although sidelined the remainder of the season, he was awarded a varsity letter . . . After seeing duty as a top reserve in '53, he again bounced into the limelight last season and started every game at left tackle . . . He turned in a consistently good performance all year despite the temporary handicap of a hand injury . . . The outlook is for a great job from Wheeler this season . . . A straight A student in pre-medicine as well as on the gridiron, he won a spot on the Academic All-Conference team sponsored by American Peoples Encyclopedia in '54 . . . An interesting sidelight, which reflects his surprising speed for a big man, came last winter when Wildcat Cage Chief Adolph Rupp selected him to round out the Kentucky roster for the NCAA Tournament after injuries had cut into the squad . . . He was named to the All-State second team in basketball while a schoolboy as well as being a first team All-State in football and captained the school's teams in both sports his senior year.

GUARDS

BALLANCE, Bob—Sophomore—Russellville, Ky.

One of eight sophomore guard prospects, Ballance is considered a good prospect but may not see much action this season despite the weakness of the position . . . If he could come through to help, adequate depth would be assured . . . He was held out of action as a freshman last season to gain size and experience . . . Stands 5-11 and weighs 196 . . . Played guard and tackle in high school . . . Studying Engineering.

BENNETT, Bob—Junior—Russell, Ky.

A husky 5-11 and 205, Bennett has the size to go with a tremendous spirit and should develop into a fine guard this season . . . He's in line for possible starting duty since the loss of Duke Curnutte this spring . . . Saw 105 minutes of action as a left side reserve last year and showed some improvement in spring practice . . . Has earned one letter and is one of only three lettermen at guard . . . Known familiarly to teammates as "Barney," he works with the baseball team in off season as a left handed twirler . . . Although the Russell High standout was an honorable mention All-State selection at tackle, he was moved to guard to make greater use of his natural abilities.

BUCHANAN, Don—Sophomore—Barbourville, Ky.

Another of the promising but inexperienced soph prospects, Buchanan was tried at tackle during his freshman campaign last year but was moved to guard this spring to give strength to the weak position . . . He was not certified for action last year and lack of game duty is certain to handicap him . . . Played tackle at Barbourville High and won honorable mention on All-State balloting . . . 5-11, 200 pounds . . . Studying Agriculture.

CALLAHAN, Ray—Senior—Lebanon, Ky.

A sure-fire competitor wherever he is stationed in the lineup . . . Due to operate at the number one left guard spot this season . . . Became a fullback when he enrolled at Kentucky in '52 despite the fact he lacked above average size and had played as a halfback while at Lebanon High . . . After a year on the defensive platoon, he converted to full time duty by posting a 4.7 rushing average . . . Switched to guard duty last year at the suggestion of Coach Collier after regular Joe Koch was injured . . . Although he'd never played the position before, he caught on fast and made his initial starting assignment against powerful Georgia Tech . . . Played regularly at right guard the rest of the year and this spring moved over to the left side to replace the graduated Neil Lowry . . . His 291 minutes of action was the tenth highest amount of time played by any Wildcat in '54 . . . He's married and sizes up at 5-11, 186 . . . Two letter man . . . An excellent student, Callahan was named one of 15 outstanding physical education majors of the 1954-55 school year.

COLLIER, Bob—Sophomore—Jenkins, Ky.

A high school fullback and end at Jenkins, tutored by former Kentucky tackle Jim MacKenzie, who is regarded as one of the top young prospects on the squad . . . Has shown a lot of promise of developing and likely will see considerable action as the number two man at left guard this season . . . He's a hard worker on the field and has the size, at 6-1 and 205, to make his presence felt . . . Collier was an All-Conference player in both football and basketball while a schoolboy . . . His father in a miner and Bob is studying Engineering . . . The answer to the obvious question: No, he's no relation to his namesake, Coach Collier.

FERGUSON, Darrell—Sophomore—Erlanger, Ky.

Came to Kentucky as a fullback candidate after operating at that position for three years while attending Lloyd High school in the northern Kentucky town of Erlanger . . . Switched to guard soon after his arrival and seems to have thrived on the change . . . He was not among those freshmen certified for action last season, but will be put on the official list this year . . . Biggest of the guards at 6-1, 210.

GOBLE, John—Sophomore—Prestonsburg, Ky.

Inexperienced since he has yet to see action, but should be ready to lend material aid to the Wildcat cause when called upon this season . . . Goble's development into a dependable performer would strengthen a woefully weak position handicapped by the loss of both starters and the man who would have been the right side starter this year . . . John looked good in spring practice and rated number two at right guard at the close . . . Has the physical attributes (6-2 and 192) to stand him in good stead . . . He was a teammate of UK quarterback Delmar Hughes at Prestonsburg High and was All-Conference.

ILLARI, John—Sophomore—Louisville, Ky.

A promising young veteran of Korea duty, Illari did not get to see action last season since he was not certified . . . Has picked up his lessons well in the meantime and will be declared on the eligibility list this season . . . Expected to play extensively in a relief role at right guard . . . He was a tackle while playing for Flaget High in Louisville from 1948 to 1951 . . . Spent 3½ years in service . . . Sizeable at 6-0, 204, Illari is studying to be a mechanical engineer.

MARTIN, Jack—Sophomore—Corbin, Ky.

Willing and promising rookie who showed up well at the very start of last season with the Kittens . . . Started the yearling's first game at left guard . . . Later shifted to the right side in an experiment and this spring put back at left where he may see some reserve duty this season . . . He is 5-11, 193 and played both tackle and fullback at Corbin High, making All-Conference.

PHILPOT, O. E.—Senior—Lebanon, Tenn.

Injuries have continually cropped up to handicap Philpot during his Wildcat days and nipped in the bud a very promising career . . . In the past, he has had shoulder trouble, broken wrist and this year, being no exception, he severely cut several fingers in an accident at military camp . . . He's expected to be ready to battle it out for starting duty on the right side, replacing Duke Curnutte who was lost for scholastic reasons . . . An All-Mid-South selection in '51 as a center, guard and linebacker with Lebanon High in Tennessee, he was used sparingly as a defensive center-linebacker at Kentucky in his freshman year and failed to see enough action until last year to pick up a varsity letter . . . Known to teammates only by the initials O. E., he was coached in high school by former UK assistant Joe Atkinson . . . He stands 6-2 and weighs 208.

POWERS, Archie—Sophomore—Williamsburg, Ky.

Potentially an outstanding prospect, Powers showed flashes of brilliance last season and with experience is expected to blossom into a fine collegiate gridder . . . He had a good high school reputation, being selected on the honorable mention list of the All-America schoolboy team as well as being honorable mention All-State . . . Played tackle at Williamsburg High, but shifted to guard during his freshman year at Kentucky . . . He is 19, stands 5-11 and weighs 202.

ROSE, Paul—Sophomore—Lexington, Ky.

Only Lexington boy on the squad and one of the few locals to stick it out past their freshman seasons in recent years, Rose was an outstanding fullback at Lafayette High where he was coached by ex-UK center Bill Schaffnit (1948-50) . . . He was converted to center as a yearling competitor in collegiate ranks last season and showed up well in the Kittens' three games . . . He will be tried at guard this fall . . . Although there are more experienced men ahead of him, he's given a chance to bust in for some relief work this year . . . 6-1, 186 . . . Studying business administration.

KIEFER, Steve—Junior—Bellevue, Ky.

One of the pleasant surprise packages that every coach hopes to find, Kiefer came through with flying colors to aid the Wildcat cause immeasurably as a sophomore last season . . . Very alert defensive man and performed offensive chores with equal effectiveness . . . Coaches like to recall that no team scored on Kentucky while he was in the game last year . . . Ended up the season by beating out the veteran Leo Strange for ranking as number two man in the center picture and that's where he will start out this season . . . Never was as impressive in high school, rating only third team mention in the All-State selections while at Bellevue High . . . Has good size at 6-1, 210 and adequate speed . . . Earned his varsity letter last year.

KING, Lawson—Sophomore—Belfry, Ky.

An outstanding prospect who was the leading center on the squad at the end of the season during his yearling campaign in '54 . . . Only the presence of three experienced centers on the roster will keep him sidelined to any extent this year . . . Can be counted upon to provide much needed help next season . . . A good blocker and passes the ball well . . . He's 5-11, 205 . . . All-Conference at Belfry High . . . Studying to be an engineer.

STRANGE, Leo—Senior—Louisville, Ky.

A highly-dependable veteran who has picked up three varsity letters for valuable relief duty . . . Earned the first as a yearling in '52 on the strength of good defensive work at a linebacker post and picked up the other two in the past successive seasons while backstopping the regular center . . . He was in the thick of the fight for starting duty in '54, but lost out to youth . . . As an experiment intended to make the most effective use of his football knowledge and experience, he was tried at a tackle post this spring but moved back when he could not adapt himself to the unfamiliar position . . . Unselfish and co-operative to the utmost, Leo is being counted upon to give valuable service in whatever role he is assigned . . . He is 6-0, 218 and a graduate of Louisville Manual High.

KUHN, Dave—Junior—Louisville, Ky.

One of the outstanding linemen in the Conference, Dave was the Wildcats' regular center all last season as a second-year man and received honor as a member of the All-SEC Sophomore team selected by the Atlanta Constitution . . . In high school, Kuhn (pronounced "coon") was regarded as the best defensive player in the state and Coach Collier made good use of his proven ability by having Dave handle the defensive signal calling duties last year . . . The Wildcat chief says the ace center "has fine potential and can be great if he wants to" . . . Kuhn ranked as the leading "thief" on the '54 team since he snared off three enemy aerials from his linebacker post and returned them 29 yards to lead all others . . . He was one of only five juniors named on the pre-season All-Conference team for '55 . . . Dave is a brother to Charley Kuhn, a UK gridder in the forties and now coach at Louisville Male, and was twice All-State and once All-America as a schoolboy at Male High.

MULLINS, John—Junior—McRoberts, Ky.

An honorable mention All-State selection at center in 1952, Mullins was tried at center at the start of last season and then moved over to guard when injuries sapped the strength of that position . . . This fall he will be put back at his natural center location and should do better . . . Saw only about 14 minutes of action, but may get in more duty this season despite lack of extensive game experience and the fact that he is the smallest of the guard candidates at 6-0, 180.

WAITE, Dale—Sophomore—Ludlow, Ky.

A versatile and willing performer, this northern Kentucky boy might end up anywhere in the lineup . . . While playing for Ludlow High, he made the All-Conference team as a tackle . . . Shortly after enrolling at UK in 1953, he became a candidate for right end and last year was shifted to center to make more effective use of his natural abilities . . . He was held out in '54 to gain additional seasoning and should show up well this year despite all the competition at center . . . Dale is 6-1, 188.

QUARTERBACKS

FREEMAN, Jack—Sophomore—Danville, Ky.

A well regarded scatback who has yet to see game action . . . He did not get to play as a Kentucky yearling in '53 and was held out last year while experiments were conducted to find the best spot in the lineup for him . . . Started out as a right halfback, but before the season was very old last year he was shifted to quarterback . . . Likely to rank fourth in the picture behind the talented Bob Hardy . . . At Danville High, he won mention on the third team All-State squad as a back and was tutored during part of his career by former Wildcat guard Pat James . . . Freeman is a pre-medical student who consistently picks up nearly perfect grades . . . He is 5-10, 160 and has good speed.

HARDY, Bob—Senior—Paducah, Ky. (CO-CAPTAIN)

All-America candidate who was the Southeastern Conference's leading passer of 1954 . . . Back for a final assault on the aerial records of his illustrious predecessor, Babe Parilli . . . Will serve as co-captain of the '55 Wildcats . . . SEE STORY ON HARDY IN FRONT SECTION OF BOOK.

HUGHES, Delmar—Junior—Prestonsburg, Ky.

Understudy to Bob Hardy who almost got the nod over his famed teammate for a starting assignment two years ago . . . He showed up so well in early season action in '53 that former Coach Paul Bryant toyed with the idea of bringing Hughes up to the number one spot despite his freshman status and seriously considered starting him in the third game of the season after other quarterbacks couldn't keep the outfit out of a slump . . . Fate intervened, however, and Hardy was plucked from virtual obscurity and given the task that gained him his fame . . . Ever since that moment, Hughes has been high in the picture and has given the Wildcats one of the best quarterback duos in college football . . . While he is lacking in the polish added by extensive game experience, Delmar reminds many observers of the great Babe Parilli (UK All-America quarterback in 1950-51) in his build and mannerisms . . . Came to the Wildcats with a great high school reputation as one of the best passers ever seen in the state . . . He rewrote the record books at Prestonsburg as he completed 271 aerials in 397 attempts over a three-year span for a total of 3,401 yards . . . Delmar passed for 51 TD's and scored 25 himself . . . Also kicked 67 extra points to bring his three-year total to 217 . . . Looked exceptionally good as a Kentucky freshman two seasons ago and last year completed 26 out of 50 passes and kicked 11 out of 12 points after touchdown . . . There are few better PAT men in the conference and his kicks furnished the margin for Kentucky's one point victories last season over LSU and Tennessee . . . He's 6-1, 185 and has two younger brothers (Lowell and Paul Phillip) who also are excellent passers.

Hughes's record as a Wildcat:

	Att.	Comp.	Pct.	Had Int.	Yds. Gain	TD Passes	Times Carried	Yds. Gain	TD's	PAT Att.	PAT Made
1953	11	5	45.4	2	38	0	5	-37	0	8	4
1954	50	26	52.0	6	261	1	35	49	1	12	11*
	61	31	50.9	8	299	1	40	12	1	20	15

* Does not include one field goal made in one attempt.

ROBERTSON, Kenny—Sophomore—West Palm Beach, Fla.

One of the team's most outstanding sophomores, Robertson starred with the Kentucky freshman unit last season . . . Started every game and served as co-captain of the Kittens . . . In his very first start against the Morehead State College varsity, he engineered an 80-yard fourth-quarter drive, climaxed by his own 43-yard sprint, that gave UK a 7-6 win . . . Showed exceptional poise in the yearlings' other two games as he directed them to a split decision against the Vandy frosh . . . He has a keen mind and his passing and running displayed potentiality of a great nature . . . Looked good in the spring Blue-White intra-squad game . . . Has adequate size at 5-11, 183 . . . How far he goes depends on his desire . . . A good student studying to be a civil engineer . . . Served as president of Kitten Lodge, freshman football quarters, last year . . . Won numerous honors in football at Palm Beach High in Florida, including All-State selection and the Civitan's Award as the "Most Outstanding Football Player."

HALFBACKS

BONICH, Bob—Sophomore—Lynch, Ky.

Failed to get into action with the freshman unit last season due to the fact he was recovering from an injury suffered in the All-Star game, Bonich is listed as a prime prospect for considerable duty at left half this season . . . One of Kentucky's prize schoolboys two seasons ago, Bonich was an All-State selection and widely sought by several schools . . . Although he missed Lynch High's first three games in his final year, he managed to score 80 points for the Bulldogs . . . Played both fullback and halfback . . . Solidly built at 6-0, 187.

BRAWNER, Phil—Sophomore—Bardstown, Ky.

Not certified for duty as a freshman last season in order to give him a better chance to develop physically and fundamentally, Brawner shows promise of breaking into the lineup for limited action this year if he works hard . . . Competition will either make or break him . . . He was co-captain of his high school team at Bardstown in 1953, made All-Conference and was an honorable mention nominee on the All-State team . . . Plans to major in chemistry . . . He's 5-11, 189 and has fair speed.

BROWN, Locky—Senior—Beverly Hills, Calif.

Son of Johnny Mack Brown, former Alabama All-American and now a TV-movie favorite in westerns, Locky in 1952 became one of the first out-of-state scholarship recipients under former Coach Bryant's "Kentucky-first" recruiting policy . . . Transferred here after a year at Menlo (Calif.) Junior College and layed out the '52 season . . . Has looked promising at times, particularly in spring practice, but has yet to blossom into prominence as an active performer . . . He's been handicapped by minor injuries in past years and may come into his own this season . . . 6-2, 178.

CHARLES, Dick—Sophomore—Murray, Ky.

One of several potentially promising prospects who were not certified as officially eligible for freshman duty last season in the hopes they would improve in grid savvy and size with a year of seasoning . . . He could break into game duty this year if he shows enough in fall practice . . . The road will be difficult due to stiff competition, but Charles has the determination to succeed . . . He's 6-0, 185 . . . Studying Commerce.

CLERE, Don—Sophomore—Ashland, Ky.

Saw considerable action with the Kentucky freshman team last season as a left halfback . . . Started the Kittens' first game against Morehead and showed up well . . . Later he was shuttled down to a reserve role, but continued to impress both coaches and railbirds with his desire . . . May see some action this season despite the abundance of competition . . . Lack of a good burst of speed handicaps him . . . He is 5-11, 190 . . . Majoring in Engineering.

CURNUTTE, Ivan—Sophomore—Ashland, Ky.

Probably the smallest collegiate football player in the country, little Ivan is only 5-4 and 159 pounds . . . But he makes up what he lacks in size with sheer determination and love of the game . . . He's a tough little hombre and his never-say-die attitude rubs off on some of the bigger boys in practice and games . . . "Ivan the Terrible," as he's sometimes known, has outshone bigger, more experienced stars and in his initial varsity start as a Wildcat two seasons ago scored a touchdown the first time he had his hands on the ball in a college game (Villanova) . . . He was not used last season, but will be awfully hard to keep on the bench this year despite his lack of size . . . Curnutte played three seasons at halfback with Ashland High and earned honorable mention All-America honors.

GORMAN, Charles—Sophomore—Louisville, Ky.

Another "pony-sized" halfback who will have a difficult time breaking into the lineup as a varsity performer due to bigger, more experienced men ahead of him . . . Listed for possible duty at right half this year if he overcomes the obstacles in his path . . . He was not certified as a freshman last season to give him an additional year to develop . . . Played fullback at St. Xavier High in Louisville under ex-UK back Johnny Meihaus and set a state record throwing the discus.

HARRINGTON, Roger—Junior—Louisville, Ky.

A hard-nosed ball player who'll gladly mix it up with the best of them regardless of size, Harrington saw limited action at left half last year . . . He was held out in '52 and was not active during the '53 campaign due to a knee injury suffered in fall practice . . . Seems to possess exceptional speed and works hard in practice to better himself . . . Lined up at right half in spring workouts and should see some relief duty this season if he hits his stride . . . Graduate of DuPont Manual High in Louisville, where he played halfback and fullback . . . He is 5-9, 161 and majoring in geology.

HERZOG, Woody—Sophomore—Hamilton, Ohio

One of the Wildcats' most promising sophomore backs, Herzog is thought of as potentially one of the best running backs on the team . . . Needs only experience to develop into a top flight halfback . . . He was not certified last season as a freshman in an attempt to bring him along without the pressure of game action . . . Woody lettered twice in football at Hamilton High and received the school's 1953 award as the best back and most valuable player . . . Also a member of the state champion net squad . . . He's 5-11, 185 and plans to major in history.

MITCHELL, Billy—Junior—Georgetown, Ky.

Lanky speed merchant who has shown tremendous promise with flashes of brilliance in workouts and game action . . . He contributed greatly to the Wildcat effort last season as number two left halfback . . . Posted a very creditable 5.3 average gain on 25 trips with the pigskin and ranked fifth among UK ground gainers . . . Played a total of 195½ minutes . . . He was moved over to the right side in spring practice this year and likely will be number two man behind regular Dick Moloney in that spot . . .

Everybody is predicting a great year for him . . . Has good size at 6-2, 186 . . . A quarterback for four years under the coaching of Tom Green at Georgetown Garth High school, Billy made third team All-State and was an honorable mention All-America choice in his final season as a schoolboy (1952) . . . He also was a standout in basketball, gaining first team All-State mention two successive years ('52-53) and played the sport with the UK freshman team . . . Last winter, he was one of two gridgers with outstanding schoolboy basketball reputations to be selected by Wildcat Cage Coach Adolph Rupp to round out the injury-riddled UK roster for the NCAA Tournament.

MOLONEY, Dick—Senior—Covington, Ky.

Veteran of two seasons' starting duty at right halfback, Moloney is being counted upon to lend a steadying influence to this year's Wildcat backfield . . . Hardly classed as either a scatback or flashy star, he nevertheless gets a good job done as witnessed by his good record of 5.5 yards per carry in 1954 . . . Picked up 215 yards from scrimmage on 39 trips . . . Caught four passes for 54 yards . . . Intercepted one pass and ran it back 23 yards for a TD . . . Returned four punts and an equal number of kickoffs, averaging a return of 9.5 on the former and 20.5 in the latter department . . . Moloney made the conversion from two-platoon defensive specialist to double duty two years ago with surprising ease and became a starter in several games during 1953 . . . His hustle and determination plus the fact that he hits much harder than his size (6-0, 177) would indicate have established the former Dixie Heights High star as a tough man to beat . . . Best classed as one of football's "blood and guts" guys who make up for lack of superior size and outstanding native ability by old-fashioned, driving desire . . . He has had some fullback experience, but seems more at home as a halfback . . . The Covington senior, who has already earned three letters, captained both the football and basketball squads at Dixie Heights in his final year there and won honorable mention All-State.

Moloney's record at Kentucky:

	RUSHING			MISCELLANEOUS
	No. Rushes	Yds. Gain	TD's	Punt Rets.	Yds.	KO Rets.	Yds.	Int. Rets.	Yds.	Passes Caught	Yds.
1953	12	35	0	0	0	1	6	0	0	2	21
1954	39	215	1	4	38	4	82	1	23*	4	54
Totals	39	250	1	4	38	5	88	1	23	6	75

* Indicates TD made.

MOSLEY, Ray—Sophomore—Ft. Thomas, Ky.

One of the bright young lights among the current crop of untested sophomore backs, Mosley was the star of the 1954 East-West All-Star Game and continued his outstanding schoolboy tactics as a member of the Kentucky yearling squad last season . . . In the All-Star tilt, he carried his East team virtually single handedly to victory by personally accounting for 104 of the team's 126 yards and scoring the lone tally that proved the winning margin . . . Looked very promising in freshman action last season . . . Operated as the regular left half of the Kittens and was one of the top ground gainers . . . Has good speed and may see some duty as a relief man with the varsity this season . . . Biggest of the halfback candidates at 5-11, 193 . . . Studying a pre-law course.

NETOSKIE, Don—Junior—Martinsburg, W. Va.

An "all the way" threat who will get his chance to prove himself under regular duty conditions this season . . . Came to Kentucky with a great high school reputation and showed exceptional promise as a freshman and as the team's number two right halfback last year . . . Netoskie has been switched to left half as the replacement for graduated Dick Mitchell, leading ground gainer of last year, and is pegged for a starting assignment . . . He started out the '53 campaign as a candidate for fullback duty, but was transferred to halfback in order to make more effective use of his shifty, slashing style of running . . . He made a creditable showing two years ago in carrying the ball, gaining 28 yards and scoring one touchdown in eight jaunts from scrimmage . . . Provided welcome depth as relief man at right half last season and ended up as the team's fourth leading ground gainer with 195 yards in 38 trips . . . Second in punting with 28.5 average and scratched in several other departments of play . . . Although not particularly sizeable at 5-11, 182, he uses every inch and pound to good advantage and doesn't shy from contact . . . An All-State performer as a halfback at Martinsburg High in West Virginia, he is a brother of ex-UK end John Netoskie (1948-51) . . . One of the track team's best middle distance runners in the off season.

PHILLIPS, Bob—Senior—Pikeville, Ky.

Willing and able, but has yet to hit his expected stride . . . Held out in '52 . . . Moved over to fullback at the start of last season in an experiment designed to make better use of his particular abilities and to bolster the weak post . . . Later, he went back to his old halfback spot and probably will see most action at left half this season . . . He is classed by the coaches as a good runner and is one of the fastest men on the squad . . . In the off season, he cavorts with the track team and does the 100 in 10.1 . . . Carried the ball only nine times in limited action last season, picking up 34 yards . . . Returned the lone enemy punt he got his hands on 47 yards . . . Should see more action this season . . . "Hooker," as he is known to teammates, was an All-Conference and honorable mention All-State selection at Pikeville for two years and also won All-State honors in basketball.

PLAU, Jerre—Junior—Henderson, Ky.

Failed to see action as a freshman in '53 and was used in only a limited capacity last season, but should log more playing time this year if he continues the improvement he displayed in spring training . . . Operated on the right side most of last year as a third stringer, but moved up as high as number two at left half this spring and may have found himself . . . Better than average speed, good footwork and a fighting heart will stand him in good stead and only the absence of extensive game experience can be expected to hold him back . . . He was honorable mention All-State at Barrett High in Henderson . . . Stands 5-11 and weighs 181.

FULLBACKS

BOWMAN, Don—Junior—Louisville, Ky.

A powerful runner who returns this fall after a two-year hitch in the Marines . . . Transferred to Kentucky in 1952 after attending Miami (Fla.) University for one semester . . . Held out the '52 season due to ineligibility under transfer rules and lost to the service just before the 1953 campaign opened . . . During his Marine duty, he was stationed for a time in Japan . . . He's picked up size and now distributes 197 pounds on a 6-1 frame . . . If he gets back into the swing of things fast enough, he could provide much needed reserve strength at the weak fullback spot . . . All-State as a gridder at Louisville Male High in '51 . . . On the same honor list were Wildcat teammates Dave Kuhn, Bradley Mills, Bill Wheeler and Delmar Hughes.

BRADLEY, Burton—Sophomore—Jenkins, Ky.

Certified as freshman last season, Bradley showed up well with the Kittens in a halfback role to give every indication of future fine play . . . Changed over to fullback this spring . . . Sure to prove tough competition for teammates and the opposition, alike . . . May not see a great deal of game action this season while picking up experience, but regular varsity duty is not likely to escape him long . . . Coached at Jenkins High by ex-UK tackle Jim MacKenzie and made the All-Conference team . . . Also named All-State in baseball for his stellar outfield play.

DOUGHERTY, Bob—Junior—Bellevue, Ky.

Ineligible last season under the rule requiring a year's sojourn on the bench after transferring from another school . . . In Dougherty's case, the other institution was University of Cincinnati where he played one year (1951) before entering service . . . He elected to transfer to Kentucky after returning from the Marines, including 14 months in Korea . . . Practiced all last season with a smile and willing attitude . . . At a husky 6-0 and 220, with speed and bruising power, he could be the answer to the Wildcats' fullback problem . . . But the fact remains to worry Coach Collier: Dougherty hasn't played a minute of college ball in three years . . . Three years All-State at fullback while playing for Bellevue High . . . Set three school records at Cincinnati by plunging for 10 touchdowns, receiving another through the air and scoring a total of 66 points in a single season . . . The Los Angeles Rams have already picked up rights to Dougherty's post-college services since his original class graduated last June.

HOOPER, Hayden—Senior—Rockmart, Ga.

Changed his mind about foregoing one remaining year of eligibility and will return to the football wars to fight it out with Dougherty and Walker for regular fullback duty . . . A broken leg two seasons ago caused him to miss all of the 1953 campaign and nipped a very promising career in the bud . . . Game to the utmost degree, he came back last year to stand number two in the fullback picture at season's end . . . Diminutive as college fullbacks go, at 5-9 and 168, he's probably one of the smallest (if not the smallest) fullback in the country playing for a major college . . . Lends a lot of spirit and know-how to the team that makes up for much of his lack of size . . . At the time of his injury two years ago, he was developing into top flight back and surprisingly had few peers on the team as a linebacker for reason of his sheer desire to make good . . . It was the sudden shift of Hooper to linebacking duty in the Tennessee game three years ago that played a great part in Kentucky's surprise tie of the Vols . . . Came to the Wildcats virtually unsung from Rockmart High in Georgia, but soon proved himself . . . He's a driving, twisting, elusive runner who is hard to bring down past the line of scrimmage . . . Had a 5.4 average for 125 yards on 23 carries in '54.

LIVINGS, Bill—Sophomore—Montgomery, Ala.

A product of the coaching of Wildcat assistant Bill Moseley while both were at Sidney Lanier High in Montgomery, Livings was one of the pleasant surprises of the freshman crop last year . . . Although he was not blessed with a great high school reputation, as far as honors go, Bill came through to earn starting duty at fullback and served as co-captain of the Kittens . . . He has good size at 6-2 and 204 plus good speed . . . Only the lack of experience and the abundance of competition will hold him back for long this year.

MILLER, Garland—Sophomore—Louisville, Ky.

Although he was not certified as officially eligible for freshman duty last year and thus missed game action, Miller showed enough promise in practice activities to rate a second look and could give the coaches a pleasant surprise by coming through this year . . . Potentially a strong runner and better than average defensive man, but must prove himself under game conditions . . . Played four years as a halfback and fullback at Louisville Southern High . . . He is 5-10, 205 and enrolled in the Commerce College . . . Nicknamed "Corky."

WALKER, Bobby—Junior—Middlesboro, Ky.

Could be the number one man at fullback, but will have stiff competition to fight off in the persons of Bob Dougherty and Hayden Hooper . . .

Shown up exceptionally well at times last season . . . Turned in a great performance in the Auburn game, sparking the Wildcats all the way by picking up ground consistently when it was vitally needed to keep drives going and scored the winning touchdown . . . Started out the season as fifth string and moved up as the year progressed to finally rank second . . . Missed spring practice last year and sidelined two weeks during the season with a virus infection . . . For all practical purposes, as far as developing his full potential goes, he will be starting from scratch this year . . . Sure to be a dangerous performer to reckon with . . . With extraordinary effort, he may wind up as the "darkhorse" sensation Coach Collier is looking for to lend the spirit needed for a successful season . . . Walker came to UK ranked as one of the top schoolboy fullbacks in many years . . . His sensational running led Middlesboro High to a perfect season in '52 and earned him All-State first team honors . . . Picked up a net total of 1,065 yards in his senior year of high school, averaging a remarkable 9.3 yards every time he got his hands on the ball and tallying a total of 114 points . . . As a Wildcat sophomore last year, he managed to gain 133 yards in 28 trips for a respectable 4.7 average . . . A powerful and speedy runner, he is 5-10, 192.

ALLEN (Bull) FELCH

He would be "johnny on the spot" if he could and will be with the Wildcats all season long in spirit . . . "The Bull" was scheduled to get out of the Army in time to lend a big helping hand to the '55 team, but he suffered an unfortunate swimming accident that has left him almost completely paralyzed . . . He's now at Walter Reed Hospital in Washington, D. C., slowly recuperating and pulling for Kentucky to go all the way . . . Leading ground gainer for UK as a soph in '52, he had two years of eligibility remaining . . . But right now he figures he's lucky to be alive . . . All the Wildcats and Allen's friends wish him a speedy recovery.

Series History and Information

The unpredictable Kentucky-Ole Miss series dates back only a little more than a decade, but it is a history marked by a strange sequence of upsets and near upsets which the tally of 6-4-1 in favor of the Rebels does not reflect. The Kentucky game often has been the "make or break" game for the Johnny Rebs, as far as season success is concerned, and this year's forecast is for more of the same. If the defending SEC champions, who measured Kentucky by 28-9 in a penalty-marred spectacle at Memphis a year ago, can get by the Wildcats this time, they appear to have another fairly smooth road into the league throne room and possible repeat performance in the Sugar Bowl. The finely-tuned, Split T machinery of Coach Vaught's ninth Mississippi eleven, greased by the return of 20 seasoned veterans and the influx of a dozen good sophs, will have to be seriously reckoned with in '55. Top men to watch: Eagle Day, senior quarterback who was runnerup in both passing and total offense in the SEC last season, and halfback Billy Kinard, whom Reb propaganda speaks of in glowing terms.

Series History and Information

Football rivalry between the two Wildcat teams dates from their clash in the Great Lakes Bowl at Cleveland in 1947. Kentucky annexed a victory in that first game, their first post-season venture, and have demonstrated overwhelming superiority in contests held annually (except 1949) since then. The record tallies only one win for the Phily Cats (in '52), but the Main Liners have always proved sizeable and dangerous. Coach Reagan, who suffered a disastrous (1-9) inaugural season in '54, faces another discouraging rebuilding job this year after losing seven starters among 10 graduated lettermen. However, all is not gloom in the City of Brotherly Love as Reagan admits his 1955 team will be "stronger at all positions and fundamentally sound." The backfield is due to be greatly improved with the addition of three soph scatbacks, making the Main Liners' Split T operations more effective this season.

Series History and Information

The football rivalry between former Southeastern Conference doormats, Kentucky and Auburn, resumed last season after an interruption of nearly 20 years and marked only the third grid contest ever played by the "Johnny Come Lately" powerhouses. Each held a victory out of the previous meetings and the '54 scrap ended up with the Wildcats on the long end of a 21-14 count. However, it took a near-perfect performance by the Kentuckians to achieve the upset of Auburn's Gator Bowl-bound club and forecasts indicate the Tigers will have one of their strongest units in history this season, making a repeat performance highly unlikely. They are being tabbed in most quarters for either a first or second place finish in the league title race despite great lament over the losses of such stars as end Jim Pyburn and quarterback Bobby Freeman. Auburn had one of the finest freshman teams in the South last fall and three sophs are tagged as probable starters. Other standouts to watch: Fullback Joe Childress, the SEC's leading ground gainer last season, and left tackle Frank D'Agostino, a 233-pound pre-season All-Conference choice. There's not likely to be any X and Y units this year and Auburn will be pointing hard for revenge.

Series History and Information

Gridiron relations with Mississippi State began before World War I, but a surprisingly small total of only nine contests have marked the series which was interrupted after 1917 for a long period. Kentucky forged into the lead in the series by dropping the Maroons, 32 to 13, at Lexington in 1953. The two rivals did not meet in 1954. Since their last encounter, both clubs have acquired new head mentors—Darrell Royal, former All-America quarterback at Oklahoma who graduated the season before UK downed the Sooners in the '51 Sugar Bowl, took over at State last year and Blanton Collier came on the Kentucky scene about the same time. Pre-season forecasts for 1955 pick the Split T Maroons for a second-division berth in the SEC race, but they easily could finish much higher if the sensational halfback Art Davis gets any interference to shake him loose. He ranked as the league's most valuable player in '54 and seems ready for All-America recognition this season, although he missed spring practice due to a hand injury. Second team All-America center Hal Easterwood is gone along with some other dependable hands, but there remains considerable material to build a "dark-horse" equal to the unpredictable unit of last season.

Series History and Information

Thirty-eight years have elapsed since the initial Kentucky-Florida grid contest and, for the most part, the Wildcats have enjoyed things pretty much their own way since the series stands at 10 wins to four in their favor. But a new era in 'Gator football erupted last season, engulfing the Wildcats in an upset and resulting in a third place tie with Kentucky at the close of the SEC flag chase. That high finish was not only unpredicted, but represented their highest position in the conference since it was organized. And the forecast is for a continued high plane in Florida football this season since they are picked to finish well up in the championship picture. Much of the Wildcats' trouble in floundering to a 21-7 defeat was caused by their own mistakes and the fact that they ran out of emotional gas after being "up" four weeks in a row, but the Florida defense is reputed to be improved this year— a key factor that could spell more trouble. Anchoring a rugged defense will be ace center Steve DeLaTorre and fullback Bill Bolton. The backfield, so good defensively that no team scored on Florida via the air-waves last season, is in excellent shape offensively as well.

Series History and Information

Only one meeting on the gridiron between Kentucky and Rice is recorded in the athletic history of the two schools—that a memorable upset engineered by the visiting Wildcats in Houston two seasons back. With Bob Hardy in a starring role, Kentucky struck twice in the third period of the tilt for touchdowns that erased a one-point halftime deficit and gave them a hard-earned, 19-13 triumph. Rice will be in the visitor's role this time and likely will be mindful of the '53 result as they tangle with the Bluegrass eleven for the first time in Lexington. Coach Jess Neely's Owls this season are supposed to be blessed with all the attributes of a champion—speed, good passing, excellent running game and adequate defense. The experts are picking Rice for the championship of the Southwest Conference (the automatic Cotton Bowl bid) despite the absence of All-America halfback Dicky Moegle and nine other lettermen off last season's great squad. The reason is obvious: 16 lettermen return, with at least one at every position, for a balanced distribution of grid savvy. Among the stars are tackle Eddie Rayburn, 6-3 and 225 pounds, and fullback Jerry Hall, a 195-pound junior who was a starter in late season last year and has speed to burn.

Series History and Information

Gridiron relations between the Wildcats and the Vandy Commodores started way back in 1896 and the rivalry has been perpetuated intermittently ever since that initial meeting in Nashville which resulted in a Vanderbilt victory. Surprisingly enough, in view of the fact that the Commodores' football fortunes have been at a low ebb in recent years, the series record stands solidly in their favor—21 to five and two tie games. An indication of Vandy's former supremacy is reflected by the 12 shutouts they registered in the first 26 years of the rivalry and the fact that UK did not get into the win column until 1939. The Commodores, only a shade of their former powerful selves, managed to rack up only two wins against seven defeats last season—thereby setting a record of being the first Vandy team in more than 60 years to lose seven straight. But they were getting stubborn toward the end of last season and gave Kentucky a battle before succumbing by a respectable, 19-7 score. Vanderbilt should show improvement this year and could give the best foes a hard time if they can give any help to the great halfback Charlie Horton, a savage runner and excellent receiver.

ORIGIN OF "WILDCATS" NICKNAME

Kentucky's athletic teams are known to sports fans as the Wildcats. This first and only nickname borne by University varsities had its origin in 1909 in a speech made by Commandant Carbusier, then head of the military department of old State University. Speaking to a chapel audience of students on the showing of the Kentucky football team in defeating Illinois six to two, the Commandant declared "they fought like Wildcats." The tag was popularized by word of mouth and by the press with the result that it has since become synonymous with all major Kentucky athletic teams.

While the name is old in origin, no claim is made regarding precedence over similar nicknames boasted by Northwestern, Villanova and about 10 other major athletic teams.

An alumnus in 1947 presented a live Kentucky Wildcat to SUKY, student pep organization. Named "The Colonel," the cat served as a live mascot for UK teams until its death early last year. As yet, no new wildcat has been obtained.

Series History and Information

Kentucky and Memphis State clashed on the gridiron for the first time two seasons ago, with the game carded as a pre-Tennessee warmup against single wing maneuvers. However, the script that the Tigers were supposed to follow has become lost somewhere along the line for they have not only refused to act the role of pushover in the two contests to date, but this season Coach Hatley has pulled a switch from Single Wing to Split T style of offense. Supposedly the reason that the Neyland-tutored mentor changed over is most of his players have played T-formation football in high school, but one wonders if perhaps the "little Vols" may not be reflecting a new trend in plans in the camp of "big brother" Tennessee. There's sure to be some Single Wing plays thrown in for good measure as 17 lettermen return to take up any slack created by unfamiliarity with the new system. Tops among the men who consistently make Memphis State a thorn in the sides of SEC brethren who schedule them is tackle Joe Billings, a 215-pounder with mobility, quick thinking and experience as a number one man last season. Finding a quarterback to run the new Split T machinery is Coach Hatley's big problem and success in this and related perplexities could make the Tigers more dangerous than ever on the weekend before the traditional battle with Tennessee.

Series History and Information

One of the oldest and most hotly-contested grid rivalries in the South, the Kentucky-Tennessee series dates from a memorable encounter in Knoxville on Oct. 21, 1893. Significantly, the visiting Kentuckians thoroughly thrashed the Tennessee team by the score of 60-0 to get the football warfare off to an auspicious start. The margin of victory has never been equalled in the 49 games played during the 60-odd years following that inaugural meeting. The Wildcats and Volunteers have clashed annually on the gridiron since 1906, except for three war years (1917-18 and 1943). Tennessee has the advantage in the series, having won 29 of the contests while UK has been victorious in only 13 and eight time games have resulted—the last a 14-14 deadlock three seasons ago.

Since 1925, the two educational institutions have stimulated their friendly rivalry on the football field to greater heights by awarding a traditional trophy to rotate with the victor as a means of denoting grid supremacy between them. The battered trophy, donated originally by a group of UK alumni and officially described as the "Old Beer Keg," was held continuously by the Vols from 1936 until 1953 when the Wildcats overcame the long-standing "jinx" to win possession by a 27-21 score. An interesting anecdote came about a few days later when disgruntled Tennessee students "kegnaped" the barrel and held it in a secret hiding place on the UT campus until persuaded to return it by threats of reprisal against their coon dog mascot by UK students.

Kentucky's success of last season in posting a courageous, 14-13 triumph over the fired-up Vols and thus chalking up two wins in a row for the first time in nearly 30 years was too much for Tennessee fans. Harvey Robinson, who took over when General Neyland stepped down after the 1952 campaign, has turned over the coaching reins to young Bowden Wyatt, late of Arkansas.

This year the Vols are faced with a rebuilding project, particularly in the backfield which Wyatt claims to be "probably the weakest in the history of Tennessee football." However, the experts are cocking a wary eye on the progress of this rebuilding. The Orange Ogres are picked to finish deep in the second division of the league scramble, but the combination of such veterans as tailback John Majors and tackle Jerry De Lucca plus 41 highly-regarded sophs (who were kept under wraps last season by not playing a freshman schedule) could catch fire and spell trouble come mid-November.

The University of Kentucky

Located in Lexington, an urban community of 100,000 population, UK is a state supported institution which operates under the direction of the Board of Trustees. Membership of this Board includes the Governor, the Superintendent of Public Instruction, and the Commissioner of Agriculture, ex officio, and twelve members appointed by the Governor, three of whom are alumni of the University and three members of the State Board of Agriculture. It is one of a number of institutions known as land-grant colleges, which were established by the Morrill Act of 1862, and which will continue to receive federal assistance under the provisions.

The University is on the approved list of the Association of American Universities, and is a member of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools and the Kentucky Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. It is accredited in its respective colleges or departments by the Association of American Law Schools, the American Association of Collegiate Schools of Business, the American Association of Schools and Departments of Journalism, the American Library Association, the National Association of Schools of Music, and the Engineers' Council for Professional Development.

The major function of the University is that of instruction. For the performance of this function it is organized into the College of Arts and Sciences, the College of Agriculture and Home Economics, the College of Engineering, the College of Law, the College of Education, the College of Commerce, the Graduate School, a College of Pharmacy, located at Louisville, and a Northern Kentucky Extension Center at Covington.

The University began as a part of Kentucky University under a cooperative plan authorized by the legislature in 1865. The purpose of this plan was to unite sectarian and public education under one organization. This experiment was tried for a number of years. In the meantime, the Federal funds authorized under the Morrill Act were used to develop agriculture and mechanical arts in Kentucky University. In 1878, when the people of Kentucky decided to establish a state institution of higher learning, the College of Agriculture and Mechanical Arts was separated from Kentucky University and reestablished on land given by the City of Lexington and the County of Fayette. Thirty years later the legislature changed the name of the institution to the State University of Kentucky, and gave it additional financial support. In 1916 the name was again changed, this time to the present title.

Footnote A — Although numerical scoring had not yet been introduced in Rugby football, either here or in Great Britian, when Kentucky and Transylvania (then known as Kentucky University) played their series in 1881, persons in charge of the games obviously had arrived at some sort of agreement assigning numerical values to the various scoring plays. Records never existed and men who played in the games are scattered or dead. All we can do is accept the scores printed in the newspapers — and surmise that a touchdown perhaps counted $\frac{1}{4}$ point and that a goal or an end-kick (a punt into the modern end zone) counted 1. That seems logical, since in the ratio scoring of that day, a touchdown was worth one-quarter of a goal. The end-kick, a British heritage, undoubtedly was introduced because all realized that green players would score few goals, if any.

Footnote B — The football rules took no official position on the score of a forfeited game until 1908 when it was pegged at 1-0 to make it different from any other score possible in the game. By common consent, forfeited games prior to that were entered into the records as victories by 6-0 for the offended team — everywhere, that is, except in the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association, predecessor of the Southern Conference and the Southeastern Conference. In the S. I. A. A. the 6-0 practice was followed unless the offended team had a greater number of points. In that case, the offended team won by the greater score to nothing. Thus, Kentucky's forfeiture to Central University in 1900 is 6-0, since Kentucky led by 11-0 at the time. Kentucky led Cumberland by 12-11 in 1905 when the Tennesseans forfeited. The Blue and White, under S. I. A. A. rules, gets credit for a 12-0 victory.
