Lieut. Wides Reports Life As Prisoner Of Japanese

By Alice Watkins

On thin Japanese paper cut sharply by the censor and bearing postmarks of Japan and Geneva, Switzerland, a message from Lieut. Norman A. Wides was received this week by his father, Morris Wides, of Lexington. A graduate of the University in 1939, Lieut. Wides entered the armed forces in June 1941 and was stationed near Manila when he was captured by the Japanese.

The letter, the first received by the family of Lieutenant Wides since his capture, was typewritten and mailed on January 23 from the Zentsuji War Prison Camp at Nippon where he is a prisoner. The letter arrived through the International Red Cross.

Lieutenant Wides stated that he was well and in good spirits but was hungry for news from home, and for good home cooking. He asked especially if any radical changes had taken place in Lexington and if he would recognize it when he saw it again.

According to Lieutenant Wides, a daily newspaper is seen by the men in the camp and they are able to keep up with world news. He requested that his whereabouts be made known to his friends.

Business As Usual Fate For July 5

All classes will be held as usual on Monday, July 5, according to an announcement received today from the office of the registrar.

This announcement is in contradiction to the rumor that because the 4th of July comes on Sunday, classes would be dismissed the following day.

Waac Representative To Speak Tonight

A representative of the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps will speak to girls interested in the corps at 7 o'clock tonight in Room 204 of the Union building, Dean of Women Sarah B. Holmes announced today.

The representative, an officer in the corps, will relate interesting events concerned with Army life and will answer all questions about the auxiliary corps.

Social Calendar ...

Movie — Monday in the Union building. Feature begins at 5:45 and 8:00 p.m.

YM-YW—Tuesday, 6:15 p.m., in the Y lounge. Discussion by Dr. J. Huntley Dupre.

Dancing Class—Wednesday, 6:00 to 7:15 p.m., Bluegrass room of the Union building.

All Campus Sing—Thursday, 6:30 to 7:00 p.m., Amphitheater of Memorial hall.

Picnic—Saturday, 3:30 p.m., sponsored by the Date Bureau.

Mediterranean Background—Miss Grace Snodgrass, Tuesday, July 6, in the Browning room of the Library.

Final Tracts Are Acquired Field House Land Deals Are Closed

Contracts have been closed for the purchase of the last two tracts of land needed as the site for the University field house, according to an announcement from Comptroller Frank D. Peterson.

One lot was owned by the Amster heirs and the other by Matt and Marianna DeBoor. Other parcels of land were purchased during recent months. Peterson said the entire site included about 70 houses which are to be torn down to make room for the new structure after the war.

The comptroller said a survey would be made to determine whether a shortage existed in Lexington in the type of houses on the property. If not, the structures will soon be razed.

The field house, to be built after the war, was authorized by the general assembly which appropriated $400,000 for the project. It will house dressing rooms, lockers, and other facilities for athletic teams at the University and would be the largest in the south.

Movie Scheduled Monday Night

Another in the series of Monday movies will be presented Monday, July 5, in the Union building. The title will be announced later.

Two showings of the feature are scheduled. The first will begin at 5:45 p.m. for all soldiers and the second at 8 p.m. Admission will be

Radio Vacancies Exist

There are vacancies for two engineers and two announcers on the University radio studio staff, Mrs. Lolo Robinson, manager, has announced. Applicants are asked to contact the radio studios at any time.

Anyone interested in trying out for musical specialties, either instrumental or vocal, or dramatics, are also requested to see Mrs. Robinson.

Education Means More In Army-Soldiers

By Doris Singleton

That there is positively no comparison between civilian college life and Army specialized training was the opinion expressed by soldiers stationed on the campus in a poll taken by The Kernel this week.

In the Army the men more fully realize the meaning of education, and they begin to look toward the future more than they did while in civilian life. They attend classes to learn, not for enjoyment. The majority agreed, however, that the courses are too accelerated and that they do not always find enough social life.

"This is the best life in the Army" one soldier answered when questioned. He explained that he would rather be at college learning

Dr. J. Huntley Dupre

Dupre To Talk At Y Meeting

Dr. J. Huntley Dupre, professor of history, will give the second in a series of talks to the YW-YMCA, at 6:15 p.m., Tuesday, July 6, on the balcony of the Union building. Dr. Dupre will speak on "America's Part in the Post War World."

This is the second in a series of talks being given by Dr. Dupre. The first, entitled "Why the League of Nations Failed," was given last Tuesday evening. The third and last talk on "The Problems We Face in the Post War World" will be presented on July 13.

In this series of talks, Dr. Dupre is discussing the problems with which the nation and we as individuals will be faced at the end of the present world crisis.

All cadet students and civilian students are invited to attend the meetings.

Dancing Class Resumed

Ballroom dancing for men on the University campus will be resumed at 8 o'clock tonight in the Women's gym, Miss Margaret Warren, head of the physical education department, announced today.

The classes are free and will last for two hours.

engineering than how to shoulder a gun. But they all agreed that they didn't like to march to class. Some deplored the lack of fraternities, clubs, honoraries, and particularly athletics.

The opinions vary, however. Some service men said that they would rather be in the infantry, or working in defense plants. They did not like schooling in the Army, nor the strict regulations under which they are required to live. They felt that two hours a day was not enough time to have for themselves, and that there was not enough time for the social life to which they had been accustomed. "But here we have more respect for our officers," one said.

They agreed that "the Kentucky

No Football In '43 Is Council Decision

Football at the University today became past history, as Athletic Director Bernie Shively announced that the sport would be dropped for the 1943-44 season because of "an anticipated drop in male student enrollment this fall."

"We feel that it will be impossible to get enough 17-year-olds to field a team," Shively said after the decision to abandon the sport was reached at a meeting of the University's athletic advisory council Tuesday afternoon.

Kentucky became the first South-eastern Conference school to announce the discontinuance of football since last Saturday's meeting of the SEC executive committee in Atlanta, when policies on wartime problems were adopted. However, four other conference schools, Florida, Vanderbilt, Mississippi, and Mississippi State, had dropped the sport previously.

Shively stated that basketball would remain on the University's athletic program. Since fewer players are needed to make up a basketball squad, he believed enough talent would be available for the players to continue their hardwork activities under Coach Adolph Rupp.

The discontinuance of football makes it necessary to notify all opponents with whom games had previously been scheduled that these games would be canceled. A game with Vanderbilt October 2 had already been given up.

With only one man, Wilber Schu, remaining from last year's squad, and two freshmen, who never before have participated in athletics, the gridiron prospects were not very bright, Shively stated.

College of Education To Show Movies

Current educational or classroom teaching motion pictures showing the war and its effects will be shown in the College of Education auditorium daily July 5 through July 9 from 10 to 1:30 a.m.

Dean L. J. Horlacher will lead the forum, "Food, Weapon of Conquest," on Tuesday, July 6 with A. J. Brown, Miss Laura Deephouse, Dr. J. Huntley Dupre, and Dr. Rodman Sullivan as a discussion group.

Seventeen Make 3. In A&S College

The College of Arts and Sciences at the University has released the following list of names of students who had a 3 standing for the spring quarter of 1942-43:

Seniors—Robert Ammons, Frances Jeannette Graves, Frances Rowland, Frances Louise Jenkins, and Joan Taylor.

Juniors—Lucille Eldridge Brown, Helen Louise Harrison, Martha Townsend Koppius, Algernon Smith Dickson, Mary Ann Macke, Marcus D. Phelps, and Gloria Jean Reid.

Sophomores—Virginia Stuart Baskett, Phyllis Renna Freed, and Charley J. Shearer.

Freshmen—Harold Eugene Pace, and Betty Jean Tevis.

By Shirley Meister

What are your plans for the fourth of July, if it doesn't rain?

Jane Oldham, A&S, sophomore: The lake, ah!

Helen Rose, A&S, sophomore: I'm going to Joyland.

Cpl. Jim Coles, Fort Phoenix: If I can get a pass I'd like to go home.

Anne Howard Lyttle, A&S, junior: I'm going on a picnic.

Sgt. Jack Soley, Patterson hall: I'm going to Maysville.

Nancy McClasky, A&S, senior: I'm going home to eat a fried chicken dinner.

Pfc. Murray Finston, Patterson hall: I'm going to Richmond.

Pvt. Shelly Schuchet, Bradley hall: I'm going to sit down and try to figure out Kentucky women—God bless 'em.

Pvt. Howard Gentry, Kinkead hall: I'm thinking of Cumberland Falls, but I'm not sure.

Jean Morris, Commerce, graduate: To get away from Boyd hall.

Jean Riddle, Agriculture, freshman: Rain or shine, I hope to have a good time.

Pvt. Richard Faulkner, Bradley hall: I'm going to play chess.

Last week in one of our classes, we heard that Lexington has the second highest murder rate in the nation for a city of its size. We lifted our eyes from our textbooks and gasped in dismay. Calmly we pulled out our Buck Rogers Disintegrator Ray Gun and blasted it at the entire class. Now, we are proud to say, Lexington leads the country.

How is your intelligent quotient (I. Q.)? In other words, are you really a moron or do you just act that way? Here is your chance to find out. Just answer the following questions.

1. True or false. This is 1943. (counts 9 points)
2. Fill in proper word. This is a tricky one. Three cheers for the red, white and (Hint: In The Of Evening or St. Louis) It's a color and it isn't green. (counts 2 points)
3. Who wrote Brahms' Lullaby? (counts 8 points)
4. Who was Napoleon and what did he do? Answer yes or no.
5. Give in detail Einstein's theory of relativity.
6. Why is Gene Autry? Answer this and you go to the head of your class.
7. Do you read The Kernel?
8. What is the third word on page 406 of "Death in the Dime Store" or "Kresge Kalamity" (counts 3 points).

We would like to tell just how well the date bureau suits the men in uniform on the campus. From various opinions voiced by the student body, it is a howling success. Says Sgt. Timothy Glutz: It ain't rite nacheral that a state knight fer its beautiful horses could also have sech beautiful wimmen." Pfc. Westbrook Pffht: "My mater would be no end proud of me if she could see the ease with which I ask a Kentucky woman for a date. All I do is sign my name and . . . look!"

"I guess we're in for some wet weather."

"Here We Are Again," Refrain Of These Soldiers

By Carolyn Hill

Where four former University students used to casually survey the campus as something incidental to their college life, they are now becoming personally acquainted with every inch of their old alma mater.

Bob Warren, Jack Walker, Ray Hill, and Carroll Fears, all of whom were enrolled at the University during the last school year, are back on the campus attending classes again, but this time as khaki-clad surveyors.

Warren and Walker, Louisville, left the University in December and were sent to Fort Leonard Wood for their basic training. They have been together ever since leaving the campus. "Where are all the women?" asked Warren, when quizzed on how he thought the campus had changed. "I expected to find some of my deferred friends, but as yet I haven't had a bit of luck," he added.

Walker signed up for drafting at Leonard Wood hoping that he would be sent back here for training, "but was I disappointed when I got back. Why, there is nothing here," he moaned.

Fears, who left the campus in April, was sent to Ft. Belvoir, Va., for basic training.

"When I found out that they were taking applications for topographical draftsmen, I asked for it because I knew I would be sent back to U.K." Fears "thought that it would be swell to be back, but after graduation everyone had left." "However," he added, "it was like heaven to see all those beautiful faces again."

"I didn't ask anybody, they just sent me back," was the report of Bill Kruse, Newport, engineering freshman. "However, I was happy about the whole thing." Kruse left with the reserves in March, and received his basic training at Ft. Belvoir. "I didn't know that I was coming back until about two days before I left and then I just couldn't believe it. There is just no one left around here, no big card games," he commented. Kruse and Hill have been together ever since induction.

"It's certainly a lot different from Belvoir," stated Ray Hill, Corbin. "I didn't ask to be sent back either, but now that I'm here it isn't bad at all. Things just seem about the same to me." The one thing that Ray liked about the Phoenix hotel is "a lot different from camp, why we don't even have to do K. P."

These boys are being given intensive engineering training for twelve weeks on the University campus.

Frats Dead For Duration Is Viewpoint Of Dean Jones

By Mary Jane Gallaher

The death knell of campus fraternities was sounded this week when Dean of Men T. T. Jones announced that they would be completely inactive for the duration of the war.

Since the majority of the active members of the University chapters are now in the nation's armed forces, and unable to continue their fraternal activities, the Greek letter houses have all been forced to close their doors. President H. L. Donovan said that the University would take over the majority of the houses next fall, if necessary, to house the women students whose dormitory space is now serving as barracks for soldiers studying here.

The violent rushing campaigns which usually bewilder incoming freshmen are also gone with the war. The rarity of actives and the scarcity of freshmen have brought about this decision. As Dean Jones pointed out, "practically all of our freshmen go to the Army after a quarter or two of school, and therefore are not interested in pledging."

The possibility of pledging the soldiers who are students at the University was also broached, but the soldiers themselves, when asked, quickly concluded that they had neither the time nor the money required for fraternal activities, according to the dean.

Before leaving school none of the actives of the fraternities had indicated plans for peacetime operation, Dean Jones stated.

Khaki and Dull Brass

By BABY

Last Saturday yours truly started talking to some WAACs in sheep's (civilian) clothing. My, they sure do talk a good fight.

Many a good soldier on the campus misses that sweet little thing, Betty Brannon. We hope she had a pleasant time in Paris.

One fellow was "bragging" about his enlistment into the service. Said he: "They (the Army authorities) asked me where I wanted to go. So I told them. . . . So what!"

Every time a railroad train crosses South Limestone and Sol Kamenetsky passes by, he laments that it always makes him want to hop on. You don't want to go home by any chance?

Who was that nice little number M/Sgt. Williams courted a Saturday night ago? Does she insist on formal introductions?

That was a mighty fine bond rally by the Junior Chamber of Commerce. If a mere 18-pound ham can bring in $600 in War Bonds at an auction, how much do you think my torn G. I. socks would draw?

The $64 question: Why is it that some of the soldiers on the campus don't attend the dances and open house meetings, yet they seem to know all the girls?

Answer: Since 1942 girls have taken matters into their own hands.

A certain soldier is interested in the sociological aspects of juvenile delinquency. That's why he doesn't go out with girls over 16 years of age.

Style Flash—Seen on Main street: Pinkish officer's shirt, gabardine khaki pants, white webbed belt, black tie, white socks, and orange-colored shoes. Of course, all the clothes were custom tailored.

Who was that private that tried in vain to get Mary Francis' last name? He tried for one hour while she tried to play tennis. Finally—well, you know who gave up.

Miss Betty L. Smith, former University student and member of Alpha Xi Delta, was recently commissioned a Third Officer in the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps at the First Waac Training center, Fort Des Moines, Iowa. Third Officer Smith is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. A. R. Smith of Lexington. Her rank of Third Officer is the equivalent of second lieutenant in the Army.

Aviation Cadet William W. Ison, Blackey, former student at the University, has reported to the Enid Army Air Field, Enid, Okla. Cadet Ison was a sergeant and aerial gunner in the Army Air Forces when he received his appointment to cadet training. He recently completed his primary flight training at Arledge Field, Stamford, Texas.

Promotion of Captain Richard J. Framme to the rank of major was recently announced by Brigadier General John H. Gardner. Major Framme is Technical Executive, Production Engineering Division, Aircraft Radio Laboratory, at Wright Field. Framme is a native of Carrollton, Ky., and received his degree in mechanical engineering at the University in 1929.

Capt. Charles C. Shipley, Valley Station, is stationed at the San Angelo, Texas, Army air field, where he is a bombardier instructor. Capt. Shipley is a former University student.

Booklet To Tell Of UK Activities

Information regarding the women's residence halls, and social and recreational opportunities at the University is being compiled in a booklet to be released soon by the publicity bureau.

The purpose of the booklet is to assure prospective women students of available and desirable living quarters, even though some of the dormitories have been taken over by the Army.

The University has made arrangements to convert the fraternity houses into women's residence halls if there is a demand. To date, only two houses, those of Sigma Alpha Epsilon, and Sigma Nu, have been taken over.

More Centers For Listening Now On Tap

Thirty-eight more community listening centers, making a total of 78 throughout the state, will be installed in Leslie, Letcher, and Knott counties this summer by the University radio studios, according to Elmer G. Sulzer, director.

The listening centers, located in general stores, post offices, or in community centers, are for the purpose of providing agricultural and educational news, and entertainment, Sulzer explained. The centers are so located that no one will have to travel more than three miles to reach them.

The war has affected the centers in that gasoline rationing has prevented many from reaching them, Sulzer said. However, many persons can no longer use their own radios, because they are unable to obtain the necessary batteries, thus the need for the centers is more urgent.

E. Huws Jones To Speak Here

English Educator Taught At Oxford

E. Huws Jones, London, England, who is an authority on adult education in England, will speak on "Britain and the War" in the auditorium of the Education building, Tuesday, July 6, at 11:15 a.m.

Jones, who is being sent to the University by the British Consulate, Cincinnati, has been employed since the outbreak of the war as a resident tutor for Oxford university, Lincoln, England. He has been doing adult education work with men in the services and civil defense workers. Jones is also a member of a committee set up in Lincoln to provide hospitality for the American forces there.

Other than his work in adult education, Jones has done research in nutrition, unemployment relief, coordination of social services, cost of living, juvenile employment, and juvenile delinquency. He has taken special interest in the refugee problem, in child guidance, and in the development of the Citizen's Advice Bureau Service, information centers for Britons on every phase of wartime living.

The public is invited to attend, Dean W. S. Taylor stressed.

Company C To Give Dance At Patt Hall

Company C of the 1548th Service Unit stationed at the University will give a dance Saturday night, July 10, at Patterson hall, it has been announced by members of the company.

Admittance will be by invitation only and will be limited to members of Company C, representatives of the company stated. This situation is due to the limited space available.

The dance is being given in appreciation of the courtesy and consideration shown by the University students, they said. Patterson hall formerly served as a dormitory for freshman girls.

The dance has the sanction of Col. B. E. Brewer and the company commander, Capt. Gene Myers.

Language Enrollment At Par Department Survey Reveals

By Bill Spraggins

Despite the war, which in the past has a greatly affected language study, enrollment in the language departments has not fallen from that of the 1942 Summer quarter in proportion to enrollment, a survey of the German and Romance languages departments made this week shows.

A spokesman for the German department made the following statement concerning enrollment in that department: "We assume that if there is a sustained demand and interest in science, German will continue to have a reasonable enrollment as it has in the past." A professor in the Romance language department expressed the belief that languages have "hit the bottom" and that they are beginning to come back on their own.

In both departments, officials stated that it had not been necessary to cut out or combine any more classes than usual for the Summer quarter. However, the prospects for the Fall quarter were termed "rather uncertain," and it was stated that there was no way of judging about the outlook in the department in the future.

Vandenbosch Given Extension Of Leave For Federal Work

An extended leave was granted to Dr. Amry Vandenbosch, head of the department of political science, to January 1, 1944, to continue his work with the Department of State, the Board of Trustees announced this week.

Dr. Vandenbosch was first granted a leave of absence in September 1941 to enter the government service. He returned to the University for the fall quarter of 1942 and then joined the state department.

Dr. Charles Smith, associate professor of political science, has been appointed acting head of the department for the summer school.

Wiley Blount Rutledge, new assistant justice of the United States supreme court, is a University of Wisconsin graduate.

Round And Round He Goes To Teach Of Latin Heros

Grace Snodgrass To Present Talk

Miss Grace Snodgrass, experiment station librarian, will speak on "Mediterranean Background," Tuesday, July 6, in the library's browsing room, in the third of the "Invitation to Reading" series. The series is under sponsorship of the University library staff.

Miss Snodgrass, who is making a study of the history of the Mediterranean for the Homemakers of Kentucky, will speak on the different countries and their peoples surrounding the Mediterranean. She explains that this will not be a travel talk, but one on books pertaining to the Mediterranean.

On Monday, July 12, Dr. Francoise Dony, fellow of the Belgian-American Foundation, professor of Brussels university and lecturer at the Franco-Belgian university at New York, will speak on "Books and Their Meaning for Freedom."

The little red schoolhouse days are coming back with a bang, as any Latin student will tell you. Reminiscent of those days when a complete student body met in the same classroom, five classes, each taking different Latin writers are being taught in the same classroom during the same 75 minute period by Dean of Men T. T. Jones.

In one corner of the room three heads gather over Cicero's Orations while the remaining three corners and the middle of the room are absorbed in Livy, Caesar, Horace and the elements of Greek literature.

With less than five students in each class and in some only one, this system is quite workable and is much easier than it sounds. The instructor merely makes the rounds of all corners and hears the translations of each class.

Dean Jones, head of the ancient language department, stated that due to the lack of students taking language courses, the department had undergone some changes. "This is an engineering age," the dean stated, "students are not as interested in classical subjects."

Recreation Program Has Full Enrollment

The recreational program for the summer term is continuing with full class enrollment, according to Miss Margaret Warren, instructor in physical education.

Activities offered include archery, meeting from 1:30 to 2:30 on Tuesday and Thursday; tennis, 1:30 to 2:30 on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday; bowling, 1:30 to 2:30 on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday; and volley ball for men meeting from 12 to 1:30 on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday.

Date Bureau To Hold Picnic Saturday

A picnic will be held Saturday at Johnson's mill for ASTP students and their dates, under the sponsorship of the University Date Bureau.

Thirty men are to be chosen to attend the affair according to merit by their commanding officers. They will choose their own dates or have dates arranged for them by the Date Bureau. These couples will meet in the Union at 3:30 p.m. to be transported to the mill in Army trucks provided by the military department of the University.

BSU Will Hold Party Tonight

A party will be given for all Baptist students by the Baptist Student Union at 7:30 tonight in the card room of the Union building.

Catherine Riggsby, president, and Libby McNeal are in charge of the program. Elizabeth Landrum is planning the refreshments for the occasion.

The prayer meeting group will meet at 7 o'clock Wednesday evening in front of the Union building to attend the prayer meeting at the Immanuel Baptist church. Each Wednesday the group meets to attend various Baptist churches of the city. Porter Memorial Baptist church and the Calvary Baptist church have previously been hosts to the group.

The BSU calendar for the remainder of the term is: July 2, party at the Union building; July 7, prayer meeting at Immanuel; July 9, bowling party; July 12, business meeting; July 14, prayer meeting at Porter Memorial; and July 16, spiritual program.
