FOREWORD

395 This directory provides the same listing of state officials and state, county, and local school administrative and supervisory personnel as 399 in previous directories with these additions: (1) a list of assistant superintendents, finance officers, visiting teachers, and school lunch direc-401 tors in county and independent school districts, (2) a telephone 408 directory for state department of education personnel and street ad-411 dress for local schools when available.
415

419 These changes have been made in the directory:
421

423 1. Revised listing of schools to include all secondary and com-424 bined schools and separate elementary schools of eight or more 427 teachers under the direction of a principal instead of the previous 428 listing starting with four or more teacher schools. With the new ac-432 creditation program for elementary schools of eight or more teachers 433 it is now possible to accord these schools the same status and recog-434 nition as secondary schools in the state. The regrouping of schools will permit a separate study and report on all schools of less than eight teachers.

423 2. The statistical data on enrollment has been omitted from this 424 Directory and will be made available in other state bulletins devoted 427 to Kentucky secondary and elementary schools. This change has been 428 made to reduce the duplication of reporting by the school districts.
432 The official enrollment reports due on October 15 are not received 433 in time to be included in this bulletin. To partly compensate for this 434 change, other descriptive data on hand for the 1960-61 school year have been included; for example, the superintendent's request for basic classroom teachers under the Foundation Program and school organization pattern are provided in Part III of local data. The number of basic teachers does not include special and vocational teachers. This information is meant to be descriptive only. It is hoped that it will help the user who is interested in approximate school size and grades served by the school.

437 3. The alphabetical listing of schools in Parts I and II provide 447 a reference only to Part III of local data for persons who may not know the county in which a school is located. Information about each school has been consolidated in this list beginning on page 449.

449 The Department of Education expresses appreciation to the superintendents for their assistance in providing the list of schools and personnel. This edition of the Directory has been prepared by the Research Division.
